C. U. STUDENTS GIVE VALUABLE SERVICE IN SOCIAL WELFARE

Social Center Dependent On Creighton Students To

SOCIOLOGY CLASSES TEACH

Five Thousand dollars a year is the value placed on the teaching services of sociology students of Creighton University and Duchesne College by the Christ Child Society, according to the annual report of the organization.

"If it were not for this volunteer service rendered us by the students of Creighton and Duchesne sociology classes," says the year book issued by the society, "it would be impossible for us to carry out our social settlement work."

In order to qualify for a year's credit in sociology each student must give 36 hours of his or her time to the volunteer service in one or another of the Community Centers. Through their combined efforts together with the regular social workers eight hundred children receive instruction at the three settlement houses conducted by the Christ Child society.

The activities of the sociology students are many and varied. Besides supervising systematic recreation they conduct classes in sewing, cooking, Americanization, grammar and English, printing, shorthand, typing, dancing social and aesthetic, music, public speaking, parliamentary law, art, religion, and other practical and cultural pursuits. One of the girls from Duchesne at Christmas time successfully produced a play at the Center at 38th and Q streets.

"The results achieved by the students in this course," said Father Egan, head of the sociology department, "are highly gratifying to me, and it only goes to show what can be done where there is the will to do."

In line with their social work, students of Father Egan's classes assisted also in the recent drive of the Twenty Thousand Club to augment the funds of the Community Chest. The work was done under the supervision of Father Borer, head of the Omaha Catholic Charities and an active worker for the Community Chest.

CREIGHTON MEN ON CONVENTION PROGRAM

SIoux FALLS ALUMNI ENTERTAIN ATHLETES

Wynne and Dakotans Give Talks
At Banquet in Team's Honor

The Creighton Club of Sioux Falls, S. D., entertained Coach Chet Wynne and his Creighton track team at a banquet at Hotel Carpenter Saturday, May 1, following the team's appearance in the Dakota Relays.

John R. Fitzgibbon, Arts '22, president and organizer of the Sioux Falls club, gave a short talk congratulating Wynne, Captain Sas Keane and the other athletes and extending them a welcome to Sioux Falls.

Daniel W. Conway, Law '24, who had been called away from Sioux Falls early in the morning on a business matter, drove 300 miles during the day to attend the function, and as a reward of his loyalty, he was permitted to preside.

Dr. Raymond W. Mullen, M. D. '02, in a short talk, described his football days at Creighton when the players "were obliged to buy their own equipment, coach themselves and arrange their own schedules.

"And we didn't enjoy the luxury of having a substitute to take our places if we were injured,—we had to play anyway," said Dr. Mullen.

Coach Wynne thanked the Sioux Falls club for its hospitality.

"Since I have been connected with Creighton," said Wynne, "this is the first time that an alumni body has ever feted a team away from home. I like to see such entertainments as this, they foster the spirit that the team needs to win contests, the spirit that the whole university needs to progress."

Dr. T. J. Billion, M. D. '01, James May, newly elected president of the Columbus College alumni, and Captain Keane each gave short talks.

DR. HIPPLE GIVES EULOGY OF COUNT AT ORPHEUM CLOSE

Fitting Ceremonies Mark Close
Of Former Creighton
Theater

GLEE CLUB ON PROGRAM

The old Orpheum theatre will soon be but a heap of wreckage, and with it disappears one of John A. Creighton's former actualities. The Creighton theatre will henceforth be only a memory, but that memory predicates the activity of Count Creighton's in doing for the welfare of others.

The curtains of the theatre fell for the last time, Saturday night, on a scene held in the honor of the Count.

The ceremonies of that final presentation were simple but impressive. The Creighton Glee club sang several well received numbers. Acting Mayor Hopkins then gave a brief history of the theatre and immediately thereafter presented the portrait of John A. Creighton which hung over the stage for years, to Dean Hipple of Dentistry, acting in the absence of Pres. Grace S. J. Dean Hipple delivered a brief eulogy on Count Creighton.

"Men who endow colleges, build hospitals available to everyone, will not soon be forgotten," he said.

Bugle notes echoed softly, as the curtain descended, hiding the portrait of a builder from public gaze. The Portrait, a very impressive one, is on exhibition in the vestibule of the Registrar's office. It will most probably adorn the walls of our Auditorium in the Future.

FORMER C. U. MENTOR TO COACH AT NOTRE DAME

Tommy Mills, former Creighton University football and basketball mentor, has resigned from his coaching position at Beloit college, Beloit, Wisconsin, to accept a position as assistant football coach under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. Mills came to Creighton from Central high, Omaha, and left here to take a job at Beloit. He is famous for the basket ball quintets developed at Creighton during his regime on the Hilltop.

THE CREIGHTON COURIER

Published monthly by The Creighton University, Omaha, Neb., for gratuitous distribution.

Entered as second class matter, October 20, 1925, at the postoffice at Omaha, Nebraska, under the Act of August 24, 1912.

THEY BUILD UP SPIRIT

In addressing the Sioux Falls Creighton club May 1 when that organization banqueted the Blue and White track team, Coach Chet Wynne said: "I like to see such gatherings as this. They build up the spirit which the team needs to win contests. They build up the spirit the whole university needs to progress".

And Wynne, who matriculated at a school which is second to none in the land for that "spirit", and who has spent three years at Creighton, knows what he is talking about.

Such meetings build up spirit.

Eight Creighton track athletes took part in the Dakota Relays. When the program ended the team went to the hotel, donned their street clothes and prepared to bide their time until 10 p. m. when the train was to pull out for Omaha.

The Sioux Falls Creighton Club of less than twenty members had arranged to entertain the team, however, and the club members appeared to enjoy the entertaining as much as the team members. The club plans to repeat the entertainment next year.

Grads from as far back as 1899 were there, anxious to exchange news and views with the students of today.

When the Creighton track team competes next spring in the Dakota Relays it should be an added incentive for them to win to realize that these loyal alumni are in the stands "pulling" for them. And each achievement on the track or in the field will thrill those old grads just a little more as a result of these little meetings between team and alumni.

The interest which the Sioux Falls Creighton Club manifests in the track team of today is being talked about among the students and it is building up, as Wynne suggests, the spirit which the teams need to win, the spirit which the whole university needs to progress.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE ON CAMPUS

Under the supervision of Father Driscoll, work has been progressing rapidly, the past two weeks, on the "beautification project" of the north lawn, to the rear of the arts building, as well as the campus generally.

The north lawn has been elevated six inches with an entirely new soil surface. A large flower garden and many shrubs will be added. Father Driscoll is contemplating the planting of evergreen trees and other types of foliage.

Father Driscoll said, "With the proper arrangements of shade trees, not only will the north lawns beauty be greatly increased, but it would offer a resting place for future summer school attendants, as well as members of the order."

Additional shrubbery has been planted about the Arts and Dentistry buildings.

The old tennis courts, east of the law school, are being fitted in order to furnish the Scholastics with private courts on the campus.

A. H. GOESER HEADS CLUB

The formation of the Beaux Arts club, a society for the promotion and encouragement of literature and the fine arts at Creighton University, has been completed. Alvin H. Goeser, Arts senior, who has taken the lead in its organization, will be its first president. The society has received the hearty sanction of President Grace and Deans Schuetz and Flynn.

The club, the only one of its kind in the nation today, has for its purpose, according to Goeser, the promotion of interest in literature and the fine arts among the students at Creighton, and to encourage young Nebraska writers and artists through the promotion and promulgation of such publications as will further these aims as far as possible.

Membership in the society will be very selective and will be restricted to about twenty or thirty members. The club will hold regular meetings for the discussion of literature and the arts, and will get prominent men in and out of Omaha to address them on these subjects.

TRIDUUM FOR MEMORY MARTYRED MISSIONERS

The solemn triduum in honor of martyred Jesuit missioners was held May 11, 12 and 13.

The triduum, which consisted of three days of prayer, was held in honor of the eight Jesuit missionary priests who lost their lives while spreading the Christian religion among the North American aborigines.

The services consisted of special prayers and sermons each evening by the Rev. Fr. James W. Stenson, pastor of St. Philomena's church, the Rev. Fr. Waldron, of St. Columban Chinese Mission, Bellevue, and the Rev. Fr. Schott, pastor of Holy Name church. Father John De Brebeuf and Father Isaac Jaques, the best known of the eight martyred Jesuits who propagated the faith in northwestern America, were savagely murdered at the hands of the Iroquois Indians, among whom they were working.

These special services are held annually in honor of the martyred priests in all Jesuit schools and universities. The devotions were well attended by Creighton students and parishioners of St. John's parish.

Mr. Shanahan is a graduate in Law from Georgetown University.

Archib O'Brien, formerly of Omaha has filed on the democratic ticket for County attorney at Grand Island, Nebraska.

Twinly Devotion? Yes! One Twin Works While Other Studies

The Tully twins, Matt and Frank, present, perhaps, the greatest instance of twinly devotion ever known at Creighton.

Frank and Matt will be nineteen years of age on July fifth. They are ambitious and are determined to get a college education. In order to do this they have decided to put each other through school.

Matt is working in the Registrar's office this year. Frank is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Next year Matt and Frank will change places, and unless they tell their friends no one will know the difference for they look identically alike.

Both the boys are of the same stature, weight and built. They are alike even to their smiles and the marcel in their hair. It is often difficult for their friends to tell which is which as Frank often helps out Matt in his work that he might familiarize himself with the duties he will assume next year.

DONOVAN LECTURES ON "CHILDREN" OVER RADIO

The Problem of Child Training was discussed by Professor John Donovan from radio station WOAW May 1. Prof Donovan declared that,

"The parents of today constantly bewail the difficulty of raising children under modern city conditions. There are, they tell us, of many social and semi-social activities drawing the children away from the home, that it is altogether impossible to watch over their training, or to control their associations.

"The lamentations of these good people are well founded—the attractions running counter to the home are multiplied and various. But their diagnosis of the child is incorrect—the child of today is essentially the same as the child of yesterday; and, moreover, the parents have the remedies right within their hands. It is the home and not the child that has changed. Because the home of the present is so different from that of the past and not because of any changes in childhood, except as arising out of the changed conditions of the home, does the parent find a real problem in training the child.

CREIGHTON PLACES IN LATIN CONTEST

Boesen; Gerald Vasak
Other Entry

This is the second time Boesen has placed in the contest. He took fourth place in 1924. First place in the Latin contest was won by St. Louis university.

Boesen, a student of foreign languages, ancient and modern, has led his classes since entering Creighton university. He is active in scholastic activities. His home is in Creston, Ia.

Gerald Vasak, Arts sophomore, of Omaha, Nebraska, was the other Creighton contestant whose paper was sent to St. Louis to be judged. Vasak did not place in the final contest.

REQUEST COPIES DEAN FLYNN'S RADIO LECTURE

Dean Flynn of the Arts college has received several requests for copies of the speech given over WOAW on April 17 during the Creighton Educational Period on the subject "Why Go To College". All replies complemented the speaker on the thought content of the address and asked for a complete text. Some of the letters were from Ames, Iowa, Hammill, South Dakota, and points in Nebraska and surrounding states. Other letters received at WOAW expressed hearty commendation of the Creighton Educational Period.

C. U. MAN TAKES LEAD IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

To have every citizen of Nebraska take a complete physical examination yearly is the plan of the Preventative Medicine Division of the Douglas County Medical Society, of which Professor V. A. Lanphier of the dental faculty is chairman.

According to Professor Lanphier a campaign is to be started to educate the people to the necessity of such an examination as a general aid to health. He states that several supposed nuerotics have been examined in a thorough manner and hidden ailments such as mouth infections, or bowi trouble have been discovered and the patient benefited remarkably.

Diseases caught this way in their early stages, such as tuberculosis and similiar diseases result in a big saving to society as a whole.

The idea of an annual physical examination for the general public originated with the entrance of the United States into the World War. Physical examinations conducted at recruiting points revealed the fact that Americas young manhood was in such a deplorable physical condition as to be rendered unfit for military service. Many of the men were ignorant their ailments and had they had medical attention at the start of the disease they would have been physical fit when they were drafted.

"Many people have learned a lesson from the cars they drive. The experienced motorist has found that a general inspection of his car at regular intervals results in a lower upkeep cost. We are just like our cars and if our automobile is worthy of this care and attention we surely should be as considerate of ourselves" says Dr. Lanphier.

He further states that the system is being adopted in many of the middle western states, and has been generally accepted in the eastern states.

U. S. STAFF OFFICERS INSPECT ROTC UNIT

Local ROTC Corps May Receive "Distinguished College" Classification

The Creighton University ROTC unit was inspected May 10 for a Distinguished College rating by Lt. Col. L. K. Brown and Major Martin C. Wise of the General Staff, Washington D. C. The result of the inspection will not be known until all the colleges units in the Seventh Corps Area have been inspected.

Lt. Col. Brown and Major Wise left Washington, D. C., on March 15 on a tour of inspection that will take them to every college and university ROTC unit in the country. They had already inspected nineteen ROTC units before coming to Creighton. They left Omaha Monday evening for Vermillion, South Dakota. They inspected the Nebraska University unit Saturday.

In each corps area fifty per cent of the college ROTC units are selected for a Distinguished College rating. Of these fifty per cent only thirty per cent are awarded the rating. In being chosen for the inspection Creighton was ranked over fifty per cent of the college units in the Seventh Corps Area.

DR. SUCHA LECTURES ON "DOING FOR CRIPPLED"

In his lecture "Doing for the Crippled", broadcast from radio station WOAW on April 24, Dr. W. L. Sucha said that caring for the cripple is not only a merciful and economical undertaking, but every means known to medical science is now being vigorously pursued to remove the disability from every cripple.

In speaking of the situation in Omaha, Dr. Sucha declared, "Through our school examinations, through the school nurses and the Visiting Nurses Association we get a check on practically all of the cripples and through these agencies they are advised of the necessity of treatment and if unable to pay are offered the services of the clinics at the two Medical schools and their hospitals. However, very often these offers are spurned, and the parents of a crippled child will hold back from having it treated.

Twenty-five were recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Syracuse.

FROSH RELAY QUARTET RUNS QUARTER IN 47

Last week Creighton's freshmen relay team established a new quarter mile relay record for the stadium track when they beat the Central High quartet. Becker and Reed, former South High stars, Solomon of last year's Central High squad, and Flint won handily over the Central team with a lead of ten yards.

A few nights later the Central team won over a frosh quartet composed of Becker, Reed, Bertoglio and Solomon in the quarter mile relay, but the frosh beat them badly in the half mile relay with the same team, except Flint running in place of Bertoglio.

Coach Trautman has a promising freshman team with these five sprinters, and Bill Van Cleave, holder of State records in the high hurdles, and high jumping over six feet; James McAloon also clearing the bar around the same mark, and Louis Trautman is a promising middle distance runner.

In a special hundred yard dash Captain Sas Keane clipped the century in 9:8 seconds setting a track record, and Reed finished second in 10 seconds flat, and Flint and Becker third and fourth close on the heels of Keane.

At Stanford University a student must demonstrate that he can swim 220 yards on the surface and 40 yards under water and dive for a weight before he is permitted to have a canoe on the lake.

Captain Sas Keane Makes 21 Points Copping High Honors at Brookings

Although the Bluejay track team managed to garner eight first places as against only seven for the South Dakota Staters, the jackrabbits piled up too many points coming in second and won the Dual Meet 66½ to 50½. State took both first and second in the discus and the high hurdles. In three of the events the points were divided up, owing to a heavy fall of rain as the meet was being finished. The three events were the broad jump in which first place was conceded to Keane and second place to Kelley of State, the high jump which was conceded to Rossbach with Sheppard of State second, and the javelin throw which was handed to Mather of State with O'Connor of Creighton in second place.

FRESHMAN HOLDS TRACK RECORDS

Bill Van Cleave, one-armed Creighton star, freshman in the Commerce school, is one of the finest prospects for the Bluejay track team, a star athlete in high hurdles, broad and high jumps.

Four years ago Bill showed prospects of becoming a great pole vaulter. At the age of fifteen he could vault ten feet, and at sixteen cleared the bar at eleven.

His chances in this were ruined when he met with an accident, while working with a grading gang, in the summer of 1923. His sleeve caught in the fly wheel of the engine and his arm was mangled, and later amputated between the wrist and elbow.

However, Van Cleave turned his attention to high hurdles and high and broad jumps. In the state high school meet held in Lincoln last year he was first in all three events. His time during this meet was, high hurdles, 15.7; broad jump, 22.5; high jump, 6.3.

Van Cleave also played football and baseball before his accident. He played halfback on the Takamah high school team and was catcher on the city ball team.

The school is looking forward to good work to be done by this unusual sportsman.

Dr. Clarence Goebel, M. D. '24, has been appointed city physician in Sioux City, Ia., and Dr. T. J. Billion, M. D. '01, has been given a similar position in Sioux Falls, S. D.

PAN-HELLENIC IS TO AID CREIGHTON FRATS

Fr. Schuetz In Significant Statement On "Greek" Council

The Rev. Fr. Schuetz, dean of men, has issued the following statement with regard to the organization and government of the Pan-Hellenic Council, Creighton inter-fraternity organization.

"The foundation of the Pan-Hellenic Council is based upon a sincere intent to maintain the fraternities of Creighton University upon a plane of equality and friendship.

"It further tends to bind together the students of the various departments of the University and aid in the development of a greater and better school spirit.

"The Pan-Hellenic Council proposes to act as a medium whereby the student may, of his own initiative, govern his own fraternal affairs through the sanction of the Pan-Hellenic Council and without the interference of the Board of Discipline, except in times of necessity.

"It follows, therefore, that:

"All fraternities desiring to remain active factors on the Creighton campus must belong to the Pan-Hellenic Council.

"The president of each fraternity is ex officio a member of the Pan-Hellenic Council and shall, therefore, govern his attendance at the meetings accordingly."
