All part-time and non-Catholic coeds are invited to attend the retreat. Any girl who made the October voluntary retreat is also welcome to attend the sessions but is not obliged to do so.

Employment does not excuse those coeds who are obligated to make this retreat. Arrangements should be made with the employer for free time during the retreat. Attendance problems should be discussed with Mrs. Maurine Hamilton, dean of women.

Attendance will be taken at each session.

The daily order of the retreat will be as follows:

Fr. Malone, Regis, Surveys 25 at CU For Faculty Study

The Rev. John Malone, S. J., who is working toward his doctorate degree in educational administration at the University of Minnesota, was at Creighton from March 12 to 15 in connection with his degree work.

Father Malone is engaged in interviewing 25 faculty members at 10 different Jesuit Colleges between Denver and Cleveland, and Milwaukee and Cincinnati.

He is concerned with the procurement of the faculty members, how they were orientated to school and their place in departmental work and on school committees.

All students who wish to attend the Rio Grande game at Boys Town must turn in their no. 12 tickets in the student activity book. In return for these tickets they will receive a student pass.

Creighton to House Annual Speech Meet

Creighton university will be host to approximately 150 entrants in the annual forensic meet of the Nebraska Schools Activities Association tomorrow. This second district meet of the state association includes schools from Omaha and the surrounding area. The meet, which will last all day, is scheduled to begin at 8 a. m.

Edwin Puls, professor of speech, is in charge of the meet for the fourth consecutive year. Mr. Puls will be assisted by members of the Creighton faculty who will act as judges for the various events.

Mr. Puls stressed that while the tournament is composed of high school participants, Creighton students are invited to attend any of the sessions.

The various fields of the tournament will be highlighted by the presentation of 10 one act plays. The plays will begin at 8:30 and run consecutively until their completion. Plays include such one act selections as "Joint Owners in Spain," "Spring Formal," and "Fog on the Valley."

Other fields of competition include discussion, radio newscasting, original oratory, humorous declamation, oratorical declamation, dramatic declamation, poetry reading, and extemporaneous speaking.

The participating schools include teams of both class A and class B rank. Although these two classes are sometimes separated for competition, there will be only one class at the tournament Saturday. According to NSAA rules, however, the contestants will be ranked by individual ability rather than by competitive standards.

The complete schedule of events, times and places is listed on page four in this week's issue.

Pharmacy Supervises Exhibit

Pharmacy as "A Profession for You" was the theme of the exhibit sponsored by the Omaha Pharmaceutical association and displayed at the 1954 centennial exhibit, "Career Opportunities unlimited." The exhibit was at the Omaha university field house March 15 through 19. It was co-sponsored by the downtown Kiwanis club and Omaha university. Care of the booth was given to the Creighton university and supervised by Dean William A. Jarett.

The exhibit was designed to give the high school and college student an insight into the various fields of pharmacy.

Under the large pharmacy symbol "RX" and a huge white paper mache mortar and pestle, the various aspects of pharmaceutical pursuits were displayed.

Along the walls of the exhibit the history and advances of pharmacy through the ages are depicted in the oil paintings by George A. Thom, and made available for the exhibit by the Parke-Davis company.

Also featured in the exhibit pictured above, is a series of signs showing the different fields and branches of pharmaceutical work.

Among these are the retail pharmacist (which would include about 80 per cent of registered pharmacists in our country today), hospital pharmacists, pharmaceutical and manufacturers' representatives, research pharmacists, teachers, chemists for manufacturing and chemical houses, laboratory workers for drug manufacturers and other related branches of this profession.

Pharmacy students and members of the Pharmacy association cared for the exhibit during the week. Gene Johnsen, instructor of window display at Creighton, designed the booth.

A native of Omaha, Bloomingtondale was graduated from Creighton Prep, received a B. S. C. degree from the Creighton commerce school, and plans to receive his law degree in June.

Bloomingtondale intends to obtain his Master of Law degree at Michigan under the fellowship award.

a way of love

All over the U. S. and the rest of the world this week, the Catholic Press is going all out, pastors are preaching from pulpits, nuns and brothers are teaching the topic of the week, the problem of vocations.

The technique and ingenuity applied to popularizing the idea of religious vocations has been perfected, for the problem has been getting worse. It seems that the layman has a tendency to dive for the nearest bomb shelter at the slightest mention of "vocations," lest he be intimidated or coerced into joining a religious order or raising his life to the highest task a human can perform, that of serving God directly.

Let's face facts, as someone once said. There just aren't enough priests and religious. It's probably because of a faulty sense of values accumulated as Christ's earthly existence has sunk farther into the past. But too often we forget that Christ has not really left us, and He commissioned us to give to others our living Faith of joy and happiness.

It's true that giving all the time isn't great fun; we like to receive, materially. Only love can prompt us to give continually throughout our lifetimes, without ostensibly receiving. And that is why love of God is the only real reason why we would give up our material pleasures, for love is not happy unless expressed.

For those called to this direct expression of love of God, then, a rejection of the religious life is a shunning of the way of life that would make them most happy. During Vocation Week, let us examine our true selves and our reasons for choosing the courses of life we have chosen, lest by injudiciousness, we should miss out on our proper ways of life.

A Chain of Life

By Melvin Koer, A1

Every animal has its natural enemy. This is Mother Nature's way of controlling her subjects. Otherwise we would be overrun by such pests as flies, bugs, and rats. It would be a miserable world if there were no cats to eat mice, no birds to eat grasshoppers, and no hawks to eat snakes. Animal eat animal is referred to as "The Chain of Life" by Beebe in his essay, "A Chain of Jungle Life."

I witnessed such a chain one summer day while fishing in a small stream in central South Dakota. The stream was about five feet wide with tall grass hanging into the edge of the water. It was deep enough so the bottom couldn't be seen, but shallow enough for one to see various types of fish moving around. While I was sprawled on the bank waiting for a bite, a small frog emerged and crawled laboriously along the edge of the grass. Not far from him a small dragonfly was buzzing around a flower. For some strange reason the fly hovered within a short distance of the frog; and with the speed of lightning, the frog jumped and snared the fly with his long pink tongue making a beautiful dive into the water. When the frog was still in mid-air there appeared a grey streak from the opposite bank. The instant the frog hit the water the streak was upon him. A loud splash followed, and I glimpsed a middle-sized catfish streaking away. Here were three links in Nature's chain.

Student Counselor

By the Rev. Francis G. Degiman, S. J.

He came from royal lineage, yet spent his life in the common walk of men. He held the highest place of trust, yet earned his livelihood as a common artisan. He died scarcely known beyond the village circle where he had lived, yet for centuries his name has remained familiar in the homes of thousands upon thousands.

He was a man of exceptional personality—human and kind and humble, and winning, yet of stout heart and unswerving will. He was a "just" man in whom the traits of every virtue developed into full strength.

Today throughout the Christian world his statue is found in every place where the name of his Virgin Spouse is honored and the teaching of his Foster-Child have touched the hearts of men. Most frequently he is represented with the lily staff in his hand to indicate the purity of his life, or in his workshop as the patron of all who make their living by the laborious work of their hands.

An entire month is dedicated to his honor. It is as though the humble carpenter of Nazareth would claim the love and devotion of the Christian heart not only on a festive day but each day and hour in the family circle and in the factory and firm and all the circles of civic and social life.

Has he not been rightly called "the Father of the Poor, the Patron of the Home, the Helper of the Working Classes, the Inspiration of the Married Life?" Has he not proven himself the solace for many in their humble lot of life to bring hope and joy and peace into the family? Has he not befriended the jobless, the hard-pressed, the poverty stricken, often indeed, as countless incidents have proven, in most astounding fashion?

Even in the hour of death his powerful intercession has brought comfort and courage and holy resignation to Divine Providence, for he is also the Patron of the Dying.

If we model ourselves in our life of duty even from school days on this great man, this man of duty and action and obedience to God's Will, we can make our lives sublime. We will fill our post. We will be men as home and community and country needs them. The tasks we do may seem insignificant in the eyes of some. In reality they are tasks of heroism.

March is the month of this great man, St. Joseph. March 19th is his special feast. On this day Mass will be offered for your fathers and your homes. May God bless your father and help him and keep him, to be another St. Joseph in the home. And may a prayer of thanksgiving be in every student's heart for the grand gift of God to you—your father—on this feast of the great St. Joseph.

Something Borrowed . . . Nothing New

By Grimace & Bury It

Coed to another: What would you rather have in a man, intelligence, money or appearance?

Other: Appearance, and never too soon for me.

Student: I don't think I earned that F.

Prof: I don't either, but it's the lowest mark I could give.

Grimace: Do you file your nails?

Bury It: Naw, I just throw them away when I've cut them off.

A note to the fellas: You can tell a girl that time stops when you look into her face, but don't tell her it stops a clock.

A hypochondriac is one who can't leave being well enough alone.

Grimace: How come you're not on the debate team?

Bury It: Th-they s-said I w-was t-too S-short!

Mother: Junior! Don't use such bad words!

Junior: Shakespeare uses them . . .

Mother: Well, then don't play with him anymore.

Frustrated policeman to chief: Chief, we've been giving that ventriloquist the third degree for several hours now, and the sergeant, two plainclothesmen and a reporter confessed to the crime. Should we keep going?

Cub reporter cutting out wordiness: "John H. Smith looked up the shaft at the James hotel this morning to see if the elevator was coming down. It was. Aged 25."

cries and replies

Dear editor,

One of the accepted characteristics of the present day newspaper is that what it publishes is usually geared to fit the interests and backgrounds of as many readers as possible. The general college newspaper usually carries a variety of scholastic material. In the college pages, putting as many ideas as possible into one sentence and as many sentences as possible into one paragraph in one literary article results in an unbalanced "make-up." If such a thing is to be done at all, the style should be universal. In the case of the Creightonian, it makes the washing hang cockeyed. Individual periodical standards provide the "rule of the thumb." Thus, a critical essay dealing with a literary topic has no more reason to be "more literary" than a philosophical essay dealing with a literary topic. The mind which reads page one should tend to desire to read and absorb page fifty if a periodical is to be effective. If they so desire, the readers of the New York Times are generally able to do this. Conflicting styles do not, in any way, make things burdensome for Time readers.

I do not think that a college newspaper is an exception to the rule of the field. It too must be geared to fit the interests and backgrounds of the general reader (general student) if it is to be really effective. It should give students just as much consideration as the Wall Street Journal gives Wall street. The classes of students labeled "A3" and "A4" should not be appealed to any more than students labeled "P3" and "C4." Journalistic "consideration" implies editing in all departments . . . if not in the form of re-writing, then at least in the form of creation of standards. The standards should be formulated on the basis of appeal to as many categories of college levels as possible. To frustrate this purpose terminates in mere "space padding," lack of appeal, and in a general lack of interest stimulation.

Reds Use World Of Showbusiness Also

Fifth in a series of articles on communism.

The principle aim of the communist party for 1954 is to make communism more acceptable to the people. What better way to accomplish this aim than by infiltrating the entertainment world of America.

A recently released film entitled "The Greatest Love" is now being shown at many neighborhood theaters.

Alton Cook, drama critic, of the New York World Telegram, had this to say about "The Greatest Love":

"Roberto Rossellini (producer of the film) has turned out another of his overwrought hysterical films . . . at a couple of points the film takes time out for some indirect, but strong praise for the motives which underlie communist thinking. An avowed comrade in the story is given repeated opportunity to expound the party line, including anti-American propaganda. Miss Bergman is cast as a mother who goes into a state of severe shock when her neglected small son kills himself. She seeks escape from her feelings of guilt by going into slum sections under communist guidance and helping other unfortunates. During the worst part of her trouble, her communist friend was the only member of her circle treating her with understanding and compassion . . . Rossellini has made a modern parable explaining the belief that purely unselfish Christian actions are no longer acceptable to the world."

The Daily Worker praised Miss Bergman's performance as wholesome and sincere.

Alexander Knox, the male lead in the picture, has a long list of activities in communist organizations. Present reports state that he is still highly active in communist circles.

There may be a few who remember Knox's portrayal of Woodrow Wilson, in the picture of the same name.

Other members of the entertainment world have been linked to communism.

The California committee on Subversive Activities reports that Abe Burrows was linked to communist activities in 1948. Burrows is at present directing the Broadway hit "Can Can."

Burl Ives is another star who has been associated with the communists. Ives is the sponsor of People's Songs Incorporated, which has been cited as a communist front organization by the California committee.

Our Slip Is Showing!!

The name of Dr. Leo T. Heywood was inadvertently omitted from the list of participants in the American College of Surgeons sectional meeting last week.

Dr. Heywood, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology, presented a paper on Monday, March 1, at a symposium for gynecologists.

New Books in Library

One of the new books in the library is the Catholic Book Club selection of the month, "A Doctor at Calvary" by Pierre Barbet, M. D. Another addition is "Roman Gaul" by Olwen Brogan.

Girls—Take Advantage Of Six Week Vacation

Capt. Margaret L. O'Neill of the Women's Marine corps will visit Creighton on March 25 and 26 to complete the enlistment of any women students who are interested in attending the Women's Officers Training Class at Quantico, Va., this summer.

This summer program consists of two six-week courses open to one hundred college girls from all over the country. When the girls receive their college degrees, they are offered a commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps reserve.

Up until the time that they graduate, every woman has the privilege of dropping from the course without any further obligation to the Corps.

Transportation is paid back to their homes and they are returned to a complete civilian status.

Capt. O'Neill will be available for interviews in one of the parlors or in the snack bar during these two days.

Dental Dept. Heads to Indiana March 20

Cimino, a faculty member of the dental school will attend a meeting of the American association of dental schools in Frenchlick, Indiana. The meeting will be held March 20 to 24.

Bloodmobile at CU On March 29, 30

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Creighton university gym March 29 and 30.

Students wishing to donate blood will be contacted during class periods next week. Those who signed an appointment card last fall and were unable to keep the appointment are asked to donate at this time.

Students under 21 years of age must obtain a written permission from their parents to be eligible for blood donation. The minimum age requirement to donate blood is 18.

George Harkness, director of the regional blood program, said the need for blood is more urgent than it has been for months. Blood is still urgently needed for hospitalized veterans and other patients. Blood donations have dropped considerable from lack of war-time glamour. The result is a shortage in the present blood supply.

Creighton still holds the high record for blood donations in the midwest area.

Robert Reilly, director of public relations at Creighton, said, "The number of blood donations at Creighton is used as a yard stick for other donating groups. We would like to maintain or better our present standing."

The Red Cross looks to institutions like Creighton for assistance. They have this to say about Creighton:

"You have done wonderfully well by us and your fellow Americans in the past. We have no doubts that the next blood drive will be equally successful."

Blues' Riflers Lose Match

The Creighton rifle team was last in a triangle match on the hilltop range last Thursday night. Despite a real sharp night at the firing line by the entire team the Blues were out gunned by the near perfect shooting of the Omaha Rifle club and Omaha University.

The final tabulations had the Rifle club out in front with an 1,880. Omaha U. followed with a total of 1,859 and the Jays blazed away for an 1,833 score.

Leading the Blues riflemen were Jim Mills with a 376 and Don Bauer with a 373. Other scores were Vampola—366, Staley—360 and Suddick—358.

The Jays scheduled participation in the Nebraska University tournament last Saturday was canceled due to hazardous road conditions between here and Lincoln.

Gradoville. The yearlings made their undefeated way through a twelve-game schedule. Congratulations Paul and company for your fine basketballing throughout the 1953-54 season.

Catholic teams participating in the post season tournaments broke even during the past week. Holy Cross bowled over top-seeded Duquesne, 71-62, to cop the NIT crown and St. Benedict's was in a class all by themselves walking off with the NAIA prize in Kansas City.

Tourney losses were suffered by favored Notre Dame, who was staggered by unheralded Penn State at the NCAA in Iowa City and Santa Clara who dropped a double overtime dilly to the Trojans of Southern California in another NCAA quarterfinals.

I have been so busy filing all-American teams that I forgot to file my income tax. See you next week—I hope.

Delts, Led By Gradoville, Squeeze by Phi Rho 32-30

Three games were played in the Inter Frat league Monday night.

After a tight first half Delta Sigma Pi pulled away from Phi Chi and walked off with a 50-30 win. Don Dicus kept the Medics in contention during the early milling with a 10-point blast but Pat Nipp's deadly shooting gave the commerce club a 26-19 lead at intermission.

The Phi Chi machine cooled in the last session as they could manage only 11 points. Nipp, Ken Stangel and Earl McMillin contributed to the winners' last half surge with a 22-point production.

Nipp Hits

Big gun for the commerce quint was Nipp who totaled 19. Stangel followed with 12 counters. Dicus had 11 points for the doctors' vain cause.

A dandy dentist five squeaked by a fired up Phi Rho team, 32-30. Delta Sigma Delta was led by Paul Gradoville who pumped in 13 points. The rough and tumble contest featured free throws for the asking and eventually told the story of the game. Howard Poepel sparked the losing medics with a 15-point effort. Bouncing Bill Boardman threw in 12 in Phi Rho's futile victory bid.

Overtime Thriller

Monday night's final game was a thrilling overtime affair that went to the Delta Theta Phi over a hard fighting Phalanx five, 43-40.

The lawyers looped in 24 points in the first half barrage to build up a seven-point lead. The Phalanx came flying back in the second round and finally caught up in the waning moments.

However, in the overtime session the lawyers overcame their stubborn rivals and salvaged a 43-40 win.

Seidl and Connell paced the victors with 11 points each. John O'Malley of the losers tucked away 15 markers for his night's work.

Fast Start

In All Star league action The Potshots outlasted a hurrying bunch of Philistines to grab a 32-26 decision. The winners were off to a flying start as they rolled to a 15-5 halftime lead.

The Philistines flurried in the last half as they hammered home 21 points while the Shots were managing only 17, however the rally fell short.

The victorious quint was pepped by Frohlick's 13 counters. For the fast finishing losers Halbur pumped in 8 points, all in the last half.

Another All Star contest was postponed by a forfeit. The Cueballs were the winners over the CUPA in this abbreviated game.

Belated Rio Grande Visit Set For Boystown Tuesday Night

Barring another sprained ankle, or not being able to get a basketball shoe over Bevo's tape supported pins, Creighton is going to get to see the "scoring wonder" Tuesday, March 23.

Every assurance has been made that Bevo will be back in form for his appearance in the Boys Town arena. He was held to 50 points in two nights in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City. Duce Belford, who was at the games, claimed that the high scoring star was seriously hobbled by his injury.

The following are thumbnail sketches of the Rio Grande team.

Coach Oliver

John "Newt" Oliver led the nation in scoring during the 1947-48 season with 725 points while playing for Rio Grande. He held the all-time free throw record with 291 points until broken by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle. He was named to the All-Midwest and made the honorable mention All-America. Oliver has coached four years and has compiled an 89-15 record up to this season.

Bevo Francis

Bevo played one year of high school basket ball in which he scored 776 points in 25 games. He received the Helms Athletic Foundation Award for outstanding basketball achievement, and was named to just about every All-Ohio team.

Playing his first year for Rio Grande he averaged 50.1 points through 39 games for an overall total of 1954. He was selected to the U.P. Second Team All-America, the A.P. Third Team All-America and First Team "Little" All-America.

Dick Barr

Dick Barr, sophomore, was given honorable mention on the All-Ohio high school team. During the 1952-53 season at Rio Grande, he scored 353 points, hitting at a 448 clip. He stands 6'2".

Jack Gosset

Another sophomore letterman, Jack played high school basketball at Holy Family in Ashland, Kentucky. He was named to the All-District team during his last two years. Information on his record at Rio is limited.

Jim McKenzie

Another one of the sophomore lettermen of Rio Grande, Jim McKenzie played high school ball in Kentucky where he made the All-State team. Said to be a good ball handler, he is one of the main feeders to the team's "scoring star."

Roy Moses

Roy Moses was listed as third highest in assists last season with a total of 144. He hit a free throw average of .786. He was second in the scoring department with a 11.6 average in 39 games during last year's season. He is a junior.

Bill Ripperger

Bill played high school ball in Cincinnati and was named to the All-City team his senior year. In his senior year at Rio Grande he is considered as the most improved player on the squad.

Wayne Wiseman

Last season Wayne Wiseman led the nation in field goal percentage with a .629. He was named the most valuable player on the squad on the basis of assists.

Nebraska Lad

The youngest player on the squad is Don Vyhnaek from Crete, Nebraska. Don was named to the All-State class B squad his senior year.

Bluejay Baseballers To Start Practice

Creighton's baseball aspirants will begin official workouts next Tuesday at 5 p. m. The practice session will be held outdoors if the weather permits, otherwise the initial practice will be in the gym.

Athletic Director, Duce Belford said that anyone interested in baseball is welcome to try out for the Bluejay nine.

Athletic Office Calls For Team Entries

All entries for intramural softball, tennis and golf are now being taken at the Athletic office. These entries must be turned in at the office by March 29, in order to make teams eligible for intramural competition.

Bevo!

Fans who plan to attend the Creighton-Rio Grande contest cannot use their activity books to gain admittance to the game next Tuesday at Boys Town.

In order to utilize your activity book you must exchange ticket number 12 for a student ticket. These tickets are now available in all the schools and at the athletic office. Exchanges must be made by Monday noon.

Spats Roll to Three Wins in Student Loop

The floundering Spatulas unleashed a terrific assault Sunday afternoon to trample the Gutter Rats in three straight games. The Student Bowling league cellar dwellers picked up ground with their trio of surprising wins. However they still retain a firm foothold in the last place rung.

VIP's Hold

The VIP's turned back a pressing Tripple Arms team in a two out of three set to continue their first place monopoly. Larry Halbur's 502 series was the bright spot in the winners' attack. The losing "Arms" put together a high game of 672 to prevent a clean sweep.

The hot and cold Holey Rollers were the spoilers Sunday as they trimmed second place Agony Hall twice. The loss due stopped the Hall's bid for the league pinnacle.

In grabbing these two wins the Rollers avoided sliding into last place, thereby preserving the Spatulas honor of lone occupancy.

Skids Win

The fifth place Skids ended their losing ways of the past few weeks by pounding the Pinheads in two out of three on the glazed alleys.

The Skids managed their victories despite some fancy rolling by Bob Kozal who fired a 199 game and a 510 series for the rouged up Pinheads.

The Goofballs bowled coolly and consistently to submerge the blue Pacific bowlers, the Hui-O-Hawaii in two games. The wins kept the Goofball gathering in the number four spot and assured the islanders of a seventh place home.

Highs for Sunday's sets were: High team series, Skids, 1834; Team game, Tripple Arms, 672; Individual game, Bernie Bogatz, 218; Individual series, Bogatz, 517.

Three games were played in the Inter Frat league Monday night. After a tight first half Delta Sigma Pi pulled away from Phi Chi and walked off with a 50-30 win. Don Dicus kept the Medics in contention during the early milling with a 10-point blast but Pat Nipp's deadly shooting gave the commerce club a 26-19 lead at intermission.

The Phi Chi machine cooled in the last session as they could manage only 11 points. Nipp, Ken Stangel and Earl McMillin contributed to the winners' last half surge with a 22-point production.

Nipp Hits
 Big gun for the commerce quint was Nipp who totaled 19. Stangel followed with 12 counters. Dicus had 11 points for the doctors' vain cause.

A dandy dentist five squeaked by a fired up Phi Rho team, 32-30. Delta Sigma Delta was led by Paul Gradoville who pumped in 13 points. The rough and tumble contest featured free throws for the asking and eventually told the story of the game. Howard Poepel sparked the losing medics with a 15-point effort. Bouncing Bill Boardman threw in 12 in Phi Rho's futile victory bid.

Overtime Thriller
 Monday night's final game was a thrilling overtime affair that went to the Delta Theta Phi over a hard fighting Phalanx five, 43-40. The lawyers looped in 24 points in the first half barrage to build up a seven-point lead. The Phalanx came flying back in the second round and finally caught up in the waning moments.

However, in the overtime session the lawyers overcame their stubborn rivals and salvaged a 43-40 win.

Seidl and Connell paced the victors with 11 points each. John O'Malley of the losers tucked away 15 markers for his night's work.

Fast Start
 In All Star league action The Potshots outlasted a hurrying bunch of Philistines to grab a 32-26 decision. The winners were off to a flying start as they rolled to a 15-5 halftime lead.

The Philistines flurried in the last half as they hammered home 21 points while the Shots were managing only 17, however the rally fell short.

The victorious quint was pepped by Frohlich's 13 counters. For the fast finishing losers Halbur pumped in 8 points, all in the last half.

Another All Star contest was postponed by a forfeit. The Cueballs were the winners over the CUPA in this abbreviated game.

Belated Rio Grande Visit Set For Boystown Tuesday Night

Barring another sprained ankle, or not being able to get a basketball shoe over Bevo's tape supported pins, Creighton is going to get to see the "scoring wonder" Tuesday, March 23.

Every assurance has been made that Bevo will be back in form for his appearance in the Boys Town arena. He was held to 50 points in two nights in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City. Duce Belford, who was at the games, claimed that the high scoring star was seriously hobbled by his injury.

The following are thumbnail sketches of the Rio Grande team.

Coach Oliver
 John "Newt" Oliver led the nation in scoring during the 1947-48 season with 725 points while playing for Rio Grande. He held the all-time free throw record with 291 points until broken by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle. He was named to the All-Midwest and made the honorable mention All-America. Oliver has coached four years and has compiled an 89-15 record up to this season.

Bevo Francis
 Bevo played one year of high school basket ball in which he scored 776 points in 25 games. He received the Helms Athletic Foundation Award for outstanding basketball achievement, and was named to just about every All-Ohio team.

Playing his first year for Rio Grande he averaged 50.1 points through 39 games for an overall total of 1954. He was selected to the U.P. Second Team All-America, the A.P. Third Team All-America and First Team "Little" All-America.

Dick Barr
 Dick Barr, sophomore, was given honorable mention on the All-Ohio high school team. During the 1952-53 season at Rio Grande, he scored 353 points, hitting at a 448 clip. He stands 6'2".

Jack Gosset
 Another sophomore letterman, Jack played high school basketball at Holy Family in Ashland, Kentucky. He was named to the All-District team during his last two years. Information on his record at Rio is limited.

Jim McKenzie
 Another one of the sophomore lettermen of Rio Grande, Jim McKenzie played high school ball in Kentucky where he made the All-State team. Said to be a good ball handler, he is one of the main feeders to the team's "scoring star."

Roy Moses
 Roy Moses was listed as third highest in assists last season with a total of 144. He hit a free throw average of .786. He was second in the scoring department with a 11.6 average in 39 games during last year's season. He is a junior.

Bill Ripberger
 Bill played high school ball in Cincinnati and was named to the All-City team his senior year. In his senior year at Rio Grande he is considered as the most improved player on the squad.

Wayne Wiseman
 Last season Wayne Wiseman led the nation in field goal percentage with a .629. He was named the most valuable player on the squad on the basis of assists.

Nebraska Lad
 The youngest player on the squad is Don Vyhnalek from Crete, Nebraska. Don was named to the All-State class B squad his senior year.

Bluejay Baseballers To Start Practice

Creighton's baseball aspirants will begin official workouts next Tuesday at 5 p. m. The practice session will be held outdoors if the weather permits, otherwise the initial practice will be in the gym.

Athletic Director, Duce Belford said that anyone interested in baseball is welcome to try out for the Bluejay nine.

Athletic Office Calls For Team Entries

All entries for intramural softball, tennis and golf are now being taken at the Athletic office. These entries must be turned in at the office by March 29, in order to make teams eligible for intramural competition.

Spatas Roll to Three Wins in Student Loop

The floundering Spatulas unleashed a terrific assault Sunday afternoon to trample the Gutter Rats in three straight games. The Student Bowling league cellar dwellers picked up ground with their trio of surprising wins. However they still retain a firm foothold in the last place rung.

VIP's Hold
 The VIP's turned back a pressing Tripple Arms team in a two out of three set to continue their first place monopoly. Larry Halbur's 502 series was the bright spot in the winners' attack. The losing "Arms" put together a high game of 672 to prevent a clean sweep.

The hot and cold Holey Rollers were the spoilers Sunday as they trimmed second place Agony Hall twice. The loss due stopped the Hall's bid for the league pinnacle.

In grabbing these two wins the Rollers avoided sliding into last place, thereby preserving the Spatulas honor of lone occupancy.

Skids Win
 The fifth place Skids ended their losing ways of the past few weeks by pounding the Pinheads in two out of three on the glazed alleys.

The Skids managed their victories despite some fancy rolling by Bob Kozal who fired a 199 game and a 510 series for the roughed up Pinheads.

The Goofballs bowled coolly and consistently to submerge the blue Pacific bowlers, the Hui-O-Hawaii in two games. The wins kept the Goofball gathering in the number four spot and assured the islanders of a seventh place home.

Highs for Sunday's sets were: High team series, Skids, 1834; Team game, Tripple Arms, 672; Individual game, Bernie Bogatz, 218; Individual series, Bogatz, 517.

Quarter exams have begun! Ugh! Again CU professors are composing little monuments to memory and placing them before the bleary-eyed student who has as usual put off studying till the last minute.

Top topics around campus are the picking of the cast for the spring play and which of the profs is a liberal grader.

St. Pat's day has come and gone. It is almost certain that if good St. Patrick could have seen some of the shenanigans that were going on he would have spun around in his grave. 'Tis a sad note, but it always seems that there are a few who must turn a good thing into something not so good.

Those who knew Jack Shannon must have felt slightly more than proud when they read the account of his part in the Korean war in last week's Creightonian.

Better Interracial Cooperation Goal Of Recent Visitor

Mrs. Rosa P. Welch, a representative of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, visited Creighton as part of her mid-western tour last Monday. Mrs. Welch is in Omaha to promote understanding and interracial cooperation.

While at Creighton, Mrs. Welch visited several classes and spoke briefly to the students of her recent seven and a half month world tour. The tour, which was centered particularly in the near and far east and Africa, was made as promotion for human relations, the field in which Mrs. Welch has worked for the past several years.

Mrs. Welch cited the universal hospitality of the people of the world as the most outstanding aspect of her tour. She went on to people of the United States might add that it is a quality which the well emulate as a means of personal enrichment and as a defense against the appeal of Communism.

Mrs. Welch, who is a native of Mississippi but has lived in Chicago, Ill., for the past several years, attended Chicago university where she majored in voice and music.

Warren's Orientation Talk On Abe Open to All Students

Dr. Louis A. Warren will deliver an address on Abraham Lincoln at next week's orientation. This session is open to any Creighton student who is free from 11 a. m. to noon on Tuesday. The Lincoln speech will be given in the auditorium.

Dr. Warren's topic is "The Importance of Lincoln's Formative Years." Dr. Warren has made many discoveries which give authenticity to all he says about Abraham Lincoln. He has been surrounded by Lincoln environment throughout his life.

The interest which Dr. Warren has in Lincoln began in Worcester, Mass., where he received his elementary education. Several relatives of Lincoln had resided in Massachusetts and Lincoln had visited a number of them.

In 1909, Dr. Warren entered Transylvania university at Lexington, Ky. Thus, he came more in contact with Lincoln since this was Lincoln's home state and the school was the alma mater of Jefferson Davis, the president of the Confederacy. Mary Todd received her early education in a school near the college campus.

World War I saw Dr. Warren the editor of "Larue County Herald" in Hodgenville, Ky., near the birthplace of Lincoln. Here he started his research on Lincoln's early life. His investigations were continued when he moved to Elizabethtown, Ky., the first home of Lincoln's parents. Warren wrote the book, "Lincoln's Parentage and Childhood," which is the first to give a thorough documentary study of this field.

Interviews of many of the descendants of Lincoln's contemporaries were made during a three year period that Warren lived near Indiana country. Later, Warren moved to Indianapolis to make an exhaustive study of the Indiana environment of the Lincolns as revealed in the archives of the state capitol.

Warren had a speaking series in Northern Indiana which were sponsored by the president of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company, Fort Wayne. Shortly following this, he became director of the Lincoln National Life foundation which was established in 1928 by the insurance company. Warren has made a collection which is contained in the company's building which is the largest collection of literature ever assembled in one place about one man.

TU National Field Secretary Visits Creighton's Chapter

Miss Julia Ann Gilmer is in Omaha to instruct the pledge class for the Creighton university Mu Alpha chapter of Theta Upsilon, national social sorority.

Miss Gilmer is the national field secretary of the sorority. She will give instruction to the alumnae and college groups on the history and tradition of Theta Upsilon.

Miss Gilmer has had the full-time job of field secretary for almost two years. During this time she has traveled some 26,000 miles for the sorority to visit chapters throughout the United States. College chapters from New Hampshire to UCLA have been on her itinerary.

The field secretary's job is to visit established chapters to check on their progress and help solve their problems. She also assists in the preparation of new chapters such as the Mu Alpha chapter at Creighton. Miss Gilmer has also interviewed several college and university administrators in an investigation of the field for possible new sorority chapters.

A new field secretary will be appointed by the seven major national officers of Theta Upsilon at the convention this June at Wentworth-by-the-Sea in Portsmouth, New Hamp. The tenure of office of the national field secretary is two years.

Miss Gilmer was graduated from Birmingham-Southern college in Birmingham, Ala., in 1951 with a major in French. There she was president of the Xi chapter of Theta Upsilon. She was affiliated with Phi Sigma Iota, national honorary romance language group, and Mu Alpha, music honor organization. She was elected to Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary group.

She took part in many of the college plays and musicals. She sang in a local civic choral group named the Hugh Thomas chorus. She traveled to New York with this group when it gave a perform-

During her college days, Miss Gilmer was society editor of the school paper and editor of the school annual, "Southern Accent." She had the honor of being listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Being like many college students, Miss Gilmer found herself short of money shortly before her senior year of school. She entered the Miss Alabama contest in hopes of winning the scholarship to Birmingham-Southern. She was runner-up to the winner and won the scholarship which paid her expenses during her senior year. That year Miss Alabama was also Miss America.

Darling Voted Most Valuable in League

Chuck Darling of the Phillips Oilers was voted the most valuable player in the National Industrial Basketball League for the 1953-54 season.

The league's eight coaches participated in the voting. Darling, the former University of Iowa ace, was also the league's top scorer.

Creighton fans remember the graceful giant from his Dec. 19 appearance at the Jays' gym. In that game he poured in 17 points and led the Oilers to a victory over the Blues.
