

Alpha Sigma Nu to Induct 16 Leading Students Sunday

Society's Annual Banquet to Follow Initiation Ceremony

Cited for outstanding service, scholarship and loyalty to their various schools, pledges of Alpha Sigma Nu, National Jesuit Honor society, will be initiated into the organization as active members Sunday, at the Blackstone hotel.

Two juniors from each school in the university and two chosen from the university at large will be formally inducted. Initiation ceremonies are scheduled to begin at 2:30, with the society's annual banquet following at 6:30.

Professor F. E. Pellegrin, assistant professor of journalism, and publicity director, will be principal speaker at the banquet. Toastmaster will be Walter Smith, LL. B. '37.

Both are alumni members of Alpha Sigma Nu.

Officers and banquet committee members have made a concerted drive to contact alumni members in the vicinity.

The list of pledges to be initiated include a member of the Student Union Board of Governors, two fraternity presidents, the editor of the 1938 Bluejay, several sodality officers and the city editor of The Creightonian.

Present active members include five members of the Union Board, eight students who are sodality officers, including the president of the sodality union, a former football captain, a former sports editor and the present managing-editor of The Creightonian.

Guests of Honor

Guests of honor at the initiation and banquet will be: the Very Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, S. J., president of the university; the Rev. Joseph A. Herbers, S. J., faculty moderator of Alpha Sigma Nu; the Rev. Gerald H. FitzGibbon, S. J., dean of the college of arts and sciences; the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., regent of the school of journalism; the Rev. Francis G. Degliman, S. J., student counselor; the Rev. Thomas H. Murphy, S. J., treasurer of the university; the Rev. John J. McInerney, S. J., regent of the school of medicine, and the deans of all departments.

The principal speaker, the toastmaster, Robert W. Burkle, A. B. '22 and Dr. M. W. Barry, assistant professor of medicine, will also be among the guests of honor.

Through a misprint in The Creightonian last week the national Alpha Sigma Nu convention was listed as being March 22, 23. The correct date is April 22, 23. Plans for the Creighton delegation will go forward after the society's initiation Sunday.

St. Catherine Nurses Plan 'The Tin Hero'; Creighton Men Assist

Announcement is made this week of the installation of three Creighton players in a three-act play, "The Tin Hero," to be presented by student nurses of St. Catherine's hospital. The play will be produced May 2 in the Creighton auditorium.

Led by Henry F. Bristowe, J. I., who serves in a double role as actor and director, the three Creighton men are Hugh Fitzpatrick, A. I.; James Muldoon, C. I.; and Bristowe. All three are veterans of the recent Creighton production, "Trail of the Lone-Some Pine."

In addition to the three male characters the following nurses from St. Catherine's will take part in the play: Jeanne Tolon, Bonnie Mullis, Margaret Cavanagh, Ann Loofturrow, Margaret Cavanagh, Claire Timlin and Catherine Sullivan.

"The Tin Hero" is a three-act comedy farce featuring the adventures of a young fellow who becomes a public hero in spite of himself through the efforts of an elderly-proud mother. In this play Hugh Fitzpatrick finds himself taking the part of the bashful young man.

James Muldoon can be seen suffering the fate of a henpecked husband who is in perfect accord with everything "the missus" does and does. Henry Bristowe plays a difficult role as he portrays a huge, athletic-looking, young man, an undefeated swimming champion.

Warehamites Spend Week-End Initiating Golf, Tennis Courts

Fore! Match point! Lay into one!

These were but a few of the shouts screamed across the campus over the week-end as the Warehamites proved that spring was really here.

Many of the hall men cursed or shouted with glee on the 18-hole links at Dundee as they chased that elusive white ball up and down the hills, on and off the greens. William Taylor, A. I. and Kenneth Dailey, P. I., brought in low scores of 89 and 85, respectively.

Sunday was tennis day as the Warehamites smacked balls back and forth trying to outsmart one another. The courts were busy from 9 o'clock in the morning until dark. The hot shot among the Wareham hall boys was John "Big Bill" Hartigan.

Baseball and softball played a big part in a strenuous athletic week-end program for the fellows, according to Thomas Heffernan. Softball was played continuously and many of the fellows spent the two days limbering up that old pitching arm and toughening up the mitts.

By way of christening water from the Mississippi river at the place where he discovered it and sand from the little hill in Michigan where he died were poured on the statue. This ceremony was important to the French people. Cardinals of the Catholic Church, French cabinet ministers, the American ambassador to France and the French ambassador to the United States attended.

Some of the bones of Father Marquette are at St. Ignace; 14 fragments of them are kept as cherished possessions and relics at Marquette university, Milwaukee, Wis.

Much more information concerning Father Marquette, his explorations and adventures will be discussed in the second of the series of historical talks given by Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., regent of school of journalism, during the University of the Air, Friday afternoon. Dorothy Larkin, UC 4, will interview Father Bowdern.

Press Club Hears Noted Advertiser

Publicity Director Shows Short Movie

"Truth is beauty and beauty is truth," with these words Dale Nichols, nationally known commercial artist, summed up the new trend in advertising, speaking before the Press club Wednesday evening in the Student Union clubrooms.

Mr. Nichols spoke at some length on the problems of the artists who design modern advertisements. He talked of the value of conventional advertising standards in present day designing, supplementing each point with samples of typical style in modern magazine advertising.

Following Mr. Nichols' talk was a movie showing the practical difficulties to overcome in outdoor advertising. The film was shown by Frank Pellegrin, Creighton publicity director.

In addition to Mr. Nichols, who was the principal speaker, honored guests were the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., regent of the school of journalism; Stuart A. Mahuran, acting journalism director, and Miss Geraldine Finnegan, secretary to Mr. Pellegrin.

Following the showing of the advertising film the serving of refreshments concluded the program. Paul Gauthier, J. 3, president of the Press club, presided.

Liquid Air Used in Experiment to Get Orange Juice

Students of chemistry attended a "liquid air" demonstration Thursday morning, March 24, in the chemistry recitation room. Dr. C. L. Kennedy, professor of chemistry, conducted the demonstration as part of class work.

"Liquid air" is ordinary air which has been pressed and cooled at the same time. It costs two dollars a liter, (translated: two dollars for a quart and a half.)

Dr. Kennedy poured the "limpid liquid" over a robber ball. He then threw the ball on the floor, smashing it to bits. Putting more "liquid air" on an orange, he froze the orange and when the fruit was back at normal temperature it was in the state of orange juice. A burning cigarette was dropped into the substance and a large flame and a "puff" followed.

Use as a refrigerant is the primary purpose of "liquid air" today.

New Desks Designed for Classrooms

New furniture, consisting of walnut desks and platforms, is being installed in the classrooms of the arts building and the high school department.

These desks and platforms are built in the Creighton work shops. They are designed especially for classroom purposes, and all 24 of them will be placed in the rooms in a few days, according to the Rev. Gerald FitzGibbon, S. J., dean of the college of arts and sciences.

Dr. Colligan Approves Youth Peace Societies

Youth of today have a perfect right to engage in peace propaganda activities, in the opinion of Hunter college's president, Eugene Colligan.

At a recent meeting here he declared: "In these days when the lunatic fringe forgets the right of men to life and liberty it is necessary to call attention to peace. The only reason government exists is for the people, and its agency is to protect everyone, not the majority or the minority, in the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

As to employment for youth, Dr. Colligan maintains that "the period of educational infancy is too prolonged. Those who are entitled to pensions should get out and make a place for youth."

Is It Marriage or Career for Coeds?

Opinion Is Divided as to Real Object

By Willis Lee

"If a girl gets an education while attending college it's not her fault because that's not what she's really after." At least that's the opinion of a lot of the fellows on the Creighton campus.

As to what the girls are really after it's a tossup between having a good time and finding a husband in the opinion of the boys.

But some of the more tolerable of the fellows, such as Nick Popa, J. 4, took the side of the coeds and said that they were really in pursuit of knowledge and knowledge alone.

Thus some of the answers to the question "Why do girls go to college?" will warm the hearts of the coeds and others won't.

Taking an objective view of some of the boys who accused the girls of searching for husbands it might strike one that these boys are really just taking this opportunity to notify the searching coeds that they are available for exploitation.

A few of the more representative of the answers will be printed to put the girls wise as to what kind of an impression their collegiate efforts are really making on the male Hilltoppers.

Nick Padgen, A. 3, "they attend college in an honest and sincere effort to attain a more satisfactory perspective of this age."

However, in a metaphorical strain, Joe Corcoran, A. 2, alleges that, "there are more fish in such a big lake. It's practically a cinch for them to land one from a university."

Diplomatic Roman Rob, A. 3, voices the evasive opinion, "I'd hate to accuse them (coeds) unjustly, maybe they do go to college for an education. Who knows?"

A Blunt Opinion

Roy Englebretson, C. 2, states his opinion bluntly, to wit, "Most of them go for a good time. About 5 per cent go for an education and a lot of them go because there is nothing else to do and to spend the old man's dough."

Terse but not quite so forceful is the reaction of Vinson Roach, A. 2, to the Campus query. He says, merely, "to get a husband."

A new angle is forwarded on this question by Lee Gilsman, C. 1, who is of the opinion that the coeds attend a university to fill up time so they won't have to work at home.

Whether or not the girls are successful in their husband hunt is another question not to be answered here. However some of the coeds may be attending college to obtain enough education so that they will be successful in landing a meal ticket. After reading the various slants on this subject by the "foxes" on the Hill it would seem that the "hunters" will have to be smart to cage them.

But it seems to the writer that this extra curricula activity of the coeds should help in some way to obtaining a degree. Or at least it might be an excellent subject for some enterprising thesis writer.

Debaters Nip Marquette; Place Second

25 Teams Compete in National Contest; Wisconsin First

With a ringing victory over Marquette university setting their pace, Creighton debaters hoisted the Bluejay debate flag into national prominence by placing second in the Delta Sigma Rho tournament at the University of Wisconsin, Friday and Saturday.

Seven victories in nine battles of words and wits is the record compiled by the six man, three team squad of Hilltop arguers, blanketing second in a field of 25 teams, the Creighton squad subdued teams from such schools as Purdue, Marquette, Western State Teachers and Western Reserve. One of their two defeats was at the hands of Wisconsin, the team that placed first in the tournament.

Catch Pleas

Debaters who argued in the tournament are John Kerrigan, L. 2; Gail Burke, L. 1; Leonard Leon, A. 3; Robert Mullin, A. 2; John Hedrick, L. 2; and H. R. Henatsch, A. 3.

The question debated was: Resolved: "That a national labor relations board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all labor disputes."

The Rev. James Orford, S. J., debate coach, expressed approval of his squad's work on the Madison trip. The team's success on the trip was marked as the best showing a Creighton debate squad has made in recent years. Wisconsin, in winning first place, won eight out of nine contests, one victory better than the Creighton record.

Three Other Battles

Kerrigan and Burke defeated teams from Wayne University, Marquette and Knox college. Leon and Mullin won decisions over Carroll college, Western State Teachers and Purdue teams. Hedrick and Henatsch vanquished Western Reserve and then lost to Wisconsin and Albion college.

The Creighton squad argued in three non-decision debates on the trip, at DePaul university, Chicago; Rockford college, Rockford, Ill.; and Rosary college, River Forest, Ill. Hedrick and Henatsch debated at Rockford, Mullin and Leon at DePaul and Kerrigan and Burke at Rosary.

Organize Creighton Flying Club

Professor Moreau Is Faculty Sponsor

With a licensed airplane available for use, approximately 15 members of the newly organized Creighton Aviation club are formulating plans for group activities.

John Linder, A. 1, has been elected temporary chairman of the club and J. E. Moreau, professor of modern languages, is faculty sponsor. Both of these men are licensed pilots, with previous flying experience.

Students interested in joining the Aviation club are advised to watch the bulletin boards for notices or contact Linder or Professor Moreau. A meeting has been tentatively set for next week.

The University of Minnesota Flying club has already written to Linder, offering assistance in organization and soliciting Creighton's membership in the National College Flying association.

School clubs at present are using smaller types of aircraft because of economical operating costs. Creighton's club will follow this policy, using a two-passenger Aeronca monoplane.

Other schools in the Midwest with aviation clubs are the University of Minnesota and Iowa State college at Ames.

Camera Contest Winners to Be Announced Soon

Candid photos, scores of 'em, depicting all sorts of off-guard moments of campus life, were being judged today, following the close of Creighton Camera club's first contest, at the regular meeting Monday night in Moot court.

The judges, Irving Benolken, vice-president of Klapp Printing company; Howard Peterson, promotion manager of WOW, and Charles R. Docherty, vice-president of Docherty Engraving company, are expected to announce the winners by Thursday.

Winners will receive four cash prizes totaling $5. They are: first, $2.50; second, $1.50; third and fourth each, 50 cents. A hanging of all prints submitted will be completed by the print committee early next week. Members of this committee are Warren Schrempff, A. 2; Ben DeBoice, A. 1, and Robert McNeil, M. 3.

Monday night's program was highlighted by a lecture on lenses by Professor John Lawrence Cannon, director of the school physics laboratories. Sponsor Dr. Frank Murphy also presented a lecture on optical properties and characteristics of lenses.

At the next meeting to be held Monday, April 13, R. O. Blakely of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company will present a lecture on the theory of development.

Members attending Monday's meeting were Bob Crowl, A. 2; Eugene O'Sullivan, Ben DeBoice, John Linder, A. 1; Warren Schrempff, A. 2; Dick Cook, A. 2; Joe Burke, A. 2; John Sheehan, A. 1; Ben Haller, J. 1; James Kovacic, A. 1; Everett Furze, M. 4; Robert McNeil, M. 3; R. H. Welding, M. 2; Richard L. Egan, M. 2; Dr. Maynard Greenberg, Dr. Clarence Moran, Dr. Charles Edwards, and Sponsor Dr. Frank Murphy.

Several Parts H2O to One Part Acid Result—No Burns

Fearing a lifelong injury from acid burns received on Saturday morning, John Krettek, A. 2, is relieved to find his person unscathed.

Krettek attended his Saturday morning chemistry laboratory, apparently in good spirits. Completing the assignment, he left to return to his home in Council Bluffs. As Krettek left the administration building, he felt a severe burning sensation in the region of his nether back.

Frightened, he ran up the three flights of stairs to the chemistry laboratory without so much as removing his hat. Once in the laboratory, Krettek leaped into the large sink and turned the water on himself. A process of fanning and rubbing followed.

No clues as to what the acid was, who put it there, or why he escaped alive, have been found. When contacted Monday morning, John said that he had no enemies, but beware to the responsible soul.

Class in Journalism Writes Continuity for Radio Broadcast

A series of broadcasts are being written by the radio continuity class directed by Professor Stuart A. Mahuran, acting dean of the school of journalism.

The programs will be sponsored by one of the schools or colleges of the university with the exception of journalism, and will probably be presented over the air next year by Professor Edwin Puls' radio speech classes as a part of the program carried on by the Creighton University of the Air.

First trial broadcasts in the proposed series will be offered as a preview, Thursday, like the "House of Usher," was presented Friday over the University of the Air broadcast. Warren Shrempff, A. 2, a member of both classes, continuity and broadcasting, will be in charge of a 15 minute program featuring the activities of the college of pharmacy. Others in the series will be written and practiced during the remainder of this year.

First Bluejay Revue Tryout Call Brings 60 Aspirants; Rehearsals Get Under Way

Plan Skits, Songs at First Meetings; Many Frosh in Cast

In response to the call for talent issued by the director, 60 students reported to the Rev. Joseph A. Herbers, S. J., moderator of dramatics, for rehearsal Monday night in the auditorium.

With 50 boys and 30 girls present the evening was devoted to listing the talents and skits that might possibly be used. Last night the male contingent met in the auditorium for first rehearsal. Tonight the coeds are scheduled to practice singing and dancing numbers.

Outstanding at Monday's tryouts was the fact that the majority of the girls were frosh.

Mrs. Florence Sullivan Johnson is in charge of direction for the musical numbers. Father Herbers directs the skits and novelty features. While nothing definite has been decided as to the presentation of skits, Father Herbers said that several young men were already cast.

Although the coming Revue is not expected to match the elaborate presentation of last year, Father Herbers stated that he was confident that enough talent had been secured to produce an entertainment worthy of Creighton students.

The first week in May is the time it is thought the Revue will be ready for production, according to the director.

Sodalists in Arts Launch Campaign

Distribute Pledges to Student Body

Creighton sodalists last week fired the first shot in a school-wide campaign against indecent literature when they distributed 225 pledge cards to members of the arts sodality.

The campaign was launched as a result of the Omaha Sodality convention, March 12 and 13, and has a nationwide Catholic backing. Participants pledged themselves to do everything within their power to rid the community of all questionable reading matter by refusing to buy or read anything objectionable.

The pledge reads as follows: "To aid in safeguarding our young people from the disastrous harm of indecent literature, under the patronage of the Blessed Virgin, the flower of Purity, I hereby pledge myself to cooperate with my church and government in ridding my community of indecent literature by refusing to buy or to read such literature."

Will Distribute Pledge Cards

Those in charge of distributing the cards were delegates at the sodality convention. Pledge cards will be distributed to the students of the university who have not as yet received them. Other sodality groups in the university are following the example of the Arts sodality.

Letters are being written by Vincent Lamb, A. 3, to Port Wayne, Ind., Notre Dame university, and other colleges and universities that have carried on the campaign against objectionable literature, asking for a copy of the magazines they find objectionable.

Send Letters of Greeting

Co-operation of the students will soon put the anti-indecent literature drive in full swing in the university. As soon as the movement is well under way a report will be made to the sodality's central office at St. Louis, Mo. Letters of greeting are being sent to the Omaha Sodality union to all sodality conventions throughout the country.

Plans for a general meeting of sodalists on the first of April have been completed, according to Vincent Lamb, A. 3, secretary of the arts sodality. The purpose of the meeting is to give those who are not sodality delegates a chance to offer suggestions.

Mary Hunt Named New Librarian

Lucille Reynolds to California Position

Appointment of Miss Mary Hunt as Creighton's new head librarian is announced this week by the Very Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, S. J., president of the university. Appointment will go into effect April 1.

Miss Hunt succeeds Miss Lucille Reynolds, recently resigned. She goes to California Thursday where she will take a position in the Los Angeles public library.

The new librarian has been associated with Creighton since 1923 as head of the Creighton Prep library. She has spent much of her time in the university library during these years, and is thoroughly acquainted with it.

Miss Hunt is a graduate of the College of St. Mary's, St. Paul, Minnesota, where she obtained her Bachelor of Arts degree. During her years at Creighton she has done much work toward her Master's degree. She has made quite thorough study of languages and is versed in Latin, Greek, French, German and Spanish.

Inquiring Reporter Lists Steps in Radio Program

Strains of the "White and the Blue" float out over the ether each Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon at 4:45. After a few seconds of the music a suave voiced announcer breaks in with, "This is the Creighton University of the Air."

A speaker is introduced or a musical program announced, and for a quarter of an hour Creighton is "on the air." But how many of you Creighton radio fans are "in the know" on how each program is prepared to be presented?

The first step in the complicated process of compiling is a careful rehearsal of the material with one eye on the clock.

"They're on, let us say, Monday at 4:40, with everything set to go, when the start in Creighton's remote control studio receives its first warning buzz from station WOW. "In five minutes we're on." The staff settles down and watches a slow four minutes move by on the clock. Another buzz—set ready—and with a flash of a red light on the control board an electrical transcription starts scrinding out the well-known "White and the Blue" and you are informed the Creighton university is presenting a program from the remote control Hilltop studios.

Describe Studios

But now, let's have more about the studios themselves from which these programs emanate. A good many students, especially those enrolled in the classes of Direc-

Cash Prize Awaiting Latin Contest Winner

A cash prize replaces the medal formerly awarded to the winner of the Intercollegiate Latin Contest. The contest, sponsored by the University of St. Louis for Jesuit arts students in Missouri and Chicago provinces, is in its 53rd year.

Contestants this year will meet in the library, Thursday, March 31, from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. and 1:00 to 2:15 p. m. Only full-time male undergraduate students are eligible.

Other universities and colleges competing are: Detroit university, Detroit Mich.; Xavier university, Cincinnati, Ohio; John Carroll university, Cleveland, Ohio; Loyola university, Chicago, Ill.; Marquette university, Milwaukee, Wis.; St. Louis university, St. Louis, Mo.; Rockhurst college, Kansas City, Mo.; and Regis college, Denver, Colo.

turn, worm, turn

The worm has turned. And the debating Bluejeans who talked their way out of situations and into second place in the debate tournament at Wisconsin university this week are the wily birds who made the worm squirm.

Some weeks ago the Marquette Tribune, student newspaper at Marquette university, advised athletic authorities of the Avalanche to shoot for bigger games, to strike "unknown" schools from their lists, because some of these unknowns might beat or at least scare Marquette athletic outfits. Creighton was mentioned as one of the unknowns.

But up at Madison, Wis., last week the Creighton debate squad carried the white and blue to within one victory of first place. And when the dust cleared there appeared among the numerous formidable scalps hanging from the Bluejay belt, the proud and haughty locks of Marquette. The rush of words of the Avalanche debaters had been reduced to the pitiful roll of a two-bit nugget, and the Bluejay swallowed that to help digest bigger chunks.

So with the fire and spirit of the Tribune editorial writer, and with too much of his kind of logic in our argument, we turn our advice, our counsel, our entreaty to the Rev. James Orford, S. J., our debate coach.

Father Orford, in the interest of our national debate standing, in the face of facts, in view of our boys unquestionable triumph at Wisconsin, we suggest, nay, demand that you strike Marquette arguers from future schedules.

Go after bigger game. Father, there's more prestige in that. Think of the atrocious blight a besmirching defeat at the hands of the vanquished Avalanche would put on our debate banner now. Didn't our Squad subdue such schools as Purdue, Western Reserve and Western State Teachers. We'd rather lose to big outfits than risk close decisions over lesser squads. And it's tradition that those losers play over their heads when they get into good competition.

Think what might have happened at Madison. Think what might happen in the future. What if John Kerrigan had suddenly developed a toothache, and the brunt of the battle would have been left to Gail Burke alone? And what if Gail had strained a vocal cord in the warmup? There our boys would be, doubly handicapped. There would be John, talking with a hot water bottle on his cheek, Gail with his neck in flames, speaking in a whisper. Why, they might have been held to a close decision over Marquette.

So Father, hark to our suggestion for a revised schedule. Or maybe since the Milwaukee boys fear defeat so much, you might work out a deal with them. Have our football team debate their debate squad, and our debate team play their football team. They have spoken of unknowns—there's an arrangement that would be unheard of.

And, on the side, Father, our heartiest congratulations to you and your boys for their fine work on the Madison trip. Those teams they beat, even Marquette, must have been pretty tough.

Dale Embers, McPherson College, has driven 28,800 miles for a college education. He travels 20 miles a day to and from classes.

class cuts

At the risk of being very mercenary and ignoring some far more important cultural values, we would like to present the results of some interesting financial conclusions which we have just decorated the back of a handy envelope.

Do you Mr. Creighton Student realize that it costs you just a little above one dollar to miss a class? A good, honest, 100 cent dollar that's worth about a carton of cigarets, a new pipe or the beginning of a fair evening's entertainment.

Figure it this way. The average students spend around $700 a year at school. Either his folks appropriate this sum or he works a good part of his time to make it. And he has an average of 20 classes a week. Multiplied by 36 school weeks it makes 720 class meetings a year. Therefore $720 for 720 classes or a dollar a class.

Now doesn't it sound rather silly to produce one of these shiny coins to buy your admission into a classroom, a classroom, incidentally, that the bigger part of humanity is never able to enter, and then fail to attend the class.

Think it over.

spring practice

The amazing thing about Creighton's spring practice this year has not been the splendid weather, exceptional as it is, nor even the fine turnout of well-wishing alumni, but instead it has been the almost incredible optimism of the students, players and non-players alike, who are going about this business of football as though next year's team were merely to be a successor in a long line of national champs.

For somehow there really is a spirit of genuine and irrepressible optimism among all these footballers and football fans, and the promise of real and tangible success is in the air. In short, we think we're going to have a winning team next year.

For Creighton's team next year will have a good many things to avenge. First of all there'll be the series of disastrous trimmings by teams with poorer material, then the vague but widespread charges of abuse of training rules and lack of enthusiasm leveled against last year's men.

Creighton's team next year will be the underdog a better part of the time and underdogs are notoriously successful in football. And men who are genuinely determined to fight as the squad seems to be these days, are pretty apt to turn out some good work when the battles come.

And Creighton students, too, will have an old score to even. For they will have to prove that their spirit is not "putrid," that they can and will support a winning team just as enthusiastically and just as capably as any other school in this football-minded land.

And so, while Tom "If you can hear 'em, they're good" Gorman drills what promises to be one of the toughest lines of Creighton history) and incidentally, does a good job of enriching the Creighton vocabulary, and the best sophomore backfield in many a moon is promised for the forthcoming campaign, students and faculty join in casting hopeful eyes to the football months of 1938.

For, in case you haven't heard, Creighton is going to have a good team next year. The best team of Marjorie Schwartz' first four years here.

bluejay revue

For the past few years Creighton has put on an excellent Bluejay revue, a musical show that has been well expressive of the talent at Creighton and the love of good entertainment of Creighton students.

And Creightonites want another revue this year. Despite certain obstacles that have appeared, they are determined to put on a show this year that will equal last year's classic and rank high in the nation's collegiate extravaganzas.

It has been said in certain quarters that we cannot have a spring musical concert and the revue. And we fail to see why. Certainly as Father Horbers said, "with an enrollment of 2,700 students in the university it should not be difficult to enlist 100 students in the revue. We will not need more than that number. . ."

Now all this is said without the slightest intention of belittling the obviously higher cultural value of the spring musical that is being planned. For Creighton certainly needs a rebirth of the high type of music that a well directed concert would bring. Too sadly lacking in the past has been the musical side of genuine culture, and this concert would be a long step in restoring it to a university big enough and intelligent enough to appreciate it.

So let's stop this talk of concert versus revue and go forward in the production of both. We can, and if we do this year will rank high in the musical and entertainment history of Creighton.

The Collegiate Review

DePauw university has just opened an endowment campaign to secure $3,120,000 in five years. "Duke's Mixture" is the name of the Duke university student newspaper's gossip column. Westminster college coeds maintain that a man that would marry must earn $150 monthly. The University of Minnesota maintains a newsreel theater to bring to students the latest world news caught by movie cameramen. In a student poll, University of Pittsburgh undergraduates endorsed Anthony Eden's foreign policy for England.

Steed Rollins, Vanderbilt university's southern conference fencing champion, never studied the sport before he came to college. Flash bulbs were the prizes awarded winners in a Purdue university photo contest. San Diego State college dramatists were among the first collegians to give a performance of "Julius Caesar" in modern dress.

Twenty-two presidents of the United States were alumni of colleges. Ventura junior college student musicians recently began a library of their own recordings of popular numbers. Newspaper Columnist Dorothy Dix awards $100 annually to the Tulane university student writing the best human interest story. Blackburn college students, in a recent poll, voted in favor of more "leap year" dates.

"Advertising Ago" is conducting an essay contest among college and university students on "How Advertising Benefits the Consumer." University of Miami officials conducted a special tour of Cuba for students during the spring vacation. The Massachusetts legislature has killed a bill which would tax college and university dormitories in that state.

Gastronomic Facts: At one meal, Graceland college's 211 students eat 100 pounds of potatoes, 70 pounds of meat, 30 pounds of green beans. A nine-hole golf course is being constructed on the Texas State College for Women campus. —(ACP)

Labels Education as Valuable Tool

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, in a talk before the Association of American Colleges, said recently that education is an indispensable tool of democracy and that "the real threat to all democracies everywhere is fascism."

Criticizing the present procedure of colleges, Mr. Ickes said that they have been taking the young men and women of America and have been making out of them ex-football stars, budding "men about town," and bond salesmen and "just engineers, just doctors, and just lawyers."

"A social outlook, a sense of obligation to the state, coupled with a willingness to serve the state, ought to be inculcated in every youth," he said.

"The colleges have themselves to thank for the sporadic 'red-hunts' to which they are subjected," he said. "I cannot escape the conviction that . . . if there were more concern about turning out socially trained men and women the 'red-hunts' would be rare indeed."

"The real trouble with so many of our faculties," he concluded, "is that . . . too many of our professors become recluses."—Dakota Student.

Faculty, Students Attend Institute

Faculty members and two students of the school of nursing of St. Joseph hospital are attending the last sessions today of the three-day institute for nurses, conducted by the Bureau of Education and Registration for nurses. The institute is at the Hotel Cornhusker in Lincoln extending from Monday to Wednesday.

Dorothy Kearney, N 3, and Ruth Jorgensen, N 3, are attending the Wednesday sessions. Teresa M. Tully, graduate of the school of nursing at St. Joseph's and chairman of the private duty section, District No. 2, of the Nebraska State Nurses Association, conducted a round table discussion for private duty nurses.

Football Tax Question Goes to Supreme Court

The U. S. Supreme Court, top judicial arbiter of differences of opinion, has been called upon to rule as to whether or not intercollegiate football is an educational activity.

Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson has asked the court to rule that the University of Georgia and Georgia School of Technology must pay taxes on football game admissions—a ruling that would affect gate receipts at stadiums throughout the United States.

Government lawyers hold that "at neither school is participation in football a prerequisite to graduation, and no credit is given therefore toward a degree."

Lawyers for the colleges maintain that in staging the games their clients were "engaged in the performance of an essential governmental function."—(ACP)

Father Hayden Entertains Nurses with Magical Feats

Sleight-of-hand feats by the Rev. Charles K. Hayden, S. J., dean of men, and group singing topped the program of the St. Joseph's Nurses' sodality meeting Monday.

The meeting was in the gymnasium of the Nurses' home.

Addresses Catholic Daughters

The Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., regent of the school of journalism, addressed the Catholic Daughters of America at Columbus Monday evening. His talk on "Spain" was accompanied by maps and blackboard sketches.

St. Joseph Nurses Ill

Wilma Dendinger, N 1; Anna Duffy, N 1; Mary Hayden, N 2; Anna Van Ackeren, N 3, and Sarah Adams, of St. Joseph's hospital have been confined to bed the past week suffering with slight ailments. All expect to be back on duty soon.

Elect Professor Brown Vice-President at Sociological Conclave

Professor Laurence H. Brown, assistant professor of sociology, was elected vice-president of the National Catholic Sociological convention, at its first meeting in Chicago, Saturday.

Thirty-one Catholic universities and colleges, from Nebraska to Ohio and Kentucky to Minnesota, were represented.

The convention was organized at the instigation of the Rev. Ralph Gallagher, representative from Loyola university. Its purpose is to promote research in the sociological field and to stimulate mutual thought and unified action among Catholics.

Father Gallagher was elected president of the organization, Sister Mary Ligouri from Mundelein college, secretary; Professor Paul Mundie from Marquette university, treasurer.

An executive council composed of the four officers and the Rev. Raymond W. Murray, author of "Introductory Sociology," the book in use at Creighton, was formed to determine the policies of the convention.

Impressed with the convention, Professor Brown remarked that one should have been formed five or six years ago. He also mentioned that the best talk of the meeting was given by Professor Mundie. It was devoted to the curriculum in sociology in Catholic colleges.

Cooper Skit Feature on Radio Program

Appearing on the regular Monday musical hour of Creighton University of the Air was the male chorus directed by Fred Ellis.

The Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., will continue his series of lectures on "They Were Pioneers" today. "Father Marquette" will be his subject this afternoon.

The Creighton Radio Workshop will present a program on the life and works of James Fenimore Cooper, Friday afternoon. Taking part in the program will be Robert Walker, A 4, Warren Schrempf, A 2, Nick Newberry, C 3, Marion McClintock, J 4, Ellen Mulick, UC 1, and Ray Burns, C 4. Bernice Scott, UC 2, will announce the program.

New Educational Plan Introduced in Vermont

A "school for living" with an educational program based on the study of "real life problems" will be opened in Vermont soon.

The new institution will be called Goddard college, and its classes will range from the junior year of high school through the sophomore year of college.

Each student's course of study will be planned to meet his individual needs, with the study of a vocation stressed as a part of living rather than as an end in itself, and students will participate in the determination of the college's policies.—(ACP)

Interview Speakers for Council Meetings

Dr. John P. Begley, professor of finance, interviewed possible speakers for the next meeting of the Council of Commercial Educators of Omaha and Council Bluffs, during his visit in Chicago over the week-end.

The Council of Educators, of which Dr. Begley was elected president at the last meeting, is composed of all the commercial teachers in both public and parochial, high schools and colleges, in Omaha and Council Bluffs. While in Chicago, Dr. Begley visited accounting firms in the hopes of placing 1938 graduates.

To Attend Baltimore Meeting

Dr. Charles M. Wilhelm, professor of physiology, left Monday night for Baltimore, Md., to attend a meeting of the American Physiological Society. The meeting will last from Wednesday to Saturday.

Students Should Back Decency Drive

By The Rev. F. G. Degelman, S. J.

At the Leadership convention, after mature discussion, a resolution was adopted to aid in safeguarding our young people throughout the community from the disastrous harm of indecent literature. This movement has taken almost national proportions.

In several sections of the country, a marked influence has been noticed in consequence of the stand taken by students, notably by university men and women, in ridding newsstands and drugstores of the filthy and insidious magazines.

Creighton men and women can exert like influence by their united efforts of pledging themselves neither to buy nor to read any such literature and to ask that the vile magazines be taken off the stand.

Departments In Action

Several of the departments of Creighton have already seconded this movement by obtaining pledges from the students. This is splendid work and we wish to congratulate the leaders in the colleges of arts and sciences and of commerce and finance.

The Legion of Decency in Literature deserves the wholehearted support of every Creighton student. The untold harm done through smutty story magazines and filthy jokes is alarming. It is worth every effort to keep these from filtering their vile dirt into the souls of children and youth. Innocence is too precious a gift to be exposed so flagrantly to dangers. Many a girl and boy will give thanks to such as think their innocence worthy of a noble fight.

Withdraw Money Support

As in the moving picture industry so in the field of magazine literature the withdrawal of monetary support will do more for cleanliness than the warning word.

Our co-operation will be an effective support to the noble efforts made by city and church authorities here in Omaha and elsewhere to give to our young people good clean reading. Let us, therefore, enthusiastically pledge ourselves to a crusade for clean literature.

Delegates Attend Peace Conference

Robert Gilmore, arts special; James Mulqueen, A 4; Ray Fox, L 2 and the Rev. Francis G. Degelman, S. J., faculty adviser, represented Creighton university at the Catholic Student Peace Federation conference at Marymount College, Salina, Kans.

The convention lasted Monday and was divided into a morning and afternoon session. The program of the conference centered about Pan-Americanism.

Gilmore addressed the convention delegates on "Fascism in Present Day Latin America" and was also heard over station KSAL, Salina, Kans.

Fourteen colleges throughout the middlewest were represented at the conference. Rockhurst college, Kansas City, Mo. will be hosts to the Peace conference delegates next year.

Directors Name Date of Oratorical Contest

Finals of the oratorical and commentator contests will be April 28, according to the Rev. James P. Orford, S. J., instructor in philosophy, and Prof. Edwin M. Puls, director of the competitions.

The contest judges have not yet been named. The university orchestra, glee club, and male chorus will provide additional entertainment.

Rodriguez Takes Lead in Duchesne French Play

Lucille McGrath, head of the speech department at Duchesne college, announces the spring production of the Duchesne College Players. It is a French play, "La Voyage de M. Perichon."

Inez Rodriguez will take the leading role. The play, to be given entirely in French, will be presented March 30 at 8 p. m. It will be open to the public.

Campion Professor Conducts Duchesne High Retreat

The Rev. Friedd of Campion High school, Prairie du Chien, Wis., conducted a retreat at Duchesne High school Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

During Holy week, the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., will give a retreat at Campion High school.

Offer New Journalism Course

The school of journalism will offer a new course "Introduction to Printing" in the regular curriculum next fall. The course will be two hours, according to Stuart A. Mahuran, acting director of the school.

"Exams Are Waste of Time," Declares Purdue Teacher

"I think final examinations are a waste of time, for I find that very few students have changed their semester grade by taking a final. The time spent on those exams could be better used for further study." Purdue university's Prof. Seibert Fairman states a view held by exam-bothered students for many a year.

Page Ripley! Twins in Play on Twins

Unusual circumstances were brought to light following announcement of masculine members of the cast for the St. John's High School spring play. The story is built around a set of twins, and it was discovered that there are three sets of twins in the combined families of the leading characters, Eleanor Drier and Tom Haller.

Other masculine parts will be played by Dick Tighe, Bill Sumpston, Gus Palmessano and Frank Elsasser. All are students in Creighton Prep.

Radio Workshop Gives "Showboat"

Creighton Radio Workshop will present "The Showboat" Friday afternoon. Paul Bausch, C 2, Ed Mura, A 4, and John Dahlman, C 2, are in charge of the program.

A quartet composed of Dick Rucki, A 3, Joseph Graham, A 3, Walter Traub, A 3, and George Johnson, A 2, will perform. Willis Lee, J 2, will play a medley of southern airs on the harmonica. A comedy, "Two Niggers in a Wreck," will be staged. An excerpt from the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" will be given.

The high point of the program is a tap dancing exhibition by the "Masked Marvel."

Cornell Issues Points to Success for Coeds

What are the keys to success for today's college women?

At a recent Cornell university conference here, the following were handed to Betty Coed and her sisters in learning as fitting the locks in the door that opens on success:

- 1. Health, mental, physical and moral.
2. Enthusiasm at all times.
3. Every possible assistance to the consumer.
4. Education, perspiration, inspiration and just plain brass.
5. Stand on your own spiritual and physical feet.
6. Keep up your special interest contacts.
7. Know what you want.

Speaking Of Sports - - -

Leo Dippel
Now that the male and female members of The Creighton staff have had their annual "paper-battle" it comes time for the regular staff to get back in harness. I take this opportunity to compliment the sports editors, as well as the other members of the two staffs, for their fine work in putting out the last two editions. Betty Blackburne, who was in charge of the sports page for the girls edition, proved to be a top-notch editor as did Delbert Case, who took over the third page for the boys' issue. It was definitely announced last week that Creighton will have a tennis team this year. Here's an opportunity for all the Bluejays who can swing a racket to engage in a sport that was practically under six feet of dirt here on the Hilltop. The Creighton net aspirants will be privileged to work-out under the tutelage of John L. Tatom, a graduate of Grinnell college where he carried away honors in the Missouri Valley singles championship.

Jays Ragged in Second Scrimmage

Line Blocking Poor; Coaches Point Out Gridders' Mistakes

It took an hour and a half Saturday afternoon to convince most of the spring gridders that they were not in any too good form. The chief fault of the offense was blocking in the line. Poor blocks and missed assignments kept Marchie Schwartz and his aides pointing out mistakes all afternoon. Line Coach Gorman was especially concerned with blocking in the middle of the line, while Willbur Eaton bused himself with the ends.

When the session ended the Greens led the Reds, 33 to 0, but the score is not worth the paper it is on for the Reds had the ball but once. Knolla, Ziesel Star The best work on the program was some fancy passing contributed by John Knolla and Bill Ziesel but even then the work was overshadowed by mistakes. Often a pass was gotten off slowly, and again the passer was rushed by the defensive line pouring through the Greens.

Another fault that was most apparent was the failure of the weak side linemen and secondary to polish off the defensive secondary and the Red fullbacks and centers had a field day at tackling.

The scrimmage was the second major workout of the season and the first since Wednesday. The injury toll is not too heavy, although about four hopefuls are on the hospital roster. Those who have not been in suit are Roy Engelbretson and Hub Monsky, with bad knees; John Krejci, with a sprained ankle, and Jim Hall, who favors some tender ribs.

Field Soft The side of the playing field was somewhat soft under foot due to sprinkling and several of the boys experienced trouble maintaining their footing.

All of the players worked hard at their positions but were hampered by poor timing and blocking. At the outset of the afternoon's work both teams were forced to kick, with the opposing linemen coming through unchallenged.

Don Fleming, sophomore half-back, had his moment when he stepped around end for some 40 yards but this was the only long run of the day. Starting lineups: Pos. Reds

Thin-Clad Cohorts Use Indoor Track Rain turned trackmen indoors the first of the week. Cool weather is not the wish of all interested in these sports. Better write to the home folks and have them send your golf clubs and tennis rackets along with the next allowance check. If you don't get the allowance check have them send the clubs and rackets anyhow. Let's show Director Belford our appreciation of his untiring efforts by enrolling for the tournaments NOW. Duces is spending from 12 to 15 hours a day working in the gymnasium and the students can show their appreciation by helping put over the biggest intramural program ever staged on the Hilltop.

Junior Jays Report for Baseball Work Baseball season found nearly 35 boys reporting for practice on the Junior Jay practice field. Press Club Wins Over Independent

Four Rabs Licked by Apex Quintet

The Press club pinned the Independents Sunday afternoon, 33 to 22, in the roughest, toughest battle yet seen in league play. The one word "pinned" describes the whole line of action. Two referees were kept busy blowing their whistles as 26 fouls were called.

It was the Independents' first defeat, but the medical boys fought all the way. The end of the half showed the Independents out in front, 15 to 9. Paul Gauthier was high man, dumping in five buckets the last half. Papa didn't make a basket but counted seven times out of 10 from the charity line.

Apex Victorious The Apex hung out a "show no mercy" sign, then went on to trample the Four Rabs, 58 to 19. Seaberg's 12 ringers and one gift toss accounted for most of the Apex points. Lustman and Eklund with 12 and 10 counters were second and third in the scoring. Delta Theta Phi nosed out Alpha Chi Kappa, 24 to 20. Fromm hit consistently for 14 markers to lead the lawyers to victory. Morrison and Stears did most of the point-making on the Kappa squad.

Sammy Weinstein's Four Rabs pulled an upset Sunday afternoon by winning their first game in intramural play. The Rabs downed the Fightin' Irish, 26 to 24. Faux Pas Lose The Faux Pas lost a heart-breaker to the Ballaklavas, 28 to 23. With the end of the game drawing near, the Faux Pas trailed by almost 15 points. The Faux Pas' last-minute desperate shooting spree fell short by five points. Hagan topped the scoring list with nine points. Zents and Turgeon collected 10 apiece.

The Ballaklavas lost their next tussle, 27 to 23, to the Orioles. Hagan and Turgeon were again in the high scoring lists. The Collegiate club tripped the Pharmacy team in another close game, 18 to 15. Beckenhauer of the Collegiate sank seven field goals and one gift toss.

Gauthier Leads Phi Epsilon had little trouble in knocking off Gamma Eta Gamma, 37 to 19. Gauthier and Biglin led with 10 points apiece. Ludanski left his barricading post long enough to tip in four fielders. Beckenhauer's seven points were high for the Gammas.

Vasconcellos dunked nine fielders to help the Independents to a 44-to-14 win over the Ramblers. The Commerce Sodality won by forfeit from the Dowling Blues. Xi Psi Phi also won on a forfeit from Phi Rho Sigma.

Jay Riflers to Engage Dakotans

Creighton's rifle team will journey to Vermillion, S. D., to engage the University of South Dakota squad on Wednesday, April 8.

The team is composed of John Verschoor, C 4; Dick Cook, A 2; Earl Rayhorn, C 2; Sebastian Campagna, L 1; Henry Fitzgibbon, C 4; Warren Hughes, C 2; Warren Schrempf, A 2; John Krejci, C 1; John Leahy, A 3; and Richard Grabow, A 1.

According to Major Willfred R. Higgins, a return match with South Dakota will be held sometime in the latter part of April.

Thursday the Bluejay marksmen outpointed the Blue Belles of the Bell Telephone company of Omaha on their home range by a 16-point margin. The final tabulations showed that the Bluejays had an aggregate total of 1,053 while their opponents counted only 1,042 out of a possible 1,200.

Verschoor led the Creighton contingent with a 184 out of a possible 200 total, bettering even Dexter Jones' score of 183. Jones holds the pistol and rifle championships in the state of Nebraska.

Firing was conducted from the prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions with five shots allotted to each man for every target.

Shoes Arrive for Bill 'Tiny' Barry; Answers Roll Call

Beef, height, and big feet, in abundance, describes Bill "Tiny" Barry, as we introduce him to you. He's a frosh at Wareham hall and a footballer trying in a "big way" to interest Marchie Schwartz in putting him to work at a tackle position.

Missing practice has been quite a common occurrence to Bill until the past week. His intentions were good, but his feet were too big. As you and I know, there are few people we meet, every day that tuck in their feet with a size 14 shoe.

Until the first of last week his feet were a pair of orphans as far as football shoes to fit him were concerned. But when the athletic department received two boxes, a shoe in each one, our young giant was well prepared to take to the stadium sod in his extra-large cleated shoes that measure two inches over the foot mark.

"Tiny" lives in Algona, Ia., and is a commerce student. He's a frosh candidate for the varsity line next fall, along with other fellows that are big, but not to Mr. Barry. A front line, that we mean would be immense, would be one with such a "man" as Bill in it, along with some of the smaller Bluejay giants.

Duce Belford Urges Intramural Entries

Hurry your entries for the big spring intramural program because Director Duce Belford has opened the books for contestants in the softball, tennis, golf and horseshoe tournaments.

Immediately following the completion of the all-school basketball tourney next week, the pairings will be announced in each of the above sports and play will get under way. "We are going to give the champions and runnersup medals in each sport," said Belford. Rules of the tournaments will be announced later, added Belford.

Paul Hartnek to Fight Jack Kranz

Paul Hartnek, Creighton's contribution to the boxing world, will be seeking his fourth victory as a professional fighter when he meets Jack Kranz tomorrow night in a six round bout at the city auditorium.

The Hartnek vs. Kranz fight will supply only one phase of a double-main-event show. Scheduled on the same program is Carl Vinciguerra, former teammate and traditional foe of Hartnek, who previously defeated Kranz.

Realizing the importance of this bout, Hartnek said: "I'm anxious to meet him and intend to gain where Vinciguerra left off. I'll try my damndest to win by a knockout. His imposing past record proves that this will be no easy matter."

In all Kranz's bouts, his opponents were never able to knock him out. When he met the present world champion, Joe Louis, a few years back, he lost only by a decision.

Vinciguerra will meet Art Oliver who travelled to the Olympics at Berlin with him as a heavy-weight when Carl was still in the ranks of the light-heavyweights. A broken hand prevented Hartnek from participating at the time.

Advance sales give every indication that the auditorium is listed for another possible sellout.

Ten End Aspirants Report for Drills

Editors Note—This is the first of a series of articles that will deal with the positions of the Hilltop football team. With a crop of 10 aspiring men, the end situation for the 1938 edition of the Bluejays is looking up. Only Fritz Borak, three-year letterman, is lost to the right end post, and five men are fighting it out for the post held by the dependable Fritz.

Coach Willbur Eaton is sending all combinations into action in the scrimmages to discover which men will strengthen end positions the most.

Stanley Gromnicki, Chicago; Roy Engelbretson, Omaha; John McGillicuddy, Omaha; Leo Dippel, Council Bluffs; Jack Pease, Omaha, compose the list of candidates for the left end post. Those seeing service at right end are Clarence Stoffel, Omaha; Marshall Kittelson, Huron, S. D.; Leo Seib, Evansville, Indiana; Robert Hofmann, Omaha, and Harold B. Hartzell, Anaconda, Mont.

Roy Engelbretson has not seen action in rough work during the spring practice because of an injured knee.

Serpe, Lynch Into Tournament Finals

First round in the handball tournament has been slow the last week, as not all returns are in for the singles. In the doubles Serpe and Lynch beat Gibbs and Horan 21-7 and 21-11. In the lower bracket Fromm and Goeckel will battle Art Vasconcellos and Donald Carr of medicine in the semifinals.

Because some of the players failed to turn in their scores of the singles tournament, pairings to have been completed on March 28. The second and third rounds are scheduled to be completed on March 30 and April 1, respectively.

Intramural Tourney Into Final Round

All-School Tourney to Start April 7

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30 7 p. m.—Dowling Blues vs. Fightin' Irish. 8 p. m.—Phi Epsilon vs. Alpha Chi Kappa. 9 p. m.—Phi Rho Sigma vs. Gamma Eta Gamma.

THURSDAY, MARCH 31 5 p. m.—Alpha Chi Kappa vs. Xi Psi Phi. 7 p. m.—Ramblers vs. Press Club. 8 p. m.—Phi Rho Sigma vs. Faux Pas. 9 p. m.—Collegiate Club vs. Ballaklava.

FRIDAY, APRIL 1 6 p. m.—Ramblers vs. Commerce Sodality. 7 p. m.—Xi Psi Phi vs. Gamma Eta Gamma. 8 p. m.—Phi Epsilon vs. Phi Beta Pi. 9 p. m.—Phi Rho Sigma vs. Delta Theta Phi.

SUNDAY, APRIL 3 1 p. m.—Phi Chi vs. Phi Epsilon. 2 p. m.—Independents vs. Apexes. 3 p. m.—Orioles vs. 620 Club. MONDAY, APRIL 4 7:30 p. m.—Apexes vs. Press Club.

Final round contests in each of the three intramural basketball leagues will determine and groom the eight teams that will compete in the all-school tournament starting Thursday, April 7.

Topping the final week of play will be the Sunday afternoon menu which will include three topnotch encounters. At 1 o'clock the defending champion Phi Chi fraternity will defend its laurels against another undefeated quintet, Phi Epsilon.

Tough Games Following will be two blood-and-thunder games between the undefeated Apexes and Orioles playing the Independents and 620 Club, respectively, in the National and American Open leagues.

The teams that finish in the top three positions in their leagues will be eligible to compete in the championship tournament starting Thursday night. Managers of the above teams are requested to attend the meeting in the Students Union clubrooms Monday at 7:30 p. m., when drawings will be made and rules will be discussed for the meet.

Important Meeting "Each team should have a representative at the meeting so that problems can be ironed out and they can be present for the drawing," Duce Belford, director of intramurals, stated.

At present it looks like Phi Chi, Phi Epsilon and Phi Beta Pi will represent the Fraternity loop; Apexes, Press Club and Independents, the National, and Orioles, 620 Club and Dowling Reds, the American.

According to present plans, four games will be played Thursday night with the semifinals falling on Friday. Finals are billed for Sunday, April 10.

Belford said that winners of the tournament will be awarded gold medals while the defeated finalists will receive silver medals.

Here are the season's records of the teams likely to win berths in the all-school intramural basketball tournament: Phi Chi 33-11 .750

Phi Epsilon 22-10 .688 Phi Beta Pi 21-17 .556 Gamma Eta Gamma 13-27 .323 Delta Sigma 14-28 .333

Dowling Reds 25-35 .417 Collegiate Club 26-36 .417 Faux Pas 27-37 .422 Ramblers 27-37 .422

Goodman to Appear on Bluejay Sod

Stanley Davies Will Assist National Amateur Champion

Johnny Goodman, one of the most famous amateur golfers in the world, will be in the Creighton stadium Saturday morning at 10:30 to conduct a golf school for Creighton students.

Goodman, present National Amateur champion and one time National Open titleholder, will be assisted by Stanley Davies, Omaha Field club professional, who is no slouch at the pasture game himself.

Belford Secures Golfers Through the efforts of Duce Belford, director of Creighton intramural sports and member of the Jay coaching staff, these two luminaries were secured to aid aspiring Hilltop golfers in overcoming their hooks and slices.

Besides going the whole way in both of the nation's biggest tournaments, Goodman has won numerous other championships the country over and has, for the past several years, been a prominent member of the American Walker Cup team. He first gained national fame in 1927 when he beat Bobby Jones, then the world's outstanding golfer, on the Pebble Beach course in California.

Stiff Competition In 1933 he upset the dope books when he won the coveted National Open championship against the stiffest competition in golf, consisting of all the major amateurs and professionals in the nation.

Several times he was a finalist in the National Amateur tournament before he finally won it last fall when he beat Ray Billows, New York, in the finals over the tough Alderwood course in Portland, Ore.

Stanley Davies, pro at the club where Goodman learned the game as a caddy, has for many years been one of the outstanding golf teachers in the middle west. Many of the better golfers in this vicinity owe their success to Davies, who has an enviable record in the professional field.

Urged to Participate Creighton students are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to learn a game that will be a pleasure to them in their later life as well as in their youth. Of course, all prospective members of this year's Creighton varsity golf team should be on hand to gather tips which should aid them in competition with other schools.

Each student attending the class is requested to bring with him at least one golf club. The class will be held on the football field in the stadium and will begin promptly at 10:30.

Creighton Golfers Engage K. State

Kansas State will be the opponent for the Creighton golfers here in the Bluejays first Omaha match April 23. The Kansans will come from Lincoln where they are scheduled to meet the Cornhuskers the day before.

The brighter lights of those trying out for positions on the Blue foursome are Jack Miller, Leo Zents, Sam Morgan and Willis Lee.

Last year the only representative of the Hilltop in the divot digging field was Bob Fraser who did all right by himself and the school by winning the Missouri Valley championship.

Washington Bears Lead Valley Tankmen

Valley swim meets are a little out of place in the Bluejay camp. Along the firing line of other schools there is much doing in the tank sport. Five Missouri Valley schools found quite a bit of interest in competition this season with meets taking place at different pools.

Among the top three schools in Valley standings the Washington Bears were high with Coach Eilers doing the instructing. Grinnell and Oklahoma A. and M. garnered second and third places respectively.

In the St. Louis water carnival Victor Fiala set a new valley record in the 200-yard breast stroke. As he was wearing trunks, and it clearly states in the rule book that you must be clad in a full swimming suit, his record was unofficial.

Max Schmeling Breaks 100

Max Schmeling, German heavy-weight, broke 100 at golf for the first time in Excelsior Springs, Mo., while training for one of his fights in the United States. The fighter took lessons from Hank Decker, professional, and worked hard at the game.

"One day," said Decker, "Max came running into the shop babbling a lot of talk I could not understand.

Inter-Sorority Council Issues Bids for First All Greek Letter Formal

Banquet for Sorority Members and Escorts to Precede Dance

Honor guests for the formal Inter-Sorority council dance at the Fontenelle hotel Friday, April 22, were announced this week by Marion McClintock, J. J. president of the council. Bids, enclosed in gold with the Inter-Sorority council crest, were distributed this week among sorority members.

Guests at the banquet preceding the dance will be: Miss Cassandra Dinnon, Kappa Zeta Kappa sponsor; Miss Lucille Kendall, Chi Mu Kappa sponsor; the Rev. Joseph P. Zentgraf, S. J., president of the university; the Rev. Charles K. Hayden, S. J., dean of men; the Rev. Gerald Fitz-Gibbon, S. J., dean of the arts college; the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdoin, S. J., dean of the university college; the Rev. John McInerney, S. J., rector of the school of medicine; and the Rev. Eugene Mullany, S. J., superintendent of grounds.

Chaperones for the dance will be Mrs. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Dayer. Additional escorts at the dance will include: Dr. Bryan M. Riley, dean of the school of medicine; Dean and Mrs. Lawrence T. Pook; Dean and Mrs. William Jarrett; Dean and Mrs. Floyd Walsh; and Mrs. and Mrs. S. A. Mahuran.

For the first time Inter-Sorority council members will be awarded pins at the banquet. In the absence of the Rev. Joseph A. Herbers, S. J., moderator of the council, who will be out of town at the time, Father Hayden will present the pins. Those receiving the insignia will be: Marion McClintock, J. J., president; Eileen Connelly, J. J., vice-president; Marion Nichols, C. J., secretary; Betty Oberholzer, J. J., treasurer; Rosemary Gaughan, C. J.; Charlotte Anderson, J. J.; Norma Knode, J. J.; Eileen Kennedy, C. J.; Nell O'Holman, C. J.; Marjorie Nolan, C. J.; and Geraldine Steen, P. J.

In charge of seating arrangements is Eleanor Kennedy; decorations, Marjorie Nolan; and bids, Charlotte Anderson. All plans were completed at a council meeting Thursday night in the administration building.

Complimentary bids are being extended to Joseph Manion, P. J., president of the Students' Union board of governors; Fred Nasr, D. J., president of the Pan-Hellenic council; The Creightonian, and The Bluejay. Tickets, limited to 100, may be obtained from any sorority or council member.

Chi Mu Kappa Alumnae Entertains Actives

Chi Mu Kappa actives were entertained at a buffet supper Sunday evening at the Omaha Athletic club by members of the alumnae chapter. The dinner was served at a long table decorated with pink and white candles and flowers. The members were then seated at individual tables for four with centerpieces of sweet pea corsages. The corsages were presented to the active members.

Eleanor Lynch, newly elected president of the alumnae chapter, acted as hostess. She wore one of the latest spring dresses of rainbow print. Veronica Boyce was outstanding among the actives by wearing a navy blue suit with a pink anchor sweater, white Gertrude Martin was attired in a burnt orange dress with clever figure heads forming the buttons down the front of the dress.

Lois Rogers, June graduate of the university college, was also present. She is home for the Easter holidays from the University of Minnesota where she is working for her master's degree in sociology.

Judge Welch Speaks to Gamma Eta Gammas

Judge Lawrence Welch, Judge of the Workman Compensation court, addressed members of Gamma Eta Gamma, national law fraternity, at its regular monthly meeting at the chapter house Wednesday evening.

Professor Hugh Gillespie, law instructor, was honored guest at the meeting.

Informal initiation of new members will take place at the house Sunday evening.

Xi Psi Phis Set Spring Dance Date

Xi Psi Phi, national dental fraternity, set April 22 as the date for their spring dinner dance at the Rome hotel, at their regular meeting Monday night at the chapter house.

President Paul Pederson, D. 2, appointed Albert Germon, D. 4, and Fred Nasr, D. 4, to make arrangements for the orchestra; and James Fridley, D. 3, and James Killian, D. 2, to make arrangements for the dinner and hall.

Irving-Rhodes orchestra will play for the dance.

To the fair lassies who have been sprouting out with anklets and thinking that it is pretty cute . . . it seems to suggest that the modern college coeds, whether a senior or a freshman, underneath it all still like to go back and play house.

The dental students seem to be in a tremendous uproar in regard to some of the quotations made by the coeds about the gentleman (notice . . . the word is gentleman and we know they are) on the campus in a feature story last week . . . Basketball Captain Dick Shaw seemed to be a little uneasy about the whole affair . . . and Rudy Mayr too . . . he doesn't seem to be doing so badly . . . or is he?

Jean Brown, the campus heart throb, since her enrollment here at the semester has fans to glory . . . and the nearest way to get introductions . . . it is easy to drop ones handkerchief as the young lady did in yesterday . . . and put on the fainting act or the Oh, pardon me, I'm so sorry.

It's nice to have people meet you at the train Miss Dohel and especially when they have to rush to do it and then you ask where the rush is . . . just a matter of depreciation maybe. Larry Keller to be quoted lately . . . Blank . . . blank . . . and still blank and the same for Maurice Ternis.

Roy Araujo, the Honolulu Hercules does his track work without the use of shoes . . . what a following of the younger set he already has . . . they come up to him and say . . . Gee, are you the one who goes barefoot? And can he punt a football without shoes.

Dear Dr. Pival: Eternal thanks from a guy named Chambers who is nominating you for the Nobel prize in dentistry if there is one . . . if there isn't one there should be one started. Pulling teeth between classes is pretty quick work . . . or rather getting teeth pulled between classes.

Kappa Zeta Kappas Plan Formal Dinner Party and Luncheon

At a meeting of Kappa Zeta Kappa Monday evening plans were made for a formal dinner Saturday, May 7 at the Athletic club.

Betty Dayton, C. 2, is in charge of the dinner. Assisting her are Jeanette Miller, C. 2, Alice Gallagher, L. 1, and Joan Finley, UC 4.

Tentative plans were made for a luncheon Saturday, April 9 honoring Florence Stack and Betty Amsden. Miss Stack recently announced her engagement to Pat Randle. Miss Amsden is leaving for Seattle where she will be engaged in business. Helen Roedecker, C. 2, is in charge of luncheon arrangements.

Kappa members and their dates will attend a picnic at Rosemere Lodge May 15. The committee in charge includes Araminta Boger, UC 2, Mary Andrews Sedler, UC 2, Mary Elise Pass, C. 2, and Betty Higgins, UC 1.

Dental Fraternity Honors New Men

Delta Sigma Delta, national dental fraternity, were hosts at a dinner at the house preceding the regular weekly meeting Monday night.

President Charles Q. Keefe, D. 3, welcomed Anthony Circo, D. 1, and Harry Sloan, D. 1, as new members of the fraternity. Guest speakers were Dr. H. A. Nelson, supreme deputy of the fraternity; and Dr. Stanley Housa, demonstrator.

Following the dinner, pool and ping-pong served as entertainment for the members.

Gridder Koll Toots Trumpet, Barks Signals for Blues

Versatile is the name for that frosh quarterback, Norbert Koll. A master of the trumpet, he occupies his weekends playing with an orchestra. He plays the trumpet.

Starting out with the idea in mind of being a musician, his efforts were toward the piano when he was in the fourth grade. He got away from the piano and after four years found that the trumpet was the instrument he wanted to do all his tootin' on. With four years on both the piano and trumpet he could start a band of his own—had he a couple more hands.

Had Own Band

While still a senior in high school, this young man was the proud leader of an eleven-piece band of his own. He played for many dances and in this manner found out a lot he didn't already know about his trumpet. Today he is a full-fledged trumpeter and fills a man's shoes the weekends he plays.

So good at the job he performs, Norbert was awarded a scholarship to a summer school session at the St. Louis School of Music. He has never taken them up on it yet and isn't sure whether or not he will. He seems to have a little more practicing to do, so he says.

Somewhat Of Record

Quarterback Koll said that he believed his band holds some sort of a record in playing in three states in exactly three consecutive nights. Playing first in the white-spot state, at Niobrara, they played the following day in South Dakota, in a little town of Dante. The night after, they ended up across the river in Council Bluffs to give dancers something to swing to. Yes sir, three states in three nights!

An Army ball at the Iowa University will take care of his spare time this coming weekend. Norbert is in Arts and is a leading contender for the quarterback post on Coach Marchie Schwartz's football squad next fall. If his talents run into the field of music as they do in football, well, Norbert should find it a simple matter to hold his audience when he solos.

Law Graduate Speaks to Delts

Lawrence Welch, Law '21, judge of the workmen's compensation court in Omaha, talked before members of Delta Theta Phi, law fraternity, on the principles and practical work of compensation law. The speech was delivered at a luncheon in Straub's cafe, recently.

Father Heavey Will Give Retreat

The Rev. William Heavey, S. J., of St. Francis college, Cleveland, will be retreat master for St. John's girls, according to the Rev. Joseph E. O'Brien, S. J., rector of St. John's church. The retreat will take place April 4, 5 and 6.

Father Mullany to Review Play for Mothers' Club

The Rev. Leo H. Mullany, S. J., head of the department of English, will review "Shadows and Substance," by Paul Vincent Carroll, before the Prep Mothers' club, Sunday, April 3, in the Creighton university auditorium.

Father Mullany is widely known throughout the Midwest for his colorful reviews. During the year, he has given five reviews as a part of the program furnished by the Creighton Speakers' bureau.

"Children's Teeth," will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Arlo Dunn before the Windsor school P.-T.-A., April 5. Dr. Dunn is instructor of orthodontia and radiology in the school of dentistry.

Dr. Gustav W. Dishong, professor and director of the department of nervous and mental diseases, will speak before the Sutherland school P.-T. A. on "Emotional Guidance in Childhood," April 12. He will speak on the same topic before the Walnut Hill school P.-T. A.

Charles F. Bongardt, professor of law, will discuss "Religion and Law," before the congregation of the First Central Congregational church, April 8.

Medical Society to Meet at Fontenelle

The obstetrical and gynecological society will meet Thursday evening at the Fontenelle hotel. Felice J. DeStefano, M. 4, will read a paper on "Puerperal Infection." S. J., Ruden, M. 3, will speak about "Hormonal Lactation Control." Dr. Clarence S. Moran, assistant professor of pathology, will discuss the subject of Mr. Ruden's talk.

Judge John Yeager to Address Law Delts

Judge John W. Yeager, Judge of the Fourth Judicial District in Nebraska, will be guest speaker at the regular twice-a-month luncheon of Delta Theta Phi, national law fraternity, at Dixon's cafe Thursday.

Conrad Buell, L. 3, president of the fraternity, is in charge of arrangements and will present Judge Yeager.

Women Control 70 Per Cent of Wealth

Not very many years ago, women were launching their first great crusade for the equality of their sex; today, authorities have estimated that women control 70 per cent of the wealth of the nation, according to Isaac F. Marcosson in the American Magazine, will probably be running industry and politics in the next generation or two unless they fail to realize their power.

In support of this assertion, Mr. Marcosson points out that women are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of the nation's outstanding life insurance, that 49 per cent of the stockholders in major companies of the country are women, and that women control 85 per cent of the country's consumer buying power. This author points to the eminent possibility of a financial matriarchy in this country but says, "I hesitate to prophesy, but I console myself with this thought: If women do become the titular heads of the nation industrially, they won't have much more than they have had all along. Indirectly and actually, they've owned the earth since time began."

But another authority, Prof. R. L. Sackett of Mississippi university, is not so easily quieted. He looks on these figures with alarm since "women know the price of everything but the value of nothing," in his humble, married opinion.

And so, you men take up your chivalric arms and sally forth in an effort to put women back on a worshipped pedestal, out of the dregs and slime of the workaday world. If you don't you will find that some day you will have to fight for your economic freedom—and that means practically all freedom—just as the women were doing early in the century. Look to your guns and your financial ability, ye stalwart males, or you will wake up some fine morning in the twenty-first century and find that, as far as men are concerned, a dollar is merely an "S," which has been doublecrossed.—Student Life, Washington University.

Phi Rho Frat Initiates Ten Pledges

Medicine Men Greet Dr. J. W. McMartin As Honorary Member

Phi Rho Sigma, national medical fraternity, held its annual initiation and banquet at the Fontenelle hotel Thursday evening.

Dr. Louis B. McGuire, assistant professor of surgery, served as toastmaster and introduced the following speakers: Dr. Charles McMartin, professor of dermatology and urology and head of the department of surgery; Dr. Frederick Langdon, associate professor of surgery; Dr. Arthur C. Johnson, assistant professor of surgery; Dr. C. H. Newell, Dr. Herbert Gerald, professor of pharmacology; Dr. Ernest Kelly, associate professor of mental and nervous diseases, and Dr. Joseph McMartin, assistant in anatomy and urogenito-urinary.

After the initiation, Dr. Joseph McMartin was made an honorary member of the fraternity.

Initiated into the fraternity were James McGuire, M. 2; Edward Whelan, M. 2; John Petrich, M. 2; Joseph Hamm, M. 1; Frederick Mahovec, M. 1; Mareo Rago, M. 1; Alvin Gross, M. 1; Herman Brewersdorf, M. 1; Albert Serrail, M. 1, and Alexander Filip, M. 1.

"Servientes" ad Legem, honorary scholastic law fraternity, lunched at Dixon's Cafe Tuesday noon.

Conrad Buell, L. 3, secretary-treasurer of the organization spoke on the Nebraska guest statute.

Honored guest was Professor Hugh Gillespie, instructor of law. Senior members attending were: James Gleason, Harold Levens, Joseph Ruda, William Redle, Chester Fisher, Loyal Kaplan, and Conrad Buell, junior members attending were: Patrick Corrigan, Gene Fitzgerald, Walter Wendt, Robert Braun, Robert Denney, LeRoy Spence, John Hedrick and James Green.

Stanley Davies Guest Speaker to Dentists

Stanley Davies, Field club golf professional, was guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Odontological society, a society for senior dental students, Tuesday night at the dental school.

Extemporaneous speeches were given by Paul Pival, James Conley, Albert Cardamon, Harold Stern, and Walter Wilson. Criticisms on these were given by Joseph McAlcer, Albert Germon, Robert Sinn, Milan Prodvovich, and Leo Miller.

Each week a loving cup is passed to the winner of the extemporaneous speeches. The judges are the guest speaker of each meeting, Dr. Frank Carman, demonstrator, and Ambrose Kelly, president of the society.

President Kelly called on the members. Last week Robert Sinn gained possession of the cup.

Helen Bodecker Entertains at Tea

One hundred guests were invited to meet Evelyn Sandberg at a tea given by Helen Bodecker at her home in Council Bluffs Sunday afternoon. Miss Sandberg and Miss Bodecker were classmates at Christian college last year.

Acting as co-hostess was Alice Bodecker. Among the assistants at the tea were four commerce coeds, Rosemary Gaughan, Mary Ann Pound, Jeanette Miller, and Betty Dayton.

Table decorations were in pink and lavender. Carnations and snapdragons in those colors were used.

Invited guests included members of Miss Bodecker's sorority, Kappa Zeta Kappa and Council Bluffs girls.

Entertain Professor, Students, Wives at Phi Chi Dinner

Professor James VaVerka, instructor in chemistry, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Snow, Mr. and Mrs. William Waldmann, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Vaught were Sunday evening dinner guests at the Phi Chi fraternity house.

An informal smoker will entertain members of the fraternity at the house Saturday night while they make plans for their formal initiation to take place in the near future.

Phi Delta Chi Initiates Eight Coeds

Candle Light Tea Scene of Affair at Norma Knode's Home

Pledges of Phi Delta Chi, national journalism sorority, formally initiated into the city at a candle-light tea at the home of Norma Knode, J. J., day, March 27.

Ruth Hatch, Edna Bue, Elaine Dodson, Mary Jeanman, Olive Odorisio, Anne S., Phyllis Franzen, and Betty Burne took the formal pledges.

Following the ceremony, new members were presented their club pins. Eileen Connelly, J. 4, president, administered the oath, and Marion McClintock presented the pins.

Eileen Connelly and Norma Knode served at the which followed.

The Phi Delta Chi achievement medal will be on exhibition in the Creightonian newsroom this week. The medal will be awarded to the most outstanding coed in the school of journalism, and the award will be made upon scholarship, news ability and general aptitude. This is an innovation in the school of journalism.
