

Oratorical Contest Finalists to Use New Arrangement

Twelve Speakers Vie for Hibernian, McShane Medals

Finals in the annual Creighton university oratorical and extemporaneous speaking contests, with 12 students participating, will be Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Creighton auditorium. The public is invited.

A novel arrangement patterned after the "Hyde park" type of speeches permitted in England will be used in conducting the contests this year, directed by the Rev. James F. Orford, S. J., moderator of the oratorical society, and Professor Edwin Puls, director of the department of speech.

To Give Rebuttal

The six finalists in the oratorical division will speak on any topic related to the general subject "Persistent Questions in Public Discussions." The six finalists in the extemporaneous speaking will draw by lot, immediately before the contest begins, the name of one of the orators, and these speakers will give a "rebuttal" on the oration from their places in the audience.

Finalists in the oratorical division and their subjects are James O'Neil, A. 1, "Our Heritage, the Constitution"; Betty Tarnoff, C. 2, "American Contributions to Civilization"; Leo Ross, L. 2, "Propaganda"; Walter Traub, A. 3, "We View With Alarm"; Robert Mullin, A. 2, "Progress"; and Vincent Lamb, A. 3, "The Great God Mammon."

Music to Entertain

Finalists in the extemporaneous division will be Joseph Graham, A. 3; Nick Newberry, C. 3; Joseph Hart, A. 3; Frank Carver, A. 2; Donald Dayton, A. 2; and John Kerrigan, L. 2.

Judges will be James J. Fitzgerald, Jr., attorney; Don Searle, manager of the Central States Broadcasting system, and Hugh M. Higgins, Creighton alumni secretary.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by the Creighton university orchestra and the Creighton male chorus.

Creighton Students May Obtain Seats For Carnegie Talk

Special opportunity for Creighton university students to obtain first hand information on the much-publicized "Dale Carnegie technique" of winning friends and influencing people was offered today in the form of reserved seats at special bargain prices.

Mr. Carnegie will speak on his favorite subject Friday evening April 29 at 8:15 o'clock in the auditorium at Technical high school.

The seats offered college and high school students are to be regular reserved seats selling at $1.65 and $1.10. 148 of these reserved seats have been made available to students at a reduced price of 75 cents, but William B. Loring, Junior Chamber of Commerce secretary, advised all students wishing to hear Carnegie to purchase tickets immediately, as demands were to be honored in the order of their receipt. University students may purchase tickets from the publicity department in room 111 of the Law building.

In his personal appearance Friday Carnegie will enlarge on points of general interest from his best-seller "How To Win Friends And Influence People."

Prep Students Aid St. John's Players in Presenting Comedy

St. John's Dramatic Art Players presented "Life Begins at Sixteen" Sunday afternoon and Monday evening in the Creighton auditorium.

Creighton Prep students assisted the production which was directed by Milton A. Rieck. "Life Begins at Sixteen," a comedy written by Hilda Manning, presents a true picture of American youth.

Leads were taken by Eleanor Dreier and Dick Tighe. Other members of the cast included: Martha Schmitzen, Rita Schlueter, Harriet Goodhope, Mary Strahl, Jean Ann Hill, Mary Virginia Laughlin, Margaret Kelly, Catherine Seize, Jeanne Marcell, Bill Sumption, Frank Elsassner, Cas Palmesano and Tom Haller.

Campus Cat Voices Disapproval of Board of Governors

The members of the Student Union Board of Governors may be heroes to the student body, but to Abner, the Campus Cat, they are too many unpleasant noises.

Abner, as you probably know is a large, battiship gray individual with a bad disposition and an unconquerable tendency to express his opinions at all times.

Abner makes the gym his headquarters, and Monday evening decided to attend the meeting of the governors. He viewed the proceedings through an open window and with a jaundiced eye.

As the debate waxed warm, observers noted that Abner was slowing losing his temper. And then as some mighty voiced soton crashed through with a ringing denunciation, Abner spoke. In a voice that rang through the room, Abner m-e-e-e-o-w-ed his opinion, tilted his nose to the heavens and left.

When interviewed Tuesday morning, Abner declared he would never attend another meeting. "Them guys talks too much," he declared.

Vocational Director Will Speak at Meet

Wallace C. Cumming, director of vocational education of Omaha public schools, will speak on "Provisions for the Distributive Occupations under the George-Deen Act" at a meeting of the Council of Commercial Educators of Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Convening in the Moot court, Friday, the educators will also hear a talk on "National Clerical Ability Tests" by May Bothwell, head of the commercial department of North High school. Barney Stapert, former world champion typist, will give a demonstration and lecture.

John P. Begley, professor of finance, is president of the organization.

Students Say Studies Come First Extra-Curricular Activities Secondary in Campus Poll

By Willis Lee

"Do you derive more good from your college studies or the extra-curricular activities in which you participate?" In answer to this question every Creighton student answered that studies are by far more beneficial.

They all had an eye to the future and stated the belief that although extra-curricular activities are useful they will not contribute as greatly to their future success as a good education will.

Robert Proulx, A. 4, said: "Studies are undoubtedly more beneficial because they are the primary purpose of attending college. Don't get the idea that I'm all for study and no play but extra-curricular activities may be obtained almost any time and any place while the opportunity to receive a good education is quite the opposite."

Both Important

Helen Brosman, UC 4: "I think they are both important. One does need social life to enable one to meet more people. But I think college studies are more im-

Aviation Clubmen Begin Flying Lessons; Federation Offers Aid

Members of the Creighton Aviation club are flying into action with lessons and instructions given by John Linder, A. 1, licensed pilot and chairman of the club. J. E. Moreau, professor of modern languages, is sponsor.

Some of the members have already had their first flying lesson. The club welcomes any girls who are interested in flying and wish to know more concerning airplanes.

The Federation of Intercollegiate Aviation Clubs announces that it will offer its services in aiding Creighton's club to form a more solid organization next year.

Professor Moreau will appreciate and accept any donations which are given to the club.

A tentative meeting is scheduled for next week.

Writers to Celebrate at Annual Fete

To Announce New Staff Appointments

Banqueting journalists will show the world how this business of etiquette and oratory really is done when the third annual journalism banquet gets under way in the Mayfair room of the Fontenelle hotel, Monday evening, May 23.

Besides climaxing the year's work in journalism, the affair will see the new editors of both student publications named and brief talks by the retiring staff members. New editors will also mount the rostrum for brief discourses on the state of the nation.

Only students majoring in journalism, plus journalism faculty members are being invited to the banquet. The one exception is the Very Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, S. J., president of the university. Last year President Zuercher made his first formal public address at the journalism banquet.

Dinner is scheduled for 6 o'clock and all journalists are warned not to miss this deadline. The menu consists of shrimp cocktail and assorted relishes; creamed chicken in patty a la reine; candied yams; kernel corn; saute with green peppers; hearts of lettuce with French dressing; chocolate sundae; coffee and rolls, and short speeches.

Toastmaster will be Stuart A. Mahuran, acting director of the school of journalism.

Amsden and Garver Win Essay Honors

Don Amsden, J. 1, and Frank R. Garver, A. 2, won second and third prizes, respectively, in the Omaha college division of the essay contest sponsored by the Omaha World-Herald.

The prizes were awarded for the most original ideas on "How Advertising Benefits the Consumer" in conjunction with a similar national contest sponsored by Advertising Age, national advertising magazine.

All prize-winning papers in the local contest were forwarded to the national contest to compete for prizes which include two free trips to Detroit.

Socialists Will Name New Officers

Nominate Candidates in Undergraduate Schools of University

Election of sodality officers in the colleges of arts, commerce and the school of journalism for the coming school year will be at the 9 o'clock Chapel Mass Friday morning.

Four officers will be elected in each of the undergraduate schools. Candidates were nominated by student socialists at the students' Mass last Friday.

Candidates nominated in the college of arts and sciences are: For prefect, Joseph Hart, A. 2; Vincent Lamb, A. 3; and Leo Zents, A. 3. For assistant prefect: Robert Lennahan, A. 3; John Hart, A. 3; Harry Ragen, A. 3; and Clem Pedersen, A. 3. For secretary: John Curran, A. 2; Nick Reiman, A. 2; Louis Bruckner, A. 2; Cletus Healy, A. 2; William Parker, A. 3. For treasurer: Daniel Kelly, A. 1; Arthur Mullen, A. 2; John Hartigan, A. 1; Leo Williams, A. 2, and Edward Dolan, A. 1.

Candidates in the college of commerce are: For prefect, Gerald Bangert, C. 3; Joseph Conry, C. 3, and Eugene McBride, C. 3. For assistant prefect: John Piet, C. 3; Herman Weber, C. 3; Paul Bausch, C. 2, and William Portz, C. 2. For secretary: George Mason, C. 2; William Heaston, C. 2; Gerard Wolke, C. 2; John McQuillan, C. 3, and Bernard Optiz, C. 2. For treasurer: Daniel Lynch, C. 1; Clem Richardson, C. 1; Robert Burke, C. 1; Paul Johnston, C. 2, and Melvin Steffes, C. 1.

Candidates nominated in the school of journalism, for prefect: Paul Gauthier, J. 2, and Pierce Chambers, J. 3. For assistant prefect: Willis Lee, J. 2; Vincent Thillen, J. 3; William O'Hollaren, J. 2, and Edward Lusenski, J. 3. For secretary: Ben Haller, J. 1; Leo Dippel, J. 3; Paul Delay, J. 1. For treasurer: Robert Dippel, J. 1; Richard Biglin, J. 1, and Henry Bristowe, J. 1.

Dentistry Students Complete Annual "Field Day" Plans

The school of dentistry will hold its "field day" at Grimm's field, 10 miles west of Omaha, as they have in previous years.

Complete arrangements were announced today by Dr. S. J. Honza, faculty sponsor. The program includes sports, dancing and a barbecue.

Plans call for a regulation track and field meet in the morning to be followed by an elimination softball tournament. There will be a winner's playoff for possession of the school's softball trophy. Last year, the sophomore class copped the trophy, and are heavy favorites to repeat this year as members of the junior class team.

Prizes in all field events have been donated by leading Omaha business concerns. The faculty of the school will attend all functions, and is expected to take an active part in athletic events.

The events of the day will be climaxed by a dance in the evening at Hotel Castle.

"These photographs demonstrate that your members have been doing serious work and they are a credit to your club," said Mr. O. E. Stowell, president of the Omaha Camera club during 1935-6-7, following the meeting of Creighton Camera club Monday evening in Room 305, Law building.

Mr. Stowell, guest instructor, lectured on composition. He analyzed more than 50 pictures submitted by members plus some 25 more prints that were taken by himself or loaned by members of the Omaha Camera club.

Ben DeBoice, A. 1, was elected chairman of the club's new project, "Print of the Week," which will be inaugurated Monday.

Once each week thereafter club members will submit pictures and the six best will be hung on respective bulletin boards in arts, medicine, law, commerce, pharmacy and dentistry schools.

Earlier in the week the club received a letter from "Popular Photography" requesting information concerning "the novel manner in which your club serves notice of its meetings." The notice to which they referred was a photograph posted on bulletin boards recently in which Jeanne Marie Stech, UC 1, posed.

Creightons Attend Nu Convention

Name Father Herbers to National Position

Delegates to the national convention of Alpha Sigma Nu, national honor society of Jesuit colleges, at St. Louis Friday and Saturday elected the Rev. Joseph A. Herbers, S. J., head of the religion department, to the office of faculty representative.

Stephen A. Spitznagle, AB '24, was chosen president. Spitznagle, now an Omaha publicity man, was the editor of the first edition of The Creightonian. Other officers are: Dr. W. M. Lamers, instructor at Marquette university, vice president, and Charles Cobeen, manager of Marquette's Student Union, secretary-treasurer. Both Lamers and Cobeen are graduates of Marquette.

Jay Students Attend

Father Herbers, faculty moderator of the local Alpha Sigma Nu chapter, accompanied by John Verschoor, C. 4; John Porter, M. 4, and Edward Nemeck, M. 4, represented Creighton at the two-day convention.

St. Louis university was host to the seven schools present. In addition to Creighton and St. Louis, other colleges in attendance include: Marquette university, Springhill college, Mobile, Ala.; Loyola university, New Orleans; Loyola university, Chicago, and Detroit university, Detroit.

Alumni groups from Creighton, Marquette and St. Louis universities sent delegates. Hotel Coronado was the scene of the convalescence. The three general sessions were concluded with a banquet Saturday evening. Thomas Austin Gavin, Knight of the Holy Sepulchre, and president of the State Bar Association of Tulsa, Okla., was main speaker of the convention, in addition to being speaker at the closing banquet.

Plan Chapter Increase

Increasing the number of chapters was the aim of the convention, according to Creighton delegates. Getting the Jesuit colleges in the east interested in the society was discussed at great length by convention-goers.

Marquette university is to be the scene of the next national convention. This will take place in 1940, which year is the 25th anniversary of the founding of Alpha Sigma Nu. Marquette founded the first chapter in 1915.

Sociology Head Elected Council Representative

Prof. Laurence H. Brown, head of the department of sociology in the Creighton university college of arts and sciences, was elected representative for the state of Nebraska on the executive council of the Mid-West Sociological society, at the annual meeting of the organization held last week in Des Moines, Ia.

At the meeting Professor Brown delivered a talk on "The First Course in Sociology in the Catholic Colleges and Universities of the Mid-West."

Board Sets Convention Date; Discusses Measures

Revue Production Cancelled

Production of the 1938 edition of the Bluejay Revue was cancelled this week because of difficulties that arose as rehearsals progressed. In the interest of a good Revue, or none at all, authorities thought it best to discontinue plans for the show.

Eighteen Jay Students in Who's Who

All Bluejay Schools Are Represented

Names and biographies of 18 Creighton students appear in the 1937-38 issue of "Who's Who Among Students in Universities and Colleges." All of Creighton's schools are represented.

Among the 11 seniors, four juniors, two sophomores and one freshman listed are James Keogh, J. 4; Robert Booher, M. 4; John Verschoor, C. 4; Joseph Manion, P. 4; Raymond Fox, L. 2; Raymond Fuxa, A. 4; Nick Pupa, J. 4; Betty Oldergo, P. 3; John Piet, C. 3; Paul Hartnek, J. 4; Charles E. Smith, P. 4; Marion McClintock, J. 4; Paul Pival, D. 4; William Redle, L. 3; Mary Costello, SCN 3; William Griffiths, M. 4; Sam Weinstein, D. 1, and Margaret Nesmith, SJN 3.

Selections were made in collaboration with the deans and presidents of the 450 colleges represented. They were based not only upon the scholarship, but the extra-curricular activities of the student, and the possibility of his future usefulness to business and society. According to the editor, H. Pettus Randall, it is impossible to purchase a listing in Who's Who.

Journalism Director to Attend Confab in Des Moines

S. A. Mahuran, acting director of the school of journalism, has been selected to participate in the convention for the west-central region of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism. The convention will be at Des Moines, May 13 and 14.

Mr. Mahuran will take charge of the round table on "Methods in Teaching Copy Reading," the morning of May 13. Besides the regular business and social meetings other round table groups will discuss reporting, advertising, pictorial journalism and journalism in the university and small college.

Several other members of the journalism faculty hope to attend the convention.

Stage Manager Burke Leads "Merry" Life in Auditorium

By Henry Bristowe

Ye Olde Globe Theatre across the Thames in jolly London was kept busy by William Shakespeare and his Thespian band. But Creighton's auditorium across from Wareham Hall in merry Hilltopville is the busiest it has been for many years. This information was offered by Stage Manager Robert Burke, C. 1, who eats, sleeps and works night and day in the auditorium.

Plays, conventions, debates and retreats since October 1 and continuing till June 1, make up the bulk of Manager Burke's headaches.

Creighton's Campus Players, directed by the Rev. Joseph A. Herbers, S. J., have done their bit to occupy the stage and its immediate surroundings. "The Goose Hangs High" and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" have been presented.

Houses Sodality Convention

Other departments of Creighton have taken their turn at the building. In January the spiritual retreat for non-Catholic students was conducted. Early in March the auditorium was used as a place of convocation for delegates to the Student Leadership convention. In the latter part of March the Nebraska Association of Church Schools convened at Creighton and the auditorium again was employed.

Another retreat, this one for Catholic women in Omaha, is scheduled for Sunday, and once more Creighton's auditorium is the scene. Creighton Prep is planning to hold its annual inter-class debate in the same place. In June St. John's school will conduct its commencement exercises therein.

All of the foregoing events keep Manager Burke from thinking life to be just a bowl of cherries, but the real test of patience comes when three different schools want to put three different plays on the same day. Starting the middle of April, Burke ordered a case of aspirin and a pup tent so that he might "stage manage" one play after another.

St. Mary's Schools Vie

April 13 "The Torch Bearers," directed by Milton A. Rieck, and sponsored by the Omaha Woman's club, started the dramatic ball rolling in the aged auditorium. Robert Walker, A. 1; Dan Murphy, L. 2, and Martin Harris, A. 2, participated in this show.

"Life Begins at Sixteen," presented by St. John's High school, moved in on the California street "opera house" Sunday and Monday. Milton A. Rieck also directed this play. Several Creighton Prep students took part.

Next on the schedule is Creighton's annual oratorical contest, which will be held in the auditorium again was employed.

Other departments of Creighton have taken their turn at the building. In January the spiritual retreat for non-Catholic students was conducted. Early in March the auditorium was used as a place of convocation for delegates to the Student Leadership convention. In the latter part of March the Nebraska Association of Church Schools convened at Creighton and the auditorium again was employed.

Special Meeting

A special meeting of all regularly enrolled male students of the Creighton university will be held in the Moot Court of the school of Law Thursday, May 5, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of amending the constitution and by-laws of the Creighton Students' Union.

(Signed)
JOSEPH L. MANION,
President Board of Governors.

Seventh Corps Area Officers to Review R.O.T.C.

Colonel R. H. McMasters, officer in charge of ROTC affairs of the Seventh Corps Area, will inspect the Creighton ROTC unit May 2 and 3, announces Major Willfred Higgins. Colonel Ralph W. Dusenbury will assist Colonel McMasters.

Order of the day Monday includes inspection of all classes in tactics and principles of warfare. Tuesday morning the federal officers will inspect classes in rifle-manship, and combat principles. Tuesday afternoon there will be an inspection of the entire Creighton unit on the football field. After this revue Colonel McMasters and Colonel Dusenbury will attend the classes of the junior officers to check their work.

For the past four years, Creighton has been given the highest ranking of any school in the Seventh Corps Area. Forty universities and high schools are in this area, including University of Minnesota, University of Iowa, Kansas State and Arkansas Teachers. Many junior military academies and high schools are also in the Creighton area.

Student Lawyers Will Hear Former Creighton Dean

Paul L. Martin, Omaha attorney, and former dean of the school of law, will speak at the Law day banquet at the Hotel Fontenelle, May 11.

Faculty members, law students, and friends will attend the banquet, to be followed by a dance. The law school banquet and dance feature the outstanding events of the school's social season.

Winning Essays Are Included in Spring Edition of "Shadows"

According to the Rev. Leo H. Mullany, S. J., moderator, the spring edition of "Quarterly Shadows" will be released at the end of next week. "Shadows" is the student body literary magazine.

Prize winning essays of three contests are in this edition. They are: "Thomas Jefferson and the Courts," by William O'Hollaren, J. 3, winner of the Jefferson Mullen contest; "What Causes Atheism?" by Nicholas Rieman, A. 2, winner of the Bishop McGovern contest, and "Our Military Policy and the National Defense Act," by William Pattavina, A. 1, entered in the annual R. O. T. C. contest.

Add Forty-eight Books to University Library

Forty-eight new books have been added to the Creighton university library.

There are 35 books concerning economics and finance and 13 history and sociology books included in the list.

One of the economic books is "Part-Time Farming in the Southeast," published by the Works Progress Administration. "Problems in Labor Relations," by Herman Feldman, is one of the sociology books.

"D" Club Stages Folk Festival

Bohemian, Danish and Lithuanian dances were the main features of a Folk Festival given at Duchesne college Wednesday, April 21. The festival was staged by the "D" club.

Prize winning essays of three contests are in this edition. They are: "Thomas Jefferson and the Courts," by William O'Hollaren, J. 3, winner of the Jefferson Mullen contest; "What Causes Atheism?" by Nicholas Rieman, A. 2, winner of the Bishop McGovern contest, and "Our Military Policy and the National Defense Act," by William Pattavina, A. 1, entered in the annual R. O. T. C. contest.

Other articles in the publication include: "Sand Sculptor," a paper on the works of E. V. Lucas, by Margaret Tinley, Grad.; "Trailing Clouds of Glory," three short articles on spring and Easter, by T. N. Jorgenson, Grad., and "Whim," by Grant Burden, J. 4.

Poems by several graduates are also in the issue.

Journalism Director Toastmaster for Inter-City Banquet

Journalism students of Creighton and Omaha universities and of all Omaha and Council Bluffs high schools will hold their annual Inter-City journalism banquet Thursday at 6 p. m. at Grace Presbyterian church in Council Bluffs.

Principal speaker will be W. O. Swanson of the Nebraska Clothing company, Creighton alumnus and chairman of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce publicity committee, who will speak on "The Journalist and Civic Achievement."

Toastmaster will be Prof. S. A. Mahuran, director of the Creighton university school of Journalism. On the committee in charge of the event are Miss Eleanor Baptist and H. A. Lee of Abraham Lincoln high school and Stephen Ayer of Omaha Tech.

Presentation of membership certificates in "Quill and Scroll," national honorary high school journalism society, will be made by the head of the journalism department of each high school. An attendance of five hundred is anticipated.

Merger Students Adopt Amendment Against Hazing

The student body of Mercer university has passed an amendment to the student constitution which makes beating and detrimental hazing a punishable offense.

The amendment became effective on the day of its adoption, and any future harmful hazing will be punished by the student council as a major offense.

President Spright Dowell commended the move, stating that the new amendment places "the university in a position of distinction and raises the admiration of many leading persons."—A. C. P.

Dickinson Makes Outside Activities Compulsory

Dickinson college has made participation in extra-curricular activities a requirement for graduation.

In a report by a special committee which established this new rule for students in this liberal arts college, the faculty assumed complete regulation of all student activities.—A. C. P.

Pharmacy Day Program Has Track and Field Events and Dancing

Track and field events, softball, tug-of-war and dancing feature the list of activities for Pharmacy day, May 17, according to Chairman Marius Sorenson, P. 4.

A softball team made up of juniors and seniors will oppose members of the freshmen and sophomore classes at Miller park. Freshmen and sophomores will attempt to pull each other through the lake in the tug-of-war. Prizes will be awarded for track and field competition and a silver loving cup goes to the class scoring most points during the day.

In the evening, pharmacists will attend a dinner-dance beginning at 6:30 o'clock in the Fontenelle ballroom. The winner of an "on-time" prize will be drawn at 8:31 o'clock by William A. Jarrett, dean of the school.

Prizes for athletic events and samples are being donated by wholesale and manufacturing firms. Each student will receive a box of the samples at the banquet.

Magazine Editor Will Speak in Duchesne Auditorium

The Rev. Patrick O'Connor, who recently returned from China, will talk today in the Duchesne college auditorium. The lecture is open to the public. Admission is 50 cents.

Rev. O'Connor is the editor of the Far East magazine.

Oral Comprehensive Exams Face Dentistry Students

Members of the school of dentistry faculty will give oral comprehensive examinations for seniors tonight, starting at 7:30 o'clock in the dentistry building. Examinations for sophomores are scheduled for Thursday evening starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Doctor Speaks at Ponca

Dr. Joseph W. McMartin, assistant in anatomy and genitourinary, spoke at Ponca, Neb., on April 15 on "Venereal Diseases." Dr. McMartin's talk was given in behalf of the U. S. Public Health Service and the Nebraska State Health Service.

Stage Manager Lives "Merrily" in Auditorium

April 29. The stage must be devoid of all scenery. However, the following day St. Mary's High school, with the aid of Prep pupils, wants the stage in readiness for its presentation of "Anne of Green Gables," April 30. And here is where the plot thickens. The following day, May 1, St. Mary's college plans to give "The Showoff." May 2, St. Mary's High school is going to present "Anne of Green Gables" for the second time, and Burke, if he is still alive, must change the stage sets to comply with wishes of the two schools. St. Mary's college, not to be outdone by St. Mary's High school, will stage "The Showoff" for the second time May 4.

a viciousness that has seen no parallel since the days of the Roman emperors. In no case has the Church been destroyed. The Church stands four-square against the destructive doctrines of Caesarism and world dictatorships. Hitler boasts that he will not bow to religion as Bismarck did. Yet the day is not far distant when Hitler will go down on his knees before the triumphant court of Christ!

And in conclusion: "Let us not fear communism or fascism, but let us not be fooled by them."

property and freedom

How absurd it seems to advocate a redistribution of property when the large corporations are succeeding in monopolizing both wealth and property. How futile it would be to make an eloquent plea for justice and charity when men these days only laugh at such pietistic generalizations. How little would it avail towards achieving lasting results to say that men have a right to property which, if not actualized, is the same as serving a thick steak before one and not being able to eat it. Because a distribution of property to the millions of people who hardly know what such a thing as property is, much less possess it, sounds very radical, it is immediately discarded as impossible. Because a wider distribution of property would naturally mean a slight lessening of the power of the already mighty corporations, immediately the suggestion is met with a sneer and a little sophisticated smile at the naivete of those who would suggest something so utterly uneconomic as reducing the power of the top-heavy corporations and increasing, however little, the independence of the majority of the dispossessed.

Today, of course, it is admitted that people just do not possess any property, that is, the great majority of people. They are wage owners with all its implications. Admittedly the right to own property still exists, but of course whether it is actualized is another thing.

Briefly, let us glance at property and freedom. Are the two connected? Is the reason for the lack of freedom in the modern world that the majority of people have no property? Is it true that until a wider distribution of property is made there will be less and less freedom? It would be impossible to answer these questions fully in this short space, but it is certainly true, as Belloc points out in his Servile State, that liberty and property are the same. If one exists the other naturally and necessarily follows. He goes on to say that there are no alternatives; if we want freedom, property must be distributed; if property is not distributed then freedom, whatever little there is left of it, will also vanish as it has continued to vanish in the past. The question now is, "Do we want freedom?"—St. Louis University News.

Gleason Leads Law Seniors; Active in School Affairs

This is the first of a series of articles pertaining to an outstanding senior and his activities in each of the various colleges and schools on the campus.

"Not having a thing to do is the most oppressing feeling," says James Gleason, L. 3, who recently won a Knights of Columbus Fellowship for the advanced study of law at the Catholic University of America at Washington, D. C.

Besides his studies, maintaining a 91 average, which is very high in law, Gleason was, during his attendance at Creighton, a member of six fraternities. So it looks like he did manage to keep busy enough.

He was a member of Alpha Sigma Nu, national honorary scholastic society; president of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic fraternity, in 1933; president of Alpha Chi Kappa, national arts fraternity, in 1933; member of Phi Delta Chi, military fraternity; Delta Kappa Delta, social fraternity, and president of "Servientes Ad Legem," newly organized honorary scholastic society for students in the school of law. He was president of the Pan-Hellenic council in 1932-33, and cadet colonel of the R. O. T. C. in 1932.

Debating Favorite Activity

Of all the extra-curricular activities which Gleason participated in, debating is his favorite and he advocates it strongly for all persons. He says that it trains people to think and express themselves quickly and makes them better conversationalists. A good conversation is above anything the top notch in all his personal tastes.

Although Gleason majored in classical languages in his work in the college of arts and sciences,

Peter Canisius Contacted Kings and Emperors

By the Rev. P. G. Deghnan, S. J. He was a great man. His contacts were with kings and emperors, with popes and cardinals, with the learned in every walk of life as well as with the little children in classrooms and the workers in their homes.

If he were living today you might wonder whether he would be an outstanding university president, a statesman of fame, a nationally known editor, a ruler of men or just a teacher of children. He was all of these when he lived through his energetic, untiring efforts to help others. And yet his vocation was that of a priest in the Society of Jesus.

Native Hollander

Peter Canisius was born in 1521. His native land was Holland. He died in 1597, spent in labors for his fellow men in the service of God. He was beatified by Pius IX and canonized and proclaimed a doctor of the Church by Pius XI. It is fitting that this Dutch saint should be called the Apostle of Germany, the hammer of heretics, the Jerome and Augustine of his century, the defender of the Church. By his eloquence, by his controversy and books of piety, by the foundation of colleges, by his missions entrusted to him by four of the Popes, he stopped the progress of heresies and caused the Faith to flourish in northern Europe. Profoundly humble, he refused the honors thrust upon him and lived and died a simple priest.

Great Patience

St. Peter Canisius was indeed a great man. Perhaps the most outstanding trait in his dynamic personality was his undisturbed impervious patience. Never did this great man of learning and influence let the angry or disappointed word escape from his lips. Never did he seem dependent or discouraged. "In one sense," says his biographer, "his life was full of frustrations; yet losing so many causes which he cherished he never lost heart and worked away for them to the end with almost ferocious resolution." "It was the child's heart in him that made such stability possible, a heart too dependent on God to be affected by the raiding moods of dejection."

The feast of this lovable, childlike saint and doctor is kept today, April 27. Great indeed the man who never loses his patience.

Favors Irish Drama

Contemporary Irish drama is Gleason's favorite literary dish. Of the Irish contemporary authors he likes John Millington Synge and Sean O'Casey. Both are playwrights. He does extensive reading in English literature and of the classical authors in poetry he favors Virgil and in prose, Calist.

In politics Gleason is an ardent "New Deal" Democrat and likes to keep abreast of the happenings in the political ruffle.

Leading Tennis Player

For years he has been a leading tennis player in this section and was a member of the Creighton varsity tennis team from 1931 to 1933, and was captain of the team in 1933. During the summer Gleason plays tennis as much as five hours a day. He especially likes tennis because it is a highly competitive sport, full of thrills, but absolutely safe and has an aspect of sociability.

As to dislikes, Gleason admitted that modernistic verse, the Republican party and fish annoy him.

Tall Corn Gendarmes Pursue "White Spot" Collegians

Several members of the arts college came within "4" of spending the Spring vacation in jail. The question arises—"4" what? Lifting the veil of mystery the answer is found to be the number "4" on a license plate.

Wednesday afternoon of Holy Week Gerald Mullen, Lee Smith and Glenn McEniry, all arts juniors, were driving to Glencoe, Iowa. This same afternoon, Iowa highway patrolmen were looking for a car that had been stolen that day.

Unfortunately for Mullen, his car answered to the description of the stolen one. More unfortunately for Mullen, his license plates read almost like the ones of the purloined vehicle being sought by the Iowa gendarmes. Mullen's car has a Nebraska license 19-5199; the strayed car had Nebraska plates with the numbers 19-5194.

Police Pursue

Little did the youths know that their conveyance resembled the stolen one as they proceeded to Glencoe. Soon Mullen saw a police car pursuing him, and he said that he slowed down to the "speed limit." This condescension on Mullen's part only served to speed up the patrolmen.

Thinking it wise to stop, Mullen pulled over to the side of the road and waited for his pursuer. Two burly patrolmen stepped up to the three uneasy students and accused them of stealing the car.

Smith and McEniry began to wonder about the character of their classmate, Mullen, and what he did when he wasn't stealing cars. However, Mullen was quick to produce sufficient evidence proving his innocence, the patrolmen saw their mistake, and the group was about to part friends when Jack Diesing and William Garvey, both A. 3, drove up to the scene of the misunderstanding.

Squelch Comic Pair

Diesing and Garvey made fun of their brother Hilltoppers, and kidded them about their plight until the patrolmen, now friendly to Mullen, McEniry, and Smith, suggested that Diesing and Garvey "button their lip" and be on their way.

Mullen now feels that the Republican's cry "There haint no justice" is entirely false, and he defies anyone to malign his chums, the Iowa patrolmen.

Day of Recollection For Catholic Women Here Next Sunday

The seventh annual "Day of Recollection" for all Catholic women of Omaha will be held at Creighton university on Sunday, May 1, under the auspices of the Omaha Council of Catholic Women.

The event will be a one-day retreat from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. in the Creighton auditorium and St. John's church, with luncheon in the university cafeteria. All Catholic women, married and single, are invited.

The Rev. Gerald FitzGibbon, S. J., dean of the Creighton college of arts and sciences, will be retreat master and will conduct the conferences and religious exercises. Mrs. Lee Perkins will discuss "Novenas" and Mrs. J. C. Tighe will speak on "New Ideas versus Old Ideals" in the auditorium Sunday morning.

Mrs. J. C. Follman, chairman arrangements, announced last year's attendance of 200 is expected to be surpassed this year.

Survey Shows Rates of Sleep to Study

One course in the everyday curricula of college students that is not neglected is sleep. The average collegian sleeps 56 hours every week.

At least those are the facts determined by the University of Wichita education class of Dean L. Hekhuis.

"The tabulation showed," the report said, "that the persons working the most hours studies the most. One student who works 50 hours in a local dry goods store spends 26 hours in studying. On the other hand, a girl sleeping 60 hours does no outside work and studies but 10 hours."

Another conclusion drawn from the compilation was that the student who sleeps the least spends the most time studying.—A. C. P.

Speaks at League Banquet

E. S. Hickey, Creighton basketball coach and business manager of athletics, was principal speaker at the annual smoker for the Council Bluffs Church basketball league April 19 in Council Bluffs. Dr. Joseph Tedesco, DDS '35, was chairman of the program.

Doctor Will Address Teachers

Fancy This . . .

By Ed Lusenski

A sociologist declares "that only 2 per cent of the people in the United States are morous." Which information should be quite a surprise to a great many political perennials.

All other opinions notwithstanding, statistics show that for every five weddings in the United States, there is one divorce. It would seem that it is five times easier to get into trouble than to get out of it.

A peek into slightly ancient history reveals that the favorite Scotch pastime, golf, was prohibited in Scotland during the fifteenth century. Most likely because the boys spent all their time looking for lost balls.

Harry Richman, popular night club entertainer, is marked before sailing for Europe on his honeymoon, that his mother-in-law was such a swell person he should have married her. Flying the Atlantic wasn't enough; the guy is still after publicity.

"It is just about impossible to get the modern child to believe in fairy tales," maintains an educator. And still they will grow up to believe that prosperity is just around the corner.

A man on the witness stand recently testified that he had no idea why his wife shot at him with a rifle. The law says that a husband needn't testify against his wife; his common sense tell him he hadn't better.

Worries and Woes Pursue "Open House" in a Literal Sense

Members of Chi Omicron Delta, a Davis and Elkins college local fraternity, can sympathize with the Alpha Delta Phi's of the University of Washington, who recently were forced to hold one house because the front door of the fraternity house was stolen, for the same thing happened to them over the week-end.

It all happened during the fraternity's second semester initiation week when the actives were busy initiating a group of 19 pledges. The recently constructed house, not yet ready for occupation, was the mecca for neophytes returning from midnight assignments.

After leaving the house at 2:30 Saturday morning, members returned early the same day to start final initiation for pledges. When they reached the house the front door, hung the day before, was missing.

An investigation disclosed that admittance had been obtained by forcing a window after which the door was removed from the hinges and carried away.

Members of the fraternity turned detectives and started a city-wide search. When city and state police were called in and finger prints taken, members of a rival fraternity sheepishly returned the missing door. Said they, "Just an initiation week joke" and the Chi Deltas, glad to again have their missing door, were satisfied to take it as just that, a joke.—A. C. P.

Annual Tri-Lang Dance to Reveal Marquis and Marquise Friday at Peony

Alpha Chi Kappa to Give Informal Dance at Blackstone

Candidates for marquis and marquise to reign over the domain of Creighton's language students will be chosen today. Final elections will be held on Thursday.

The present method of electing the royalty at the last minute to eliminate any speculation as to the identity of the royal pair. The new marquis and marquise will be revealed in a ceremony at the Tri-Lang dance at Peony Park Friday night. The royalty will each be attended by six students not yet chosen. After the ceremony guests will dance to Franklin Vincent's orchestra.

Honored guests will include the Very Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, S. J.; the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdler, S. J.; the Rev. Gerald Fitz-Gibbon, S. J.; the Rev. Charles K. Hayden, S. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Brown; Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Walsh; and Dr. and Mrs. Wendell A. Dwyer.

Robert Walker, A. 4, president of the club, is general chairman of the dance. The flower committee is composed of Eileen Mulick, UC 1; Sylvia Burt, UC 2; and Mildred Laytin, J. 1.

Crazy Bridge Luncheon Features Commerce Coeds' Easter Party

Thirteen members of the Commerce Coeds club attended a crazy bridge luncheon at the Athletic club April 19. The regular form of bridge was cast aside as the girls played hearts on diamonds and clubs on spades. Pat McNamara was awarded the high prize and Marie Grieb merited the booby prize.

Those attending the luncheon were Joan Ralston; Mary Elise Pass; Dorothy Dillon; Ruth Matcha; Veronica Boyce; Sylvia Hulac; Mary Jean Campbell; Phyllis Hill; Betty Stover; Virginia Dixon; Mary Ann Pound; Patricia McNamara; and Marie Grieb.

In charge of arrangements were Betty Stover and Mary Ann Pound assisted by Rita Jeanne Schemel.

Gamma Eta Gamma Elects Officers for Coming Year

New officers of the Creighton law fraternity, Gamma Eta Gamma, elected at a meeting in the Paxton hotel, April 7, are: Chancellor, Joseph Shattery; vice-Chancellor, Edward Baburek; Raymond Fox, recorder; Stanley Rosewater, Judex; and Lane Koster, Quaestor.

Eugene O'Sullivan, prominent Omaha attorney, spoke to the gathering on "Criminal Law."

Banquet Tickets on Sale For Annual Pasteur Dance

The guest list of the Pasteur club spring formal at Hotel Paxton, May 7, has been extended to include all members of the faculty of the college of arts and sciences and professors' wives, according to Nell O'Halloran, UC 4, general dance chairman.

After a great deal of discussion, it was decided that men guests need not adhere to the customary formal attire.

The Creightonian erroneously quoted the price of banquet tickets at $2.50. These tickets will sell for $2.00. The price of dance tickets remains at $1.00. All tickets may be purchased from any member of the Pasteur club, from members of the Biology faculty, or directly at the Biology office.

Delta Sigma Pi Guests of Nebraska Chapter at Dance

Members of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity were guests of the Nebraska University chapter of the commerce fraternity at a dance in the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce building Saturday evening.

Following the dance members of both chapters and their dates attended a supper party at the Hotel Capital.

Alpha Chi Kappa Elects Lennahan New President

Robert Lennahan, A. 3, is the new president of Alpha Chi Kappa, national arts fraternity. Elections took place last week at the Student Union club rooms.

Other officers are: Richard Tierney, A. 3, vice president; Harry Ragen, A. 3, secretary; Clarence Stoffel, A. 2, treasurer; and William Parker, A. 3, Historian.

The fraternity will have their spring dance at the Blackstone hotel Saturday night. It will be informal and Irving-Rhodes orchestra will play for the dance.

Kappa Zeta Kappas to Give Dinner and Picnic in May

Formal pledging of Frances Tobin, UC 1, and Geraldine Lainson, UC 2, will precede the Kappa Zeta Kappa dinner at the Athletic club, Saturday night, May 7.

Pledging ceremonies will begin at 8 o'clock and the dinner will begin at 9:30 o'clock. Committee in charge is: Betty Dayton, C. 2; Jeannette Miller, C. 2; Alice Gallagher, L. 1; and Joan Finley, UC 4.

A night-club atmosphere will be carried out with tables seating four, with red and white checked table-cloths. Other decorations will be in red and white. Sorority members and their dates will be guests at the semi-formal party. Alumni have been invited to attend.

Because of interference with Marion night, the Kappa picnic will be held for sorority members only on May 15 and will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning. Araminta Bog, UC 2, is in charge of arrangements for the affair which will feature a chicken dinner at Plamore Park on the Platte River.

A committee on eligibility has been chosen from the seniors in the sorority to pass on nominees for offices. Elections will be held the first week in May to comply with Inter-Sorority council regulations.

Formal pledging at the dinner will be in charge of the president.

Senior Phi Rho Receive Keys from Fraternity

Outgoing senior members of Phi Rho Sigma, medical fraternity, were honored at a dinner-dance at the Elks club April 23. Keys were presented to the seniors by Dr. Ernest Kelly, professor in the school of medicine.

The dance was the annual spring formal given by the fraternity. Bobby Bowman and his orchestra played for the dance.

Receiving keys were: Bob Booher, Jack Parsons, Richard Honke, John Grabow, Paul Barnes, William Davey, John Erickson, Frank Gorishek, Joe Gross, James Hill, Carl Markarski, Elmo McClay, John Porter, John Rafter, Alroy West and Robert Mogan.

Faculty members attending the dance were: Dr. Kelly, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Schwertly, and Dr. and Mrs. W. J. McMartin. Alumni members included Dr. and Mrs. C. Hanson and Dr. and Mrs. Sam Coughlin.

Odds and Ends...

Odds and Ends—haw, was that a smoothie!... Lent's over and Whitey Gray can date again, which should be an item of interest to someone... but Nebraska U. found it out first... Surprises galore: Miss Matcha still clinging to the old tradition of "one alone"... Johnny Costello's date was the life of the party, but Costello didn't even appreciate it... the little so-journs into the gas stations on the way fro and back provided a few snickers from the out-side... Only trouble... that most of the idle chatter has a twinge of jealousy which might change things a little... anyway, everyone agrees on one point... It was a whale of a lot of fun.

Truscott Gives Girl A Break... Stuff and nonsense: Jack Saggau staying right on top until football season starts in... it has a bad effect on a lot of the men... from all appearances... Truscott sweating blood over the dispensation of his Tri-Lang ticket and finally breaking down himself... boy, is some gal getting the breaks!... Clem Goodhope who has moved his bed to the Music Box... maybe because he always knew that some day the place would wake up and get an orchestra instead of a couple of dishpans and a bazooka... Bob Tracy has decided to take up aviation because he has such a hard time keeping his feet on the ground... ditto Monsky, but that could be easily repaired if he'd take the cure... what's this about Don Dayton's two-ring circus?... he wants to fool the folks; but marriage is no joke, even when the ring was donated by Sebastian S. Kresge... or so 'tis rumored... Micky Mogan on Sunday eve Quote: "School is out from now on in" unquote... isn't it wonderful the little bits of wisdom that dribble from the lips of these medics?... Jim Hall has a reason for dropping back to Norfolk any time he gets a chance... these home town women have endurance plus, according to them what know... no wonder he can't be bothered with Creighton coeds... Hugh Fitzpatrick is muscling in on Farley's business... taking over the duties of professional postmaster... more thrills and heart throbs for the 5%...

Inter-Sorority Girls Get Pins

Beautiful Gowns Shine at Inter-Sorority Dance

Spring reared its romantic head and the girls at the first annual inter-sorority dance followed the signal.

Youthful cottons, billowy organdies and soft pastel colors reigned supreme. Springtime posies adorned practically every girl's hair. Bright sandals and open work shoes with gayly colored heels were predominant.

Helen Millister fitted into the season's whirly mood in her pink fitted dress with a skirt that swooped out at the bottom in yards and yards of crepe. At the throat she wore a corsage of pink carnations that matched her gown perfectly.

Genevieve Zahner played right into fashion's hands when she chose her white organdy dress with its bolero edged in gold braid and gold flowers set pertly on the top of her head. Olive Odoisio wore a blue and white polka dot taffeta gown. Her full swishy skirt rustled as she danced.

Outstanding in a brilliantly flowered cotton formal was Rita Dobe. The dress was made on simple lines with a merry-go-round flared skirt.

Elaine Dodson selected a Snow White coiffure. Her frock as of red dotted swiss with delicate clusters of gathers at the shoulders.

Rosemary Gaughan was her usual smart self in a red splashed flowered dress of paper tafeta. In contrast was demure Veronica Boyce. She wore a light blue organza formal that matched the color of her eyes.

Betty Dayton and Norma Knode both selected drop-shoulder formal. Betty's was a white satin piped in blue ribbon. Frothy black net with a full skirt was Norma's choice.

To complete her costume she donned a white embroidered organdy bolero.

Marion McClintock achieved an unstudied effect in a beautiful white net gown. Rows of tiny, fluffy, ruffles covered the skirt and bolero of her dress.

Especially attractive was Alice Gallagher's blue chiffon dress and Anne Schuetz' peach marquisette formal with its artiny blue bows down the side.

Pledges of Phi Chi Initiated

Certificates Given to Seniors in Honor of 4-Year Service

Seventy fraternity men and alumni attended the Phi Chi, medical fraternity, initiation ceremonies at the chapter house, on April 23.

Following the formal initiation, the eight freshmen, two sophomores and one junior pledged, joined the graduating seniors as guests at a banquet presented at the chapter house.

Fraternity certificates were awarded to graduating seniors in honor of their four years membership in Phi Chi.

Duchesne Plans Spring Dance

Freddy Ebener's orchestra will play at the Duchesne college formal May 6, it is announced today. Alice Slate is in charge of arrangements.

Council Reinstates Delta Sigs to "White List"

Delta Sigma Pi, national commerce fraternity, has been reinstated to the "white list" of approved fraternities on campus. This announcement was made by Lawrence Kott, C. 4, after unanimous vote of their favor taken at the Hellenic Council meeting April 11. The action was taken by the council with the full consent of the Rev. Charles Hayden, S. J., dean of men.

The fraternity was suspended in March after the month-long planned an "informal" gathering for St. Patrick's night without university sanction. They said they had thought the affair would not come under regular fraternity regulations.
