

Joint meeting decision—

J-Board proposals, revisions approved

By Patti Tucker

Several revisions were made in the earlier published proposals for the Student Judiciary Board Monday night in a joint meeting between the East and West Quad Councils.

After the hour discussion on the proposal and its revisions, the councils approved the entire proposal.

Reinert in serious to critical condition

The Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., vice president for university relations, is in serious-to-critical condition today after under-going a triple-coronary-bypass operation last week.

Reinert was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Sept. 1 for recurring chest pains. Surgeons decided on Sept. 6 to do surgery to correct blockage of arteries to the heart.

Tests taken last week showed he had not suffered a heart attack.

Officials say Reinert has been unconscious since the surgery, but his vital signs are stable.

It had been suggested prior to the meeting that the position of a faculty member on the board be omitted. Arts junior Pepe Angel, president of the East Quad Council said this was done because "there were too many people if there was a faculty member and he or she may not know all of the rules, per se." He also said there was always the possibility that the student involved could be in one of the faculty members' classes.

Business junior Marla Gowdey, vice president of the West Quad Council, said Mrs. Eileen Lieben, associate dean of students and dean of women, has agreed to be the administrator on the board.

Freshman seat

There was a heated debate on the issue of allowing a freshman a guaranteed seat on the board. The motion was made in regard to the provision that a town student is guaranteed a representative on the board.

Council members argued as to whether or not it would be discriminating to not guarantee this seat. One member said the freshmen "should be given a spot since they are such a large class; if the townies are guaranteed a spot, so should the freshmen."

The motion was defeated in a roll call vote taken by both councils.

Angel told the councils that if a town student was not selected by the joint screening committee, the vice president of the Town Council, already serving as a chief justice, would fill the requirement.

Gowdey said the selection committee made up of members from both councils would "screen the applicants, this way we will be able to select the best people. The process will be on point system."

Alternate justices

Another motion was made to require one of the two alternate justices selected to attend each hearing. The alternates would operate on a rotating schedule. The motion passed.

East Quad Council member, Jim Griesch, business senior, said he found in his past experiences on the J-Board "that it was generally easier to get the board together than it was to get the student involved to come before the board. I think it would be good to have the alternates there to promote continuity."

The councils also decided that if any justice has one or more unexcused absences, his or her resignation would be requested by the board.

Grad forms due

Applications for degrees must be filed with the Registrar's Office by October 1, 1979, by those expecting to be graduated in December 1979. Candidates must first purchase a Graduation Fee Ticket at the Business Office (A113) and present the ticket to the Registrar's Office (A226) to obtain the degree application forms. The graduation fee is $15.00.

Rising costs cause housing increase

The rising cost of gasoline and off campus housing has resulted in a record high number of students living in Creighton dormitories this semester,

James Doyle, vice president for student personnel and dean of students, said.

He said the increased demand had resulted in the placement of 20 students in temporary housing at the beginning of the semester, although all students living on campus are now in permanent housing.

Doyle said the Palms, a 15-story apartment building purchased by the university, has alleviated the housing crunch this year. The building, located at 320 N. 20th St., houses 215 upperclassmen and will accommodate 250 when non-student leases expire.

Creighton's success in handling the increased housing load is due to the university's booking policy, Doyle said. "Creighton does not overbook like many other schools. Our program is designed to have everyone in permanent housing by September," he said.

The university is already seeking additional housing for next year, but action will be based on next semester's enrollment and enrollment projections for the next academic year, Doyle said.

Cable TV franchise sought by Apke group

Tom Apke, Creighton Athletic director and basketball coach, has joined four businessmen in forming a corporation known as "Cablevision of Omaha." The corporation is seeking to obtain the cable television franchise in Omaha.

To establish cable television, the city council must award someone the franchise. Apke's group has joined with Cablecom-General, the 13th largest cable television company in the world, and will seek the Omaha franchise with them.

Usually, a national cable television company becomes interested in a specific market area. The company then starts to solicit help from local groups and form a partnership. From the merger, the national firm gains knowledge of local politics while the local group acquires financial and technical assistance.

'See who was good'

"We interviewed several of the national cable television companies. We wanted to see who was good and try to put together a good package," Apke said.

As for Cablecom-General, Apke said, "we hope that their expertise on the technical aspects of cable television and our representation of the Omaha community in the venture makes a good marriage."

However, Apke and his partners are not the only local group interested in gaining the cable television franchise in Omaha. Several other private citizens are undertaking similar ideas.

"The city council has hired a consultant to analyze the various bids from competing groups," he said.

"It looks like the consultant will receive our formal application for the franchise sometime in October," Apke said. "Then they are expected to make a decision sometime during the first quarter of 1980."

Apke cited two advantages for cable television. First, the quality of the picture is generally better, plus the diversification of entertainment is overwhelming.

"A myriad of shows can be shown on the 20 to 30 channels," he said.

Apke commented on the types of programs his group would like shown. "We want this to be many things to many people. Including educational television, we see benefits for programs directed toward senior citizens on one channel."

If cable television comes to Omaha, Apke and partners would like it to evolve around community wants and needs.

"We want cable television to be in good taste in Omaha," Apke said. "Many of the groups seeking the franchise include little Omaha input as far as actual programming and the development of programming."

Joining Apke are Luke J. Coniglio, pharmacist and owner of Central Park Pharmacies; Robert L. Armstrong, Jr., manager of employee and organizational development at Northern Natural Gas Co.; William G. Archibald, of the William G. Archibald Insurance Agency; and Leon Black, president of L. Black and Associates.

Loan helps in 'tight' situations

Caught in an emergency with no money? Have you checked all the possibilities open to you? Possibly not. One source you may have missed is the Agnew Loan.

"The Father Agnew Student Loan Fund was started in 1931 by Al Fiore, a member of the faculty, as a memorial to Father Agnew," said Tim Walsh, Student Board of Governors, vice president of finance.

At that time, money for the fund came through donations from friends and faculty of the university, Walsh said. Dances were also held each year to build up the fund. At the beginning of the 1979-80 school year, the fund totaled $9,658.58.

"The fund is provided as a service to students at large," Walsh said, "and available up to $100.00." The terms include a one dollar service charge on any amount borrowed to be paid on the first day of the last month of the semester in which the loan was processed. If the payment is late, an eight percent interest rate is then applied.

Emergency situation

If an emergency situation arises and a student needs money, the process involved in attaining the loan is simple. "The student may pick up a form in the finance office, fill it out, and return it to me," Walsh said. "I then review it and contact the business office to check on the past performance of the student in paying off loans. If I think the loan is needed, I sign it and send it to Student Personnel. The loan may be processed within a week for emergency situations," he said.

The only problem encountered with the loan has been its abuse by some students. "It's not a blanket approval and some students who have received it in the past have taken advantage of it," Walsh said.

Keep flow going

A main concern he expressed is the desire to keep the flow going to be available to more students and to let the students know there is money available to them if they are in need.

"This is one way students can learn about their credit rating, and how important it is to have a good rating," Walsh said.

Budget meeting set, recommendations out

The Student Board of Governors will hold its annual budget meeting this Sunday at 1 p.m. in Walsh Lecture Hall, Eppley College of Business Administration building.

Vice President of Finance, Tim Walsh said he hopes the meeting will run smoothly. "It should go well on Sunday because we followed our budget guidelines during the committee meetings," he said.

"Hopefully we arrived at something which will suit everyone. We screened the applicants and this should eliminate a lot of the problems that occurred last year," Walsh said.

The budget recommendations are as follows:

Council amends laws

Tuesday the West Quad Council voted to amend the attendance bylaws of its constitution.

The bylaws had read that if a floor or wing had no representative at three meetings during one semester, the governor of that floor or wing would be recalled.

The amendment now states that a warning will be issued after a floor or wing is not represented for the first time after the second absence the governor of that floor or wing will be recalled.

In other action, council members elected Arts sophomore Kathy Bucher as treasurer. She succeeds Arts junior Milan Spisek who resigned since resident advisors aren't allowed to be council members.

Arts sophomore Joel Melnick, president, said the South Quad meetings will include Sheridan Hall and the Palms Apartments.

Props OK for show

As part of its Friday film series, the Student Board of Governors has managed to obtain "The Rocky Horror Picture Show."

Tom Donnelly, vice president of events, said the "show is one of the dumbest pictures you will ever see, but it also one of the most fun."

"Rocky Horror" uses an element which is not found in most movies. "It is an audience participation show, the audience will cheer, toast and applaud the show," Donnelly said.

He added there are certain props the students can bring with themselves to the movie. The props allowed include rice, toast, water pistols, and newspaper confetti. Students will not be allowed to bring in any vegetables such as tomatoes, buckets of water, or any bottles or cans into the lecture hall.

Donnelly said they will operate the show on a first come, first serve basis. "We are expecting a larger crowd than normal, so students should try to see the early shows so they can get in," he said.

He added the lecture hall will be cleaned up by members of Delta Zeta sorority after the showings.

Pit improves, adds machines

The Pinball Pit experienced a major overhaul during the summer recess. All of the "games" were replaced, and a number of new electronic games were added, including the popular "Space Invaders" machine.

Tom Donnelly, Student Board of Governors director of programming, is enthusiastic over the new changes. "We plan to get rid of the pool table to make room for more computerized games. A change machine is going to be installed also.

"All the machines in the Pit have been burglar-proofed to prevent the problems we've had with that in the past," Donnelly added.

As far as student patronage is concerned, Donnelly is certain it will improve as all the changes materialize. "The SBG receives 50 percent of the money collected from the machines. In the first week of this semester, we made $350, and should things continue as planned, we could make as much as $1,000 a week on the Pit."

Donnelly also said plans are being made for a pinball tournament later in the year. An electronic game tourney may also be planned, he said.

Hours at the Pinball Pit are the same as those for the Brandeis Snack Bar.

Nine visit Japan, gain understanding

This summer, nine administrators and faculty members in the Schools of Arts and Science and Business Administration visited Japan. Their 10-day stay included sight-seeing, business, entertainment, and a cultural exchange.

According to James R. Doyle, vice president for student personnel and dean of students, the purpose of the trip was to get a better understanding of the educational background of the Japanese students who are coming here, to meet their families and to get an idea of what the Japanese Foundation is all about.

Doyle said they learned a lot about the Japanese people during the trip. "The Japanese are from a more conservative background than most of our students are and the family life is extremely important to them," he said. "They are a very organized society and very conscious of their resources. We didn't see much waste in any area over there."

"They seem to be very serious people, they have a sense of humor but their intent is very serious," Doyle said. He said the students they talked to wanted to know about the academic programs, if they had to study hard.

"Their leaders there are very concerned about the quality of education in the university, especially in the professional schools and in medicine," Doyle said. "There is very little German influence, they've found that American medicine is the best there is."

"So, they are here to get a quality education," he said.

Doyle feels the trip helped the administration understand the business practices of the Japanese people. "We probably would take a lot more things for granted. They are very business-oriented and they have different customs that we are not used to," he said.

Extinguishers safe, but not for all fires

How safe are the fire extinguishers in the dorms? They'll easily handle any fires in wood, paper and cloth but if you have to battle an electrical fire with them you may not be as successful.

The extinguishers are a 2-A classification, a type which is no longer made any more. Chief W.J. Patton of the Omaha Fire Department Inspection Bureau said the 2-A extinguisher is still a good type, if it is maintained.

"If we were to go into the dorms now, we would not order this type out and the newer ones in, if these are kept up," Patton said. He also said the newer types are classified as ABC extinguishers which can control combustible, electrical, or liquid fires.

Has no effect

He said the 2-A extinguisher should not be used on electrical fires in the dorms. "The extinguisher would have no effect on the fire, your best bet in that instance is to call the Fire Department."

"The way the fire codes are written, the buildings must have extinguishers with at least a 2-A classification," Patton said. "If the buildings were being built now, we would require them to have the multi-purpose extinguisher."

Anderson Fire Equipment Company services Creighton's extinguishers once a year according to Keith Weide, company representative. "We come into the dorms usually during the summer or during one of the vacations in the school year and check out all of the extinguishers," he said.

During this time, the pressure and contents of the extinguishers is checked. Every five years, the extinguishers must undergo a hydrostatic test which is no longer done on the 2-A extinguishers according to Patton.

Approved and usable

Brother Frank Jelinek, S.J., superintendent of buildings and grounds, said "all of the fire extinguishers on campus are approved and are able to be used. We will not change to the newer types as long as these are still good." Jelinek also said when the university does change the extinguishers, they will change to the multi-purpose type.

Jelinek said there are some multi-purpose extinguishers on campus in areas which have a lot of electrical equipment in them.

Marketing group sets meeting time

The American Marketing Association, Creighton chapter, will hold its first general business meeting at 3 p.m. in the Eppley College of Business Administration building room 311, on Wednesday.

The meeting is open to all students interested in marketing. Upcoming events, a service project and the club's charter presentation will be included in the program.

KOCU expands news

KOCU's News Department has expanded its program this year.

News Director Kelly Ryan, Arts sophomore, hosts "Speaking of Creighton" a program based on students' questions and opinions concerning Creighton and its community. The show airs Sundays at 8:00 p.m.

This week's show will focus on fraternities and sororities, featuring guests Mark Meszaros, Inter Fraternity Council president, and Joanne Weithers, Panhellenic Council president.

SBG reps criticize editorial

To the editor:

In last week's Creightonian the Editorial concerning the "Spouse Card" controversy and Vice President of Student Services, Don Biseneus' alleged lack of "not knowing all the answers" was an unfair commentary and one that we feel was irresponsible on the editor's part.

The editor felt that Don's inability come up with all the answers to questions asked was "odd". New questions were raised, and, since Don is not a mind reader, he did not have the proper information available.

We, as members of the SBG, feel that Don has done a good job on the issue and that the editor should recognize that it is better to have all the questions answered no matter how long it takes—that is being responsible—unlike some editorial comments.

SAE's rally to 'beat respirator'

by Kevin P. McGowan

As a high school student, Brian Benkendorf played on the football team. At Creighton he played intramural football, baseball, and basketball for his fraternity.

If he had returned this year, he would have been a Business junior, majoring in finance and thinking about law school.

Benkendorf is now in the intensive care unit at St. Francis Medical Center in Peoria, Ill. As a result of a June 30 car accident. Still relying on an artificial respirator, he is paralyzed from the neck down with only limited mobility in his left arm. His doctors say he will never walk.

He wants to return to Creighton

Mass scheduled

A Mass of the Holy Spirit will be offered this year on Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Although a Catholic celebration, the Mass is open to those of other religious denominations.

All 11 a.m. Wednesday classes will be cancelled so students may participate.

next year. His fraternity brothers want to help make that possible, according to Sigma Alpha Epsilon president Jim Schlehuber, Arts senior, who is coordinating the "Benk-a-thon" to raise money and Benkendorf's spirits.

Dribbling marathon

The "Benk-a-thon" is a basketball dribbling marathon which runs from Benkendorf's hometown of Bushnell, Ill. to Omaha. It will start at 6 a.m. next Friday and is expected to last until 6 p.m. that Sunday at Creighton. Schlehuber expects all of the SAE's to participate.

Schlehuber said he will have tables set up on campus where students can sign up to pledge money on a per-mile basis.

The fraternity has set a goal of raising $10,000 which will be used to buy Benkendorf an electric wheelchair, Schlehuber said.

"Our goal is to raise $10,000 and Brian's goal is to beat the respirator. Since we started the campaign, his condition and morale have really improved. Before, the respirator was giving him seven breaths a minute, and now he's gotten it down to three per minute."

Upper-body mobility

"Once he gets off the respirator, he'll be able to intensify his physical therapy program. It's possible for him to recover some upper-body mobility."

The "Benk-a-thon" will not make its 60-hour trip unnoticed, said Schlehuber. He has notified local and state police agencies along the route and they have offered their assistance and support.

Newspapers and broadcast stations along the route have also been notified, and should provide some coverage, he said.

The arrival in Omaha will be climactic, according to Schlehuber. He plans to involve as many as 300 students, with the possible inclusion of the basketball team in a police-escorted caravan on the last leg of the "Benk-a-thon" from Council Bluffs.

'Beat the respirator'

Schlehuber said the support and responses Benkendorf has already received from students are increasing his determination to "beat the respirator" by the start of the "Benk-s-thon."

Brian Benkendorf

"The greater the amount of support we get on campus," Schlehuber said, "the more determined and enthusiastic Benkendorf will be."

"His mother wanted me to mention how proud she is of the spirit shown by the student body here. She can see what it's doing for her son and she's very thankful."

Management society slates picnic

Dr. Andrew Hoh, faculty advisor for SAM, said, "This year we have four or five new faculty members who are all good athletes. The faculty team will be stronger than ever."

All students are welcome to attend the event. Rides to the park will be provided at 11:45 a.m. in front of the Administration building.

The Society for the Advancement of Management will begin the year by sponsoring its annual Business Administration picnic.

The event will start at noon Saturday at Elmwood Park.

The faculty/student softball game will highlight the picnic.

Mazzarella said "the purpose of the organization is not to decide which is right and which is wrong, but rather present the facts. Primarily, the organization is for those in the Health and Law professions since they will be the decision makers of the future, but we still urge the interested student and community member alike to attend."

Mazzarella also said the organization is presently obtaining an All-University charter. He said its name is significant.

"We feel a need for a new outlook on things, to have people get out and start taking an interest in these issues. We want to present the facts and let the students make up their own minds."

Other founders of the organization include Tim Lukavski, Arts senior and Joe Creighton, Arts junior.

Active members of the organization include Dr. Henry T. Lynch, M.D., Dr. Robert J. Luby, M.D., Dr. Thomas W. Hilgers, M.D., Dr. Michael H. Sketch, M.D., and J. Patrick Green, professor of law.

Mazzarella said, "these highly respected professional men will be lecturing and are there for firsthand information and advice. For an organization of this type of function, a first-hand professional staff is a necessity."

The two active chairmen who approve all decision making in the organization are the Rev. Valentine J. Peter, associate professor of theology and the Rev. James E. Hoff, S.J., associate professor of theology and ethics.

Mazzarella said the first lecture will hopefully be in two to three weeks in Walsh Lecture Hall.

RA's participate in CPR clinic

As of last weekend, every dormitory wing has at least one person certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation. All resident advisors were required to attend one of the eight-hour CPR classes offered in the Kiewit Center on Saturday and Sunday.

This is the first year the R.A.'s have been required to take the CPR course. In the past, they were required only to take safety and first-aid.

Thomas J. Schnitker, associate dean of students, said that Arts sophomore Sandy Senter and Arts junior Cindy Works offered to organize the program this fall. "I think everyone involved deserves a lot of thanks for giving up their weekend," Schnitker said.

When asked why R.A.'s that were certified in CPR this summer had to take the course again this fall, Cindy Works said, "It's just the kind of thing you can't practice too much. Now every R.A. is prepared to handle emergency first-aid, from choking and heart attacks to drowning victims."

The Student Board of Governors is presently looking for someone with emergency or medical technology training to organize CPR clinics for Creighton students.

Here's how to eliminate 18 hours of study time each week.

If your study technique is typical, you spend 26 hours each week buried in your books. 66-2/3% of this study time is wasted on an antiquated set of procedures. Procedures that have remained unchanged for over a hundred years.

What's worse, you presume there is nothing you can do to improve. The prevailing attitude on campus is "You either have it or you don't!"

What nonsense!

Any student with average intelligence can improve his reading and study skills at least 3 times with a) better techniques, b) expert coaching, and c) controlled practice. And he can do it quickly—in time to dramatically increase his grades in the current semester.

For this is precisely what the Evelyn Wood course offers, and backs it up with an iron-clad, no-nonsense, written guarantee.

THE GUARANTEE

Any student who attends every Evelyn Wood class, completes the required practice, yet does not improve reading and study skills at least 3 times will be eligible to receive a full tuition refund.

Over 1,000,000 Graduates Over 95% SUCCESS!

Since 1959, three Presidents have invited Evelyn Wood instructors to teach their staffs how to read better. All in all, the list of famous graduates reads like Who's Who:

Why Do So Many Students Enroll?

This question was posed to several thousand college freshmen who had just enrolled in the Evelyn Wood course. The answers were varied, but mostly on the same wave length: 1) They wanted to reduce their study time; 2) They wanted to feel more confident in class, more in control; and 3) They wanted to learn more, to achieve better grades.

At the end of the course, each student was asked if his goals were met. Over 95% said yes. The other 5% received their tuition back.

Why Do Most Students Read Slowly?

Most students have no idea what their reading ability is. If they are typical, they read about 300 words per minute (or one page of a novel). Why is it that students read at virtually the same speed, considering how very different they all are?

The cause can be traced back to the First Grade. When we were taught to read, we were asked to read out loud, word-by-word. Later, in the Second Grade, we were asked to stop saying each word out loud. But we never really did. Fact is, you're saying these words right now—not out loud, but to yourself, one word at a time!

This means you read only as fast as you talk—about 250 to 300 words per minute. (As if to prove the point, Guinness's Book of World Records lists John F. Kennedy as delivering the fastest speech ever at 327 words per minute).

How Do You Learn To Read Faster? With The Same Comprehension?

At the Mini-Lesson you will find out how the Evelyn Wood course eliminates the habit of reading only one word at a time. How you can learn to read 3 or 4 words instead of only one. To see how natural this is, look at the dot in the middle of this phrase:

the grass · is green

Try as you may, you can't help but see the other words. With training, you learn to use this natural, but un-used potential. You learn to see groups of words simultaneously. This will double, triple, possibly quadruple your present ability.

This concept is diametrically opposed to the old-fashioned speed reading technique of picking out key phrases. In the Evelyn Wood course, skimming is a dirty word!

The PRICE BOILS DOWN TO $2 AN HOUR.

Read what the University of Illinois student paper said (Ed Sejud): "If a student avails himself of all the facilities by the (Evelyn Wood) Institute and attends all the class sessions, the price boils down to only about $2 an hour, cheaper than any private tutoring you'll ever find. Spread over four years, the course can save thousands of study hours and can probably affect a boost in a student's grade-point average. Assignments which once took days can be accomplished in a matter of hours, leaving much more time for other pursuits. The Institute estimates that it can save average students 350 hours of study time each semester—probably an understatement".

MINI-LESSON THIS WEEK

Don't take anybody's word for it—not ours, not anybody's. We developed the Mini-Lesson so you could make up your own mind about the course. The Mini-Lesson lasts only 1 hour. During that short time, you have a chance to try your hand at it—to find out if it really can do the job for you. In 60 minutes over 80% of the audience increases reading speed. Just a little, but enough to know what it's like. At the Mini-Lesson you will find out how the Evelyn Wood technique handles difficult textbook material. How it improves memory and concentration. How it makes reading a pleasure instead of a chore. Let's face it, if the Evelyn Wood course is for real, you ought to know about it.

Old Market offers timeless enchantment

Photos and story by James P. Healy

Downtown Omaha's Old Market was lively, in its Sunday best, last weekend. Light, cool breezes and splashes of sunlight were on the Market's invitation to enjoy its offerings.

Sharing in the festive mood were craftsmen—and women—who brought out their wares either for sale or for the splendor of sidewalk shoppers. There was the engraver, the metal sculptor, the wood worker and the seamstress. Each, resplendent in creative work, transcended the chaos of the world without.

The jollity suggested a timeless place, where perchance the past and present merged pleasantly.

And the merriment was enhanced by light, spirited sounds of Dixieland jazz which emanated from the musical talent of Dan McGlynn and band. The notes seemed to leap amid the smiling crowd, only to ascend to find rest among the rafters of the Market warehouses.

It was an afternoon to enjoy, and lazily at that.

Here, in the heart of the city, was somewhat of a hideaway—where the smile was the language, as was child-like curiosity the theme.

But for whatever reason, the people were there, in not too great a number, to enjoy the magical offering of a September afternoon.

Bluejay expands

Down the street from Creighton is the Blue Jay Bar, and after a year in operation, it is already being expanded.

The expansion will be finished in 30 to 50 days and co-owner Tom Janda says with the new addition they'll be able to accommodate three times as many people as before.

There are two major additions, the first being a new room added on behind the bar. This is equipped with additional booths and tables, and even has a fireplace. The other addition is the remodeling of the downstairs into a party room. It will consist of a bar and a fireplace. The room will be rented out only for private parties, meetings, and other activities.

Janda said the main reason for the renovation is simply the need for more room and also for a change in atmosphere.

Omaha Symphony Orchestra to open season

The Omaha Symphony Orchestra will open its 1979-80 season Sept. 19th at the Orpheum Theater.

The symphony, under the direction of Thomas Briccetti, begins its 57th season with works by Beethoven, Rachmaninoff and Brahms. The guest artist will be pianist Andre Watts.

The symphony expands to two performances weekly this season with concerts on Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8 p.m. Student discount tickets go on sale at the Orpheum box office at 7:45 p.m. on the night of the performance. The cost of these tickets is $2.00.

Highlights of the season include an appearance by guest performer Eugene Fodor, Dec. 5 & 6 and the performing of Beethoven's "Symphony No. 9" on April 23 & 24.

Chain mail, armor adorn Hutson in 'Camelot'

Bill Hutson (Arthur) explains "Camelot" to his teacher Merlin (Joe Miloni) in the Omaha Playhouse production.

Adorned in chain mail and stage armor, Creighton's Bill Hutson, an acting instructor in Theater, steps out to take the lead as King Arthur in the Omaha Community Playhouse production of the musical "Camelot."

His costume, like that of the other characters in the Playhouse version of the Lerner and Loewe musical, is patterned from the 14th and 15th century tapestries. The tapestries were used as models to give a more realistic, less storybook quality to "Camelot," which took place at an earlier time than is usually portrayed.

Based on Sir Thomas Malory's story, "Camelot" is the tale of King Arthur and his knights of the round table, of Queen Guenevere and Lancelot, of a magic fairytale world and its downfall.

Two special performances will feature a first for a Playhouse musical.

On Sept. 26 and 30, Ricky Smith and Sherri Srb, who portray Lancelot's servant, Squire Dap, and Guenevere's attendant, Lady Anne, respectively, will be interpreting what is going on, in sign language for the deaf.

Smith is a deaf actor and mime artist from New York, working in the Omaha community with the Metropolitan Arts Council. Srb is a professional interpreter for the deaf and hearing impaired.

Camelot is being performed now through Sept. 30. Curtain times are: Tuesdays through Thursdays, 8 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays, 8:30 p.m., Sundays, 7:30 p.m. There is also a matinee at 3 p.m. on Sept. 23.

According to Hutson, there is a possibility the musical will be held over an extra week. Student and group rates are available. For tickets, call the Playhouse Box Office at 553-0800.

Philosophy society will feature discussion of family farm concept

The Student-Faculty Forum of the Creighton Philosophy Society will feature a panel discussion on "Religion, Land-Use and Community Values," Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Drawing Room, on the lower level of the Brandeis Student Center.

The focus of the discussion is the document entitled "Strangers and Guests: toward community in the heartland," the work of a committee commissioned by 44 bishops from a dozen Midwestern states.

The panel members will analyze the importance of the issue contained in this statement, which was sent to Pope John Paul II in preparation for his upcoming visit to Iowa on Oct. 4.

Dr. Robert Apostol, professor of philosophy and panel member, cited the interest students should take in this issue. He said a significant concept for discussion is the alienation of the farmer as one who works on the land. The topic will question the "bigger is better" mentality present today which erodes the family farm operation basic to our country's agricultural economy.

Other panel members include Dr. Thomas Nitsch, professor of economics, Rabbi Jonayhan Rosenbaum, University of Nebraska at Omaha, professor of philosophy and religion, Richard Edgerton, Arts senior, and Cindy Dillenburg of the Nebraska Indian Commission.

Dancers look to fall

"A Company of Dancers," Creighton's resident dance company, is rehearsing for the approaching fall concert.

Guest choreographer Bess Saylor, associate director of the Dayton, Ohio Ballet Company will be featured. Also presented will be the works of Valerie Roach, company director, and Joellen Meglin, instructor in modern dance.

Performances will be October 26 and 27 at 8:00 p.m., and October 28 at 3:00 p.m. All showings will be held at the Witherspoon Concert Hall, Joslyn Art Museum.

General admission is $4.00 for adults, with a $2.00 discount for senior citizens, and a $1.00 discount for students. Group rates are also available.

Young GOP's seek recognition

Name recognition is the goal for Creighton's two-year-old Young Republicans organization this semester.

Vice President Dennis Slagter said the group clarifies partisan ideologies for its participants. "We present knowledge and then with that information, they can decide one way or the other," Slagter said.

To promote awareness, 250 club newsletters are being sent to students who indicated interest in Young Republicans during registration.

And although Republicans traditionally support ideological conservatism, Slagter said it is difficult to be conservative on Creighton's campus.

Discussed at a recent meeting were methods of student involvement in politics and fund raising projects to enable campaign support for the 1980 presidential elections, Slagter said.

He said advice on group organization and workshops in persuasion techniques will be offered at the College Republican Gathering, Sept. 22 at Wayne State College in Wayne Neb.

As one of the partisan clubs on campus, Young Republicans has run into conflicts initiating programs, Slagter said.

Plans for a Democratic-Republican forum on current political issues will be discussed at the Young Republicans next meeting on Sept. 24.

Horning receives commission

CU artist-predictor of possibilities

Jerry Horning putting a glaze on one of his ceramic pots.

by Catherine Gillis

"A good artist is a predictor of possibilities; of things to come," Jerry Horning, assistant professor of Fine Arts, said.

Horning has been commissioned by the Nebraska Arts Council (NAC) to create some ceramic pieces for presentation to individuals and corporations supportive of the arts in Nebraska.

"I don't know why I was chosen," Horning said. "There are a lot of good artists in Nebraska."

A spokesperson for the NAC said that Horning was chosen because he came "very highly recommended." The council was also familiar with the "high quality of his work," which has been in national competitions. Some of his work has been displayed in the Smithsonian Institute.

Senior year decision

Horning did not decide to specialize in ceramics until his senior year at South Dakota State University.

"I always liked to do anything in the arts," he said. "I traveled with the Holiday on Ice show for two years, then entered college when I was drafted. In the Army I was put on special assignments, singing and dancing in shows. So many others were so talented and younger than I was. That was when I decided that I couldn't be a musician."

As a graduate student in Denver, ceramics became his medium.

"Working with clay is a way of life; an attitude towards the world," Horning said. "Students are surprised when I talk about pots as people. If a pot has personality, it is strong and full. It has soul and life. Even the parts of a pot, the neck, foot, belly, shoulder, lip, are described in human terms."

Social comment

Horning is beginning to expand his work by trying some social comments and strange sculpture.

"Although I am doing new things I am still doing my pots," he said. "I feel comfortable with them."

Horning's wife Mary Jo is a weaver. Currently, they are combining their efforts to make some large planters for the Kiewit Center's poolside.

Oil has part in show

Oil plays an important part—not only in today's energy-conscious world, but also in the plot of "The Mad Woman of Chaillot," which will be staged in the Little Theater Oct. 3-6.

Written by Gean Giraudox, the play evolves around a conflict between a company—which wants to buy oil—and a group of Parisians led by the Mad Woman of Chaillot who foil the company's attempt.

Curtain time for the production is 8 p.m. Admission is $1 for students and $2 for the public.

Cheerleaders chosen

Try-outs for the 1979-1980 cheerleading squad were held September 6, in the old gym. "There were at least 30 people who tried out," said Frank Herr, business junior and co-captain of the squad.

To qualify for the squad each female candidate had to do a school song, personality dance, two partner stunts, two jumps, a tumbling pass, and the splits. For the male candidate to qualify for the squad he had to be able to do three mounts and a tumbling pass.

"The competition was tough," Herr said.

Of the 30 people who tried out for the squad, the following ten people will make up the 1979-1980 cheerleading squad. Captains: Frank Herr, Business junior and Ann Manago, Arts sophomore. Squad: Mike Phelan, Arts sophomore; Jeff Nechanicky, Arts sophomore; Rus Biven, Arts freshman; Joe Woods, Arts freshman; Mike Mapes, Business freshman; Jo Ann Romanelli, Arts junior, Beth Kelly, Nursing junior; Lisa Troyer, Arts junior; Lucy Robbins, Arts sophomore; and Claudia Boswell, Arts freshman.

Herr said, "The squad will be doing more dance movements and more intricate pyramid building. We are also hoping for more crowd participation."

Bluejays capture 1st in Concordia soccer tourney

By Marjie Ducey

Creighton's soccer team took two big leaps along Coach Mark Schmechel's "step by step" building process last weekend.

The Bluejays defeated the University of Nebraska at Omaha 3-2 and Concordia 2-1 to win the Concordia soccer tournament in their debut as a varsity sport.

It was the first time Creighton has defeated UNO, the defending Northern States Soccer Conference champions.

"The wins were encouraging and very important," Schmechel said. "They showed we could come from behind, which is very difficult, and that we can play with a lead."

UNO was ahead 2-0 in the first game of the meet Saturday when Bluejay striker Denny Haller scored with five minutes left in the half. Haller collected another goal 30 seconds after the break and sophomore Randy Scott scored with two minutes left to give Creighton the victory.

Timing important

"The timing (on the goals) was very important, it made it quickly 2-2," Schmechel said. "We might have been in trouble. It's extremely hard to come back from a 2-0 deficit in soccer."

Scott scored both Creighton goals in the second game against Concordia, which got its only point in the second half.

"The first half we were playing with the wind and that worked to our advantage," Schmechel said. "In the second half we were playing defensively, holding off the pressure of their team."

"Tracy Neighbors completely shut off their top scorer and that was a saving thing for us. That guy was the key to their team and they couldn't play to him."

Four injured

Neighbors was one of four Creighton players injured in the meet. Others include goalkeeper Kevin FitzGerald, sweeper Dave Hoover and left-wing striker Mark Pilney. FitzGerald and Hoover should be back today when Creighton competes in the Northern States Conference preseason tournament, Schmechel said.

Schmechel said Haller, who substituted for the injured Pilney against the Mavs, will be a starter in the future.

"He's a scrappy little player. He won't give up on the ball, he goes right after it," Schmechel said. "That's the difference between him and Randy (Scott). Randy waits for the opportunities to score while Denny creates them."

Schmechel said he was "basically pleased" with the Bluejay efforts.

More physical

"We struggled a little in the first half of the first game because the UNO team was more physical than we'd anticipated," he said. "We had a little talk at the break and they came out and played a completely different game. UNO had intimidated the players, especially the new ones."

"We have a young team in back (on defense) and it will take them a while to get it together. But they showed a marked improvement in the second game. They started picking up on things."

Creighton, which received a bye in the first round of the NSSC meet, will face the winner of the Northwestern-Morningside game at 5:15 p.m. at Dodge Park today. Tournament play moves to the UNO stadium Saturday and Sunday.

"After the tournament we'll have a good idea of what we're up against," Schmechel said.

CU 9 eyeing future as fall season starts

The Creighton baseball team is beginning its fall schedule today with an eye on the future.

The Bluejays are warming up for a possible matchup with the Southern California in April.

"Southern California's repeated College World Series successes have made them very familiar to Omaha fans," said Tom Apke, Creighton athletic director and head basketball coach. "This will spark a lot of interest in the Trojan-Bluejay game."

Coach Jerry Barteel feels he is bringing an improved team into the match today against the University of Nebraska at Omaha at 3 p.m. at Booth Field.

Barteel said the outfield looks good and he is pleased with the swings of his players.

Other foes this week include Iowa Western and Bellevue. The Jays will also meet alumni Sept. 22-23.

The team roster:

Brian Muench, Rusty Thomas, Mark Lange, Paul Blanchard, Mike Knauss, Dennis Rasmussen, Tom Traen, Lance Long, Doug Palmer, Randy Schwartz, Robert Botts, Mark

Jay Butrym to bypass final year

Bluejay cager Bill Butrym will bypass his final year of eligibility, Creighton Athletic Director and basketball Coach Tom Apke has announced.

"Even though Bill has not played a great deal, he has certainly made significant contributions and we appreciate all of his efforts," Apke said. "We wish him well in his career."

Butrym, a fifth-year senior, was a Bluejay redshirt in 1976-77 after suffering a severe fracture to his right hand. He began playing again the following season.

Butrym said the decision was made on a mutual basis.

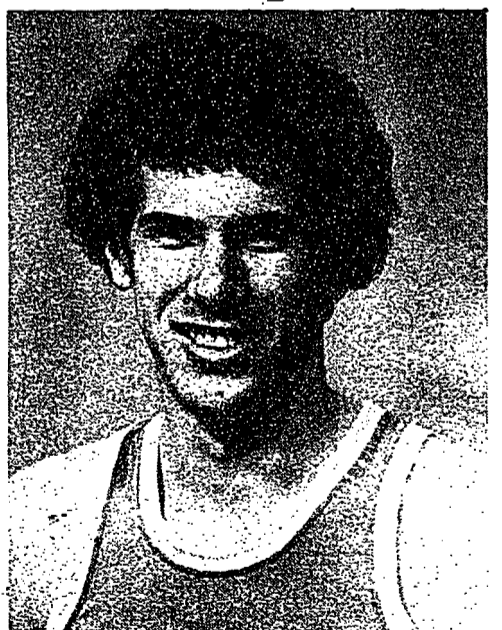

"I was talking to Coach Apke and he said he didn't think I would be playing and traveling much," Butrym said. "Therefore I decided not to play this season. It's less frustrating."

Butrym said not being able to travel with the team was a determinant factor. Creighton has a 12-man traveling squad. There were 14 players before Butrym left the squad.

"I'm used to not playing but traveling is the most fun part about basketball," he said. "That takes away too much."

Butrym has stayed with the Bluejay program despite his lack of playing because "school was far more important," Butrym said.

"I'd rather have gone to Creighton and played less than gone to another school where the education was not as good."

Butrym

"I'm what you call a 'classic student-athlete.' School far outweighs the value of basketball. If it didn't, I would have just packed my bags and gone last week."

Butrym earned his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree last spring in accounting. He returned to Creighton this fall enrolled in Master of Business Administration courses.

Following completion of his Master's degree, Butrym will resume work with Arthur Anderson Accounting Firm in his hometown, Milwaukee. He was employed there last summer.

Following grows for 'ultimate' sport

by Richard J. McCormick

What has 36 arms and floats? If you guessed the 1979-1980 Creighton Rowing Club, you're right.

"The 18-man squad is double the size of last year's," said Jim DeLine, Arts senior and Rowing Club president. "And the enthusiasm is immense."

DeLine said there has been less interest in the freshman squad.

"They do not realize rowing takes a big sacrifice," he said. "It's often necessary to get up early for practice, miss meals and make every practice so the team can be prepared."

Rowing is the ultimate in team sports, DeLine said. "We need people out there six days practicing," he said. "Practices will be getting tough very soon. We'll soon be able to stop explaining the fundamentals and get down to rowing."

Fall Regatta

The biggest meet planned this year for the club will be the Midwest Fall Regatta, Oct. 27, at Carter Lake. The meet is co-sponsored by Creighton and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

"The Fall Regatta this year will probably double in size from last year's," DeLine said. "Invitations will be sent out to Kansas University, Kansas State, Oklahoma State, Wichita, Washburn, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Ohio State and the University of Iowa."

DeLine said he felt the team has come a long way in the last four years since the Rev. John Schlegel, S.J. and Tom Noone, Arts senior, first established a rowing team at Creighton.

Tough varsity squad

"Since the beginning, the team has lost individuals, experienced personal problems and been forced to use damaged equipment," DeLine said. "They did, however, continue to row against Nebraska and although they did not beat their A team, they consistently beat their B team, which was an extremely tough varsity squad."

Coaching the squad will be David Voakman, former rower and coach for Nebraska, and Arts' junior Greg Kinney, who will act as "an objective outside viewer who will assist the team with his observations at the launch," DeLine said.

DeLine said he feels the supervision of these individuals will contribute toward a competitive and successful year.

Creighton Rugby team kicks off its 10th season Saturday

By Kelly Ryan

The Creighton Rugby Club kicks off its tenth season this Saturday and Sunday with home games scheduled at Dodge Park.

This year's edition has already proven to be the strongest in numbers since the club's beginning, according to club President Bill McKenna, Arts senior.

"In our intrasquad scrimmage last Saturday we had 45 players come out," McKenna said. "Fifteen of those players had never played rugby before but they learned really quick. That's the best turnout for any Creighton sport that I've ever seen."

Dental School juniors Tom Laney and Chris Biety are the "stalwarts" of the team. Both have been playing for the club for six years.

Super recruiting year

McKenna said: "We had a super recruiting year and that's what we have to have in order to maintain our club. A lot of guys returning are close to 'retirement' and we need to get new people interested in the sport."

"Rugby is definitely on the rise at Creighton, as it is everywhere else," he said. "Our stress on a large increase in the number of participants will hopefully increase the number of fans that come out to see us."

The 1979 schedule includes an

October road trip to Kansas City for the Heart of America Rugby Football Union Tournament, in which 60 to 70 teams will participate.

Other matches:

Sept. 15—Omaha "B," 3:30; 16—Johnson County Comm. College "A", 1:30; 22—at UNO "A & B," 1:30;

23—at Omaha "A & B," 1:30; 29—at St. Benedictine's "B," 3:30; 30—at Lincoln City "A & B," 1:30; Oct. 6—at UNL "A & B," 10:30; 7—at Des Moines "A," TBA; 14—at Goats "A," 1:30; 20, 21—HOARFU Tournament at Kansas City; 27—UNL "A & B", 10:30; 28—Lincoln City "A & B," 1:30.

Swinging Grunts emerge on top after 1st week of softball action

The Swinging Grunts have emerged as the number one team on Intramural Director Gary Major's first softball ratings list.

Competition in the men's, women's and coed leagues began last Saturday.

Major said the Grunts are "one of the more consistent teams. It was a good team last year and they are a lot better defensively."

Preseason favorite, Intentional Torts, has slipped to third place after an extra-inning battle against the Acid Rock Chipmunks, ranked fifth this week.

"They had a real close call against the Acid Rock Chipmunks," Major said. "They could have very easily lost."

The Torts eventually downed the Chipmunks 5-4.

Major said the top six spots belong to professional teams because he had seen only about one-third of the league teams as of Tuesday, when the ratings were submitted.

The Phi Psi I is the top fraternity listed at No. 7 while the Tasmanian Devils, rated eighth, head the undergraduates which Major said was the "weakest league."

The ratings:

1. Swinging Grunts
2. R.D.
3. Intentional Torts
4. Gynodonts
5. Acid Rock Chipmunks
6. Geritols
7. Phi Psi I
8. Tasmanian Devils
9. Fubars
10. Gold-Pikes

Major said all captains should check the intramural office for game times.

Volleyball beginning

Coed volleyball competition begins Sunday, according to Intramural Assistant Kathy Mondrella Quinn.

League play will continue for five weeks, ending in an all-university tournament.

Quinn also said the deadline for intramural tennis is Sept. 21 with matches beginning Oct. 2.

Round-robin competition includes men's and women's single and men's, women's and mixed double play. There is no registration fee.

Intramural point system revamped

Creighton's intramural department has revamped its all-university points system this year, according to Director Gary Major.

An all-university sports champion will be decided as well as a champion in the professional, undergraduate, fraternity and freshmen leagues. Only one championship was awarded last year.

"It makes the all-university points race much more meaningful and there should be a lot more teams in the race," Major said. "It gets more teams involved on a much more fair basis."

The all-university sports champion title will be determined by points accumulated from all-university tournaments and by points awarded according to finishes in one-day or short-season events.

League all-sports championship titles will be awarded to the point-total champion in each of the four leagues. Points will be accumulated according to finishes in each league and finishes in short-season or one-day events.

Short-season or one-day events finishers will be awarded points on both a league and all-university basis.

All teams entering tournament-league sports will be awarded 20 points with 10 points for entry in Class A and B sports. Teams will lose 10 points for a forfeit or use of an ineligible player.

The points breakdown:

All-University point system

16-team tournament—5 points for each team playing in the tournament; 5 points for each team playing in the quarterfinals; an additional 25 points for the champion; 18 points for runner-up; 12 points for third; 6 points for fourth.

8-team tournament—10 points will be awarded to each team playing in tourney, and the same breakdown for top four.

Points for Class A-Short Season Events: 16-12-9-6-3.

Points for Class B-Short Season Events: 12-8-4-2.

League point system

Points for league place finish according to win-loss record: 35-28-22-16-10-5.

Points for one day or short season events: Class A: 16-12-9-6-3. Class B: 12-8-4-2.

Sports Breakdown

Tournament sports/league sports: softball, volleyball, football, basketball.

Class A sports: track and field, swimming, wrestling, tennis.

Class B sports: powerlifting, golf, cross country, turkey trot.

Lady Jays' 3-1 record doesn't discourage Higgins

Coach Mary Higgins isn't at all discouraged by the 3-1 record the Lady Jay softball team has compiled after the first week of competition.

"It was just super to get the experience," Higgins said. "We're experimenting right now and moving people around. Just being able to get the playing experience is terrific."

The Lady Jays dropped two games to Northwest Missouri State, 5-0, 5-3, last Thursday and fell to the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, 8-5, before shutting out the Lady Huskers 2-0 in the second game of the double-header on Sunday.

"We played a real ragged first game," Higgins said. "It was a shaky game. We had five errors and they got three unearned runs in the sixth inning.

"We played much better in the second game, we were more aggressive. We got ahead 3-0 but when we changed pitchers the defense broke down. We had two errors and gave up five runs in the third."

Creighton's nine-hit attack in the first game against Nebraska was erased by five errors. The Lady Jays had two runs on four hits in the second.

"We looked like two different teams," Higgins said. "We hit the ball hard against Lincoln and that's an excellent sign."

Creighton faces Northwest today at 4 and 5:30 p.m. at the Creighton Field.

The Lady Jays travel to Ames, Iowa, for the Iowa State tournament Saturday with Iowa State, Iowa and Nebraska. They meet Iowa State in a double-header Sunday.

Swimmers look 'tough'

The Creighton swim club has begun practicing for the 1979-80 season, according to Arts senior David Jakusz, president and assistant coach.

Fifteen men and eight women have joined the club so far, including two All-Americans from Milwaukee.

"All in all it looks like a pretty tough team," Jakusz said.

Fifteen meets are scheduled this year, including four against the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. The season will begin in November, according to Jakusz.

Women spikers play marked by 'brilliance'

The Lady Jays tuned up for the upcoming volleyball season with an exhibition match against Northwest Missouri State on Monday.

"It was our first match and I didn't know what to expect", said Coach Karen Barlow. "We had moments of brilliance and the second and third games were exceptional."

In the first game, Northwest took a 10-0 lead. The Lady Jays fought back to a 12-12 tie but eventually lost 15-12.

The Lady Jays won the next two games, 15-5 and 15-7. Northwest won the last two 15-12 and 15-7.

"Overall I was pleased," Barlow said. "It gave me a chance to see everyone perform under pressure."

Barlow praised the play of sophomores Debbie Batenhorst and Karen Cronstrom. Cronstrom had eight straight serves.

Batenhorst was among three new players who started. Others included freshmen Janet Gnad and Laurie Rodham. Other starters were Mary Beth Eikmeier, Diane Steffensmeier and Roslyn Pavageau.

Pavageau, one of two juniors on the team, said the game "was a great chance for us to weed out our weak spots and to see how we would jell as a team before playing our first competitive game."

The team opens the regular season with a three-game match against Peru State Monday in the Kiewit Center. Bellevue College will come to Creighton for a five game series Wednesday.
