MEETING NOTICE

March 14, 6 p.m., Commodore Inn, East Guild Hall
Dr. E. L. Allen, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Commerce,
"Challenges in the Export Business in the 1970s"

Our speaker's special responsibility in the Department of Commerce is for international economic research and analysis. Prior to this assignment in 1971, Dr. Allen was Chief of Economic Research for the Central Intelligence Agency, with primary responsibility for all foreign countries.

From this deep professional and experiential background our speaker will analyze for us the current international economic picture, including the political implications.

Dr. Allen, a resident of McLean, Va., holds a Ph.D. from the American University and a B.A. from Columbia. He has served in various governmental positions other than in Commerce and the CIA; these include the WWII War Production Board, Senior Review Board of the Department of Defense, and U.S. Naval Reserve. He is author of "Economics of American Manufacturing," a contributor to other economics writings, and is listed in Who's Who.

Our next meeting will be Sunday, April 1, when we will have more than thirty diplomats and government officials as our guests and our speaker will be Guy Vanhaeverbeke, the European Community's representative in Washington, D.C.

Kearney State College has invited members of the Omaha Committee to be their guests at the World Affairs Conference in Kearney, April 2-4, expenses paid. If you are interested, please let me know promptly.

Sincerely,
