LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MOTHER'S DAY PROGRAM

In spite of unfavorable weather a large crowd filled St. John's church Sunday afternoon at the ninth annual Mother's day celebration of the Omaha Sodality union. The program originally planned as an outdoor service, was held in the church.

The Rev. P. J. Mahan, S. J., president of Creighton university gave the opening talk. Frances McEvoy, Duchesne college junior, recited a poem dedicated to mother, and Professor Williams Sternburg, Creighton Law instructor, gave an address in which he outlined the honor which the world pays to motherhood and pointed out how much more Catholics should honor their heavenly and earthly mothers. He stated that as Christians we should not only look to the materialistic but the spiritual honor, as well, which is due our mothers.

Officers of the Omaha Sodality union for the coming year will be elected at a meeting next Sunday morning at 10:30 in the library of the Arts college, according to Clarence Olson, president of the union. This will be the final meeting this school term.

DELTA SIGMA DELTA DANCE LAST NIGHT

The traditional graduation day flag presentation ceremony which was inaugurated last year will be carried on this year by senior class presidents from all departments of Creighton and from the four affiliated departments.

The ceremony will be identical with that of last year. Frank Pellegrin, president of the graduating class in the College of Commerce, Finance and Journalism, will give the presentation address. The Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., president of the university, will participate in the ceremony.

For the first time, seniors of the four affiliated departments of Creighton will take part in the ceremony. Graduating classes of all the departments are contributing to the purchase of the flag which is to be used in the presentation. The ceremony will take place at the base of the flag pole on the east lawn of the Administration building.

The new flag will fly from this pole during the coming year and will then be removed to make way for the flag to be presented in 1932. The old flag will be taken each year to one of the minor flag poles about the campus, where it will fly as long as it remains useful.

LOAN FUND PLANS SET FOR NEXT YEAR

Proposal for Student Savings Outlined; Class Chairmen to Be Chosen

Because of the success of the Agnew Student Loan Fund, the work will be continued during the school year of 1931 and 1932, stated the Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., dean of men, in a recent report of the fund's activities. He added that more than two thousand dollars has been gathered.

According to Father Herbers, the students of the present school year have started something that will live as a monument to their endeavors. Upon receipt of the money, the fund was immediately put into operation, and a number of worthy students needing help received a portion. By June, 1932, it is hoped that each student of the university will have contributed at least $1.

A proposed plan for enabling students to raise the sum was offered by the fund committee. The plan stipulated the saving, by each student, of a nickel a week for twenty weeks, which entitles the contributor to be listed as a Silver patron, and if ten cents is given for the same period, the subscriber will be recognized as a Gold patron of the fund.

A chairman for each class in the university will be appointed to take care of the class collection. If the classes are large, assistants will be appointed. Once a month the chairman will meet with Al Fiore, general chairman, and Father Herbers, to report and make suggestions on plans.

"We think that by suggesting a nickel a week for twenty weeks we are not asking too much and are not placing too great a demand on any pocketbook. We want this to be the work of the student body, and we want the students to feel that it is to the interest of fellow students to help in this noble enterprise," said Father Herbers.

NEW PRESIDENT

George McCabe, Commerce junior, Pueblo, Colo., is the new president of the Students Union Board of Governors.

PHARMACY PLANS NEARLY COMPLETE

Seventh Annual Pharmacy Day and Banquet Will Be Held May 19

Plans for the seventh annual Pharmacy day and banquet, to be held May 19, are nearly complete, according to Claude Hendricks, senior, Ottumwa, Ia., general chairman. Door prizes, prizes and favors valued at $250 have been collected.

The program of events includes the parade to Miller park, led by the Pharmacy college band, flag raising at the park, and golf, tennis and horseshoe tournaments, baseball game, and a tug of war between the juniors and freshmen over the Miller park lagoon.

Climaxing the day is the banquet and dance in the Granada ballroom of the Knights of Columbus club at 6:30 p. m. Osmond H. Flint, Ph. C. '28, will be toastmaster and the Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., president of Creighton, will be principal speaker. Other speakers will be the Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., dean of men; M. E. Rasdall, Ogallala, president of the Nebraska Pharmaceutical association; Chas. D. Beaton, Omaha, president of Omaha Retail Druggists association, and H. C. Newton, dean of the Pharmacy college.

Father Herbers will present the Father Agnew Loyalty Cup, which was won by the Pharmacy college in the Father Agnew Student Loan Fund campaign.

A feature of the banquet will be the presentation of the Lehn & Fink gold medal to the senior student who has excelled in all ways during his school life and $10 in gold, presented by Creighton university and Phi Delta Chi, national Pharmaceutical fraternity, to the senior and junior, respectively, who present the best display of pharmaceutical preparations during the school year.

The members of the committee are Lawrence Paben, Lorton, Lawrence Miller, Pierz, Minn., and George Vickery, Scottsbluff, seniors; Wayne Oldfather, Wood River, Carl Lyons, Omaha, Roy Olsen, Harlan, Ia., and Walter Stiegelmar, Crete, juniors; Charles McGowan, Ottumwa, Ia., Tru Wilhelm, Modale, Ia., Robert Sprecher, Omaha, and Fred Turner, Serard, freshmen.

DRAMA IS DIRECTED BY MARIE OLIVERIUS

Marie Oliverius, St. Mary's college graduate of 1930, directed the play "Quality Street," by James M. Barrie, presented by St. Mary's high school at the Creighton auditorium Monday night. Miss Oliverius will be remembered as the petite star of "The Thirteenth Chair," produced by the Creighton Players last year at the K. of C. auditorium in the role of Madam LaGrange, the gentle clairvoyant faker.

Miss Oliverius was selected as one of the cast of three for the one act play, "Cox and Box," the comedy entry of the Creighton Players in the theater tournament at Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., last spring. Damian Flynn, of Omaha, playing opposite Miss Oliverius, won the E. H. Southern medal for the best acting at the Northwestern tournament.

Pirsch, assistant professor of biology. Musical selections which will be rendered by members of the classes, will comprise eleven divisions of the program.

Photostated programs, which will be placed at each table together with the place cards will be one of the novelties of the affair. All arrangements were made by students of the two classes.

MARKS OF FUTURE SUCCESS

Scholastic success which, when all values are analyzed, is the primary purpose of a college career, will be rewarded tonight when twelve men will be presented with Alpha Sigma Nu (formerly Alpha Sigma Tau) keys at the Inaugural ball.

Contrary to the beliefs of a few cynics, achievement in the classroom is worth while and is representative of outstanding ability. Success in many things comes as a result of one great effort or one outstanding feat. This is not true of scholastic success which is crowned by membership in an honorary fraternity such as Alpha Sigma Nu. No one great accomplishment marks a man for this honor. Keys are not presented for one achievement but for sustained and repeated success in scholarship. Alpha Sigma Nu keys are therefore symbolic of courage, for courage must be a part of the man who consistently attains a high average in his studies. They are representative of determination and will power for these qualities must be present in the one who may rightly be called a scholar. Above all, these keys are symbolic of sacrifice, sacrifice of hours of pleasure, of many enjoyments that could have been attained if studies were neglected.

The twelve new members of Creighton's only honorary fraternity will not regret the sacrifice that is back of tonight's glory. They may rightfully feel proud of their achievement and their fellow students may with all sincerity acclaim their accomplishment and congratulate them on their success.

And again contrary to the cynical belief that scholastic success is no indication of future success after graduation, one need only glance at a list of the graduate members of Creighton's honorary fraternity to dispel this illusion. Steady application to the task at hand, sacrifice to duty and determination, are marks of future success; these the honor man must have. If he will continue to possess them after graduation, future honors will be his.

A PLACE TO PLAY TENNIS

Attempts to organize a tennis team at Creighton during the last few years have met with little success. An intramural tournament has been staged each year and this has not received much enthusiasm. There has been an effort on the part of the athletic department to enter a team in tournament play, but this too has not been very successful. This year the greatest advance has been made by securing the Missouri Valley tennis tournament for Omaha.

There is only one thing which prevents Creighton from having one of the strongest tennis teams in the middle west. That thing is the lack of adequate courts upon which to practice. There is a wealth of promising players here, many of whom have won major honors in the sport. Such men as Loschke, Gruenther, McCabe, Cutler, Lavery, Cassidy, Gleason, and many others could give Creighton a winning team. These players are not asking for a coach, their only request is that courts be provided. Municipal courts in the city are overcrowded and the club courts are not open to those who are not members. If Creighton had half a dozen courts on the campus, adequate opportunity for practice would be provided. The upkeep of these courts would be slight compared to the benefit that would result to the students and to the status of tennis on the campus. There are two or three locations on the campus where these courts could be built.

Even the smallest colleges have at least three or four courts. Why Creighton cannot have a few is a mystery.

WHY NOT DO A LITTLE MERGING

Creighton students are always buried under a rush of parties, picnics, banquets and "bum days" at this time of year. Every spring finds the campus calendar completely filled with social activities of the various departments and organizations besides the spring fraternity parties. The result is often disastrous to the well meaning individuals who optimistically delay their studying until the last few days before the examinations.

The idea of giving the students in each department an opportunity to meet each other on these days outside the class room, is an excellent one and one that should be continued but why not do a little merging of these various days and set aside one day on which all departments would participate together. Some of the picnics and banquets have not been completely successful due to the lack of cooperation and enthusiasm on the part of the students. There are too many things going on at the same time and the financial drain is too great.

Therefore why not combine these several days into one all Creighton day at which attendance would be insured. On this day the various honors such as Alpha Sigma Nu, Union Board, chamber of Commerce, debate and other group honors could be conferred before the entire student body. A general assembly in the stadium or in the gym would be an excellent opportunity to get the entire student body together for this purpose. It would give the students in the various schools and colleges of the university an opportunity to know the outstanding men in the departments other than their own. A gala program could be arranged for the morning and a general "bum day" or "fun day" could be planned for the afternoon.

Much more interest would be aroused by this one outstanding day and it would be more successful than several less important days.

CREIGHTON AND CREIGHTONIANS

By J. A. HERBERS, S. J., Dean of Men

Official notice is hereby given to all students that they must satisfy their financial obligations to the university, to the Students Union, the athletic association, the library and the fraternities and sororities before they will be allowed to take the final examinations.

It is very necessary at this time that the treasurers of all the above mentioned organizations and departments give me a list of the delinquents so that they may receive an official warning from me. Do not wait until the morning of the first of the final examinations. Do it now.

Students who owe money to any of the above mentioned departments and organizations are expected to satisfy their obligations now and not to wait until they are called by me. It is your duty to take care of your own business.

All books and pamphlets and magazines are to be returned to the Library on the date set by the librarian. This holds true for all athletic equipment which must be returned on the date set by the athletic director.

IF YOU KNOW THAT

Creighton has the only university dental clinic in the United States, perhaps in the world, that carries on orthodonture, which is to say that the clinic treats and corrects cases of irregularity of the teeth.

Creighton has no speak-easies, but it is rumored that the study halls have been dubbed "sleep easies" by an alert student.

The mystery of the ages has been unearthed and might be stated as follows: "Why hasn't Creighton at least a half dozen tennis courts? What good are the tennis courts east of the Law building." It is admitted that they make fine drill grounds for the ROTC, and from the air, their pock-marked surfaces are perhaps unnoticeable and give the impression that Creighton is quite an advocate of the lawn sport, but it's true that one would have to play with a medicine ball to keep the ball from getting lost in the pits. There is also an amazing and useless scarcity of nets.

Bill Bergin, sophomore in the School of Medicine, 1931-32 swimming captain at Creighton, was married this morning to Emma E. O'Connell. If he practices all summer in the sea of matrimony, he'll be in fine shape to pilot a winning tank team next season.

People in the Dental clinic are still busy, they say. According to their higher-ups, the clouds have been doing all the raining recently merely so that the weather would be especially fine for their field day tomorrow.

That which is and yet is not was discovered at the offices of the Omaha Daily Tribune Monday evening. One of the Creightonian reporters was late in arriving at the office, and the sad part was that he carried in his pockets about fifty per cent of the copy for the sport page. When a reporter called the elusive journalist's home to locate him, he was told that the man in question was at the Tribune office. This statement will stand a lot of pondering before it's fully figured out.

According to Carl Rasmus, professor of pathology and bacteriology at the Creighton University School of Medicine, work in the collection of serum for the prevention of infantile paralysis is slowly but surely gaining in speed and efficiency. The serum has heretofore been almost unknown in this section of the country, and the object of the work, carried on in harmony with the clinic at the Nebraska University School of Medicine, is to introduce a more widespread use of the serum to care for any serious epidemics which may arise during the summer and fall months.

Gene Mari Vana, '30, former Creightonian city editor, has been internationally honored by being awarded a year's scholarship at the University of Prague, at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

In the process of carrying on some operations near the west side of the old heating plant, workers removed the sod in two strips so that a heavily-laden truck could operate without ruining the grass. When they have finished, they will relay the sod, and amateur detectives will call the operation, in the words of the "thriller-a-month" club books, a very clever bit of cover-up work.

Again, the reputedly stronger sex has triumphed. Louis Gruenther and Donald Holly, representing Delta Kappa Delta, and upholding the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that all distinction between amateurism and professionalism in sportscharging gate receipts should be abolished by colleges and universities," defeated Sylvia Bezman and Ida Hoffman, who represented the Commerce eco-ed, by a three to nothing decision.

Much of the poetry turned in to Commerce freshman English classes, instead of being beautiful love ditties inspired by noble thoughts, were quite mundane verses about notably uninspiring subjects. Some of the "poems" revolved about such touching things as a cup of coffee, the Washington cherry tree incident, and girls in general.

A bumper crop of traditions was harvested this year. Among others, there were the Father Agnew Student Loan Fund, the Law seniors' cane-carrying custom, and the newly inaugurated presentation of an "achievement cup" to the most outstanding freshman in the Commerce College by Delta Sigma Pi, international Commerce fraternity.

Pa Robin just wasn't able to do anything about the weather last week, so Ma Robin had to sit and stew and think about the lazy, comfortable students in C303. Even the trim Mrs. Sparrow has gotten tired of the weather and is keeping to her apartment under the eaves. Pa Robin visited the weather man again this week, though, and he expects the sun almost any day now.

studio. The Hamilton Barber shop gave $4 in trade as a third prize to Lowell Schmidt and Howard Kanouff, Delta Theta Phi. A special dinner will be given for the winners by the Knights of Columbus club.

Hire Primo Carnera?

The negative held that the establishment of open professionalism as advocated by the affirmative would lead to greater emphasis of athletics, to the transfer of the hypocrisy at present found on the football field to the classroom, and to the commercialization of the universities. They stated that the proposed system would result in the colleges hiring athletes and losing all regard for the intellectual standards of the college.

"The result would be that some college would go out and hire a man like Primo Carnera to come to the college, not because of his interest in intellectual achievements, but because of his ability as an athlete. There would be a huge specimen of athletic prowess seated in class next to a Phi Beta Kappa man. There would be no attempt to flunk the athlete who did not have the gray matter of the Phi Beta Kappa man, instead there would be a special athletic examination to let him through. "There are professors who judge an athlete only by his work scholastically, but there could be none of that kind under the open professional system. What chance has a $2,000 a year English professor against a $5,000 a year football player?" asked the negative speaker.

$250 Is Collected

The Tuesday mission collections, taken up in the religion classes, thus far amount to $250. This amount does not equal that of last year, but it is hoped that by the end of the month of May an amount equal to that of last year will have been collected.

CAMPUS SPOTLIGHT

A group of six students at the University of Minnesota must be feeling pretty sympathetic with each other right now. They have been in the hospital for some time, where they have been recovering from the measles. Before that they all had infantile paralysis, and before that it was scarlet fever.

The political science department of Ohio Wesleyan university will create a course in prohibition as a governmental problem next fall.

Here is what happened at the University of Minnesota last week:

The chemistry professor was unlocking the elevator in the chemistry building. A student, limping badly came up to him.

"My foot is smashed, may I ride up to the third floor?" the student asked.

The professor consented. He kindly opened the door on the third floor and told the student that he hoped that the foot would become well speedily.

"I'll be okay soon," the student replied. He jumped out of the car and ran to some students loitering in the hall. "Well, I won the bet," he shouted.

The disillusioned professor carefully closed the door and went on to his destination.

Hypnotism played quite a part in a recent experiment in a psychology class at John Hopkins university. The professor brought several of his students under the complete influence of hypnotism and many amusing and instructive results were obtained from this experiment.

Clipped from the Daily Minnesotan—Students in journalism are told that accuracy is one of the fundamentals to news-writing. Lecturer Olson, hoping to show ephemeral quality of accuracy, falsity of testimony, asked some students to estimate the height of the flagpole on a college building. "Student observers" responded quickly. "It's about 25 feet high." Another equally sure said, "No, it's only 15 feet high." Instructor Olson, satisfied that illustration was sufficiently impressive, stopped potential argument by saying "There isn't a flagpole on the building."

"Dying Texas Prexy Given Two Weeks to Live, Signs 60 Senior Diplomas a Day"—headline, announcing the tragedy that was hanging over Baylor university in Texas.

The weekly parade drill and review today will be the signal for a strike of several hundred Ohio State university students against military training.

Scott Speaks Over Fake Radio 'Mike'

"Ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience!" Thus began the radio career of Orlando A. Scott, Law freshman. And thus began the speech which was destined to impress a radio audience that was intangible as well as invisible and which made Scott the source of much demonstrated enjoyment at the annual Law banquet at the K. of C. club Thursday.

When Hal Shubert, announcer at radio station KOIL announced before the microphone that the affair would be broadcast from 7:30 on, most of the embryo lawyers were justly surprised and highly elated at their popularity with the outside world. Scott was the first speaker, and although he was a bit nervous at the thought that this was his debut as a dispenser of far-reaching sound waves, he bravely talked for about six minutes and then sat down, blushing at the huzzahs of his fellow students and the probable acclaims of his world-wide audience.

After an ethical pause, dramatic to say the least, Judd Crocker, toastmaster, displayed a sign presenting very definitely the fact that the "mike" was a fake, and that Scott had been broadcasting, not to admiring millions, but merely to his fellow classmates.

TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS GIVEN BY STERNBERG

No man can ever recount the untold multitude of cases where the influence of a good mother made itself felt in the lives of her children. It is an influence whose measure no man knows. Thus William P. Sternberg, Law professor characterized the influence of mothers, in an address Sunday afternoon at the mother day services in St. John's church.

Sternberg recalled the great figures of history who have held sacred the memory of their mothers and whose lives have been fashioned by a mother's influence.

"However grand and beautiful woman may be, however much she may inspire others to great and noble endeavor, the crown of womanhood is motherhood," said Professor Sternberg. She does not really reach the full measure of her worth until that great transfiguration of her character has taken place, followed by years of service with that abounding love

FATHER EGAN TALKS BEFORE STUDY CLUB

"Philosophers' Bankruptcy Case" Is Subject of Speech

"In these days of ballyhoo a proper development of one's critical faculty is a veritable asset," said the Rev. Thomas A. Egan, S. J., regent of the College of Commerce and the School of Law, at the Study club meeting of the Omaha Council of Catholic Women at the Diocesan bureau Friday.

According to Father Egan, anyone can pick flaws even in perfection itself and many people mistake a facility at carping for artistic judgment. A rare restraint of imagination is needed for a scientific appreciation of values.

"To attain and preserve a cultured mind in our day, immersed as we are in a slough of sensationalism, the slime of which envelopes on all sides," he said, "one must be devoted to what is emulating with the concentration that Paderewski gives to his piano. The results will repay the effort. We are mostly what we make ourselves, and we need persistent application to keep ourselves from going into the discard. This is the rule of culture and truth as well as of bridge and baseball."

There is hope in the admission of philosophers that moral and spiritual values have failed to progress with scientific discovery and "that the human emotions and human intellect are about where they were in Adam's day."

"Moral and spiritual values have not progressed," he concluded, "for the simple reason that ethical values are stationary. Knowledge of scientific subjects is open to an indefinite progression, but spiritual values depend on the immutable will of God and are eternally unchangeable although they may be more fully appreciated."

Jack Furay, B.S. '31, formerly employed at Decatur, Ill., by the S. S. Kresge company, has been transferred to Peoria, Ill. His present address is 411 North Perry street, Peoria. While at Creighton Furay was a regular center on the varsity football team and was prominent in intramural athletics.

BLUES HOST TO VALLEY TENNIS TEAMS

GAMES WILL BE HELD SATURDAY AT OMAHA CLUB

Loschke, Kansas City Star, Will Lead Creighton Squad in Conference Meet

Creighton will play host to the Missouri Valley conference racquet wielders Saturday at the Omaha Tennis Club. The five conference schools will send an array of stars which include, among others, Tatom, Grinnell; Brody, Drake, and Loschke, Creighton.

The Creighton team will be selected from the following: Loschke, champion of the Kansas City many courts; Gleason, former Creighton Prep star; Gruenther, former state and city singles champ; Cutler, former Tech high star and runner-up for the many junior court crown two years ago; McCabe, one of the leading tennis players in Pueblo, Colo.; Cassidy, former many court titleholder, and Lavery, doubles mate of Loschke in their successful conquest of Kansas City courts.

"We will probably enter five men in the tourney, three in the singles and two in the doubles," Coach Belford said. "Anyone wishing to try for the team should get in touch with either Loschke or myself." There are probably some excellent tennis players around the campus of whom we have heard nothing and if they are capable of defeating any of the above men they should tryout for the team," he continued.

Loschke will be acting captain during the course of the meet and, according to Coach Belford, stands a good chance of copping the singles crown. The Jay mentor also believes that the Bluejay doubles pair, as yet not selected, stands a good chance of finishing high in the final standings. If this year's team, the second in recent years, makes an acceptable showing it is possible that Creighton will enter a team in the regular Valley round robin schedule of next season, Belford said.

MARTIN ADVANCES IN GOLF TOURNEY

Scheduled to Meet Sipherd in Feature Semi-Final Engagement

Rain and cold again held up the progress in the intramural golf and tennis meets. In spite of the inclement weather, however, three of the four quarter-final matches of the golf tournament were completed last week.

Two of the strongest contenders for the golf title, Carl Sipherd and Loyal Martin, will be paired against each other in the semi-finals this week in what should be the most interesting match of the entire tournament. Sipherd won his way to the semi-finals by beating out binder, 3 and 2. Martin had a tough time in beating out Myron Waddell, former Harrison county (Iowa) ace. Playing in a high wind, Martin fought an uphill battle to win by a one up count.

William Manasil, the Law college ace, barely beat out Jack Graham by one up to win his way to the semi-finals. The semi-final schedule will not be complete until the quarter-final match between Crawford and Moran is played off.

The first round of the tennis tournament continues to be played at the same old snail's pace. The lone result turned in or last week was McCabe's victory over Prcial by a 6-3, 6-0 count.

WILLIAM N. BERGIN MARRIES OMAHA GIRL

William N. Bergin, captain-elect of Creighton's 1931-32 swimming team, was married at the 9 o'clock mass in St. John's church this morning to Miss Emma E. O'Connell of Omaha, formerly of Neola, Ia. The Rev. William J. Finan, S. J., professor of philosophy, performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by her father, John O'Connell. Dr. and Mrs. Lew Watke were the attendants.

Miss Margaret Judge played Lohengren's "Wedding March" as the bridal party entered. During the ceremony Miss Adelaide Cash sang Bach Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Angel's Serenade."

After the wedding breakfast for 70 guests in the Seville Room of the K. C. of C. club, the couple will go on a short Eastern honeymoon. On their return they will reside at the O'Connell home, 2411 Chicago street.

Blue Trackmen to Meet K-Aggies at Manhattan Saturday

THE DOPE BUCKET

By HARRY JOHNSON

One of the features of the intramural track meet was the fine performance of a former Tech high star, Bob Lanyon, in the 120-yard high hurdles. His time of 16.3 lowered the university mark of 16.4 established by W. Van Cleve in 1926. In his high school days, which terminated with the class of the 1930 season, Lanyon was recognized as one of the outstanding hurdlers in the state and since enrolling on the Hilltop he has shown rapid improvement. It may interest some of the more rabid Hilltop fans to know that Lanyon's time approaches, from a distance, the Missouri Valley record of 14.6, held by Bob Simpson, now coach at Iowa State college. When Simpson established his record in 1916, under the capable tutoring of Pa Schulte, he was destined to become one of the conference immortals. Were Lanyon, an Arts freshman, eligible for the Missouri Valley conference meet this year he would be one of the favorites in his pet race.

One of the principal attractions at the forthcoming Valley meet, which will be held May 22 and 23 at the Creighton field, will be Alvin Jenkins. The Aggie star set a new all college record at 9:43.6 in the two mile run last year and recorded an outdoor mark of 9:41.7 at Des Moines several weeks ago. The Cowboy captain will find his chief opposition coming from Pilbrow, the long-legged Grinnell star. These two men are expected to battle it out over the two mile distance in what is being predicted as one of the classics of the conference year. In the recent Drake relays Jenkins distanced Pilbrow in a great race and the Valley races will be but a repetition of their former duel, if we are to believe the boys who are "in the know."

The oldest mark on the Missouri Valley conference books is the mile run record of 4:22.4 set by Farquhar of Iowa State in 1912. Watson of the Kansas Farmers tied the record in 1921. The mark may withstand the challenges of Pilbrow but should the Grinnell ace have one of those days, another hoary record may be shown into the discard along with several others. Roland Locke, former Nebraska sprint ace, Richerson, Missouri weight star, and Bob Simpson, present Iowa State cinder coach who used to compete for Missouri, each hold a brace of records.

In 1916 Simpson ran the 120-yard high hurdles in :14.6 and the 220-yard low sticks in :23.6. Both records have stood for fourteen years. Locke, who holds the Drake relay record of :9.5 for the 100-yard dash, made both of his records in 1926. He covered the century in :09.7 and the 220 in :20.7. The previous year he ran the 100 in :9.6 but it was disallowed because of a helping wind.

Peyton Glass Jr. of the Oklahoma A. & M. track squad is generally conceded to be the best sprinter the Missouri Valley conference ever saw, with the possible exception of the fleet-footed Locke. And it is upon his chances of breaking the record set by his illustrious predecessor, that the scribes are hazarding numerous guesses. The sensational Aggie sophomore has turned in several :09.5 performances already this year and according to dope emanating from the Cowboy camp he is being groomed to make a special effort to eclipse the mark set by Locke in that worthy's record-breaking days of 1926. Glass is expected to cop both the century and furlong events with what little competition he will be forced to face coming from Wise, crack Creighton sprinter, and Smith, the Drake man who has been hovering about 10 flat all year.

About The Campus—Leo Balderson, the Manhattan Typhoon, emphatically claims he tossed 42 consecutive free throws through the hoop.

"Wee William" Worthing was in a pensive mood on "blue Monday" and was seen gazing thoughtfully out of the window on the second floor of the gym.

"Cornie Collin, frosh star from Huron, South Dakota, is without doubt the most highly-publicized Creighton athlete since the palmy days of "Ike" Mahoney.

KANSANS LIKELY TO UPSET JAYS IN FINAL DUAL

Haylett Has Well Balanced Squad to Perform Against Omahans

A well balanced squad of Kansas Aggie trackmen will play host to Coach Lonnie Graf's Jay squad in Manhattan Saturday and will attempt to tack defeat number two onto the Jays' scorebook.

It will be the third and last dual meet of the season for the Blue clad Omahans. Ward Haylett has a promising group of trackmen and one that is likely to spread plenty of gloom over the Jays' horizon as they look toward the conference meet but a week away.

Cyril Wise, the Kansas City speed ace, will again play an important part in the plans of Graf if the Jays are to escape a drubbing. Graf is relying on the Missourian to win the century and furlong from Hinckley, the Aggie ace. However, with Cox, Ellwell and Harsh also entered in these races, the chances of the Jays copping second or third are no particularly bright. Eddie Triba and Kula will sport the Blue in these races, in addition to Wise.

Castello is likely to outrun Turner and Kostoryz in the quarter, especially if he can repeat the :49.8 performance he hung up in the Aggies meet with Kansas university.

Blue should be the predominant color in the half mile race with Emil Kubat, former Tech high star, favored to take the Aggie runners to a trimming. In the mile, however, Bacchus is credited with a 4:33 performance and if he can come close to repeating, he should best Kubat. But the former Techster is again favored over Bacchus in the two mile event. The Kansan's best time to date is 10:18.

Hinckley is likely to win both the hurdle events, having beaten :16 flat on numerous occasions and being credited with a :23.8 performance in the low.

A weight star named Socolofsky is likely to upset Graf's hopes in the shot and discus, while Livingston is credited with throwing the javelin 184 feet 2 3/4 inches. In the shot and discus the K-Aggies are favored to score slams, with both Cronkite and McVey credited with better performances than Graf's ablest stars.

Erlieh and Walker in the high jump and Cox and Ellwell in the broad jump complete the K-Aggie lineup. Each of these four men is a star in his event and is expected to score against the Jays.

But some of the Aggie trackmen may be singing the Blues after their event, for Coach Graf's squad boasts fine material in some spots.

Eddie Triba may prove a thorn in the side of the Farmers. The Columbus ace will compete in the century, the furlong, the low hurdles and the relay. Besides this, Graf expects points from Turner and Kostoryz in the 440 and from Nielson in the pole vault, where the Kansans are woefully weak.

Graf will pick his squad from Wise, Kula, Triba, Allison, Paben, Gaughen, Kostoya, Turner, Kubat, Sheridan, Murphy, Dorwart, McGreevy, Schwab, Kirchner, Crawford, Nielson and McGuire.

country who can pick up a basketball with two fingers.

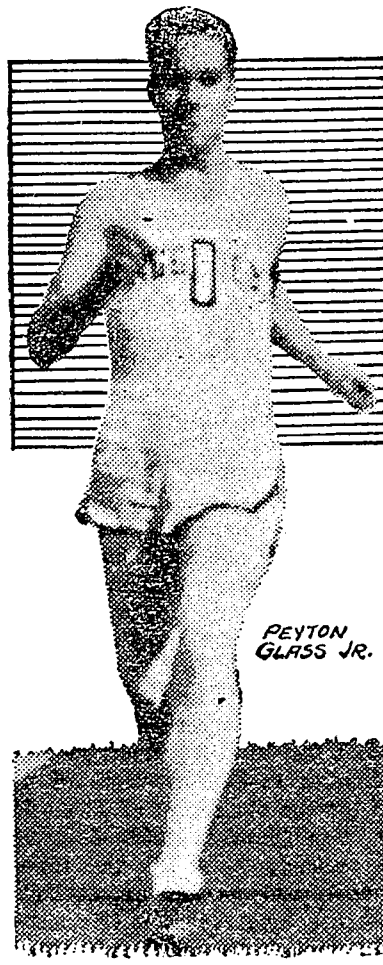

Don Murphy, ace of Coach Lon Graf's high-jumpers, is the most ardent "Kansas" fan on the Hill and may be seen at all times arguing about its merits.

Art Kiely, the Montana radio-dealer, holds the all-time Montana state record for the most points in the final two games of a state tournament.

MAY BREAK RECORDS HERE

CAPT. ALVIN JENKINS

PEYTON GLASS JR.

Here are two reasons the dopesters are counting the Oklahoma Aggie track team a serious contender for the Missouri Valley title next week. The most prominent of the two is Peyton Glass II, ace Aggie sprinter who is expected not only to cop the century race in the meet next week, and take home the handsome sprint cup now residing at Creighton, but he is also figured to smash "Gipper" Locke's record of :09.7, established in 1926. Besides all this, he is figured to win the 220. The other star is the Aggies' captain, Alvin Jenkins, who is favored to win the mile run at the conference carnival. He already has a victory over Pilbrow of Grinnell to his credit.

DENTAL FIELD DAY TOMORROW

Begins a 10 O'clock in Morning; Student Body, Faculty Will Attend

The annual Dental ROTC field day will open at Elmwood park tomorrow morning at 10. The whole student body and faculty of the college will attend the event, which is sponsored by the faculty and directed by Major Eugene Milburn, U. S. army dental corps, head of the Dental ROTC.

There will be a program of athletic events and a lunch served at 12:20. The events will be a competition between classes and each class will have entries.

The program starts with a tug-of-war between the sophomore and freshman teams at 10 o'clock and between the senior and junior teams at 10:15. The tug-of-war finals will be held at 11:45.

A 100-yard dash at 10:30 will net 7 points for first place, 5 for second and 3 for third. Another feature is the pack-a-back relay at 10:45 in which 10, 7 and 3 points will be given for first, second and third places, respectively. There will also be an 800-yard relay at 11:20 giving 15, 10 and 5 points for the respective places.

The main events of the afternoon will be a series of baseball games of five innings each. An elimination game between the seniors and juniors will be played on the east diamond at 1:45 and another is scheduled between the sophomores and freshmen on the west diamond at the same time. The final game is to be played on the east diamond at 2:45 for the class championship.

HANDBALL CHAMPIONS ARE ANNOUNCED

EPSTEIN WINNER OVER POLLACK IN SINGLES TOURNAY

Rosen and Franklin Down Blacker and Epstein to Annex Doubles Title

The 1931 Creighton handball tournament came to a thrilling finish this week with champions in the singles and doubles events being determined. They are:

Singles—Sam Epstein, Commerce senior, Omaha.

Doubles—Ben Rosen, Commerce sophomore, Omaha, and Morris Franklin, Commerce freshman, Omaha.

Epstein defeated Harold Pollack, Commerce sophomore and also from Omaha, 21-7, 21-15 for the singles title. Rosen and Franklin took the doubles crown with a 21-10, 21-10 victory over Epstein and Blacker, the latter from the college of Medicine.

Of the two final battles, the singles encounter proved to be the best, though the scores do not reveal this fact. The doubles affair was also hotly contested, but the brand of playing displayed here was inferior to the handball put up by Epstein and Pollack.

Epstein had easy going in his first game with Pollack. The latter, bothered by several large blisters in the palm of his right hand, played cautiously, and as a result Epstein forged into an early lead. At one time the score was 13-1, then Pollack rallied a bit to bring his point total to four. Here Epstein ran his score to 20. Again Pollack rallied, this time going to seven. Then Pollack missed a setup, and with Epstein's next serve, the first game ended.

Using a splendid left hand to great advantage, Pollack made proceedings a bit different in the second game. Epstein started off with a 4-0 lead, then Pollack took eight straight points to lead for the first time in the match. Epstein tightened, tying the score, then going one point ahead on a beautiful winner off his right hand.

Pollack was never ahead after that, but the lead of Epstein never went over three points. With the score at 17-14, the blisters on Pollack's hand broke, and though he continued to fight with his former spirit, he was no match for Epstein's sharp thrusts into deep court.

Pollack, who was runner-up to the doubles title in the Nebraska university tourney last year, displayed a fine fighting temperament that almost won him the match. Epstein, runner-up to the Creighton singles crown for the last two years, finally came through to win the championship in his last year.

The victory of Rosen and Franklin came as a bit of a surprise. Blacker and Epstein, pre-tourney favorites, were expected to polish off Rosen and Franklin in short order.

But the eventual winners battled. On the other hand, Epstein and Blacker were a bit over-confident. Rosen and Franklin got off to early leads in both games and managed to hold them, though they were hard pressed in the final contest.

BALDERSON LACKS ROMANTIC TACTICS

"You go first."
"No, you."
"You go; you've got long pants on. I can't go in with these short pants on. It's almost indecent."
"You always were better with girls than I. You go first, and I'll come right behind you."
"All right, you come in behind me."

Imagine such a rapid conversation taking place outside of the Athletic office, with two husky athletes as the simpering conversants. John Woolman was the first bashful speaker with the short pants, and sonny Leo Balderson was the shrinking violet who claimed a lack of technique in speaking to girls. The argument all started because neither of the boys had the nerve to ask Miss Pollard, Athletic office secretary, for a basketball.

After a prolonged session of give and take, Woolman managed to get up enough courage to make an attempt, backed by Balderson's unconditional promise to follow him. But Balderson double-crossed his nifty pal and merely giggled at the doorway. Woolman presently emerged, none the worse for his experience, and the two strong men resumed their play.

MARGARET TIMLIN IS QUEEN OF MAY

Three Hundred Are Guests at Mary's Day Exercises May 9

Margaret Timlin, College of St. Mary sophomore, Hubbard, Neb., was crowned May queen during Mary's day exercises, May 9, at which 300 girls from St. Catherine's hospital and the two Mercy high schools of Omaha were guests of the College of St. Mary.

The exercises began with mass at St. Patrick's church with the Rev. W. J. O'Sullivan, assistant pastor and chaplain of the college, as celebrant. The College of St. Mary sextette sang during the mass, after which breakfast was served at the Lyceum. A short program, conducted by Vivian Heffernan, prefect of the sodality of the college, followed. It consisted of talks by Sally Curtin, St. Mary's high school; Angela Cavanaugh, St. Catherine's hospital; Evelyn Clines, St. John's high school, and Mother Provincial, whose subject was "Catholic Leadership."

Following the talks the group assembled in the church where the coronation of the May queen took place. An aisle of arches was formed through which the queen, with her two attendants, Helen Lawler and Mary Martin, passed. She was preceded by two heralds, nine maids of honor and the crown bearers. The crown was placed upon the queen's head at the sanctuary by Father O'Sullivan, and Miss Timlin in turn placed crowns on her two attendants. A crown was then placed on Our Blessed Mother. Immediately following the coronation Father O'Sullivan gave a sermon on the Virtues of Mary. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament terminated the ceremonies.

Miss Timlin has been active in all school affairs of the college and on the publications at Creighton university. She has been on the staff of Shadows for the past two years. This year she was chosen as the best poetess of the class. She has also been active in the basketball court and the hockey field.

AWARDS TO BE GIVEN BY DELTA SIGMA PI

The outstanding freshman and senior in the Commerce college will receive awards presented by Delta Sigma Pi, international commerce fraternity, at the "Last Lap" dinner May 19, which will precede the all-commerce "Bum Day."

A committee composed of members of the Commerce faculty will make the selections from among all freshmen and seniors enrolled in the college.

The achievement cup which will be awarded to the outstanding freshman will be engraved with his name and remain in his possession. This year is the first time that the achievement cup will be awarded, the plan having been adopted by the fraternity last fall.

A scholarship key will be awarded to the senior to be chosen also by the Commerce faculty committee. The choice will be made upon consideration of the scholastic records made by each senior during his four years in the Commerce college.

When shopping, please mention "The Creightonian."

LANYON SMASHES HURDLES RECORD WITH :10.3 MARK

Arts Freshman Stars as Lone Ace Drawn From Deck of Track's Social Elite

The Arts college captured the track part of the intra-mural track and field title by scoring 35 points to the 27 gathered in out of the rain by the Commerce trackmen. The meet was held Saturday afternoon with only a handful of ardent track fans sitting in the rain to watch the events.

The individual stars were Kubat, a varsity trackman who made 10 points for Pharmacy; Bob Lanyon, representing Arts, and Dick Raschke, representing Commerce, each of whom scored 8 points. Kubat made his points by winning first in the mile and 880-yard runs, while Raschke won the 220-yard and was second in the 100.

Lanyon was the star performer as he broke the only record by crossing the finish line in 10.3 seconds in the high hurdles to clip one-tenth of a second off the old record of 10.4 set by W. Van Cleve in 1926. Lanyon would probably have cut the time down to a still greater extent had the weather been favorable. He also placed second in the 220 low hurdles and showed no apparent effort in following Triba to the tape.

Chaloupka, Arts freshman, showed up as a dark horse of some ability. He pounded around the track with great perseverance to win second in the mile and third in the two mile runs in spite of lack of training.

The summaries: Mile run—Won by Kubat, Arts; second, Chaloupka, Arts; third, Schwab, Arts; fourth, Goecker, Commerce. Time—4:56. 440-yard dash—Won by Turner, Commerce; second, Kostoryz, Commerce; third, Kenney, Pharmacy. Time—53.4. 100-yard dash—Won by Wise, Commerce; second, Raschke, Commerce; third, Williams, Medicine; fourth, Tedesco, Arts. Time—1:09. 120-yard high hurdles—Won by Lanyon, Arts; second, Leighton, Arts; third, Gaughen, Commerce; fourth, Leighton, Arts. Time—2:28 seconds flat.

Half-mile—Won by Kubat, Pharmacy; second, Dinig, Pharmacy; third, McGuire, Arts; fourth, Goecker, Commerce. Time—2:10. Two-mile—Won by Kirchner, Arts; second, Schwab, Arts; third, Chaloupka, Arts; fourth, Kenney, Pharmacy. Time—11:44.5. 220-yard dash—Won by Raschke, Commerce; second, Tedesco, Arts; third, Olsen, Arts. Time—23.8.

Jay Track Fans Will See Glass, Conqueror of Tolan, Here May 23

Creighton track fans will have a chance to view the work of one of the fastest young men engaged in intercollegiate track meets when Peyton Glass, II, performs for Oklahoma A. and M. in the Missouri Valley conference outdoor meet in the Creighton stadium May 23.

Glass, who is 19 years old and a sophomore at Oklahoma A. and M., is one of the ranking sprinters of the nation. He has been rated as one of the best in the 100-yard dash and as possibly the best in the 220.

He first came into the track spotlight two years ago when he set a new broad jump record in the Oklahoma A. and M. high school meet. He prepped at Stillwater high, Stillwater, Okla., and was a senior there at the time he first came into prominence as a trackman. Glass is no longer a broad jumper as Coach Roy W. Kenney has kept him entirely at the sprints since his matriculation at the college.

Glass gained his national rating as a sprinter when he won the 100-yard dash at the Drake relays, beating such recognized speedsters as Eddie Tolan of Michigan, world's champion, and Paul Swift of Washington State. In the Kansas relays he was nosed out of first place by Swift whom he later beat in the Drake meets. Glass has been clocked at 9.5 seconds three times and is expected to develop into still greater possibilities.

It is a question as to whether Glass will be permitted to specialize in either the 100 or the 220, as Coach Kenney is not permitting him to enter both races in any major meet. There is a possibility, however, that he will compete in both dashes in the Missouri Valley outdoor meet here at Creighton.

There is, according to reports from Oklahoma, a probability that he will run in the 220 in the National Intercollegiate tourney at Chicago June 7, 8 and 9. It is also likely that Glass will compete in the 100 at the National A. U. meet at Lincoln, July 3 and 4. He will not, however, run in both dashes in either meet, according to Kenney.

WHO'S WHO (In Jay Athletics) HOWARD LOSCHKE

will captain the Creighton tennis team in the Missouri Valley conference meet Saturday. He is a former Missouri state conference champion and is the reigning king of the Kansas City muny courts. He has held the latter title for the last two years.

Coach Belford expects him to add the Valley conference title to his already long list of triumphs. The chances are that, together with Lavery, his partner in many Kansas City triumphs, he will reign the favorite for the doubles crown in the meet Saturday.

He is a junior in the College of Commerce and has two years of varsity competition remaining.

MANY TRACKMEN TO SHOW WARES IN VALLEY MEET

Glass, Jenkins, Filbrow, Hensley Will Be Feature Cards on May 22 and 23

Featuring the annual two day carnival of Missouri Valley conference track stars, who will congregate in the Creighton stadium, May 22 and 23, will be Peyton Glass, Alvin Jenkins, Ralph Filbrow and "Skipper" Hensley.

Glass, one of the foremost contenders for the 1931 national sprint crown, will of course be the principal attraction. The nineteen year old Oklahoman has turned in consistently good marks all season and his recent defeat of the ebony-hued Eddie Tolan was one of the biggest upsets of the current campaign.

Jenkins, champion two-miler of the conference, will face stern competition in the form of Filbrow, one of the classiest sprinters to sport the Grinnell colors in the last decade. Filbrow has consistently threatened the Aggie captain's mark in dual meets and gave him a great race in the recent Drake relays.

Hensley, the Grinnell timber topper, is just about the last word in the way of hurdlers. He is at present holder of the new Valley conference record in both the high and low hurdles. His time fails to compare, however, with that of the former Missouri university star, Bob Simpson.

Creighton's chief threats will be Wise and Triba in the dashes; Kubat in the distance events; Nielsen in the pole vault; Sheridan in the javelin; Triba in the 220-yard low hurdles; Turner in the 440, and Murphy in the high jump. Coach Lonnie Graf is not hoping for over one or two firsts, but expects several of the above men to annex seconds or thirds, thus enabling the Blues to make a creditable showing in the final tabulation.

Last week was election day at the University of Southern California, and the Daily Trojan, campus publication, ran ads endorsing students for the respective positions of university president, vice president, etc., as well as for the college representatives.

"Felt Forgets Irish, Selects Norwegian." St. Pat Day Queen"

It may sound hectic, but it really isn't. Felt is the 1931 St. Pat at the University of Minnesota, and he deserted the ranks of the Irish, because he was color blind.

Members of the Company B team, which by virtue of a record of wins during the intercompany rifle competition was declared corps champion, will be awarded letters by the athletic department, it was announced Monday.

Night Meets Throw Spotlight on Track

We accept the system of night basketball through immemorial custom; we have, grudgingly in some cases, accepted night football, and some of us have admitted that baseball is all right under the bright lights; now, however, we find that we will have to see another of our major sports under the spotlight in the dark of night. The inaugural of night track, in the Missouri Valley conference is to take place April 14 when Oklahoma A. and M. and Oklahoma U. meet on the former's field.

With the addition of track to the list of athletic events under the bright lights, we find that most of our athletes will have to take up night life on a large scale. The conversion of the last of the major sports to evening performances will no doubt swing the few minor sports still calling for daylight into line, and the result will be a race of athletes living and working from sunset to dawn.

The chill winds ought to keep the temperatures of both participants and spectators a good deal below fever heat. Coaches and fans are also speculating on the effects the damp cold evening winds might have on the jerking muscles of nervous sprinters.

It is possible, also, that the weather will lead to a revision of the styles in
