NEW SHADOWS TO APPEAR ON DECEMBER 18

Literary Magazine to Present Sketches and Articles of Interest

NEW AUTHORS

Shadows, featuring an array of four entertaining and widely diversified articles, three short stories, one sketch and the usual number of editorial and departmental features, will be released for distribution on Wednesday, Dec. 18, according to M. J. Chicoine, editor of the publication.

Staff Additions

Two additions were made to the editorial staff. Mary-Madeleine Lanphier and Robert Evans have been appointed associate editors by Chicoine.

"No one on the campus should miss reading Harold Moore's satire on 'grades,'" said Chicoine Monday. "It's biting and sarcastic, and it's our idea that more than one professor in the university will blush guiltily when he reads it. I hope you understand that it is just in the manner that Sammy Greenberg describes as 'good clean fun.'"

Interesting Articles

"An interesting article in the keeping with the times is on the recent stock market crash by Thomas Corrigan, senior in Commerce," declared Chicoine. "A freshman, James Gleason, reviews advertising budgets of national firms, their attempt to put out truthful advertising and subsequent success. Hawthorne Arey, a Law senior, writes in a bantering way concerning the freaks and quirks of Nebraska's laws. The three short stories are by Robert Evans, Cecil Steele and Mary-Madeleine Lanphier. New in this issue will be poetry by several of the students at the College of St. Mary."

Art Innovations

Shadows will introduce for the first time on the campus the use of Ruboleum cuts. "These are carvings," said Chicoine, "and they will all be done by our own artists. Needless to say that they are very difficult things to cut and equally as hard to print."

STAFF MEMBERS WILL DISTRIBUTE SHADOWS

A new system of distribution that will guarantee every student a copy is to be used for the next issue of Shadows, school literary magazine, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Ed Murphy, union manager.

Six men representing the different colleges of the university have been selected to act as staff representatives and distributors. These men will receive sufficient copies of the magazine to insure every union member a copy. The issues will be sent directly to them in their respective colleges where they will be given out individually. Students receiving copies will be obliged to sign a receipt slip provided by the staff members.

Edward Stanczyk has been chosen a general circulation manager and will oversee the distribution. The following men have been chosen to represent their schools and supervise distribution: Medicine, Joe Comine; Pharmacy, Carl Lyon; Law, Walter McEweney; Arts, David Slobodinsky; Dentistry, Martin Deakins; Commerce, Ray Finnegan.

OFFER MEDAL

A gold medal will be offered each year by the Alpha Chi Kappa fraternity to a student of the Senior class who submits the best original essay on a philosophical subject.

SORORITY PLEDGES

Chi Mu Kappa sorority announced the pledging of Mrs. Agnes Krell, the Misses Clare Carey, Bernadine Reilly and Mary Carr.

BART, BRUD AND THE SKIPPER

Above are three two-year veterans who will form the nucleus of the 1929-30 Bluejay basketball team, upon which Creighton fans are pinning their hopes for an undefeated season.

Left to right are "Bart" Corcoran, "Brud" Jensen and Captain Louie Trautman. The men are a guard, a center and a forward respectively, and each has won two Creighton monograms.

Corcoran, the "bounding cork" of the Hilltop hard court, flashed during the past two years chiefly because of his speed and heads-up barricading game. His lack of height is made up for by his bounding proclivities, which usually enable him to take the ball off the backboard.

Jensen is expected to lay a strong claim upon all-American honors this winter. Combining unusual height, a canny eye for the basket and surprising ability to handle so large a frame, he should carve a niche for himself in Creighton's all-time basketball hall of fame.

Following Captain Johnny and stellar guard Harry comes the third Trautman brother, Captain Louie. Johnny was high point man of the Bluejay quint in his last year of competition, and now the new skipper is out to equal his mark. Of great value to the Jays under fire will be Louie's clear-headed handling of difficult court situations and especially his scoring ability.

$50 IN PRIZES FOR ESSAY ON JEFFERSON

Fifty dollars in awards will be given as prizes in the annual Jefferson-Mullen prize essay contest, according to an announcement last week from the office of Rev. J. J. Flynn, Dean of the Arts college. The contest is open to students in all departments of the university.

The title of the essay will be: "The Life and Works of Thomas Jefferson." Three prizes will be awarded consisting of $25 for first place, $15 for second place, and $10 for third place.

The prizes are made up of the income from a gift of $1,000 presented to Creighton university for this purpose by Arthur F. Mullen, prominent Omaha attorney.

Conditions of the contest are simple: Any phase of the life or works of Thomas Jefferson may be taken; the length is from 1,000 to 1,200 words; the essay must be typewritten and double-spaced on paper 8½ by 11 inches; the name of the contestant must appear on each page and the name and college on the last page; the essay must be submitted to the dean of the Arts college before February 23, 1930.

Winners of last year's contest were: W. Joseph Chladek, Arts '29, first; Ben Kazlowsky, Law freshman, second, and Howard Bertrand, Arts freshman, third. Honorable mention: Leo Smith, Arts sophomore; Robert McCaw, Law freshman; Nathan Gilinsky, Arts sophomore, and James P. Kelley, Arts sophomore.

FRIEDMAN ACCEPTS CHICAGO POSITION

John Friedman, Commerce graduate of 1929, left Omaha recently to take up his new duties with the Haskins and Sells Accounting firm of Chicago.

Friedman was the first president of the Creighton Chamber of Commerce, and was president of the Commerce senior class in 1929, as well as a member of Alpha Sigma Tau, national honorary fraternity.

E. J. Clarke, MD '28, has located in Trenton, Ohio, as physician.

FRATS UPHELD BY DEAN OVER STATION WOW

Rev. J. A. Herbers Speaks on Fraternities in Weekly Lecture Period

BLAMES COMIC IDEA

Popular conception of the fraternity man, as derived from the comic strip, the comic magazine and the movies, was decryed by the Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., dean of men, in a radio lecture delivered over station WOW in connection with the Creighton educational lecture series Saturday afternoon.

"Some parents are led to believe that fraternities, in the language of the magazine humorist, are all wet," the speaker said, "that in the chapter houses everybody gets tight every night; everybody squanders dad's money on wine, women and song; everybody is a revolutionist, a militarist and every kind of 'ist'; that the fraternity boys never study, have no respect for women, for the rules of the institution, for themselves, for God or the Ten Commandments.

See Only Evil

"However," Father Herbers continued, "in every organization, whether political, religious or social, you will find some members who are not what they ought to be. We see the evil deeds and forget the good deeds. We see the foolishness of the few and forget the good work that is done by the majority."

A college man joins fraternities, according to the Dean, to learn to be congenial, to develop his personality, to develop scholarship and an active interest in all campus activities. He hopes by means of his fraternity to learn the true meaning of loyalty.

Regarding the scholarship of Greek Letter members, Father Herbers said that "it is the experience of educators that fraternities take a just pride in scholarship."

Old Problems Remain

He said, "Shall we condemn all fraternities because of the actions of a few men? Do we maintain that the youth of today is drinking more than the youth of the nineties; that the sex problem is one of today and that it did not exist until the coming of the present generation; that there was no such thing as a wild party in the days of Caesar and George Washington?"

"The problems of yesterday are the problems of today, and it is the duty of everyone to teach the youth of today that temperance and self-restraint are virtues that must be practiced.

"Fraternity men in general," he concluded, "are loyal, honest, willing to be taught and guided, willing to consider the best interests of the university in preference to their own fraternal interest."

WORK FATAL TO CREIGHTON GRAD

Dr. Harry Lee Wells sr., graduate of Creighton Medical school in 1902, died at Des Moines, Ia., Friday, after a long illness resulting from a complication of diseases due to world war service and work among ex-service men in government hospitals after the war.

Dr. Wells was a physician at West Point, Nebr., until the outbreak of the war, during which he was a major in the medical corps reserve. Later he was commissioned a major in public health service and specialized in treatment of tuberculosis among world war veterans. He edited a book on the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis.

Funeral services were held in the Congregational church at West Point Sunday, with burial in the West Point cemetery.

F. Burbridge, LLB '26, recently moved from the Union State Bank building to 703 Keeline building, Omaha.

Freshmen Hear Levine on "Health Protection"

Arts and Commerce freshmen were required to attend the general assembly held in the auditorium at 9 o'clock this morning. Dr. Victor E. Levine spoke to the freshmen on "Health Protection."

This assembly, which is considered as a regular 9 o'clock class, was called together to hear the second of the series of four health lectures, delivered by the medical professor.

MODERN THOUGHT DECLARED FAULTY

Rev. Thomas Egan Charges That Man Is Deceived in Study Club Lecture

"Intellectual starvation is arousing mankind, and thought is being brought back to its place alongside factual science," said the Rev. Thomas Egan, S. J., regent of the Law and Commerce schools, in an address before the Evening Study Club at the Knights of Columbus Club Friday evening.

Father Egan discussed the faulty trends of modern philosophic thought and explained that too many of the present generation are following the philosophy of emotion and mislabeled science. However, according to Father Egan, a new day is dawning in which people will learn to think for themselves through knowledge.

Man's Knowledge Puny

Regarding the Positivists and their beliefs, Father Egan continued: "The Positivist refused to accept whatever could not be experimentally demonstrated. Modern scientists have discovered myriad new ways of directing the

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LAUDS SENIOR MEMBERS

Eight senior members of the Creighton Chamber of Commerce were presented with honor keys at the Commerce banquet held in the Seville room of the Knights of Columbus club Thursday night. Those receiving keys were: Firmin Pierron, Rudolph Sills, Floyd Rombough, John Power, Harry Binder, Jerry Gales, Leonard Steffes and Leon Mandelson. Lawrence A. Cusack, faculty representative of the Chamber of Commerce, was also presented with an honor key.

The keys are emblematic of high scholarship, leadership and value to the Commerce school. The presentation was made by Floyd E. Walsh, dean of the Commerce school, immediately following the banquet.

Over 140 Commerce students and members of the faculty attended the banquet which was the first of several social functions planned by the organization.

In an address on "Rural Credit," D. P. Hogan, president of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, explained the system of long time loans to farmers by the Federal Farm Loan Banks.

FRAZER ORDERED TO COLORADO HOSPITAL

Captain J. J. Frazer, ROTC instructor and professor in the Law school, has received orders to report to the Fitzsimmon General hospital, Fort Logan, Colorado. Captain Frazer has been ill for the past two weeks at his home, 4205 California street. He will leave within the next week.

Major G. R. Hicks, commandant, has sent a petition to the War Department, asking them to detail another officer to Captain Frazer's place.

ALUMNI COUNCIL TO PLAN STUDENT AID

Professor Hugh F. Gillespie, new president of the Creighton Alumni Association, called the first meeting of the Alumni Council for Tuesday, Dec. 17, to be held in the Students Union Offices in the gymnasium at 8:00 p. m.

One of the major topics for consideration by the council will be a plan to assist deserving students through college with the aid of local business firms.

Gilbert J. Srb, MD '28, is practicing medicine at Dodge, Neb.

DIRECTOR IS PLEASED WITH COMEDY CAST

"Is Zat So" to Be Given at Hospital Before Final Appearance

UNIQUE PLOT

With the cast swinging in to the last week of rehearsals, the second offering of the Creighton Players "Is Zat So" to be given at the Knights of Columbus Club on Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 8 p. m., shows promise as one of the outstanding comedy productions ever offered at Creighton, according to the directors.

Daily Rehearsals

Rehearsals are being held nightly in the university auditorium under the direction of Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J. The final rehearsal will be given in the K. C. club Sunday afternoon with the entire cast present. Preliminary to its appearance Wednesday evening the comedy will be presented Monday evening at the Nurses home of St. Joseph's hospital for the benefit of the hospital staff and nurses.

Actors Respond

According to Father Herbers a real treat is in store for the audience as the cast is responding very well to direction. With veterans such as Damian Flynn, Community Playhouse actor and Hugh Higgins, Omaha's own comedian, in the cast nothing but mirth can result. The work of Cecil Snyder as the young secretary is commendable according to reports. "It seems that every actor is moulded for the character they are to portray. With such a cast working on this unusual comedy the success of the play is almost assured," said Father Herbers.

Story is Hilarious

The story is one of the prize ring. Its gaiety is based on the utter incongruity of its being unfolded in a Fifth Avenue mansion among the more or less idle rich. It all starts because a wealthy young New Yorker needs a trainer, more to keep him from drinking himself to death than any other reason. The fighter and his manager enter the home as servant-trainers, spending their time as butlers and physical trainers to their employers. While acting as servants they not only save the family fortune but they fall in love with the nurse and the secretary, and in their spare time capture the championship ring crown and become independently wealthy and famous.

A change in the cast was necessary when Arthur Mertz who was to play the part of Smith, the butler, was forced to drop out of the cast. Richard Homan will portray the role.

POSTPONE RETURN OF FATHER AGNEW

Rev. W. H. Agnew, S. J., president of Creighton university, who recently underwent an operation at the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., will not be able to return to Omaha by December 10 as was planned. However, Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., Dean of Men, who received word of the President's condition last week stated that his condition is good and no more radium treatments will be necessary.

COMMERCE FACULTY TO BE FRAT GUESTS

Dean Floyd E. Walsh and Professors John P. Begley, Charles L. Sanders, Lawrence A. Cusack, Charles C. Charvat and Peter Rotar, all of the faculty of the College of Commerce, will be guests of honor at the mid-year party to be given by Kappa Pi Delta, Creighton social fraternity, at the Lighthouse ballroom on Saturday, Dec. 14.

Leo Reynolds, Commerce sophomore, is chairman of the committee in charge of all arrangements. Assisting him are Edward Stanczyk, Edward Lehnen and Raymond Kane, all Commerce juniors.

Celebrate Feast Day at Duchesne Sunday

The feast of the Immaculate Conception was celebrated at Duchesne College Sunday morning with high mass and the annual procession of the lilies, in which the entire student body, in white uniform, took part.

High Mass was celebrated in the chapel by Rev. Thomas Moore, S. J., professor of philosophy at the college. The procession formed afterward and the students, singing the litany of the Blessed Virgin and carrying lilies, marched from the chapel to the gymnasium, where they laid the lilies before a statue of the Blessed Virgin which had been placed there.

ORATORS SPONSOR HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Fancy Drill and Operetta by ROTC Members Is Feature

Under the sponsorship of the Creighton Oratorical association, a pre-Christmas program is to be presented Wednesday morning, Dec. 18 at 10 a. m. in the university auditorium.

The program will consist of selections by the Beaux Arts orchestra, readings and recitations by members of the society, a fancy drill by the ROTC, and several sketches.

The program will begin with a selection from the Beaux Arts orchestra under the direction of Harold Pace. Lawrence Gubbini will give the reading, "Charlotta" and Walther McEweney will give a recitation of Kipling's "Boots".

An operetta and fancy drill will be put on by picked members of the ROTC unit. Selections included in the operetta will be, The Corps, The Corps Marching Song, The Farewell, The Song of Loyalty and The Allegiance Song.

Next on the program will be a scene from "Julius Caesar" in form of a dialogue between Brutus and Cassius. Don Holly will speak the part of Brutus and John Walsh that of Cassius. A scene from "Beau Brummel" will be enacted by Allen McNitt, Charles Rutherford and Halbert Chase.

The gathering will be closed with the presentation of holiday announcements by the Rev. Joseph Flynn, S. J., dean of the Arts school, the Rev. Thomas Egan, S. J., regent of the Commerce and Law schools and the Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., dean of men.

JOURNALIST SPEAKS AT PRESS GATHERING

Lack of originality and independence were defects in college publications as cited by George Grimes, local journalist, who spoke at the meeting of the Creighton Press Club Thursday.

Mr. Grimes discussed literary pages in newspapers, including his own in the World-Herald. He has an article in "College Humor" which is causing much comment at the University of Nebraska. It explains some of his theories on college publications, and it is entitled "Nebraska".

A short talk was given by Joseph Comine on his feature story which appeared in the World-Herald Sunday. Clarence Olsen told about the publishing of the Boy Scout paper during the recent exposition.

Following the program the style book committee reported that the first copy would be ready for censorship at the next meeting. The revising committee is composed of Joe Comine, Bob Benford, Frank Pellegrin and Prof. Charles Saunders.

DUCHESNE STUDENTS HEAR FR. KAUFMANN

Rev. Alfred Kaufmann, S. J., professor of history at Creighton University, will speak to students and alumnae of Duchesne College on "Bismarck's Kulturkampf" Friday afternoon at four o'clock.

This is the second of a series of five lectures which are being sponsored by the alumnae. Tea will be served in the library following the address, by a committee in charge of Mrs. J. MacMillan Harding and Mrs. Willard D. Hosford.

SIX ORATORS ARE SELECTED AS FINALISTS

Winners Named from 35 Speakers at Preliminary Held Monday

FINALS MARCH 19

Creighton university orators expounded their wares Monday evening at 7:30 in the preliminary oratorical contest held in the Moot court room of the Law school. Six men were chosen as finalists from the thirty-five entered.

The six winners who will compete for the championship of the university on March 19 are: Edwin Frohardt, Arts sophomore, Omaha; Lawrence Giubbini, Arts junior, San Francisco, Calif.; Charles Juergens, Law senior, Dubuque, Ia.; Lawrence Krell, Law senior, White Lake, S. D.; Thomas Quinlan, Arts junior, Omaha, and Thomas Reynolds, Arts freshman, Omaha.

Speakers Chose Topic

The selection of the winners was judged by manner of delivery, nature of the subject and originality. Each contestant was allowed to choose his own topic and was given a maximum time of three minutes for delivery. All students were eligible who had not received a degree and who had a satisfactory scholastic standing.

Judges of the contest were the Rev. Charles M. Ryan, S. J.; the Rev. H. L. Sullivan, S. J.; Mr. George Prendergast, S. J.; Mr. H. F. Fore and Mr. Lawrence H. Brown, all of the Arts and Prep school faculties.

Finals on March 19

The final contest on March 19 will bring together these six winners, who, according to Father Ryan, faculty moderator for the Oratorical society, are representatives of the best of Creighton oratorical talent. As in the preliminaries, the finalists will be allowed to choose their own subjects.

LARGE CROWD ATTEND ST. JOSEPH'S FESTIVAL

Over 2,000 people attended the Kerness festival, a Christmas benefit bazaar, at the nurses' home of St. Joseph hospital, during the afternoon and evening, last Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, according to a report received last night from ticket takers. The proceeds of the celebration will be used for improvements of the children's ward of the hospital.

A five passenger sedan car was given last night to the holder of the winning number received at the door. Several other prizes and awards were also made.

Tuesday evening was athletic night. Several Creighton Prep students took part in wrestling and boxing bouts. Referee and time keeper of the events were Dr. M. P. Kane and his brother Leo.

Among the several booths arranged under the supervision of Mrs. H. Von W. Schulte, assistant chairman of the Kerness, were white elephant, parcel post, doll, pastry, fancy work and cigar displays.

A tea room and pastry counter were also managed for the benefit of the many visitors.

The entire Kerness was in charge of the Creighton Circle.

A STUDENT WIELDS THE BLUDGEON

Rarely in the course of collegiate events does an undergraduate student have the courage of his convictions and speak out boldly in defense of some institution or practice he holds dear. It is admittedly paradoxical, but universities, in which one of the major purposes is to teach students to think and speak for themselves, seldom have the pleasure of visualizing any concrete result of their teaching.

One of these happy occurrences has recently happened at Creighton. It seems that a national magazine, in an issue published a short time ago... but let the magazine tell the story:

Harper's Magazine.
Department "The Editor's Easy Chair"

Dear Sir,
Your department, "The Editor's Easy Chair", in the December issue of Harper's Magazine is of such a nature that I cannot but make a few remarks concerning your thoughts as found therein. Quoting verbatim "Another objectionable matter is the effort of various sects to protect themselves from public criticism. Christian scientists are offenders in this respect. The Catholics are about as bad, but somewhat less crude..." Caring very little for the sound of the word bad as used above I referred to Webster's dictionary to find if it had some meaning with which I was unfamiliar.

The word "bad" is defined as "Of the nature of moral evil; wicked, injurious, deleterious; hurtful; offensive, disagreeable, annoying, defective, inadequate, ill, severe." From your article it is indeed difficult for a reader to determine which of the meanings of the word "bad" you intended to apply to the Catholic Church. The only evident meaning is that you were calling the Catholic Church an uncomplimentary name. Admitting that calling a person an insulting or uncomplimentary name when one is unable to bring his to your point of view is a very common practice today, nevertheless such a practice is an admittance of ignorance and could nowhere be more out of place than in a literary magazine.

Public criticism is merely another word for attack. You seem to wonder that Catholics defend themselves against attacks. Do a little examining for yourself. Read a true history of the Catholic Church, read scholastic philosophy, visit a few of the Catholic institutions of charity, then you may find out that Catholics have something that they are proud to defend. The followers of the Catholic Church are satisfied that that Church is worth defending and you may rest assured that you or no other editor can hope to cast reflection on the Catholic Church without finding yourself beset upon by its defenders.

Well might you consider the attack on the Knights of Columbus, an organization Catholic in its very nature, that was so unwarranted and unjust that the Congress of the United States condemned the attack. Even with the privilege of free speech we owe the duty to our fellowmen to respect his rights. Recall the fiery Southerner, Mr. Heflin, and his eloquent attacks on the Catholic Church. Recall all the attacks on the Catholic Church that you have heard about, and in all the cases you will find that the leading generals of the attacking armies, along with their supporters, were ignorant of what they were attacking. Without investigation or plan these so-called attackers have attempted to consume with fiery enthusiasm the truths of the Catholic Church which have withstood assault upon assault for almost two thousand years. You call that Church "bad".

Your article has left a very unpleasant feeling. It has lowered the estimation of readers for the man who wrote it and it has branded the "Editor's Easy Chair" as a department of Harper's Magazine that is defective, in so far as it is a corner of the magazine given over to the editor wherein he allows articles to be published that show a great lack of investigation for foundational facts. All these bringing forth this criticism from a Catholic who will never "snivel", who is proud to be known as a member of that Church which is "about as bad" and who is more than willing to defend the Catholic Church at all times to the best of his ability.

Critically yours,

Wm. J. Frenzer,
Catholic Thought Committee.

This letter is one of the few bright spots in a college editor's life. It is first class evidence that some one else is also swinging a bludgeon, and a very effective one. And so the editor is content to sit placidly by and let the student body enjoy the effective punch contained in that editorial letter, and mentally applaud the organization and the individual behind it.

ARE THEY THE ELITE?

It is a well known fact that several of the 13 schools and colleges of Creighton university are unrepresented to any extent and often entirely forgotten in the university activities.

This is a situation that has existed for some time and will probably continue to exist. In a representative university, activity comes from the cooperation of all the schools and colleges of the university. At Creighton cooperation is practically unknown. One undergraduate hurls "daggers" and "firebrands" at the other and the latter is no sooner smote than the "artillery" is re-aimed at the student making the first attack.

Many members of the professional schools, no doubt in some measure due to their location, apparently consider themselves in a separate unit of the university. The freshman comes from Tombstone, Hayfield, or perhaps some other town of the middle-west, where his father is postmaster or runs the local grocery, and "lives" through two years of chemistry, logic and maybe freshman lecture. If he is admitted to the professional school he becomes a species of "super" student; has no time for the poor morons studying Greek or accounting and prides himself in saying he is too busy to engage in any sort of activity.

Still another distinct college exists. It is perhaps the most unrepresented of all, though it is known as a professional school. Students take no part in activities for almost as absurd reasons as those of their neighbor-students.

It's amusing, but nothing can be done. University activities of themselves are inanimate things and unless representation is secured from the various schools and colleges they will remain inanimate, in fact, quite dead.

CHARITY BEGINS AT SCHOOL

An old adage states something to the effect that "Charity begins at home", but as the Christmas season approaches and a year of the deplorable conditions existing in the Indian missions of South Dakota we are inclined to believe that this charity should begin at school and that every effort should be put forth to make the current Mission drive now in operation at Creighton a success.

Nearly every student attending Creighton can help out this drive with a little effort on his own part. Perhaps that suit bought last summer is just a little out of style or maybe the color is obsolete according to ever-changing fashions. To the owner it is just another old garment, doomed to be put away in the attic for the rag-man, but to less fortunate humans such as the Indians on the hills of South Dakota it would be an invaluable thing that would give warmth and happiness throughout the winter. Old books, toys, an old baseball bat or glove, almost anything is acceptable to this cause.

If everyone will appoint himself a committee of one and bring in some item rendered useless by modern living the committee heads will be able to report an increase over the commendable work done by Creighton students in this field last year.

And then, consider the personal satisfaction.

Creighton and Creightonians

My Dear Students,

In an institution of this size you will find boys and girls from almost every state in the Union and likewise from foreign countries. Unlike many other large institutions our institution numbers but a mere handful of girls. The fact that they are very much in the minority does not and should not mean that they are not to be encouraged to take part in several of the activities on the Campus. It should be our endeavor to give them this encouragement.

Many of them have given every possible evidence that they are interested and very willing to help along the best interests of the University. They have done noble work on the Creightonian, Shadows, Bluejay and have been active in the Dramatic Club. Allow me to state that in some instances they have worked for our publications, and publicity in general, when the editors had to confess that some of the boys had refused. Let us give credit where credit is due and let us encourage them to even greater efforts in the fields of endeavor that are open to them.

Very sincerely yours,

J. A. Herbers, S. J.,

forces of nature but nothing about essences. The wizards of electricity cannot tell us its real nature.

Explaining the puniness of man's knowledge, Father Egan quoted Edison, who on his eighty-second birthday said that man did not know one millionth of one per cent of anything. Speaking of the use of common sense in knowledge he cited the example of the prominent psychologist who advocated the abandonment of common sense in the interest of scientific pursuit.

According to the speaker these men have wandered far from the path of real knowledge into the land of emotion and make believe.

Masses Are Hoodwinked

"These prophets of Oz, presenting no credentials and advocating no proof, have hoodwinked the masses by the stressing of the magic word "scientific". Their weapon of defense against opponents has often been the infantile resort of calling a name," Father Egan continued.

The speaker then told of the methods of these "ultra-wise" men, who, when deprived of their professional chairs, turn to methods of high pressure salesmanship and dump their wares on what Mencken call the "yokels". "People when rejecting rational authority generally gnaw at the shadow," Father Egan concluded.

University Professor Speaks to Women's Club

Dr. Victor E. Levine, professor of bio-chemistry in the Medical school, gave a talk entitled "The Health Movement in America" before the Omaha North-Side Woman's club Wednesday afternoon in the Saratoga school assembly room.

This was part of the program of the meeting which was dedicated to the speech education department of the club. A group of Christmas carols given by the musical department under the direction of Mrs. R. E. Glass were also presented.

Agony Colyum

By SAM GREENBERG

The old problem of what to give her for Christmas is being bantered by two cronies. The gent on the right is seriously thinking of buying a fumble seat cook stove. The philanthropist on our left suggests a book on anthropology to pass away the wee small hours of the night. They'll end up by buying her a set of fresh grass stains.

Let's give Father Egan a big hand. And by bringing all those old suits, dresses, coats and hundreds of other wearables that have any wear left you'll be doing something worth while.

Bring your old clothes, or the landladies or anybody's, down to the basement of the Law school. They will be appreciated.

Reach for a Re-routing Map Instead of a Seat

All hands on deck for a game of leap frog! Once there were two cities. One of the cities had an inferiority complex and the other had crooked streets. But a big old ogre had a bridge that linked the two cities. He was an old meanie of an ogre and his yellow wagons could cross the bridge and didn't have to pay any toll. The poor people in the two cities had to give the clammy handed old night-mare money just to use his darn bridge.

One day a man refused to pay any more money. Then everybody said they wouldn't pay either.

"Well then, if you won't pay, I will give you the bridge and you may travel across it as free as the air," said this unusual monster.

The people were all happy and weddings and festivities were planned for the day the bridge would belong to the people. Weeks passed. Months fitted by. Years went to their Maker. And still the bridge did not belong to the people. Everyone who had eagerly planned the festivities was sleeping eternally. They who were to be married, were now talking of divorce and babies and the price of liver.

And back in the castle of the giant there was peace and contentment. On quiet days one could hear him laugh at his own jokes. It sounded like the rumble of street car wheels.

Fairville Society

Fairville society was recently startled by the rumor that aspirins are habit forming drugs. Well-known members of the community rushed to the Pettibone drug store to learn the truth. Orlo Pettibone, the proprietor, was nowhere in the vicinity and as his telephone has been disconnected, citizens were forced to wait until he was found. Lem Tallow, a truck gardner, found Pettibone lying in a stupor, three miles out on the gravel road. The frightened Fairvillites were singing hymns and negro spirituals while Dr. Duffy Dennis attended the stricken pharmacist. Dr. Dennis diagnosed the case as being an advanced case of locomotor ataxia.

Recovering, Pettibone refused to admit that aspirins were a habit forming drug and fell into a coma. "He's an old crab," said Miss Mimi Mason, popular debutante. "He's trying to lie out of it." Meanwhile committees were formed to make a study of the matter and to give reports of their finding to Mayor Carl Plotz.

Mayor Plotz pleaded with the irated citizenry to return to their hearths and give the question due consideration before returning to lynch Pettibone.

Frank V. Kennebeck, former Creighton Arts student and manager of the State theatre in Omaha, left for Moline, Ill., where he became manager of the Le-Claire theatre, principal Public house of that city.

BLUEJAYS DISPLAY PLENTY OF CLASS AGAINST FRESHMEN

First Scrimmage of Season Proves to Be a Fast One

FROSH SHOW FIGHT

For the first time this season Coach Duce Belford's yearlings clashed with the varsity in practice scrimmage, Tuesday evening. Although the Bluejays had little difficulty in defeating the Freshmen 28-7 the Frosh showed them a spirited fight and with a little more practice will give the Blues some real competition. All through the fray the varsity displayed a formidable defense which the freshmen had great difficulty in penetrating. The varsity also showed real form on the offensive swishing the ball through the hoop consistently.

Coach Schabinger's starting Bluejay lineup consisted of Captain Louie Trautman and Maurice Van Ackeran, forwards; Brud Jensen, center, with Melchior and Corcoran, guards.

Binder, Warren, and Worthing later officiated at the forward positions with Davis and Logan, guards.
The freshmen quintet found: Red Morgan and John Tolan, forwards; Art Lynch, center, with Everett Davis and Carl Smith, guards. Arthur Kiely later substituted for Morgan and Clarence Hartmann and Gerald Dugan for Tolan. "Suede" Miller took over Smith's job at the barricading position.

The first basket of the session came shortly after the opening tip-off when Jensen slipped one in on a follow up play. Van Ackeran duplicated the feat a short time afterwards from the side. The Freshmen's shots were few and far between, the ball being smothered almost every time it came in varsity territory. The play throughout the contest was fast, neither team resorting to stalling. Trautman proved to be the head man of the varsity quintet as far as baskets were concerned, sinking four during the course of the evening. He was followed by Van Ackeran, Worthing, Melchior and Sheridan who connected twice each. Logan and Jensen came through for one apiece.

Bart Corcoran, the "mighty atom" of the Creighton five, played his usual bang up game at the guard position, and more than once was the main cog in advancing the ball into scoring territory. Fred Melchior also played a good game at guard and displayed his ability at snagging baskets by running up four points toward the Bluejay's cause.

Miller proved to be the contributing factor of the Freshmen squad, making five of the yearling's seven points. Lynch, Morgan, Tolan and Dugan also showed the makings of a good Freshmen team. Davis and Smith holding down the guard positions made things plenty warm for the varsity.

Crawford to Manage Commerce Juniors

Harold Crawford, Commerce junior from Huron, S. D., was appointed manager of the Commerce junior basketball team which is entered in the intramural basketball league.

Members of the junior squad who reported to Crawford up to yesterday are Verle Holmes,

AGGIE CAGE SQUAD BOASTS SEVEN VETERANS

Coach Rody Drills Farmers in Special Defense for Jensen

STRONG RESERVES

By Harry Johnson

Faint sounds of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Farmers are coming", theme song of Aggieville may be heard on the Hilltop. They are coming plenty strong too; Coach Rody boasting seven lettermen as a nucleus for his 1929-30 edition. Besides Captain Fleming, guard, Harrison and Hixon, forwards, Halfast and Grimm, guards, and Choate, center, all of whom were letter winners last year, there is a promising group of sophomores.

Coach George Rody, serving his first term as Aggie mentor, fully realizes what a victory over Creighton means. So in order to give the squad ample time for preparation he started drill early in October. As might be expected no definite lineup has been decided upon. However, Baker, Choate, Captain Fleming and Halfast appear sure bets for a regular position.

Stop "Brud"

How well the Ploughboys realize the importance of this game may be ascertained from the fact that they have built a special defense to stop "Brud" Jensen. But other teams have been attempting the same thing for the past two seasons and "Big Brud" continues to accumulate a large total of points each game.

"Schabbie" appears to be taking the impending fray just as seriously as the Aggie Coach. Each evening the "Schabbies" have been working hard, until the time when all good people go to bed. The Jay Mentor's chief problem, apparently, is finding a running mate for Bart Corcoran, pride of the Bluejay flock.

Oh, What a Center!

There were exactly 301 pounds of Franklin Sproles Edwards, age 16, of Vicksburg, Mass., when the mammoth lad came out for first practice with Georgia Tech freshman team at Atlanta. There were that many pounds but not any more. Young Franklin Sproles lost eight pounds during first day's practice.

Kenneth Clancy, Raymond Kane, Rudy Tesar, Sammy Epstein, Harold Campbell, Ollie Scott, Joe Frick, Jack Furry, Cyril Wise and J. Spengler.

Margaret Tolbert, BSC '29 and last year's Prom queen, is an accountant with the National Triangle Securities Co. of Omaha.

HICKEY CUTS PREP CAGE SQUAD TO 17

Pratt, Freshman, Looks Good to Fill Dugan's Vacancy

PREPARE FOR TRIP

Coach Eddie Hickey's Blue cagers climaxed a week of intensive work, that included everything from chalk talks to fast scrimmage, with a long drill that covered nearly three hours Saturday. Hickey instructed his squad of 22 in every phase of basketballing in an effort to get the quintet into shape for the holiday barnstorming trip.

A thorough drill in fundamentals preceded 45 minutes of scrimmage. The combination that made up the first team was Captain Harold Murray and O'Hanlon, guards; Mullen, center; and Walsh and Pratt, forwards.

Maurice Pratt, speedy freshman discovery, has been selected by Hickey to succeed Jerry Dugan, last year's high scorer who set a new scoring record of 219 points, at forward.

The Morearity twins, Jack and

Ed, at guard and forward; McDonald at forward, Rahn at center and Dugan at guard gave the first string a run for their money. Coach Hickey will cut his squad down to about 17 sometime this week.

Duchesne Athletes Enter Bridge Tourney

9 DUCHESNE GIRLS ARE AWARDED LETTERS

To Give 15 More Monograms Before End of Year

SENIORS WIN AGAIN

The first letters ever given at Duchesne College were awarded to nine senior volleyball players Wednesday night after they defeated the academy team, 21-10; 21-15 in the Duchesne gymnasium.

The senior team, in addition to conquering the academy, holds the college championship and has defeated the alumnae team. Its members have been working for these letters since the beginning of the year, but the awarding so early in the season came as a surprise.

They were given at this time because all the recipients have attained excellence in one major sport, skill in several others, and have fulfilled the other strict requirements, according to Miss Guggenmos, physical training director, who awarded the letters.

Those receiving letters were Ruth Nothomb, captain, Dorothy Wilson, Catherine Morse, Margaret Fitzgerald, Eleanor Plumer, Ruth Macomber, Nellie Connolly, Catherine Tobin, and Dorothy Dierken, president of the Athletic Association.

Fifteen more letters will be given before the end of the year.

Lawrence Brownell, BSC '28, is employed by the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. of Council Bluffs.

noon and the final game will be played Friday night.

SOPHOMORES ELECT MAGUIRE CAPTAIN

Francis Maguire, Commerce sophomore, Omaha, was elected captain and manager of the Commerce sophomore basketball team entered in the intramural league, at a meeting of the team held in the Commerce college Tuesday noon.

Members of the class who have reported for the squad are Leo Reynolds, Ray Finnegan, George McCabe, Thomas Gorham, Harold Roddy, Clarence Bornhorst, Mike Heller, Thomas Gaughen, Louis O-

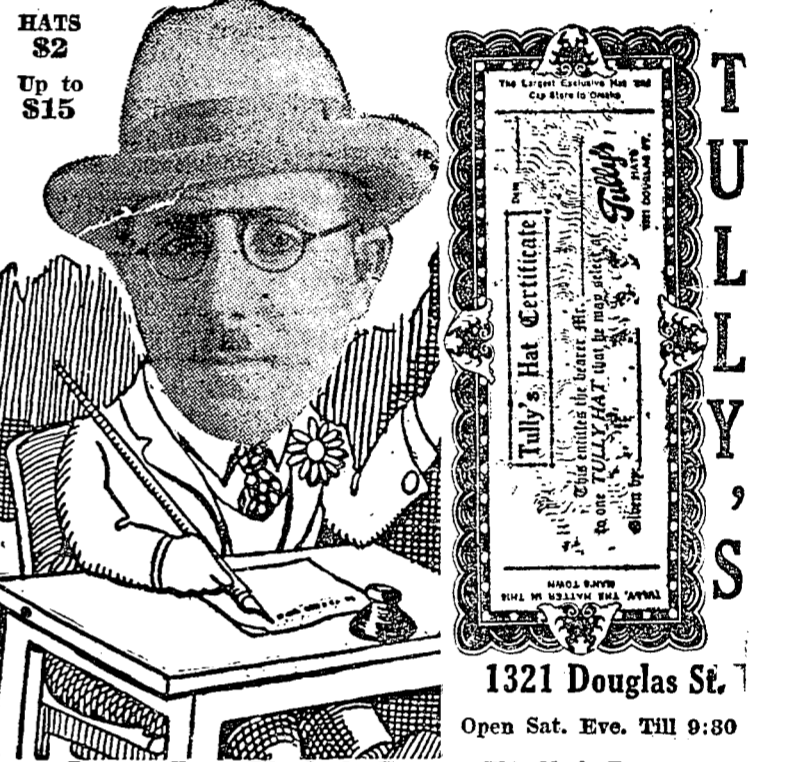

Donnell, Frank Stanosheck, Joseph Toelle, and Edwin Van Ackeren. The first workout was held Wednesday evening in the gymnasium.

Sears and Roebuck's new credit manager of the Omaha branch is James "Zibby" O'Brien, ex-Law '28, who made a name for himself on the Hilltop as high tenor extraordinary and member of the Bluejay quartet and University Glee Club. While in Prep "Zibby" was an all-state choice for basketball center.

Lemist Nelson, LLB '27, is now located in Bassett, Neb.

Parents Comment on Father Herbers' Talk

The talk on fraternities given by the Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., dean of men, over radio station WOW last Saturday was well received by listeners in Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and South Dakota according to word received at Father Herbers' office the first two days of the week.

Numerous letters from parents who did not quite understand the real nature of fraternal groups and were enlightened by the lecture came to Father Herbers' attention. One father wrote that he had been converted after he allowed his son to join a fraternity and that he agreed with what had been said in the talk. Another wrote that he had visited his son's fraternity house and that he found it a place where any young man could live safely and become a factor for good, both to himself and to others. Still another said that in a fraternity a young man is less likely to go astray or do things to disgrace his parents if living in a fraternity house.

Miss Harvey is now instructor in stenography at South High school in Omaha and is a member of the Omaha College Club and the Nebraska Writers Guild.

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF
IT'S REALLY A SHAME TO INTERRUPT THE PROFESSOR'S CHASE OF THE DIURNAL LEPIDOPTERA AND TURN THE BULL ON HIM! BUT YOU HAVE TO BLAME THE ARTIST FOR THAT.
Obviously, few of us have the chance—or temerity—to make matadors out of ourselves. But even in the normal course of human events, there's nothing so welcome as a refreshing pause. Happily there's a soda fountain or refreshment stand—with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready—around the corner from anywhere. With its delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, it makes a little minute long enough for a big rest.
