Henri Renard Lecture

The Creighton University Department of Philosophy Presents the 26th Annual Henri J. "Change and the Victorians: Charles Darwin and John Henry Newman," on Thursday, p.m. in the Hixson-Lied Science Building, Room G-04. Michael Ruse, professor of philosophy at State University, will present the lecture. The lecture is free and open to the public. The 19th century was the time when people had to grapple with the realization that the physical and cultural is one of constant change. This talk compares and contrasts two thinkers — the biologist and naturalist Charles Darwin and the Anglican-turned-Catholic John Henry Newman — for whom such change was a major challenge and stimulus.

Blackboard Chalk Talk

Faculty members are invited to attend the next Blackboard Chalk Talk on Tuesday, Feb. 14, repeated on Wednesday, Feb. 15, from noon-1 p.m. in the Reinert Alumni Library, UR Room. Alice Smith, lead Blackboard trainer, will talk about "Adaptive Release of Content" and the utilization of Blackboard. About Adaptive Release: Adaptive Release allows an instructor to create custom learning paths through course content and activities. Content items, discussion assignments or other activities can be released to students based on a set of criteria and time, specific users, group membership, grades or attempts on a particular test or review status of another item in the course. Blackboard Chalk Talks are sponsored by Design and Development, a division of DoIT - Academic and eLearning Technologies. This topic is presented twice – on the second Tuesday and second Wednesday of the month. For more information, contact Barb Stephens at x2263 or bsteph@creighton.edu.
