Newspapers fight for right

"Your newspaper fights for your right to know."

That was the slogan for a National Newspaper promotion some years ago.

We'd like to extend that a little—to include the radio-TV business. Nearly everyone in the news field considers it his moral obligation to fight for right—especially freedom of the press.

Let's cite a few examples:

A letter written by the chairman of the Right to Know Committee of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors was largely instrumental in opening up the controversy over "closed-door" hearings in New York City.

Chairman Benjamin H. Carroll of the White Plains Reporter-Dispatch wrote to Mayor Wagner of New York City and complained about the hearings of the Board of Responsibility of the city which were not open to the public and the press.

The board had recently spent a large sum of money to purchase fire fighting equipment for the City of New York, which turned out to be defective.

Hearings were held—behind closed doors. Hence the gripe of the press.

The letter produced results. Gov. Averell

Harriman has gone on record as opposing "closed-door government" and said he would continue to fight against it in Albany.

In many points around the country, the press is finding its freedom violated in courtroom after courtroom. Many judges refuse to allow photographers into courtrooms to record the proceedings pictorially. The excuse is generally that it "would hamper the trial."

The same goes for recording or taking notes in a courtroom. Many members of the judicial profession feel it a hindrance if a microphone or camera is evident.

However, these same judges have, for the most part, failed to see any difference between the man who uses a large camera with a bright flash for lighting and the photographer who can, thanks to the progress of modern photography, sit in a balcony and photograph the goings-on with a telephoto lens—sans flash.

And who is it fighting for the repeal of this suppression of right? It's the newspaper, it's the radio station, the television station.

Constantly, incessantly, the newspaper fights for your right to know!

Fraternities, sororities puzzle students

By DICK CHAMP

Associate Sports Editor

What advantages or disadvantages do campus sororities and fraternities offer to Creighton students? That was the question put to students this week.

Jill James, Arts 4th year: "The whole thing is relative."

Bob Decker, Law 3rd year: "Advantages are closer social contact working for ideals which the particular sorority or fraternity stands for."

Grant Rice, A4: "Can't see any advantage in sororities, even social, but fraternities usually offer job placement services for graduates."

Geri Suiter, A4: "Can't see any advantage in fraternities but I'm in favor of sororities."

Rosemary Suiter, A2: "I'm in favor of fraternities."

Dick Rasmussen, Pharmacy 4th year: "Sororities and fraternities show the character of the school. The more active students in a school belong to either a frat or a sorority and they show, by their action, school spirit."

Herbert von Rusten, Dentistry 2nd year: "Disadvantages of sororities and fraternities are their segregation of boys from girls, and I am opposed to segregation."

Joe Hanlin, D2: "I agree with Herb."

Bob Bray, Business Administration 1st year: "They help you meet people who can help you after graduation."

Chuck Forhan, BA4: "The professional fraternity affords limitless opportunities for the leaders of tomorrow. I say they're here to stay."

Tom Ferguson, BA3: "You become acquainted with all kinds of people in a fraternity. It gives one more of a feeling that he belongs in the school."

Sue McGrath, BA2: "Sororities give students an opportunity to know each other better."

Terry MacNamara, A3: "Social sororities are at a disadvantage due to the lack of social fraternities."

Terrie Urzendowski, A4: "Sororities foster lasting friendships, provide an opportunity to learn responsibility and help people to get along better."

Sam Curo, BA4: "A professional brings together people with the same interests promotes social leadership and stimulates professional interest."

Kay Muldoon, A4: "Sororities and fraternities usually provide a well rounded social and scholastic life as well as provide responsibility and cooperation in their members."

Ray Riedl, A4: "Some disadvantages concerning fraternities at Creighton include a too limited scope, namely the lack of fraternities in the Arts school and particularly, in my case, in the field of science."

Jerry Dervin, A4: "I would like to a mathematics fraternity on the campus."

Carol O'Sullivan, BA4: "It is one of the medians offered to promote well integrated personalities on a college campus. It is a valuable experience."

F. E. Stanek, G1: "The disadvantages could be that the sorority or fraternity could be too social in character and as result the students could have to put too much time in working for them. Also they cost too much for the average student to afford."

Ted Tedesco, L1: "The motivating factor in the minds of the founders of Greek life was closer companionship than could be realized with only classroom acquaintances. This has been well integrated, coordinated and articulated on the Creighton campus."

Summing up the situation, Joe O'Shaughnessy, A3, said: "The obvious advantage is the offering of a close association with members of their own profession."

"The confusion that results from members belonging to two or more frats follows in a mixup, especially at the interfrat ball. Loosely knit organization generally doesn't accomplish as much as it should."

Father Ryan, your student counselor

'When you meet new people, relax'

When you meet new people, relax. Be at ease. Make yourself a center of calm, a little pool of reserve. Let them be mirrored in it.

Devise ways of making known your name: make attempts to repeat their names as often as you can in their presence. Observe quietly, listen attentively. Study the game that is going on and find out if you really know anything about it, before you decide to rush in and try to take a part.

Scouting the other team is sound practice and good common sense. It's done best from the side lines and quietly. If you don't understand the game, try to learn about it.

If you know the game and you want to play, choose your own position before you run out onto the field; you may save face and avoid the hurts and bruises; otherwise, you may blunder along for years under the delusion that in order to dominate a discussion you must lead it, and to impress a gathering you must impose your own opinion on it.

You are on display when you are with any group of people, and you may be certain that some of these same people are continually making an appraisal of you. Weigh carefully each word that you utter.

Every move, every gesture you make is a tell tale revelation of your inner self. Even the silence that you so carefully preserve reveals many a characteristic that even you may not be conscious that you have.

Be true at all time to what you should be and man will see in you the image of your Creator, and God will recognize in you the mirrored image of Himself.

Hurrah for professional students

To the Editorial Dept.:

A big "a-rooga" for the professional students!

After Christmas vacation had started—excepting for the professional students—Creighton's basketball team played two home games.

Before the Colorado State game, the Rev. B. J. Hasbrouck, S. J., Pep Club moderator, suggested to the professional students living at Deglman Hall that they handle the cheerleading chores for the game. Being able to attend the game myself, I witnessed the fine job they did.

The crowd was mostly composed of very enthusiastic professional students who supported the team very well. Not only was this the case with the Colorado State game, but also with the Cal Poly contest.

Comments from various sources were very complimentary regarding the "new" cheerleaders and the crowd support.

Hats off to the supporters of the Creighton team and also thanks to Chuck Orth, Fred Celsi, Dick Sei, Jim Glivar, Jim Keefe, Jerry Durnford and Emmett Kenney, who were the inspiring cheerleaders.

JIM MACIEJEWSKI,
President, Pep Club.

By JAY BEE

Well, with vacation over, the time has come once again for the cutting of classes, the polishing of apples, and the "Oh, what's the use its."

Immediately upon returning to the crest campus I conducted an exhausting survey of students and student opinion. Here are the results:

1973 students went home for vacation. Of these, 1972 lived in Omaha—the other one lived in Council Bluffs.

Six hundred forty-eight students didn't make it home. Of these, 7 lived West of 72nd, 5 lived south of Avenue A, 3 lived north of Ames, 11 were from out-state and the remaining 622 were Med students.

Of the 149 other students enrolled in school, 134 could not be contacted, while the other 15 didn't even know there had been a vacation. Of these 15, 4 had been lost in Deglman since the first of the year, 2 were enrolled at Omaha U., 3 were found in the tunnel beneath Dowling, 2 were unsuccessful Queen candidates, 1 was a part-time instructor at Prep and 3 were still studying for mid-terms.

One other interesting fact came to light during the survey. On the first day of classes, a week ago Thursday, two coeds were overheard talking by the water fountain in the Ad building.

"You know," said one to the other, "I sure am glad this is Wednesday and not Monday."

Which only goes to show that people are happy if they think they're getting a break, even though they may be better off than they think they are. (If anyone figures out what I just said, please—please—let me know.)

Now, before I get lost completely, I'm going to digress to an entirely different subject. Which said subject being poetry. It seems that whenever anybody writes about poetry they call it Critic's Corner. Well, I'm going to be different and call mine . . .

CU Sodalties Net $1,167 For Hungary

Creighton sodalties have given the largest contribution to the Hungarian Relief Fund from a single organization in Omaha.

The drive, sponsored throughout the university from Dec. 9-14, netted $1,167, according to Robert T. Reilly, director of public relations.

Students, faculty members and employes contributed $389. The university and the Student Board of Governors each matched this sum, dollar for dollar, to make the $1,167 total.

A spokesman for the Omaha World-Herald, sponsor of the drive in Omaha, said a total of $2,849,048 was collected in the city and is being turned over to the American Red Cross Hungarian Relief Fund.

Final Deadline Set For Photographs

Yearbook editor Richard Kurtz, announced that the final deadline for individual pictures of fraternity and sorority members is Jan. 15.

Kurtz asks that all fraternity and sorority presidents who desire a good representation of their organization in the yearbook inform their members of this deadline.

Pictures are taken at Rolland Studio, 209 S. 15th St.

Iowa Crash Kills Student; Two Injured

A Creighton student was killed and two others were injured as a result of a holiday accident.

James V. Kurucar, Pharmacy 2nd year, was fatally injured in an automobile collision near Davenport, Iowa, while enroute to his Chicago home for the holidays.

Injured were George F. Reinbold, P2, of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Edward F. Dropp, P1, of West Allis, Wisc. Both were occupants of the car driven by Kurucar.

Reinbold is in a Davenport hospital, seriously injured, although doctors there said they expected him to be able to return home within a month.

Dropp, who received facial and other minor injuries, has returned to classes.

The three had been taken immediately to a Davenport hospital where efforts to save Kurucar proved unsuccessful.

He is survived by his mother and a brother, Carl, both of Chicago. He had been attending Creighton for the last two years. Prior to that he had been a member of the United States Air Force.

Subdeacon at Kurucar's funeral in Chicago was the Rev. James J. Quinn, S. J., assistant professor of philosophy at Creighton.

A spiritual bouquet has been offered by the students and faculty of the College of Pharmacy for the deceased Kurucar.

Registration Cards To Be Picked Up

Full time students in Creighton College are to pick up their registration appointment cards at the Dean's office on the second floor of the Administration building, said the Rev. Lawrence F. Jansen, S. J., assistant dean.

Father Jansen expects to have the cards ready by the middle of next week, he said.

CAC to Meet

The Communication Arts Club will meet Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Student Center, it was announced this week by Tom Swanson, Arts 3rd year, president.

Plans will be made for the annual club banquet to be held at the end of the semester, and next semester's club officers will be elected. Yearbook pictures of the KOCU executive staff will also be taken.

Career Book Offers Seniors Choice Jobs

In the old days, college seniors had to search for jobs, but time has reversed the situation.

Today the jobs are seeking the seniors—at least more opportunities are made available to them.

Career, a 256-page book written and paid for by 148 leading American companies, includes the companies' notices of job opportunities in one place.

Free Copies

The free book allows the college senior to compare the offerings of some of the best companies in the country and who to contact when making applications for jobs. It features a cross-index section to help seniors pick their best employer prospects.

Career will be distributed Monday in most of the divisions of the university by Alpha Sigma Nu, national Jesuit honor society. Copies will not be given in the Schools of Medicine and Dentistry because of the nature of their profession.

Will Post Notices

Notices regarding the time and place of distribution will be posted on the bulletin boards of these schools.

"I would certainly encourage all the January, June and August graduates to pick up the 1957 copy of this magazine," said John P. Potter, director of placement. "It will be a great help to them in securing good jobs."

Career is geared primarily for men students. A few copies for women, however, are available in the placement office.

Diversity and entertainment will be the keynote tomorrow night when the curtain rises at 8:30 p. m. on the second annual variety show at Creighton's auditorium.

Alpha Psi Omega, national drama honorary fraternity, is sponsoring the show which will be held for one night only.

Six organizations have entered acts. They are Theta Phi Alpha, Theta Upsilon, Pasteur Club, Alpha Phi Omega, Phi Beta Phi, and the Hawaiian Club. The Creighton University dance band will provide a touch of music.

Each group is responsible for their own costumes, make-up, and scenery. However, Harry Langdon, instructor in dramatics, and members of Alpha Psi Omega have given technical advice and aid.

Master of Ceremonies for the show is Tony Cennamo, Arts first year. He will be assisted by Martin Gardner, A2, and John McElvoy both of whom will provide some verbal comedy.

Director, Tom Mack, A3, said that this year's show is in keeping with the fraternity's desire to present an annual variety show.

A plaque will be awarded to the best act. This plaque was awarded last year to Theta Phi Alpha. If won for three years in succession by any one organization, it becomes the permanent property of that group. A panel of three judges will select the best performance.

Admission price is 35 cents.

Father Kelley Returns From Philadelphia Meet

TV Class Plans Clinic Sessions At WOW Studios

Eleven students enrolled in Television Production will participate in a weekly TV Laboratory Clinic at the WOW-TV studios starting Jan. 8, it was announced this week by the Rev. R. C. Williams, S. J., director of communication arts.

The sessions will be held Tuesday afternoons, 2-3:45 with approximately 13-15 laboratory sessions scheduled for the spring semester.

Dudley D. Sauve, instructor in radio and television, worked with Bill McBride, WOW-TV program director, and Ken James, assistant program director, in planning a syllabus and outline for the course.

The course will cover such aspects of television production as camera operations, lighting, audio problems, microphone placement, use of production devices programming, sales and promotion.

Can't Complain

The Bluejays are back home again from a 500 eastern road trip. They take on St. Michael's of Vermont tonight in the Hilltop gym. After the game comes the Inter-Fraternity Ball.

The eastern swing was a success as far as Coach Thomsen is concerned. Any club that breaks even on the road doesn't gripe.

There's much talk about St. Bonaventure and just how tough a club they really are. They have won their last 67 consecutive games on their home court and the court isn't a cracker-box with 25-watt lights either. It's not the very best but it isn't the worst by far.

They're Just Good!
Tommy explains the fabulous win record that the Bonnies own on a combination of things which include the fact that the New York school has produced and still is producing GOOD ball clubs. The home surroundings help as they do any other team but the Bonnies are not to be taken for granted talent-wise. That's it—they just field respectable ball clubs which are tough to knock off.

Creighton played good against the Bonnies and were within a couple of points in the closing minutes of the game. A few breaks and the game goes one way.

The Jays had little sweat with Gannon. An interesting angle concerning this game and it's a quote from Thomsen: "That was the best officiated game we've ever played." Sometimes refs can give something besides ulcers, right?

Hollingshead Sets New Faculty Mark

Len Hollingshead dominated faculty bowling Monday evening with his record breaking high game of 243. "Holly" also had high series of 542.

George Flecky had a game of 195 and a series of 500. Second high series was rolled by Charles Stenicka. Stenicka had a 503.

The results:
Blackrobes 2; Shop Aces 1; Legal Lobber 2; Khaki Kids 1; Shoplifters 2; Cass St. Cousins 1
Cash Customers 3; Biobowlers 0

In the ladies' division, it was Willie Zieg. Miss Zieg had a 176 high game and a 463 series.

Jackie Murphy had high series of 469 and second high game of 174.

The Pin Setters had high game of 565 and high team series of 1,635. The standings:

The loss to Cornell resulted from the expected travel fatigue plus two guys named Jordan and Mead.

And the Blues' eighth win of the campaign? Well, was there anybody on campus who bet against the Jays in favor of Omaha U.?

I didn't think so.

Intramural basketball competition will be resumed Feb. 4, the first day of classes in the second semester. The schedule for that week's play will appear in next week's (Jan. 18) edition of the CREIGHTONIAN. All players are asked to clip and save the schedule for future reference.

Simonin Pleased With CU Riflers

A score of 939 (out of a possible 1,000) was posted by the Creighton ROTC rifle team in the William Randolph Hearst postal match fired last month. This score is seven short of last year's Fifth Army trophy winner, Ripon College.

The University of Akron scored a tremendous 965 to capture national honors in last year's postal match. Creighton rifles fired an 881 in 1955-56 to place 27 in competition with 81 colleges and universities.

"I think we have one of our best teams," said Sergeant Don Simonin, coach of the Creighton ROTC squad, "but like our basketball team, we're still a good way from our top performance and hope to continue to build."

Thirty Students Plan Trip To Cheer Marquette Game

Thirty students are now going on the Pep Club trip to Milwaukee. The students will leave Omaha at 12:40 a. m. Jan. 30. The 48 hour trip will allow the Blue Jay tourists nine daylight hours in Chicago, and a full morning in Milwaukee.

In a letter from Miss Anne Dolan, Marquette University Program director, she states, "We are looking forward to your visit and shall expect to hear from you within a few days regarding the details of your trip."

Due to an Interstate Commerce Commission ruling allowing a five percent increase in railroad fares, the round-trip fare will be $19.60 instead of $18.70.

The Rev. Bernard Hasbrouck, S. J., Pep Club moderator, again invites more students to sign up for the tour. A greater number of students would entitle the group to a private railroad car.

Creightonians who wish to take the tour may contact Ken Heimes, Arts 4th year, at Deglman Hall, in room 122; Jim Maciejewski, Business Administration 4th year, room 222 at Deglman Hall, or Father Hasbrouck.

Dr. Simon Named To Pathology Dept.

Dr. Thomas R. Simon has been appointed associate professor of School of Medicine, according to Dr. Frederick G. Gillick, dean of the School.

He will also be associate attending in pathology at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. Simon, a native of Shelby, Ohio, received a bachelor of science degree from St. Bonaventure University, Olean, N. Y., in 1943. He graduated from the St. Louis University School of Medicine in 1945 before doing post-graduate work in pathology at St. Louis University from 1945 to 1949.

He is a diplomat of the American Board of Pathology.

Prior to joining the Creighton staff, Dr. Simon was assistant professor of pathology for the Sloan Kettering Division of the Cornell University Medical College, a position he has held since 1955.

From 1945 to 1948 he was assistant in pathology at St. Louis University before being elevated to instructor in the subject for 1948-49. Dr. Simon was director of the St. Cloud Hospital School of Medical Technology from 1950 to 1952 before becoming director of the 3750 USAF Hospital School of Medical Technology.

Dr. and Mrs. Boler Injured in Crash

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Boler were injured in a head-on collision Wednesday afternoon during a blinding snowstorm.

Dr. Boler is associate professor of urology at Creighton.

He was pinned in his wrecked car for more than an hour in frigid weather, suffering chest and pelvic injuries.

Mrs. Boler sustained severe chest injuries and facial lacerations.

Both were listed in critical condition at St. Catherine's hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Minnie Gerdes of Alliance, driver of the other vehicle, was killed instantly in the crash, marking Nebraska's fourth traffic fatality of the year.

The accident occurred 14 miles south of Plattsmouth, Nebr.

Arts Student Injured

Rosemary Cooper, Arts 1st year, was injured Wednesday afternoon when she slipped in the Student Center. The Rescue Squad rushed her to St. Joseph's hospital where she was reported in good condition.

Rosemary suffered multiple back bruises.

Technical Language Can Communicate, Fr. Williams Says

The need for technical language in clinical instruction doesn't bar effective communication between teacher and student—and should not—according to the Rev. R. C. Williams, S. J., Creighton director of communication arts.

Writing in the December issue of Hospital Progress, publication of the Catholic Hospital Association, he declared that "although it is often a major problem to translate technical medical terms into everyday language, it can be done by those who are willing to try."

The article, "Communication in Clinical Instruction," continued:

"Technical language is a necessary short-cut and time-saving code in the sciences. But all of us know that language is useless unless it communicates ideas. For that reason, translation within a language may be just as important as translation from one language to another."

Father Williams also compared the effectiveness of the written word with the spoken word in teaching. The latter conveys emotion more directly, raises interest levels and provides the sound with which learning skills begin.

HC Election Shift Sought by Board

Next week, a CREIGHTONIAN reporter will be interviewing students and asking their opinions on establishing a greater amount of student control in electing a Homecoming Queen.

The standard procedure includes nomination and election by each school with the final selection being made by the Alumni Council.

If you are not contacted by the reporter, a box for your suggestion will be placed in the Newsroom on the first floor of the Administration Building.

After the suggestions are studied by the Rules Committee, the most acceptable will be printed in the Feb. 8 edition of THE CREIGHTONIAN.

At the annual corporation meeting, a new method will be adopted. The method considered best will appear in THE CREIGHTONIAN two weeks before the corporation meeting.

Creighton's TV Program To Feature 'Blue Babies'

Creighton's educational series "Features Unlimited" will present "Blue Babies" tomorrow on WOW-TV at 10 a. m.

Included in the cast will be Dr. Jerome P. Murphy, instructor in surgery; Dr. William M. Jurgensen, instructor in radiology; Leroy Lazure and Billy Burgess, students at St. John's grade school.

The program, a study of children's heart disease, will feature a unique mechanism which illustrates circulation of the blood. The model of the circulatory system was designed and built specifically for the telecast by the physiology department of the School of Medicine and the program production staff.

A series of charts showing major types of heart disease will also be used.

The Rev. R. C. Williams, S. J., director of communication arts, will produce the program. Miss Jean Spelic, graduate student and assistant to Father Williams, will aid in the production.

members may vote, according to Joanna Nelle, Arts 3rd year, station manager. Announcement of the new executive staff will be made at the Communication Arts Club banquet at the end of this semester.

Literary Edition Is February 1

If you like to write and feel you have any talent, we invite you to display it in the Feb. 1 edition of The Creightonian.

Essays, poems, fiction and reviews will be used. It is requested that all copy be typewritten, double-spaced and turned into the Creightonian newsroom by Jan. 25.

The Literary Edition is your issue. The earlier the manuscripts are turned in the better chance they have for publication.

Creighton to Entertain Public School Principals

Public high school principals from Iowa and Nebraska will be guests of Creighton, Monday evening. The event is sponsored annually for student promotion, according to John P. Potter, director of recruitment and placement.

Dinner at 6 p. m. in the cafeteria of the Creighton Student Center will be followed by the Creighton-St. Thomas basketball game at 8 p. m.

Vets Entertained At Own Party for 2d Grade Students

It was difficult to say whether the Crei-Vets or the second grade of St. Benedict's school had more fun at the Christmas party the Vets gave Dec. 20. The party opened with a cartoon movie, then the children entertained the Vets by singing several songs. During the singing, Santa (Dick Wild) Claus made a surprise appearance and passed out gifts of candy and balloons. Refreshments were served after Santa's departure. Cakes were furnished by Chuck Bayley, Business Administration 4th year, Chuck Forhan, B4, Tom Philson, B2, and Julius Sonderman, B2, and their mothers' work was greatly appreciated. Jerry Gross took pictures and Bill Rozmajzl, B3, and Mike Higgins, B2, helped with refreshments. The Creighton Dental Wives Club will hold a candy sale Saturday, Jan. 12 in Brandeis department store on the main floor near the north elevators.

Alumni Boost Library Total

More than $180,000 has been pledged to the Alumni Library Campaign Fund of Creighton University in outstate Nebraska and Iowa.

Alumni and friends of the University have contributed that amount to date in 370 pledges and contributions, according to Morris E. Jacobs, general chairman of the Greater Creighton Development Program. More than forty thousand dollars was reported during the past week, he said.

He announced that only preliminary reports had been received from a number of the 33 campaign districts in the two states.

"We hope all reports will be turned in not later than Thursday, Jan. 10, so that we can carry the campaign to all the other states," Mr. Jacobs said. "We are confident that well over two hundred thousand dollars will be pledged by our alumni and friends in outstate Nebraska and Iowa."

The Library Fund campaign is the second phase of Creighton's long-range $14-million development program. The nationwide Library Fund goal is one-million dollars.

Mr. Jacobs said that more than 450 volunteer committee members were active in the fund campaign in the two states.

ROTC Seeks War Trophies

If you're one of those veterans who's harboring a war souvenir in defiance of your wife's ultimatum, the Creighton University ROTC unit might offer a solution. The military detachment keeps a trophy case which is staked with such items and they would welcome more.

The trophy case housed in one of the military classrooms, contains a variety of equipment from both World Wars. Prominent in the collection are helmets from Germany, France and America and an assortment of bayonets from the same countries. Japan is represented by a sniper rifle, ammunition, currency and other minor items. The bulk of the collection, however, features German equipment such as canteens, mess kits, gas masks, insignia and the like.

Perhaps the most interesting articles are the scale models of a Nazi jeep, searchlight truck, ground mount 88' and a miniature field kitchen on wheels.

The trophies and souvenirs were assembled several years ago by an officer no longer located at Creighton, Captain Robert Aust. As a matter of fact, Aust is now on his way overseas.

"Perhaps he'll bring back a few more items," wistfully remarked Capt. William Obley, present custodian of the display.

Those who would like to donate suitable objects to the collection are asked to contact Capt. Obley through the Creighton Military Department.

Coed Retreat Set For Feb. 15-17 '57

An additional weekend retreat for Catholic coeds has been scheduled for the weekend of Feb. 15-17. The Rev. Austin E. Miller, S. J., will be retreatmaster.

Attendance at the annual retreat will fulfill the requirement of attendance at the annual Catholic coeds retreat to be held March 15-17.

Further information and retreat application blanks may be obtained in the student counselor's office, A-106.

The annual student retreat for Catholic men will run from Jan. 28-30. Attendance is required of all students who have not met their obligation through the weekend retreat system.

The Rev. Robert F. Purcell, S. J., will serve as retreatmaster. A parallel series of conferences dealing with the principles of good living have been scheduled at the same time for non-Catholic men and women students.

Students are required to attend. Conference moderator will be the Rev. James J. Quinn, S. J.

The employees annual retreat will be held March 15-17 with the Rev. Kermit P. Kennedy, S. J., acting as retreatmaster.

Creighton Hosts Jesuit Presidents

Creighton University President, the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S. J., was host to four Jesuit college and university presidents and their fund-raising committees, Dec. 21-22.

Morris Jacobs, general chairman of the Greater Creighton Development Committee, was featured speaker at the opening luncheon.

Jesuit presidents attending the two-day meeting were the Very Revs. Edward O'Donnell, S. J., Marquette University; Paul Reinert, S. J., St. Louis University; Maurice Van Ackern, S. J., Rockhurst University, and Richard Ryan, S. J., Regis College.

New Naval Reserve Program Offered to College Students

The Navy is now accepting applications for the Navy's new Reserve Officer Candidate (ROC) Program. To qualify for this program you must be a student (male or female) enrolled in college, at least 17 years of age (women, 18 years) and not over 27½ years old upon receipt of your bachelor's degree, be able to qualify on the physical and mental examinations, and receive a favorable recommendation from the Field Selection Board, which will interview you upon making application.

Your application will incur you no military obligation, however, if offered and you accept an appointment to the ROC Program, you must join and affiliate with a Naval Reserve Unit. This requires attending drills one night a week; also you must attend two summer cruises at Newport, Rhode Island, of eight weeks duration each. These cruises will be taken either between your sophomore-Junior and Junior-Senior years or between your Junior-Senior years and immediately following your graduation from college.

While enrolled in the ROC Program you are deferred from military induction and you will receive an average annual pay varying from $250 to $400.

Upon completion of the ROC Program you will be commissioned an Ensign in the United States Naval Reserve and serve on active duty for a period of not more than three years.

No application for 1957 will be accepted later than February 10, 1957.

Students desiring more information on this unique package program for LEARNING—EARNING—and fulfilling their military obligation may call Jackson 7900, Ext. 8306 or visit the Naval Reserve Training Center, Fort Omaha, anytime during normal working hours or Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10:00 p. m.

For further information see the Rev. Lawrence Jansen, S. J., Asst. Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Grants Open To Students

Eight fellowships for medical students who wish to take advantage of vacation time to study during the calendar year of 1957 are available at Creighton University's School of Medicine.

The program, administered by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis through deans of medical schools across the nation, provides two fellowships in each of the following categories:

1) Research in the biological and physical sciences related to medicine.

2) Public health and preventive medicine.

3) Rehabilitation.

A new policy will permit those schools which made use of their full quota in rehabilitation and public health and preventive medicine during 1956 to nominate one extra student in each of these categories this year.

The grant is $200 per month for not less than two nor more than three months. Application forms may be requested from Dr. F. G. Gillick, M. D., dean of the School of Medicine.

English Dept. Offers Magazine Subscription

Subscriptions for the Atlantic Monthly magazine for the second semester can now be obtained from the English Department or English instructors, according to Dr. Edward P. Corbett, assistant professor of English.

The magazine, which sells on newsstands for 50 cents a copy, is offered to college students at a reduced rate of 30 cents a copy.

Students and faculty members who wish to subscribe for the next four months may give their names and $1.20 to Dr. Corbett in the English office, 99 Wareham Hall.

Because of the difficulty in contacting students during mid-term class-changes, Dr. Corbett requests that subscription orders and money be turned in to him before Jan. 15.

Lynne Kirlin, BS '56 Receives Commission

Ensign Lynne Kirlin, BS '56, recently received her officer's commission after completing the eight week officer Candidate training program for women at the United States Naval Schools Command, United States Naval Station, Newport, R. I.

She was one of 28 officers who received a commission. Ensign Kirlin will complete an additional eight weeks of officer training prior to being assigned to her first duty station within the Naval Shore Establishment.

Professors Forget Theatre

Offhand you wouldn't think an absent-minded professor would forget a theatre, especially when he was supposed to take it with him—a model theatre, that is.

But two Creighton professors did just that. They forgot Shakespeare's Globe Theatre of 1599 in 1956, left the model in the foyer of the KVTU studios in Sioux City.

The Rev. R. C. Williams, S. J., director of communication arts, and Gordon Berquist, instructor in English, were the culprits. Both have made New Year's resolutions to leave no theatres behind in 1957.

The Globe, of course, was recovered and returned by the diligent director, Gil Bennett of KVTV. Then it went its way to the Rev. Paul F. Smith, S. J., director of the department of English and Shakespeare expert. Father Smith reported no broken bones, even no contusions. So back the theatre went to Professor Rice of Central High in Omaha, who had loaned it for the program.

Nobody Gave A Hoot For J. Paul Sheedy* Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

"Wise everybody avoid me so?" h-owed J. Paul. "Because you're such a ruffled old bird", replied his best buddy. Well that really opened Sheedy's eyes. He took a taxi-dermist down to the store and pecked up a bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's the picture of confidence because he knows his hair always looks its best from morning till night. So if people have been hooting at your messy hair, screech for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's guaranteed to keep your hair neat but not greasy. And all the gals will go out of their way to beak to you.
