

John A. Creighton Medical College.

The regular course in this school comprises four years of seven months each. The Laboratories are large and perfectly equipped, and the course in all thorough and complete. The Dispensary Clinics are large, and furnish an abundant amount of material in all branches of medicine and surgery. Clinics are held three half days in each week in the St. Joseph's Hospital, the largest and best equipped hospital in the west. These clinics are reserved exclusively for the students of the John A. Creighton Medical College.
