RAYMOND J. McCOY, Librarian

St. Xavier Graduate Assumed His Position Here Last Fall.

At the beginning of the present scholastic year it was announced that Mr. Raymond J. McCoy, A. B., had come to Omaha to be librarian of the Creighton University Library. He is a graduate of St. Xavier's College, Cincinnati, and has had experience of some six years in the Cincinnati Public Library and in the army libraries of Fort Oglethorpe, Camp Forrest, and Camp Greenleaf, at Chicamauga Park.

Raymond J. McCoy

Georgia. Since coming to Creighton he has not only worked constantly and ably at the duty of his position, but has followed the evening course in the College of Law, and has been a leader in student activities. The success of the St. John's Hall banquet and Ball in December and January was due in a great measure to his initiative and to his work as chairman of the executive committee. In the early part of December he gave lectures to the first year English students of the College of Arts on the use of a reference library. The following account, written by him for the Courier towards the end of the first semester in January, had to be held for the present issue because of lack of space in the February number. It passes lightly over the magnitude of his own work, which has included the rearranging of all the books in the library. The data given apply to the University Library alone, which is separate from the libraries of the various professional schools and of the High School. The library was opened to the general use of the students last fall.

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The students of Creighton are beginning to realize and take advantage of the splendid facilities offered by the Varsity Library. Up to this date 1619 books have been drawn from the library by means of borrowers' cards. More than three times that number of a series to the Creighton dean. A year ago, at Indianapolis, from being chairman of the executive board of the same society, he was elected vice-president. He was at that time chairman of the committee on law of the National Association of Dental Faculties, and last summer, at Milwaukee, he became vice-president of this association also.

COMMITTEE ON CURRICULA MEETS

The Committee on Curricula of the Jesuit Missouri Province met at the Creighton College of Arts Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 25 and 26. The members in convention were, President McCormick of Creighton, President Kelley of Regis College, Denver, Vice-President Fox of Marquette University, Professor James Shannon of St. Louis University, and the Rev. John B. Furay, of the Chicago Theological Seminary, at Area, Ill.

FACULTY SMOKER HELD.

BASKETBALL HOME SCHEDULE ENDS BRILLIANTLY

South Dakota State, Michigan Aggies and Des Moines University Beaten Twice Each. Ten Games in East.

South Dakota State, the only victors over Creighton in the football season of last fall, sent its basketball team to Omaha at the end of January with a record of sixteen victories and not one defeat; but they were forced to accept two defeats from Coach Kearney's tossers January 27 and 28. They reached the half-way mark of the first game leading, with the score at 16 to 14, but at the end of the second half the score was 28 to 26 in Creighton's favor. The game was marked by very rough playing, though clean.

The second game was less close throughout, and ended 34 to 25 in Creighton's favor. On both evenings Carey made the greatest number of points for the visitors.

Two well-contested victories were won February 3 and 4 from the Michigan Aggies, one of the few teams which had defeated the strong Creighton five of last year. The Friday game was marked by many fouls on both sides, and free throws gave Creighton five points and the opponents eight. Creighton took the lead early and kept it. Lynch, Loveley, Mahoney, and Wise divided the scoring among them, and the final score was 41 to 30.

The game of the following evening was closer. The first half ended 16 to 10, with Creighton in the lead, but in the second half Michigan tied the score at 18, then got one point ahead by a free throw of Gilkey. Creighton soon regained the advantage with a margin, however, and though Gilkey's accuracy continued to make the home team's ascendancy precarious, the score was 25 to 21 when the pistol cracked, just as Gilkey was scoring his last free throw.

SMOKER FOR STUDENT UNION.

Big Attendance of Students and Alumni Expected.

The January number of the Creighton Chronicle contained an article on the proposed Student Union, and a tentative constitution for that body. The plan is now being carried out under student initiative. The Union is a great all-University association of students and alumni, to promote all kinds of student activities, and it is earnestly desired that all the students of the various colleges and the alumni join in the movement. The idea has been realized at other universities, notably at that of Michigan, where there is a million dollar building, an equipment of one-fifth the same value, and an endowment of three hundred thousand dollars. Michigan's association began with a membership of twenty per cent, but the percentage has risen to a hundred. It is hoped to begin at Creighton with a hundred per cent membership. To form the organization committee, one delegate has been chosen from each class of every college of the Univer-

PIUS XI, EDUCATOR

Every Pope is an educator. As the head of a Church whose mission is to teach all nations and whose membership includes all races, he directs his magisterial voice to every imaginable class of persons. Children learn their prayers from him, and savages the first rules of Christian morality. Servants listen to him as to the visible spokesman of a divine Preceptor, and men and women of culture receive his admonitions with deference and docility. He is in fact the supreme authority in by far the vastest and most versatile teaching body in the world.

The present Pope has been an educator all his life. He is thoroughly acquainted with the university lecture hall. He has directed a library which since the days of Federigo Borromeo has been one of the most famous centers of learning of Europe. The historical and literary treasures of the greater Vatican Library have been under his expert care. He has published numerous learned writings. He is said to know twenty-six languages, and though this is by no means incredible, even half that number would be an invaluable assistance in understanding the characters and ideas of the unnumbered nationalities whom he teaches and whose representatives he receives.

Neither has his educational experience been confined to the schools. He has seen the war and its effects at close range. He has given spiritual assistance to a heroic people in the stress of political and military strife, and has stood at his post at Warsaw braving the danger of a Bolshevik advance. As successor of the great Cardinal Ferrari, he has governed the see of a highly industrial city whose problems he understands. He comes to his high position as successor of St. Peter with all possible human preparation, and he is the pride of the educational world.

He has shown his constant and comprehensive interest in education by the teaching of catechism and the direction of schoolmistresses as well as by work for great institutions of higher learning. Under his influence the new Poland's first Catholic university was begun at Lublin, a theological faculty was established in the Government University of Warsaw, and the final steps were taken for the opening of the Sacred Heart University of Milan.

He is now to teach the whole world, and the world sorely needs him. Bleeding from a fratricidal clash of arms, starving, delirious with the fever of social unrest and economic chaos, it is laboring painfully to find relief. It will find its cure in being taught as by "one having power," the present-day applications of the evangelical principles which have rejuvenated it in centuries past. To-day no authority is so universally respected as that of the Vatican. It has become the style to praise the Pope, and millions of men and women who are led more by style than by principle, will be morally and socially and spiritually benefitted by this salutary fashion of the day. While every other power is distrusted, the occupant of Peter's Chair is looked upon with veneration and love by persons of all nations, and with admiration and good will by persons of all creeds. Achille Ratti, great in mind as in body, is ready for the difficult task of bringing help to sick humanity. The Providence which chose Pius X for the first decade of our century, and Benedict XV for the period of the war, has shown its gentle but unerring direction in exalting the present Pope for the years of reconstruction. Pius XI is the man for the times, and the times are ripe for Pius XI.

DISARMAMENT

The Disarmament Conference has no doubt left to most men a sense of disappointment. It was inevitable, perhaps, but it is too bad, that more could not be accomplished. It is too bad that the pistol must be kept on the hip and the sword at the thigh, each nation on the alert against attack, and each a subject of disquiet to its neighbors.

Still, though the conference has not disarmed the world, it has accomplished more than the mere drawing up of treaties. It has focused the attention of thinking men on the detestable shame and horror of wholesale human bloodshed. It has occasioned speeches and writings and conversations the general tending of which has been that of a desire for lasting peace. It has impregnated the masses of the various peoples with the leaven of this desire. It has been a powerful influence in educating to peace. Indeed, not the least of its good results has been the very deficiency of its achievement; for it has shown that not treaties written on parchment, not the actions of diplomats and of legislative assemblies, but only the law of charity and justice and Christian gentleness, written on the hearts of mankind, can assure the blessings of tranquillity. Humanity, like a student, has had a three months' course in peacefulness. The course is far from sufficient, but it is a good beginning after the terrible object-lesson of the World War.

We must continue our study and training. The rising generation in all countries must be trained, not to a sentimental and spineless pacifism, but to a manly respect for the rights of others, a sincere good will for fellow men of all nations, a self-control that restrains the excesses of commercial cupidity and of lust for pleasure and power, a humility convincing each one that his rights are no better than those of the rest of men. The military profession indeed will ever remain in honor. There will always be occasion enough for the chivalrous defense of justice and for authority's punishment of crime. We must try to learn to have no other use for force. When the nations will have progressed further in this education, we shall be able to lay down our menacing armaments and live a life of Christian freedom and security. Then we shall live that life until the nations, alas, will have forgotten their lesson and will be in need of re-education!

LECTURER OF N. C. W. C. COMING

Dean of Loyola University School of Sociology to Lecture here March 14

The Rev. Frederick Siedenburgh, S. J., dean of the School of Sociology of Loyola University, Chicago, and a member of the executive committee of the department of social action of the National Catholic Welfare Council, will give a lecture in the Creighton University Auditorium, 25th and California Sts., Tuesday evening, March 14. The public is invited. During the past year Father Siedenburgh has lectured on social topics from San Francisco to New York.

MEDIC NOTES.

New X-Ray Equipment for Deep Therapy.

Sunday, January 29, Dr. Albert F. Tyler, professor of roentgenology, demonstrated his new high power deep therapy X-ray equipment at St. Joseph's hospital, to thirty-one professional men from St. Louis, Kansas City, Des Moines, Sioux City, Lincoln, and from other parts of Nebraska and Iowa. The tests of the machine and the cases were the object of much interest. Two hundred and twenty thousand volts have been used regularly, and in a test the voltage has been run up to 275,000. One cancer was reduced to half size in three days. Dr. Tyler declares that "tests made with the ionization chamber prove that it is now possible with this equipment to deliver a lethal cancer dose in a tumor situated ten centimeters below the surface," and that this means that "growths situated below the surface can be treated with the same effectiveness as those situated on the skin."

The whole equipment, and the rooms which it occupies, are built to order.

Faculty Members at #### Meetings of A. C. S.

Two sectional conventions of the American College of Surgeons were attended recently by the Rev. Wm. P. Whelan, S. J., regent of the Creighton College of Medicine. The first was at Lincoln, February 6 and 7, for the tri-state section of Nebraska, Iowa, and South Dakota, and the second was at Kansas City, February 9 and 10, for Missouri and Kansas. At both conventions was a party headed by Franklin Martin, of Chicago, director general of the A. C. S., and George W. Crile, of Cleveland, the greatest authority on goitre in the world. The party visits the various sections throughout the country, and among its members is the Rev. Charles B. Moulivier, S. J., of Marquette University, president of the Catholic Hospital Association, and editor of the periodical "Hospital Progress." At Lincoln, Drs. Simanek, Wolcott, McMartin, and Connell, of the Creighton faculty, fellows of the A. C. S., were present, as well as Dean Schulte and Dr. A. D. Dunn.

The order of proceedings was much the same in the two cities. In the morning the members of the American College of Surgeons from the section held clinics. In the afternoon of the first day there was a set program, the general subject of which was hospital standardization. Scientific and technical lectures were given on the afternoon of the second day, by Drs. Martin and Crile and by members of the A. C. S. from the section. While these last lectures were being given, Fathers Whelan and Moulivier addressed the sisters representative of the Catholic hospitals of the states. Preparations were made for the establishment of state conferences of the sisters. About 150 doctors met at Lincoln and about 100 at Kansas City. The religious women were about 100 at Lincoln and about 250 at Kansas City. Six from St. Joseph's Hospital were at the Nebraska capital.

Dean Schulte

Friday, January 27, Dean Schulte spoke to the Society for Disabled Veterans, on the care and treatment of the veterans. He addressed the Kiwanis Club of Council Bluffs, February 14, on cooperation between the public and the medical profession in the care of the sick, and on the 17th of the same month, he spoke on fee splitting, to the Rotary Club of the Bluffs.

Dean Schulte has lately been elected secretary of the social section of the Chamber of Commerce.

Demand for Creighton Alumni

The following letter, while it is occasioned by the death of one of our alumni, which we must regret, testifies to an interest in Creighton which cannot but be gratifying:

Odell, Nebr., Jan. 23, 1922.
Dean of Medical Dept.,
Creighton University,
Omaha, Nebr.

Dear Sir:—

Presuming that you have a list of Creighton M. D.'s desiring a location I wish to advise you that there is an opening here at Odell, as Dr. M. T. Sigler, a Creighton graduate, who has been here the past year passed away last week of scarlet fever. The time is opportune for the right kind of young man to get in, as our present doctor, I. N. Pickett, * * * wants another doctor in the field. Being an old C. U. grad myself I would particularly like to see a Creighton man in here if you have a dependable one desiring a location.

Yours very truly,
W. T. STANOSHECK,
Cashier State Bank of Odell.

LAW

Prizes Awarded

At the end of the first section in the contest for the Corpus Juris and Encyclopedia of Law, Messrs. Svoboda, McGovern, and Kastner were leading. As prizes for this initial success, they received volumes of Clark's Elementary Law.

Visit of Dr. Hunt, of #### Nebraska University

On February 17, Dr. Hunt, of the dental faculty of the State University of Nebraska, visited the Creighton Dental College. He spent the afternoon examining the building, and was delighted with it.

Faculty Meeting

There was a meeting of the dental faculty Monday evening, February 13. Drs. Hipple and Herbert King gave an account of their recent eastern trip. Both attended the convention of the American Institute of Dental Teachers at Montreal. Dr. King attended an earlier dental meeting at Chicago, and visited some schools there, and Dr. Hipple, after leaving Montreal, went to give a toast to Augustus Downing, Commissioner of the Board of Regents of the State of New York.

ARTS

The Retreat

The yearly retreat of the students of the College of Arts, which in the past has been assigned to the first three days of Holy Week, was held this year from January 30 to February 1, immediately after the mid-year examinations. The fact that the exercises were in the chapel instead of in the church, helped concentration by obviating the necessity of passing from one building to the other, and conduced to the maintaining of an atmosphere more favorable to the success of the spiritual endeavor of the period. The talks were given by the Rev. Charles McDonnell, S. J., of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Denver.

Father Kaufmann at Meeting of Historical Association

The Rev. Alfred Kaufmann S. J., professor of history in the College of Arts, attended the convention of the American Catholic Historical Association in St. Louis at the end of December. Other historical societies meeting at the same time in that city were, the American Historical Association, the St. Louis Catholic Historical Society, the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, the Agricultural History Society, the Missouri Historical Society, and the State Historical Society of Missouri.

Dean Grace at Educational Meeting in Chicago

The Rev. Wm. J. Grace, S. J., dean of the College of Arts, attended the convention of the Association of American Colleges which was held in Chicago, January 12, 13, and 14.

Visit of Rev. Petronius Zagni

The Rev. Petronius Zagni, S. J., professor of chemistry of the Colegio "Centro America," Granada, Nicaragua, called at Creighton Saturday, January 14. He has been traveling extensively in the United States in the interest of the Nicaraguan government to study oil wells and metallurgy.

FOUNDERS' DAY SERVICE

Fr. Stagno Preaches.

The usual solemn requiem mass for the founders of Creighton University was celebrated in St. John's Church at ten o'clock on Founders' Day, Tuesday, Feb. 7. The Rev. John McCormick, S. J., president of the University, was celebrant, and His Grace Archbishop Harty was in the sanctuary. Officiating at the mass were: Deacon, Rev. John Hallinan, rector of St. Mary's Church; Sub-deacon, Rev. Jos. H. Ostdiek, assistant pastor at the Church of the Sacred Heart; Deacons of Honor to the Archbishop, Rev. Michael Gluba, rector of St. Francis Church, and Rev. P. J. Judge, rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart; Master of Ceremonies, Rev. George A. Smiskol, of the Cathedral. Other members of the clergy, including clerical members of the University's faculty, were in attendance.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Michael A. Stagno, rector of St. Ann's Church. Developing the idea of perfection in human productions, he came to speak of perfection in man himself, and held up the Creighton founders as examples of high human excellence. He spoke of Edward Creighton's achievements in rising from poverty to prominence and in the work of establishing lines of local and transcontinental communication; then he praised the beneficence which had known how to use for the good of fellow man the opportunities won by persevering effort. The preacher mentioned other institutions besides the University, which were owed to the generosity of the Creighton family.

The Archbishop and other clerical guests were at dinner with President McCormick and his confreres at noon. All departments of the University had a holiday.

THE NEW POPE

PIUS XI

Achille Ratti, Pope Pius XI, was born at Desio, near Milan, March 31, 1857. His father was a weaver. Among the schools from which he received his general and clerical education are the Lombardy College in Rome and the Gregorian University. The dates of his life, reported with slight divergencies by various papers, are substantially as follows:

He celebrated his first Mass in Rome, December 20, 1879, pursued advanced studies there until 1882, and after receiving doctorates in theology, philosophy, and canon law, returned to Milan where he taught theology and sacred eloquence, and was identified for many years with the Ambrosian Library and Museum. He was made assistant prefect of the Vatican Library in 1910, and prefect in 1914. He is said to be noted as one of the most erudite men in Europe, and as a linguist of exceptional accomplishment.

He was designated Apostolic Visitor to Poland by Pope Benedict XV on April 25, 1918, four months after the treaty of Brest-Litovsk, and on June 6, 1919, became Papal Nuncio. During the trying times of the German occupation, and of war with the Bolsheviki, he worked with notable ability and courage for the religious welfare of the country. Appointed titular Archbishop of Lepanto July 3, 1920, he was consecrated in the cathedral of Warsaw by Cardinal Kakowski, October 23 of the same year. He was appointed Cardinal and Archbishop of Milan June 13, 1921, and was elected Pope February 6, 1922. His coronation took place February 12.

On Wednesday, February 8, Pope Pius XI gave Cardinal O'Connell the following message to be sent to the American people through the Associated Press:

"Tell the American people I send them my very sincere and affectionate blessing, and that I shall always have at heart their prosperity and welfare.

I beg your Eminence to let the United States know that all my life I have felt the most sincere admiration for that young and vigorous nation.

"I have read very much about America, and have often wished to be able to see that marvelous country. But now, of course, that can never happen. But still I am consoled to think that I can welcome Americans to Rome.

"My one great desire is to help re-establish peace and harmony among all nations. The conference at Washington accomplished much toward the pacification of the world. America has shown herself most unselfish, both during and since the war. God bless her for that. She seems never to want anything for herself except what is justly hers. At the same time she is always helping the old nations of Europe, which today, more than ever, need her co-operation. God bless your country and your people."

The last home games were won from the University of Des Moines, February 10 and 11. In both games the issue was uncertain for a part or much of the time, though the final scores were 40 to 28 and 34 to 25 respectively. In the second half of the final game the visitors caused anxiety to Creighton supporters by getting a lead of five points, but they soon lost it. Captain Knox of Des Moines was the most formidable of the opponents, and Burnett and Snyder, Des Moines guards, were mentioned as distinguished.

The Home Record.

The best basketball team that Creighton has ever had has finished its home schedule under the direction of Coach Kearney, with a record of sixteen games won and two lost. Of the nine visiting teams, seven yielded both contests to Creighton. Iowa University and Notre have been consulted in the reading room. The books used cover a wide range of subjects; the heaviest demand being for literature, economics, philosophy and history.

The library now contains almost thirty thousand carefully selected volumes. New books are being added to the collection every day. The reference section is being rapidly built up, so that the library is now able to furnish information on any subject. The fact that the library has over one hundred dictionaries, and twelve complete sets of encyclopedias gives some idea of the completeness of the collection. A number of the best magazines are arriving regularly, and the back numbers are being filed. During the holidays and spare time the librarian and assistants have been revising and enlarging the card catalogue. A new and complete shelf list of the books, composed of over twenty thousand cards will soon be ready for patrons of the library.

The Creighton University Library is open to students every day except Sunday from 8:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M., Saturday 8:00 to 12:00.

sity, Arts, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Commerce and Finance, and the committee has been working on the arranging of a constitution.

At first a banquet was contemplated to bring the men together, but it has been thought better to have a smoker instead, and this will be held in the University gymnasium Thursday evening, March 16. The entertainments will probably include boxing, wrestling, music, and a sketch from the Orpheum Circuit, besides "smoke enough to make the place look like Pittsburg," as the chairman of the committee declares. The talks will be few, brief, and lively, and the affair is expected to be the biggest of its kind yet had this year, if not in the history of the University. The idea of the Student Union will be presented and action for its immediate establishment will be taken.

Announcement of the smoker, sent by about eight hundred postal cards to alumni in Omaha and Council Bluffs, is expected to bring a large attendance of old Creighton men; and any alumnus who fails to receive a postal is hereby cordially requested to consider himself invited through the Courier. The tickets may be obtained at fifty cents each any day from one o'clock to five, at the central headquarters at the office of Charles B. Morearty, 700 Peters Trust Building. The telephone number is Jackson 3841.

SOLON BORGLUM DEAD

Famous Sculptor was Creighton Student in the Early Days

Tuesday morning, January 31st, the Omaha press announced that Solon Hannibal Borglum had died the preceding afternoon at Stamford, Conn., after an operation for appendicitis. He was a sculptor of note, and had been a student at Creighton when this institution was in its initial stage. His name appears in the catalogs of '82-'83 and '83-'84.

THE SHERIFF

Solon Borglum

Born at Ogden, Utah, December 22, 1868, he studied art at the Cincinnati Art School, and at Paris, and won distinction in the French capital as well as in this country. From the long list of sculpture executed by him may be mentioned a portrait equestrian statue of General J. B. Gordon at Atlanta, Ga., an equestrian statue of Capt. O'Neil at Prescott, Ariz., a portrait relief of Brig.-Gen. Joseph A. Mower placed on the Vicksburg battlefield, five colossal busts of generals of the Civil War in Vicksburg National Park, a portrait statue of Private Jones of the Confederate Army at Lynchburg, Va., and the equestrian statue "The Pioneer," at the San Francisco Exposition. Among the awards he had won in America and abroad were silver medals at the Paris exposition of 1900 and at the Buffalo exposition of 1901, and a gold medal at the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904. He was a welfare worker during the war, and received the Croix de Guerre for courage under fire. He had spent his early life in the great West, and his intimate knowledge of western life found expression in many productions, of which some are shown above.
