Jesuit Priest To Be Honored Twice

Father John Markoe, a Jesuit priest from Creighton University, will be honored twice within the next two weeks.

Friends and former members of the DePorrest Club, an interracial group devoted to social justice founded by Father Markoe, will gather Saturday evening, March 20, in an "unorganized get-together" from seven to nine on the main floor of the Creighton University Student Union Building.

A group of Omaha citizens of all faith, colors and creeds are sponsoring a dinner Saturday, April 3, at Creighton honoring Father Markoe.

Speaker will be John H. Griffin, author of "Black Like Me".

Proceeds will go to the Father Markoe Scholarship Fund for needy Negro youths of all faiths.

Donations and contributions may be sent to:

John P. Miller,

707 City National Bank Bldg.,
Omaha, Nebraska 68002.
