Letters to the Alumni Secretary's desk . . . Giving you a cross-section of Alumni doings and Alumni thought

Talked to '47 Med Grad

I wish to acknowledge your letter of June 11th and congratulate you and the school on the fine thought behind it. It made me feel that the school is doing a splendid job in keeping in touch with its graduates and that it is creating good will among those who graduated before this program.

I have talked with David Buddrus, MD '47, and he is satisfied and happy in his internship at Mercy Hospital.

I shall continue to see him and have told him that I will be happy to help him in any way with his future education.

Here is one thing though, every time I can say a good word for Creighton I shall do so for there is no school with a spirit like its; and I do thank you for your patience in waiting for this.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM REACHES $731,806.84

SUCCESSFUL FIRST YEAR ENDED JUNE 30

Euthusiastic participation of East Coast alumni pushed the Development Program subscriptions to a new high. 1327 alumni have participated as the personal contact work of the Program expands.

The Creighton University Development Program ended its first year on June 30 and the total subscribed by alumni to that date was $731,806.84.

Even technically minded Commerce alumni could not protest if that figure were dubbed a grand total. For grand it is, and grand in more ways than one. The acceptance by alumni of the committee-men who have visited them—the acceptance was unusually a warm welcome—has been a grand display of friendliness and loyalty. The work of the many, many men and women who have given their time and energy during the past year constitutes a greater contribution to Creighton in some senses than the money subscribed to the Program. Grand has been the assistance of the committee-men and grand has been the reaction of the alumni to the Program work.

The temptation is to become too optimistic at this point. On the face of the results of the past year's work the objectives of new buildings and added endowment seem very near and very real. The trick of the thing is that $700,000 is only a good start and that the most real thing at this moment is the loyalty and resoluteness of Creighton's alumni. With that loyalty and resolution the success of the Development Program is assured. For its part Creighton is doing everything in its power to secure and maintain the respect and appreciation of its graduates.

"I am tremendously impressed with the absolute, sincere loyalty and eagerness to help that has been exhibited by our alumni," the Rev. Henry W. Linn, S.J., co-director of the Program said.

"The pleasant part of the work is that the alumni make me and the men who have been working with me feel that we are not coming to ask for charity."

"You are giving me a chance personally to do something for the school which put me where I am," one alumnus told Father Linn.

In speaking of his trip through the East in which he drove more than six thousand miles, Father Linn spoke glowingly of his meetings with alumni throughout the East.

In Philadelphia a luncheon was held on June 11 at the Bellvue-Stafford where a goodly number of alumni met with Father.

Washington, D.C. alumni met at a dinner June 11 at the 2400 Club where former Alumni Secretaries Frank Pellegrin and Hugh Higgins sparked a meeting.

As the Alumnus goes to press Father Linn, accompanied by Dr. William L. Sucha, MD, and Dr. Bernard V. Kenny, MD, is starting a tour through Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and South Dakota. The swing through these four states will keep the party on the road until mid July.

In the meanwhile, in Omaha the Law alumni committee under the general chairmanship of Daniel J. Gross is continuing the organization of Omaha law alumni.

One of the most heartening features of the Development Program is the fact that the first year's accomplishments can be credited to only 1,327 alumni.

As per promise and policy the Alumnus herewith lists the alumni who have subscribed to the Program since the date of the publication of the last list, March 24, 1947. The subscriptions by medical alumni as of June 30, 1947 total $594,614.34. The names of those who have contributed since the last listing follow.

Father Corby and Father Deglman Celebrate Golden Jubilees this Year

The Rev. William J. Corboy, S.J., pastor of St. John's Church, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his entrance into the Jesuit Order on August 10.

Father Corboy was born in Limerick, Ireland, but attended school at St. Ignatius in Chicago. He entered the Jesuit Novitiate at Florissant in 1897 and went to St. Louis University for his philosophy in 1901.

As a Scholastic he went to Marquette University in 1904 where he taught for three years in the high school and two years in the college. During his five years at Marquette he was also athletic director for the school.

In 1909 Father Corboy returned to St. Louis to complete his theological studies. He was ordained in 1912 in St. Louis by the then Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis.

He came to Creighton in 1914 and was director of athletics until 1917. In 1917 he entered the army as a chaplain. He served with the 89th Division and went through the Argonne and St. Mihiel offensives.

Father Corboy returned to the Hilltop in 1919 and resumed his position as director of athletics, which position he held until 1935. It was during his time as athletic director that the stadium and the gym were built. Also during this time, Creighton entered the Missouri Valley Conference.

During most of the years from 1920 to 1937 he was also chaplain of the Omaha City Jail. In 1937 he was appointed assistant pastor of St. John's Church, and in 1942 he succeeded the Rev. Joseph O'Brien, S.J., as pastor, which position he still holds.

Father Corboy has spent a total of 31 years at Creighton doing outstanding work both as Director of Athletics and as a parish priest.

The Rev. Francis G. Deglman, S.J., instructor in religion and student counsellor, will also celebrate his Golden Jubilee this year. Father Deglman's anniversary falls on August 31, but it will be celebrated on October 2.

Father Deglman was born in Mankato, Minn. and went to school at what is now Loyola High School. He entered the Jesuit Order upon his graduation from high school at the age of fifteen.

He first came to Creighton as a Scholastic in 1904. In 1909 he returned to St. Louis to complete his studies, after which he returned to the Hilltop in 1914, remaining until 1917.

He again returned to Creighton in 1927 from Campion College at Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin. From 1928 until 1932 he was teacher of classics in the high school, director of sodalities, and student counsellor.

Father Deglman began then his work of directing the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade and is still promoting this noble work.

In 1932 he was transferred to the University, and working with the Rev. Patrick O'Conner of St. Columbans, they established the Xavier Forum.

Father Deglman has been a great influence in directing youth and vocational guidance. He has planned and directed the Sodality Conventions for several years. The annual Marian Night service is another one of his contributions.

In 1943 Father Deglman was awarded a plaque given to those who have served on the faculty for twenty-five years.

Father Deglman has spent most of his years as a Jesuit working directly with students. It is because of this that he is celebrating his anniversary on October 2—so that students, who have been his work, may take part in the ceremony.

Dr. Black on Med Staff

Dr. Albert S. Black, Jr., left the Mayo Brothers' Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota last month to join the staff of the Creighton Medical School.

He will serve in the capacity of an assistant in plastic surgery.

"His coming to Creighton is a real addition to the faculty and to the medical profession in Omaha," stated Dr. Charles M. Wilhelmj, dean of the School of Medicine.

Dr. Black received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1937 from the University of Washington at Tacoma.

He received his degree in medicine from Chicago University, completing his work there in 1940.

Radio Institute at C. U.

As this edition of the Alumnus goes to press plans are under way for the Creighton University Summer Radio Institute to be held July 18 and 19.

The Institute is under the direction of the Rev. M. B. Martin, S.J., director of the Summer Sessions, and the Rev. R. C. Williams, S.J., director of Radio Education.

The opening session was conducted by Dr. Arthur Umscheid, head of the History Department. The Rev. William H. McCabe, S.J., welcomed the speakers and guests.

Speakers at this session were Fred Kilian, Production Manager for the Central Division of the American Broadcasting Company, E. W. Ziebarth, Director of Education, Central Division of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and Frank Shopen, General Manager of KOAD, Omaha.

In the evening a Television Demonstration was conducted in "The Huts." This included "The Game of Chess," a television drama, and "An Invitation to Spanish," showing the adaptation of the new medium to the teaching of the modern languages.

The Saturday session was conducted by Edwin Puls, M.O., director of the Speech Department.

Speakers at this session were James Mahoney, Manager of Midwest Station Relations, Central Division of the Mutual Broadcasting System, and Miss Betty Ross, Assistant Director of Public Service, Central Division of the National Broadcasting Company.

Each of the sessions was followed by a "Question Period" which was conducted through the medium of television. The audience was broken up into five groups and sent to separate classrooms, each equipped with a television receiver set.

Beside each receiver was a microphone through which questions from the groups were relayed by a faculty member to the station and network representatives located on the stage of the Creighton auditorium.

In this way all groups could hear all the questions asked and could see the radio representatives answer them on the television screen.

The television set-up for the Institute was handled by the technical and production staffs of radio station WOW, NBC outlet in Omaha.

Registrar Adopts New System . . .

The first punched card system of its kind to be installed in a Jesuit college in this province was used by the Creighton Registrar, Jack N. Williams, recently in preparing final reports of all students in the university.

The long and tedious task of compiling each student's grade reports by hand was obviated by the introduction of International Business Machine equipment.

In setting up the system, punched cards were prepared showing personal information on each student such as name, courses of study, marital status, military service, major field. The name and address of the student's parents are carried on separate cards.

From these cards lists of the students in each class were prepared for the professor. The students' grades were marked on these class lists and later punched into the student's course cards.

As soon as all the grades had been entered on the cards the name and address of the student's parent, his or her name, the department, course number, descriptive title, number of credit hours, the grade and quality points for the course were printed on continuous form grade reports.

In spite of the difficulties in the conversion to the new system the first reports were available for mailing three days after the grades were submitted.

In addition to the facility of the system in preparing the grade reports it serves well in the compilation of various lists and statistical studies

Reading Institute Held

The high school library was the scene of the Creighton University Remedial Reading Institute held June 20-21.

The Institute was conducted by the Creighton Department of Education for the purpose of explaining to teachers the physiological and psychological causes of reading difficulties.

The Institute was attended by over 150 Omaha teachers.

Miss Florence Sweetin, who joined the Creighton faculty last month, lectured on "A Study of the Causes of Retardation Reading."

Miss Sweetin came to Omaha from St. Louis where she was Classroom Consultant for Remedial Reading in the Public School system. She has been doing this work for the past three years.

Miss Sweetin obtained her Master's degree from St. Louis University in 1945 and later did work in remedial reading at Boston University.

Mrs. Hans Laas, lecturer in education at Creighton, spoke at the Remedial Institute on "The Child's Personality in Relation to Reading Disabilities."

Mrs. Laas was formerly Supervisor of Kindergarten and Primary Education at State Teacher's College, Superior, Wisc.

ROTC Rated Excellent

According to Col. Robert R. Martin, Commandant of the Creighton ROTC, the Bluejay military unit has received another rating of "excellent" from the War Department. The rating is a result of the annual federal inspection conducted by the Fifth Army on May 5 and 6.

In a letter from Major U.S. Pitney, Assistant Adjutant General of the Fifth Army, the ROTC unit received an overall score of 92.1. They received a score of 98 in administration, and 91.3 in training. All three of the scores are in the "excellent" classification.

Eldredge R. Long, sophomore in Creighton College, is the new Cadet Battalion Commander of Creighton's ROTC unit.

His appointment was announced at the annual Military Ball which was held at Peony Park on April 11.

Creighton's Registrar, Jack N. Williams, is shown supervising the work of two of his staff members on the new punch card system for student reports.

Duce Reveals Basketball Plans . . .

As Duce moved into his new office to take over his job as head basketball coach, he stopped a minute to admire the trophy given him by his 1945-46 cage team.

Monday, July 7 found Creighton's head basketball coach moving his personal effects into his new office, but he stopped long enough to sit down and discuss a few of the plans he is formulating for next year.

He was hardly visible behind the huge stack of congratulatory messages which have been accumulating from all corners of the country since his appointment May 21. He said, "I just hope they don't expect too much."

Duce said his offense and defense will not vary from that used by Eddie Hickey. This will offer a tremendous advantage since both he and the squad members are thoroughly schooled in the late mentor's tactics. Duce was of the opinion that it would be foolish to try to change the brand of ball with the players he has available.

He will use the same defense—combination zone and man to man—with a possible switch to the straight man to man in a tight spot. The Jays will reply on speed—as always—on the offense, especially if they are a small team.

Comparing prospects for the coming year with the 1945-46 season when he was coach of the "informal varsity," Duce could not help but be optimistic. He said that some of the team that year had not even had the benefit of high school competition, and as a result their type of play at times wasn't as organized as it should have been.

Yet the "play for fun" lads won nine and lost ten against collegiate competition. One of several upsets they authored was a 33-32 decision over the same Billiken outfit which Coach Hickey has inherited. In their finale the inexperienced Blues added a few gray hairs to the head of Hank Iba as they threw a terrific scare into the champion Aggies. At one time the Jays led 8-0 before the Cowboy reserve power turned the tide.

Duce says there is no comparison between his material then and now.

He was liberal in his praise of Dick Wiedenfeld, giant freshman who won a starting berth late last season, and Bob Gates who played on the Junior Varsity. Gates is a former high school star who suffered a back injury to hamper his play. He now seems to be much improved.

Duce said he thinks the season is too long if serious work is begun too early in October. He plans to start practices for veterans about two weeks after school starts. Workouts will be optional till then.

He will start holding sessions around the middle of September for anyone—experienced or not—who wants to play. The practice, he said, will not only promote interest in the game, but might uncover some future stars.

The new mentor says he will follow a policy of light drills this year and let the players save their energy for the games. "You can get more fire and enthusiasm with men well rested," he said, "not by running them so hard you make them hate the game."

He says one thing he absolutely will insist on is hard play at all times.

He wants the Jays to be able to play a "deliberate, sure" game even though they rely on speed as their main weapon.

Duce Eyes Opposition

Discussing the prospective competition, he said, "Without a doubt, Kentucky is the number one team in the nation." He emphasized that the Colonels will have virtually their entire squad back next year.

Duce was reminded that almost every player in the Missouri Valley conference will return again next year, making league play even tougher than last season.

Coach Hickey's St. Louis team, he thinks, is a better-balanced aggregation than was the Kurland-Iba-Aggie corporation that won the National Championship in 1945 and 1946.

Duce says he will carry 15 men or less on the varsity after the season gets under way. "When that first game comes up," he said, "we're going to play that one like it was the only one on the schedule. Then after we win it, we'll think about the second one."

Also among his plans is the arrival of the spring basketball practice sessions of pre-war days and a bigger and better intramural program—he is also in charge of that department.

After all of this the quiet little man who will carry the hopes of Creighton cage fans on his shoulders henceforth went back to his moving, and probably to formulating more details of his plans to take up where Eddie Hickey left off and keep the White and the Blue at the top of the country's basketball scorecard.

Blue Jays Aid Omaha

Two former Bluejay athletes are doing their part to contribute to the mid-summer drive of the Omaha Cardinals, Western League baseball entry.

Little Ray Henningsen, Prep graduate in 1940, is holding down third base for the Redbirds while Tom Kelley, BSC '42, is taking his regular turn on the mound.

Henningsen, one of the few Cardinals who has survived the player shuffle, has been in the lineup all season and at the time the Alumnus goes to press is batting .299 with 53 hits in 177 times at bat.

Kelley, who finished his first pro season at Pocatello, Idaho, last year, with 12 victories and 13 losses, defeated Lincoln with a 3-bitter in his last start.

Both Henningsen and Kelley were stars in their Prep days, Henningsen at basketball and baseball, Kelley at football and the diamond sport.

In his University career, Tom was quarterback on the last Blue elevens before the war. He is now attending law school during the off-season.

Tom was with the Forty-third Tank Battalion during the war, was missing in action, a prisoner of war, awarded the Bronze star, and promoted to the rank of Major.

Ainslie Assistant Coach

Richard G. Ainslie, former Purdue University football and baseball star, will join the Bluejay athletic staff the first of August.

His appointment was announced June 27 by Athletic Director Frank Hagan.

Mr. Ainslie will coach the frosh cagers and one of the spring sports, and teach in the physical education department.

The new coach, who holds a Master of Science degree in Physical Education from Purdue, is presently an Associate Professor in that department at New Mexico State Teacher's College.

He has served one year as assistant freshman football and basketball coach at Purdue, two years as head basketball coach at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington, and one year as head football coach at Wittenburg College of Springfield, Ohio.

McNary served in the 9th Infantry Division*

Hagan Gives Schedule

Athletic Director Frank Hagan June 24 announced a 22-game schedule, highlighted by a tilt with Kentucky University, for Bluejay cagers next winter.

The game with the Colonels, No. 2 team in the country this year, will headline the annual trip during the Christmas holidays. Other opponents on the jaunt are Western Michigan and Xavier.

The Hilltoppers will treat Omaha fans to two outstanding contests prior to Christmas. Dec. 16 and 18 they will be host to two intersectional rivals, Rice Institute and San Francisco University.

There will be nine home games in addition to an inter-city clash with Omaha U., probably to be played in the City Auditorium.

The Jays will return to Des Moines again this season to take part in a December doubleheader. Drake and Denver are the other teams selected at present. The schedule includes home and home games with all Valley opponents, Drake, Tulsa, Wichita, Oklahoma A & M, and the champion St. Louis Bills.

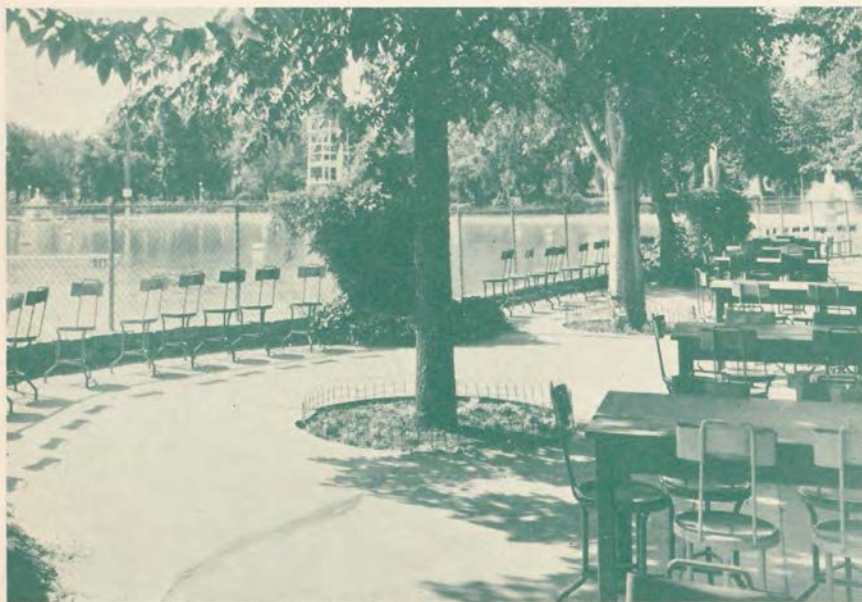

Washington University, who recently withdrew from the conference, will also meet the Jays twice.

In final collegiate basketball ratings for 1947 by Dick Dunkel, Creighton ranked seventy-sixth in the country—ahead of every Valley school but the Aggies. A total of 747 teams were considered in this final rating.

New York Alumni Club

Another new club within the Creighton Alumni association is in the process of forming at the present time.

And the location is none other than in Greater New York City. The instigator of the drive in the New York vicinity for a Creighton alumni club is Charles H. Juergens, LLB '30.

Mr. Juergens is the resident vice-president of the New York office of Mutual Benefit.

Due to the large number of change of addresses that have occurred because of the recent war, many alumni in the New York area have lost contact with the Bluejay alumni office in Omaha.

Letters were sent out to all known Creighton Alumni in the area requesting them to send in the name of all other Hilltop alumni that they knew were living in New York.

If cooperation is gained in obtaining these names as well as addresses, it will greatly facilitate the forming of a new alumni club.

Mr. Juergens was very active in the Creighton alumni organization that existed in New York prior to the war.

Picnic Supper Serenade

"We have already signed one of the best bands in the country," General Chairman Paul Gallagher told committee chairmen at a recent meeting, "but we are signing another to give the alumni an added, unexpected treat."

Eddie Haddad and his orchestra has been signed for a supper serenade in the picnic grove from six to nine o'clock.

"This alumni picnic is going to be the greatest, biggest, most full-of-fun affair that Creighton alumni have ever attended," Mr. Gallagher said. "We have two orchestras now and if a third will help—we'll get one."

Denver Officers Elected

The Denver Alumni club played host to Bluejay alumni of the Rocky Mountain region on June 12. A dinner was held in the evening at the Denver Athletic Club.

The meeting was climaxed with the election of officers. Dr. James A. McGuire was elected the new president.

Dr. A. J. Kafka, MD '35, was elected to the post of vice-president.

Miss Margaret Schnieder, SCN '45, was chosen as reporter-secretary.

Toastmaster for the meeting was Jack O'Hearn, '35.

Dr. Daniel C. Sullivan, who has been serving as director of the Creighton College department of Education, will resign his position at the conclusion of the 1947 Summer School session.

Dr. Sullivan is leaving Creighton to assume the position of Associate Professor of Education at St. John's University in Brooklyn, New York. He will be the chairman of the department of education of the Graduate school.

One of the new organizations on the campus this year is the Creighton University Faculty Wives' and Women's Club.

The Club has been very active during the past year. Its members, the women of the faculty and the wives of faculty-men, held several teas, book reviews and meetings. In addition the club sponsored a series of all university faculty parties which were held every other month during the academic year.

On April 19, the Rev. Paul F. Smith, S.J., director of the English Department, gave the club's last book review at a tea held in the Creighton Prep Library.

The club's final party was sponsored by the wives of the Medical Department Faculty. The party, a dinner-dance, was held on May 20 at the Birchwood Club.

Each school has its representative officers who are elected in November for a one year term. The officers of the club are: President, Mrs. Arthur J. Offerman; Vice-President, Mrs. Arthur G. Umscheid; Secretary, Mrs. Floyd Walsh; Treasurer, Mrs. Hugh Gillespie.

Students Form Club

The married Catholic students on the Hilltop have inaugurated a religious and social organization called the "Cana Club." Membership is open to all married Catholic students in the University. Temporary moderator for the club is the Rev. Francis Degleman, S.J.

The club was organized in March of this year with the purpose of instructing its members in the problems of married life as they are encountered by the student and his wife.

At present the club has a membership of forty-five couples. Next year they plan to have members in all the schools of the University.

Labor School Ends

Over five hundred students have attended the five sessions of the Creighton Industrial Institute Labor School which have been held over a period of two and a half years.

The Labor School was under the direction and guidance of the Rev. Henry W. Linn, S.J., Executive Secretary to the President. He was assisted by the Rev. Ralph H. Schenk, S.J., assistant dean of Creighton College.

The majority of students enrolled in the school represent labor groups. However, many of them are not directly connected with such groups.

At a banquet held at the end of the fifth session of the Labor School, certificates were awarded to 76 students. The banquet was held at the Castle Hotel on May 8 and was attended by 120 students and faculty of the school.

The certificates were awarded to those who had completed one or more of the five sessions held since the beginning of the school two and a half years ago.

Borglum in Omaha

AUGUST M. BORGLUM

One of Creighton University's distinguished alumni visited Omaha for several days during June.

He is August M. Borglum who attended Creighton High School from 1882-1885.

The Borglum family has written a notable page in the history of Creighton alumni. A total of six brothers went to school on the Hilltop.

August is the brother of the renowned sculptor, the late Gutzon Borglum, Arts '87, the creator of the famous Mount Rushmore Memorial, which contains the images of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt. Gutzon also carved the Stone Mountain tableau at Atlanta, Georgia.

August's recent stop in Omaha was just a "delay en route" on his trip to visit his brother's famous masterpiece in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

This marked the first time that August ever saw his brother's work at Mount Rushmore since Gutzon started work on it in 1927.

August left Omaha in 1940 after serving as music critic for the Omaha World-Herald. He was well known in the mid-west as a musician, and gave piano lessons here in Omaha.

He is now living in Detroit, Mich., where he resides with his son, George.

During World War II, August worked for two years in a radar plant at Norwalk, Conn.

The Borglum family had more than one sculptor. Solon, who like brother Gutzon maintained a studio in New York City, also gained considerable renown among the sculptoring world. Solon attended the Hilltop in 1882-1884.

He and another brother, Arnold S. both attended what was then called the First Rudiments, section of Creighton College.

James M. Borglum also attended the First Rudiments at Creighton, in 1879.

Dr. Francis L. Borglum received his degree in Medicine from Creighton in 1902. He had previously attended Creighton high school in 1893.

August Borglum is the only one of the six brothers living today.
