HOST FAMILIES are needed for Japanese students this summer. Creighton has two intensive English programs planned for July and August. Students from Saitama Women's Junior College will be here from mid-July to mid-August for a four-week session. Men and women students from Tokoha Gakuen University from Shizuoka, Omaha's sister city, will be here for six weeks in July and August. Host families are needed for both programs. Students will attend English classes weekday mornings, and will be involved with cultural activities most afternoons. Host families need to provide transportation to and from Creighton daily, provide breakfast and supper during the week and activities and meals during the weekend. Unlike most programs looking for host families, Creighton provides a small stipend to help defray expenses. For further information, contact Beverly Di Mauro, cultural coordinator of the four-week program or Margie Trembley, cultural coordinator of the six-week program at 2310 or 2221.
