Dear Brick:

Your last refreshing letter with the generous donation has come. Again, thanks so very much for all you have done for me. It will take me all eternity to catch up with you, but I'll do my best. I feel so often that you & I are at present parsing through the best part of our earthly careers. Your description of yourself as an old cow in a well-ordered barn suits me to a T. All we have to do is to chew our cud & enjoy the situation, now & then knocking a fly off with our

Dear Brick:

The Police called me last Thursday to help them out in the case described here. I succeeded in persuading the guy to let me in the room & later persuaded him to come out of the locked room into the hallway but never once did he relax his hold on the knife or the girl. I wish you had been with me.

Ever yours,
John

tail but otherwise undisturbed. I remember dear old Bob's cat well; how he would have her jump up on his shoulder & perform other antics. He was like my Dad in his love for cats. Both of them always had one around.
There will never be another guy like Bob. He & I always bit it off perfectly together & I used to enjoy his company & studying him on my visits home. He could make funnier faces than Danny Kaye & was always good company. Here's hoping you & Lou & all the others in the family enjoy the holidays & then keep on enjoying what life is left to us. You are all in my prayers & always will be. Ever yours,
John
