Dear Brick:

On the morning of Nov. 17th
I am offering my Mass for you, my closest friend, in appreciation & thanks for all you have meant to me & done for me. May the good Lord add His own blessing & thanks to my own! In this way only can I make reparation to you. Sixty-nine years is a long pilgrimage for anyone. May it stretch out indefinitely with life becoming ever fuller & more enjoyable as you approach the Grand Climax!

It is a consoling thought to know that a Roman Catholic will at last move into the White House. Am glad we both tried to see the day. It was an interesting & close race & I hope the best man has won. Don't forget Brick, to buy that rocking chair & to put it to good use! One of our fathers here was found dead in his bed yesterday, only 45 yrs. old, which shows how uncertain the future can be. Here today, gone tomorrow!

Ever yours, John
