JAYS MEET CORNHUSKERS HERE TOMMORROW NIGHT

RETURN BATTLE IN LINCOLN ON MONDAY NIGHT

Junior Chamber of Commerce Is Sponsor of Series for Drouth Sufferers

Tickets Are $1.50

THE FACTS

Who—Creighton and Nebraska.
What—Basketball game.
Where—Creighton gym.
When—Friday, March 4.
How—$1.50.

By JOHN SULLIVAN

Creighton and Nebraska universities are going to meet again on the basketball floor.

The greatest thrillers in Creighton cage history will live again in the memories of fans of the state of Nebraska Friday night when in the Creighton gymnasium, before what is already a full house, these two teams line up for another game, this time to aid the drouth sufferers in western Nebraska.

What a spectacle these two teams will present when they line up for their battle for charity. Creighton's Bluejays, a cock-sure aggregation which has whipped the best in the country with room to spare and which has, as this is written, won 14 out of 18 contests. Nebraska's Cornhuskers, holding the cellar of the Big Six conference after a season of frequent defeats.

Huskies' Record Unimpressive.

The greatest upset which has been scored against Creighton university has, however, come from a Nebraska team, which had a record nearly as unimpressive as that of the 1932 edition of Charley Black's Husker five.

The Drouth Relief Game committee of the Omaha Junior Chamber of Commerce has complete charge of the game and the regular admission price will be levied on all students, alumni, fans and pressmen as well.

A return game will be played in Lincoln on Monday, March 7.

Series Opened in 1923

The Creighton-Nebraska series opened in 1923 when the Hilltoppers scored a 46-to-23 victory over the Cornhuskers. Captain Jimmy Lovely, Floyd Paynter, Ike Mahoney, John Trautman, Joe Speicher and many others of Creighton's court immortals were on that Creighton team.

In 1924 the Bluejays met the Huskers twice. Poor records were hung up by the Nebraska five that season, but in the first game with the Bluejays the Huskers nosed out the cocky Omahans, 15 to 11, in a close guarding game. The second game gave the Bluejays a similar margin over the Lincoln five but the victory was obtained.

DEBATERS PLACE IN SEMI FINALS

Participate in Nine Rounds; St. Thomas Sponsors and Wins Tournament

Creighton's two debate teams at the tournament held last week under the auspices of St. Thomas college at St. Paul reached the semifinals according to the Rev. O. P. Sullivan, S. J., director of debate.

The two teams composed of Ephraim Marks and Stanfield Johnson and James Gleason and James Fitzgerald participated in nine rounds of debate in the course of which the Creighton teams debated twelve times on the question of "Resolved, that congress should enact legislation providing for the centralized control of industry, constitutionality waived."

The debaters went through successive rounds of debates being eliminated in the semi finals. Two debaters from St. Thomas who debated Russell Blumenthal and Morris Hogan here Wednesday, Feb. 17, won the contest.

Teams from the universities of South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska participated and a cup was awarded the winners.

Alumni Council Launches Campaign for Local Groups

Conduct Sodality Rally

Above are the four Creighton students who were in charge of the city-wide sodality rally which was held at Creighton Sunday. Left to right they are Paul Schneider, Arts senior, president of the Omaha Sodality Union; Miss Angela Cunningham, senior nurse, St. Joseph's hospital, treasurer; Miss Ann Langley, freshman, College of St. Mary, secretary, and John Reilly, senior, Creighton university high school, vice-president.

CAMPUS MAGAZINE TO APPEAR MAR. 16

Will Feature Both Articles and Short Stories by Students and Instructor.

Shadows, Creighton literary magazine, will appear on the campus March 16, it was announced Monday afternoon by James Timlin, editor. Among the contents of the issue will be articles by John Steinbaugh, Edwin M. Puls, instructor in public speaking; George Price, and Marjorie Hermansky. Short stories by Ruth Godfrey, George Peter Skow, Herman Mertens, and Leo Sonderegger will also appear.

MEDIC STAFF STARTS ST. JOE TUMOR CLINIC

To aid in the selection of the proper form of treatment for each type of tumor, a tumor clinic has been organized at St. Joseph's hospital by the Medical school staff.

Dr. James F. Kelly is chairman of the committee in charge of the clinic. The membership is made up of Dr. Bryan Riley, medical; Dr. George F. Simanek, surgical; Dr. B. Carl Russum, pathological, and Dr. Kelly, radiological.

A special cancer division under the supervision of Dr. Russum has been installed. A deep therapy X-ray machine has been installed under the direction of Dr. Kelly to assist in cancer treatment.

Press Club Meets Tonight at K. of C.

Creighton Press Club members will meet tonight at the Knights of Columbus club house. The newly elected president, A. E. Allegreni, medicine sophomore, will preside at the meeting which begins at 7:30 p. m.

Professor Harry F. Fore, a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, will be the guest and main speaker of the evening, according to Gilbert Melcher, chairman of the program committee. Frank Fogarty, director of the publicity bureau of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, will speak at next week's meeting.

BOARD REDUCES PRICE OF PROM TICKETS $2.50

Economy Measures Make Possible Reduction of 50 Per Cent

Select Orchestra Soon

Following the ideas of economy early adopted in connection with the tenth annual Junior-Senior prom to be held April 1 at the Knights of Columbus club, tickets for the affair will be sold for $2.50, it was revealed by the Students' Union board of governors yesterday.

This year's price marks a reduction of half over the price at which tickets were sold last year. Members of the Prom committee stated that the reduction was made possible because of favorable contracts received in rental and equipment.

"The reduction in the price of tickets will in no way effect the elaborateness of the ceremonies or the quality of the orchestra to be selected," Joseph O'Connor, member of the committee in charge, said.

Tickets on Sale in Ten Days

Tickets will be placed on sale within the next ten days, Ed Murphy, manager of the Students' Union and financial director of the prom, said. They will be distributed through the presidents of the junior and senior classes in the Arts, Commerce and Duchesne colleges; the three upper classes in the Dental school and all the classes in the Law and Medical schools and in St. Joseph's and St. Catherine's schools of nursing.

Fausteen Potts Directs

The coronation ceremonies will be more elaborate and larger than in former years. Facilities at the Knights of Columbus club make the added features possible. Miss Fausteen Potts, Omaha dancing instructor, will direct the children who will take part in the ceremonies. The first regular rehearsal will be held tonight in the gymnasium.

The committee is in correspondence with a number of the nation's leading orchestras and a selection will be made within the next few weeks.

Creighton Gives Rousing Welcome to Victorious Basketball Team

By KEITH WILSON
If anyone ever doubted that Creightonians have school spirit, his doubts would have been dispelled at the double reception for the victorious band of Bluejay basketball players returned from their eastern invasion Friday.

It takes a particularly high-powered kind of spirit to drag a crowd of several hundred students from their beds and hie them to the station in the cold gray dawn. Hundreds of Creighton students and faculty members must have been moved by just that kind.

The ROTC band was there with Sergeant Slezinger directing the musical enthusiasm. City officials and officers of the Chamber of Commerce gave "Schabbie" and his boys a rousing official welcome but it was almost drowned by the cheering Creightonians.

"Omaha is proud of you," Mayor Metcalfe told the team. "Your victories over the Army and West Virginia will go down in history, and on behalf of the people of this city I want to congratulate you."

Couch Schabinger, in reply, told the assemblage that his team played fine basketball and that he, too, was proud of them.

Then followed a victory parade through the downtown streets and back to the hilltop and to classes. But the celebration was not yet over. Student and even faculty members joined in a cry for a rally and the deans obliged by freeing 11 o'clock classes.

Fifteen hundred students thronged to the gymnasium to meet the team. Sgt. Slezinger again led his musical troops through several inspiring numbers, and the red-faced cheer leaders did themselves proud. Even the staid and dignified George McCabe donned a cheer leader's uniform, led in the cheering and introduced the speakers in his capacity

RIECK TO DIRECT DRAMATIC CLUB

Is Prominent in Omaha Dramatic Productions; Will Direct Revue

Milton A. Rieck, for the past two years in charge of successful dramatic and musical productions in Omaha, was Monday officially appointed director of the Creighton Dramatic club to succeed the Rev. Joseph Herbers, S. J., who is now president of Regis college, Denver. Announcement of the appointment was made by the Rev. W. J. Corbo, S. J., faculty moderator of the club.

Mr. Rieck was in charge of the huge Parent-Teachers' musical given at Technical high school in November, in which 250 parents of school children appeared. He also directed the recent play success, "Three Little Women," given by the McAuley Circle, Sisters of Mercy organization. Rieck came to Omaha from the east, where he was active in dramatic enterprises.

In an interview Mr. Rieck said: "I realize the standard at which dramatics has been set by Father Herbers, and I will endeavor to fulfill the expectations of the entire student body."

A complete reformation of the club is planned by Father Corbo, with an attempt to arouse more interest than has been shown in the past by the students.

Mr. Rieck will immediately assume direction of the Bluejay Revue, and has assured the student body that if the Revue is successful, a three-act drama will be presented before the end of the school year.

MARKS, GLEASON DEBATE COLUMBIA

Will Meet Easterners Before Ad-Sell Club Next Monday at Fontenelle

Ephraim Marks and James Gleason, Creighton debaters, will represent the university in an intercollegiate argument before the Ad-Sell club at the Fontenelle hotel Monday at 6:30 p. m. against Columbia university of New York.

The debate, which is exclusive for members of the club, will be on the question of "Resolved, that the United States Government should recognize Soviet Russia." Creighton will take the negative side. The decision will be given by the audience.

Columbia's contestants will probably be Richard W. Smith and D. Arthur Leahy, debate captain, according to the Rev. O. P. Sullivan, S. J., director of debate.

The debate is made possible through the generosity of O. W. Swanson, president of the Ad-Sell, under whose auspices the argument will be presented.

The Columbia schedule for this season includes only schools of the highest rank in each section of the country: New York university, University of California, Oxford and Cambridge universities of England, University of Florida, University of Chicago, Cornell university, University of Maine, Dartmouth college, and University of Petrograd, Russia.

Class Attends Clinic
John F. Sheehan, B. S., M. S., professor of science, took his zoology class of the College of St. Mary on an observation trip to the Creighton Dental school Saturday morning. They visited the laboratory and clinic.

OFFICERS PLAN NATION-WIDE ORGANIZATION

To Form Alumni Clubs in All Cities Having Creighton Graduates

Group Is Installed

The first move was made Thursday night in the nationwide campaign launched by the Creighton University Alumni association to organize Creighton alumni clubs in cities from coast to coast, when 19 members of the Creighton alumni council drove to Fremont to assist in the organization of the Fremont Creighton Alumni club.

Edwin H. Redelfs, A. B. '27, was elected president of the club. J. E. Daly, I.L.B. '13, was chosen vice-president; Morris D. Cook, I.L.B. '30, was named secretary-treasurer, and Comer M. Heine, I.L.B. '27, was elected publicity director.

Nineteen Represent Creighton.

The group from Omaha included the Rev. W. J. Corbo, S. J., dean of men; Dr. Robert H. Schemel and Prof. Hugh F. Gillespie, former presidents of the Alumni association; Frank E. Pellegrin, alumni secretary; Dr. Rudolph J. Yechout, Dr. James Griffin, Hugh A. Fogarty, Lawrence Tobin, Lewis O. Mather, William P. Kelley, Oscar T. Doerr, Coach Arthur R. Stark, Dr. Joseph Speicher, Dick Sklenar, Lawrence Kearney, Dick Tomlinson, Pete Marchetti, Hogarth Freeland and Harry Johnson.

Talks were given by Father Corbo, Dr. Schemel, Professor Gillespie, Mr. Pellegrin, Coach Stark, Mr. Daly, Mr. Cook, Mr. Heine, Mr. E. L. Mahlin, Dr. L. S. Perion and Mr. N. H. Mapes.

Exhibition Bout Staged.

An exhibition bout was staged by Tomlinson and Marchetti, mid-west A. A. U. heavyweight and lightweight boxing champions, in the Y. M. C. A. building in Fremont, to which the public was invited. Sklenar acted as referee, and Dr. Speicher as timekeeper. Musical and vocal numbers were rendered between rounds by Freeland.

"It is planned to have these clubs organized in every city throughout

AHEAD OF THE NATION

American press, during recent months, has bitterly attacked American legislators for their failure to clear up domestic troubles before meddling with foreign affairs. In these attacks the press has admitted the importance of foreign business but has illustrated that its care by the administration should be relegated to a secondary position in comparison with such domestic troubles as the business depression, farm relief in general and drought relief in particular.

Meanwhile, the legislators of the nation have either sat idly by or continued their meddling in foreign business. True, the state of Nebraska made, through its governor, the Honorable Charles W. Bryan, a plea to the people of the state to aid the drought sufferers in the western part of the state. Also, in spots over the nation, a "man-a-block" plan has been adopted with the view of putting unemployed to work.

In general, however, legislative bodies throughout the nation have been utterly negligent. The drought sufferers of the nation have been the hardest hit by the negligence, for their need is immediate and their plight is by far the worst.

Nebraska, as a state, is now stepping into the lead with regard to aid for drought sufferers. On top of Governor Bryan's plea which brought forth an immediate reply from the citizens of the state, another plan has been adopted to furnish funds for food and necessities for drought sufferers. Omaha, as a city, and Creighton university, as an institution, are central points in this newest plan. Through the efforts of the Omaha Junior Chamber of Commerce, Creighton and Nebraska universities are to meet in a basketball game, the receipts of which will go to aid drought sufferers.

The Junior Chamber is to be congratulated on its alertness to the undoubted need of the sufferers. Creighton and Nebraska universities, as participants in the plan, are also to be congratulated.

Both institutions, by their ready acceptance of the Chamber's plan, and the Chamber as author of the plan, are stepping ahead of the nation in this matter that politics unjustly overshadows in the legislative houses of the nation.

SHADOWS

A few weeks ago fifteen hundred copies of Shadows were distributed on the campus—fifteen hundred eager persons grabbed them up and read them, but only a very few knew the story behind the publication of the magazine.

It is astonishing how easily criticism of an adverse nature can come from those whose shiftless nature is satisfied with taking things as they come. Only ten or fifteen persons gave the greatest part of their time in order that the magazine could appear on the campus. Those ten or fifteen persons are charged with the responsibility of reflecting the literary character of Creighton university. Isn't it just a bit unreasonable to expect so few persons to do the work that should be done by many?

Shadows editors have persistently asked for copy and yet when the deadline approaches, the heavy burden of the work falls on the few who not only have the desire to see a fine literary work at Creighton, but also have that tendency to action which makes it possible. There are a great many who desire the magazine, but their interest seems to end with the desire. Their criticism is heard on every side but their productive efforts are never seen in the Shadows office. Shadows is not published by the small group by their own choice—they were forced to unite among themselves in order that the magazine would appear.

The next issue of Shadows will appear within the next fortnight. Why let a few do all the work? Isn't there anyone in the university outside a few who is willing to spend the time writing an article so that Shadows will continue to grow as Creighton grows.

PAGEANT STUDY IS HELD AT ST. MARY'S

A special assembly of the student body of the College of St. Mary was held Friday afternoon for the purpose of familiarizing the students with pageantry. A story was read and parts to be presented were assigned. The characters are: Rita Brennan, Kathryn McNamara, Marcella Kavanaugh, Marie Huska, Willetta Kral, Frances Wasielewski, Tena Petello, Eleanor Lynch, Marian Pollack, Mary Martin, Margaret Walsh, Elizabeth Dineen, Mary Agnes Jones, Mildred Grace, Claire McDermott, Bess Sabatka, Phyllis Morten, Marjorie Anstey, Gertrude Clayton, Ann Langley, Marian Kalamaja, Marian Josten, Claire Vail, Faye Janacek and Genevieve Mitchell.
Remaining students of the school will carry the roles of angels.

PHI RHO SIGMA HOLDS FORMAL INITIATION

Fourteen men were initiated at the formal initiation of Phi Rho Sigma, national medical fraternity, Thursday in the Fontenelle hotel.
Eighty-five alumni and active members were present at the banquet of welcome which followed the ceremonies. Dr. John J. Freyman acted as toastmaster.
Dr. Czar Johnson, Lincoln, spoke on "Judgement of a Blues;" Dr. B. Carl Russom, on "Foci;" Dr. Charles McMurtin, on "Glands;" and Marvin A. Mack, president of the chapter, on "Fraternal Progress." Open house at the chapter house, Thirty-eighth and Jones street.
The committee in charge was: O. G. Benson, chairman; Marvin Mack, E. Cernak and Robert W. Minton.

YESTER-YEARS

Seven Years Ago This Week
The erection of the Creighton stadium was practically assured with the pledging of $70,000 of the $250,000 necessary for completion.

The Creightonian co-operating with the "Know Omaha Week" celebration published an eight-page edition.

Creighton debaters, Joseph Ball, Thomas Russell and Robert Patton, defeated Marquette by a unanimous decision of the judges.

Theodore Bleuchel, Arts junior, was appointed debate manager for the coming year by President McCormick.

The Bluejay basketball team lost to Nebraska, 15 to 11, in the final game of the season. They won fourteen out of 16 games.

Five Years Ago This Week
The Dramatic club under the direction of Fred Morrow, scored a big hit with its second production of the season, "Ichonund."

Gerald Lavey, Commerce junior, was voted the jazziest of jazz pianists on the campus by the students of the Arts and Commerce colleges in a contest in the auditorium.

"Resolved, that the Volstead act should be amended to permit light wines and beers," was the question Gordon Richmond, Louis Lipp and J. S. Neary used in debating Marquette and Loyola universities.

The organization of advanced Dental ROTC students into a club was planned by Dental students.

Creighton basketballers are to engage Notre Dame Saturday.

NOVENA OF GRACE STARTS TOMORROW

Creighton university students are invited to attend the Novena of Grace, held in honor of St. Francis Xavier at St. John's church starting tomorrow and continuing through March 12. The Rev. William J. Finan, S. J., will preach the sermons during the nine-day worship.

Each service will last one-half hour and students may attend one of the three daily services, the first of which begins at 3 p. m., the second at 8 p. m., and the last at 8 p. m. Many graces and cures have resulted from this saint's intercession and any favor or desire can be made at the novena.

The titles of Father Finan's discourses will be "Ashes," "A Silver Lining," "Bruised Reeds," "The Widow's Mite," "With Fire and Sword," "And Peace on Earth," "Bring Flowers of the Rarest," "Miserere" and "Alleluia."

Frat Initiation Held at K. C. Clubhouse

Formal initiation ceremonies for this semester's group of pledges were held by Phi Delta Chi, national pharmacy fraternity, last Thursday evening at the Knights of Columbus club. Vern Wolf, Robert Sprecher and Joseph Shebl headed the initiation committee. The facilities of the first floor of the club house were used, with the ritual in the K. C. committee room.

The following were those initiated into the pharmacy frat: Dale E. Wiltwiling, Omaha; Phillip C. Wolber, Omaha; Wm. S. Sprague, Omaha; J. G. Hoye, Wood River, and Louis E. Bass, of Ute, Iowa.

Fr. Talmadge Retreat Master
The Rev. A. J. Talmadge, S. J., St. Louis, conducted the annual all-college retreat at Duchesne college this year. The retreat started Thursday morning and ended Sunday.

The deans and regents of all the colleges and schools of Creighton university, will meet March 22, for a dinner and meeting at the Knights of Columbus club.

STUDENTS RALLY TO GREET TEAM

as president of the Student Union Board of Governors.

The team occupied the place of honor in the center of the floor together with Coach Schabinger, Fr. Corboy and Assistant Coach Duce Belford.

As "Schabbie" arose to speak, the crowd gave him a tremendous hand. The coach again praised the team and promised that if the near perfect play of the team and the great support of the student body continued, Creighton would win over Marquette and Grinnell.

Father Corboy wished the team as great success in their daily lives as they were experiencing in their victories and Coach Belford expressed his pride at being connected with the team.

All members of the team spoke and the crowd cheered lustily for each of them. But it was Captain Maurice Van Ackeren who was hero of the hour. The modest basketballer, who is being widely mentioned in connection with all-American honors, said he was proud to be the captain of such a team. He told of the meeting with President Hoover and other experiences of the trip.

Collin and Worthing told of meeting the Zeigfield chorus and showed that they had a rare insight into the problems of the theater. Miller, Kiely, Krockrow and Weisner also told of their experiences and expressed their gratitude for the reception.

Monday, March 7 (4:45 p. m.)—Department of Chemistry. Rev. Leo H. Mullany, S. J., Professor of English. Good Poets at Their Best: "Browning's 'My Last Duchess.'"

CAMPUS COMMENT

The Women's rifle team wishes to reply to the recent article by Company B rifle team which appeared in the last Creightonian.

It seems that some people are prone to accept statements made by newspapers as authentic. Those with intelligence realize the facility with which reporters handle news material, twisting statements and coloring things with vivid adjectives so that the final outcome is often exaggerated and far from the truth. Unfortunately, this has been the case with the publicity given the Women's rifle team at Creighton. They would like to take this opportunity to express their disapproval, because the implication contained in these articles is that the team members claim to be "crack" shots, and very cock-sure of themselves. They claim to be neither, and feel that the tone and attitude assumed by Company B is particularly ungalant.

The Women's rifle team by no means originated any of these competitions, either with the men's teams at Creighton, or with the women's teams who are sending challenges from other schools. Its purpose has been first and foremost to encourage the university women to develop skill in rifle shooting for the training and pleasure involved—and not to arouse the ire of the male students of the school.

If Company B will take the above facts into consideration, plus the fact that this is only the second year that the members of the women's team have done any firing, it must surely realize that its indignation should not be directed this way.

Under the circumstances, however, the Women's rifle team feels it is forced to accept the challenge of Company B to a rifle match. Whether they are in the least fairly matched is another question.

Arrangements for the match may be made either with Sergeant Martin or Captain Fraser.
Signed: CAPTAIN, WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM.

To the Editor of the Creightonian:
I think it is about time something was done about allowing so many Prep students the use of the facilities of the club rooms. They are given all the privileges that are given to University students, and they manage to make good use of them. In fact, their use barely falls short of abuse.

During the noon hour a university student is doing good if he can get inside of the club rooms, much less make use of any of the pool tables. And now that the ping-pong table has been installed, matters will probably be worse than ever.

—A University Student.

Much has been said concerning the patronage of Creighton activities by Creighton students and the remarks have been aimed, for the most part, at the attendance to athletic events which take place on the "Hilltop." Throughout the football season much was done to get the student body to attend the games, and the cry was again sounded when the basketball season opened. A team, to win, needs not only internal strength, but it needs the support of the patrons.

The majority of students have backed the team both on and off the court—even in spite of a few knockers. But athletics are not the only activities at Creighton university. The point I would like to stress deals with the attendance at the other functions which this institution sponsors primarily for the students, and I refer principally to the debates and lectures. It is for the benefit of each one that these debates and Depression—Yet they ask us to fork over to the tune of $1.50 for a seat at the Bluejay-Cornhusker fray. Charity begins at home.

Spring—and with it comes the arrival of the birds and the would-be cinder artists. No, son, I'm saving you for the Junior prom.

The season's big surprise—until lately we were under the impression that there were only eight men on the Bluejay's eastern invasion—but if the truth be known some freshman qualified as a member of the champs by serving no apprenticeship other than lugging a couple of grips—another frosh frolic.

Band Boys Pause to Keep Their Lips in Place

They laughed when he stopped speaking.
It was just before the intermission of a concert that the Creighton R. O. T. C. band was playing Monday night at the St. Joseph's hospital for the benefit of patients and nurses. Daniel Slezinger, director of the band, to make things clear, made the following announcement:

"We'll play one more march, then have a ten-minute intermission so that the boys can get their lips in place."

Tumultuous applause arose from the feminine listeners, and our director was somewhat perplexed.

ORCHESTRA NOTICE

Try-outs for the Revue orchestra will be held in the radio studio Monday at 8:30 p. m. A pianist, banjoist and trombonists are especially wanted. Those able to double are preferred.

HENRY MENDELSON,

lectures are held. So far there have been two adult lectures and about six debates and the number of students at all of these gatherings combined would not equal a fifth of the student attendance that should have been there. Taking the most recent program into consideration, the lecture on George Washington, there were less than a dozen students present.

Creightonians, let's get back of the movement and attend the few debates and adult lectures which remain. Show your loyalty, not only in athletic events, but in everything that is CREIGHTON.

AT THE PARAMOUNT

"Arrowsmith," one of the novels that won the Nobel prize for Sinclair Lewis, comes to the Paramount as a motion picture, for the week starting today. The story concerns a young physician who is torn between love and his profession.

The story should have a strong appeal to college students and especially to middle westerners for the setting of the forepart is a little Dakota town, where Martin Arrowsmith begins his career. The scene moves in quick succession to New York and from there to the West Indies where Arrowsmith and his wife go to fight the Black Death.

Ronald Colman takes the role of Arrowsmith in first part of an American hero that the popular star has played. He is supported by Helen Hayes, former stage star and one of the season's biggest screen discoveries.

AT THE WORLD

"Taxi" and "Charlie Chan's Chance" are the two features on the World Theater's double bill this week, beginning tomorrow.

James Cagney in "Taxi" is as you like him; a ten-minute egg with a heart of gold and how he busts the taxi racket wide open! Also in the cast are Loretta Young and George Stone.

In "Charlie Chan's Chance" you see Charlie Chan's greatest man hunt. It is full of "creepy thrills," action and suspense. Warner Oland is starred in this with Alexander Kirkland, H. B. Warner, Linda Watkins, and Marion Nixon. There is a murder in a penthouse and Charlie Chan looks down to trail the killer. He finds a beautiful woman, an ugly past and a startling confession.

AT THE ORPHEUM

A movie within a movie, depicting the neck-breaking stunts of the film dare-devils in a thrilling modern-day romance of the air and Hollywood, comes to the RKO Theater starting tomorrow. "The Lost Squadron," starring Richard Dix, is said to be his most romantic and dangerous role to date.

Supporting Dix are Mary Astor, Erick von Stroheim, Dorothy Jordan, Robert Armstrong, Hugh Herbert and others.

The vaudeville bill will be topped by the brilliant Ledova, one of the foremost dancers of the day.

GOVERNORS ENTERTAIN HERBERS AT DINNER

The Rev. J. A. Herbers, S. J., former dean of men, and now president of Regis college, Denver, was guest of honor at an informal dinner given in his honor by the Union Board of Governors and the Students' Union manager, E. D. Murphy, at the Knights of Columbus club Friday evening preceding the Marquette-Creighton basketball game.

Father Herbers was in Omaha last week conducting a retreat for the girls of St. Mary's high school. While he was on the Campus, handshakes were evident wherever he happened to be.

While at Creighton he was dean of men, faculty representative of the Creighton Students' Union, supervisor of the Agnew Loan Fund, moderator of fraternities, faculty supervisor of the Creightonian, director of dramatics, instructor in religion and moderator of the university orchestra.

Hospital Dramatic Club Will Present Essex Dane Drama

"Wrong Number," a one-act drama by Essex Dane, is to be presented over radio station WOW tomorrow night at 10 o'clock by members of the St. Catherine's Hospital Dramatic club.

The characters are Lois Pickard, Omaha, and Patricia Duffy, Central City, freshmen, and Ida Doll, senior, Avoca, Ia.

Fr. Bowdern Talks to Club

The Creighton Circle, an organization composed of the wives of the Medical School faculty, held their monthly meeting in the library Friday afternoon. The Rev. T. S. Bowdern, S. J., dean of the graduate school, spoke on "Culture and the Doctor's Wife." Mrs. H. von W. Schulte is president of the organization.

Medics Visit Weather Man

The Medical junior class visited the U. S. government weather bureau last week. Dr. C. S. Moran, assistant in pathology, conducted the tour and demonstrated the mechanism used in determining the physical factors in the air and their relationship to health.
