

Beanery Mixer Tonight

Dance Sponsored By Joint Group After Game

Tests begin next week! UGH! But before the tension, work and nervousness grips the Creighton students they can relax tonight at the Beanery mixer.

The mixer, sponsored by the communications department, is scheduled to begin at 9:30 following the basketball game. Since the dance does not begin til 9:30, the closing hour has been extended til 12:30 a. m.

Mrs. Reinert Dies During Holidays

Mrs. F. J. Reinert, 67, mother of the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., president of Creighton university, died suddenly in her sleep Sunday night, Dec. 29 at Boulder Colo.

Besides Father Carl M. Reinert, Mrs. Reinert is survived by her husband, F. J. Reinert, of Boulder; and four other sons, the Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., president of St. Louis university; Mr. James Reinert, S.J., St. Mary's Kansas, who will be ordained this year, and George and John Reinert of Boulder, Colo.

Solemn Requiem Mass was offered at 9 a. m. at Sacred Heart church at Boulder Wednesday, Dec. 31.

The students and faculty of Creighton university wish to extend their sympathy to Father Reinert.

Coed Retreat

All coeds taking a full-time course are obliged to make a retreat during the school year. The Catholic coeds will have their retreat during Lent, the weekend of March 20-22.

Non-Catholic girls may make their retreat with the non-Catholic boys Jan. 26-28. If they prefer to make their retreat with the Catholic girls, they are welcome to do so if they arrange it with Mrs. Maurine Hamilton before Jan. 26.

Everyone who is employed should make arrangements to be excused from her work for the duration of the retreat.

Dr. Levine Speaks At St. Louis Meet

Dr. Victor E. Levine, head of the department of biological chemistry and nutrition, made news at a St. Louis meeting with his statement that the knife and fork are the suicide weapons of many Americans. Dr. Levine elaborated on his statement by saying that Americans eat too much, helping bring on high blood pressure with often fatal heart, kidney, and brain ailments.

"In spite of wars, more white people die by the knife and fork than by the gun and sword," said Dr. Levine.

The St. Louis meeting which Dr. Levine addressed was the American association for the advancement of science, held on Dec. 28. Here he was also re-elected a member of the executive council of this association, the governing body for the 50,000 fellows and members belonging to the group.

On Dec. 27 Dr. Levine addressed the American association of physical anthropologists at the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Dr. Levine represented the Nebraska academy of science at the conference of state academies of sciences which met in St. Louis.

Novena Starts Today

Rev. Francis G. Deglman, S.J., student counselor, has announced that there will be a novena made for the intention of "Successful Examinations." The novena, starting at noon on Friday, Jan. 9, will consist of prayers added to the noon Rosary in St. John's church.

A coke bar will be operated by members of the Press club and KOCU, working jointly to promote this pre-test week dance.

Danceable music will be provided by the juke box. Admission is 50 cents.

Test Schedule

"Each student should clip the test schedule in this issue of the Creightonian for their personal direction and guidance during test week," said the Rev. William F. Kelley, S.J., dean of arts college.

The schedule is completely outlined on page two for the convenience of the students.

"Doors of Knowledge" On WOW Wednesday

"Meat Makes Medicine—the Story of Liver Extract" was the unusual subject of the Creighton television program on the "Doors of Knowledge" over WOW-TV last Wednesday at 6 p. m.

Dr. Richard Egan, assistant professor of medicine, gave the medical background of the development of liver extract and commented at various stages in the demonstration of the method of its manufacture.

The demonstration was presented by Howard J. Anderson, supervisor of pharmaceutical research at the Cudahy Packing company and three laboratory research workers:

Miss Margaret Targy, James Rudesill and Fred Wheeler. Miss Targy and Mr. Wheeler are Creighton alumni. Assisting in the arrangements for the program was Thomas C. Smith, Arts '50, now employed in the advertising department at Cudahy.

Creighton's next program on the "Doors of Knowledge" will be Monday, Jan. 19. At that time Dr. F. G. Gillick, dean of the school of medicine, will present "Inside the Heart." This program was postponed from December 22 because equipment intended for it did not arrive on time. Another program in the Creighton educational series will also be presented on Wednesday, Jan. 28.

Retreat Scheduled For Mid-Semester

All under-graduate students who have not made a weekend retreat will make a retreat, Jan. 26, 27, and 28.

Order of Catholic retreat:
9:00 Mass and conference
10:30 Stations and conference
1:30 Rosary and conference
2:30 Benediction and conference

Order of Non-Catholic retreat which will be held in auditorium:
10:00 Conference
11:00 Conference
1:30 Conference
2:30 Conference

Retreat masters will be announced later.

Open Letter

This letter was recieved by the Rev. William F. Kelley, S. J., dean of arts college.

Dear Father Kelley,
I have been asked to write to you by the team and express our sincerest thanks and appreciation for the wonderful manner in which we were treated while in Omaha.

We especially wish to thank the Student council for the tickets to the dance and the girls who so graciously consented to be our dates for the evening.

We would appreciate it very much if you would convey our thanks to these two groups.

Best Wishes,
Lynn Vandegrift

Holiday Spirit Prevails And New Year Begins

Santa Gains Helpers In Christmas Rush

The holiday rush is over! A new semester and a new year at Creighton faces the faculty and students. 1952, a busy year for Creightonites, was crowded with many events:

Better than 1,000 students joined in working on the Missouri river dikes as flood waters threatened.

Students and faculty members donated 1,000 pints of blood to the Red Cross during a May blood drive.

A graduation class of 453 surpassed by three the number of degree recipients in 1951.

The university began its 75th year of operation in September.

A larger than expected freshman enrollment in September gave the university a total of 2,352 students.

And as 1952 drew to a close students, with the holiday spirit, were busy and looking forward to the Christmas vacation.

Christmas shopping was high on the list of things to do. Student help was busy in the downtown stores and students replaced bundles of books with bundles for the Christmas tree.

Maria and Joseph Pereira, Bombay, India, (top, left) joined the throngs of shoppers downtown to get last minute gifts for friends.

Shopping for the family had been completed in early Christmas shopping so they would arrive in India for Christmas. Clerk Donna Clark helped them make their purchases.

So that others might have a happy Christmas many groups and clubs on campus began making plans, wrapping gifts and giving parties.

Clarence Liu, C3; Oliver Prinz, A2; Bill Pettinger, A3; David Townley, A4; Eugene Parshall, A3; and James Reilly, D1.

The Crei-vets staged a party for the boys and girls of the Creche Home prior to Christmas complete with Santa Claus. (bottom, left). The movie "The Night Before Christmas" was shown and Santa handed out candy and toys, packaged and donated by the Crei-vets.

So now it is 1953! and only 35¢ shopping days til Christmas.

HELP! HELP! HELP! HELP!

This is the cry of the staff of the Creightonian. The cry is uttered because of the shortage of copy for the literary edition.

We would like to remind the students of the university that this the edition you can prove whether or not you have the talents of a future Hemmingway or Maugham.

Students from any school of Creighton are asked to turn in copy. Poetry, prose, short stories and editorials will be gladly accepted.

● clean up!

"Create a clean heart in me, oh God, and renew a right spirit within me."—Psalm 50, 12.

There are plenty of hindrances to a "clean heart" and a "right spirit" floating around the city of Omaha, but the most shocking is the tidal wave of lewd literature that has recently hit, not only here, but the entire nation.

Questionable magazines and books are seen not only at newsstands, but in drugstores and even in grocery stores.

It is a strange thing, but in this area of Christopher clean-up work, decent clean-minded people are vociferously silent.

They will enthusiastically support good Christian movies, they will steadfastly support the Church, they will sacrifice for the Missions—but attack evil in any of its forms, they will not do. They are timid.

Not all of them are. An army acquaintance of ours recently left his barracks to find some reading matter to pass the time. He entered a drugstore and looked over the array of immoral titles and immodest pictures. He lost his Irish temper, and complained hotly to the management. That store no longer will take that type of literature.

The Legion of Decency is a successful curb on the lower instincts of movie producers. In the best tradition of avoiding evil, good people make it hurt at the box office, by staying away from immoral movies.

Why can't the same thing be done in regard to immodest literature?

● a vacation of death

The horrible look of fear upon a man's face, the sudden outburst of sweat on his brow, the screech of rubber staining the pavement, and then the shrill, deafening tones of steel against steel are all symptoms of death's holiday toll. Death takes no holiday. They're his best days.

For one in this accident, the pain and agony lasted only a few minutes. But minutes become an eternity when blood is gushing over your eyes. Running in and out of your mouth with that terrible taste of reality.

Every minute you wish you were dead but you fight to live. Your hands automatically search to cover the torn flesh and hold life in place, but they only dig into the flesh and add new torment.

A few minutes are still only a few minutes and soon you feel no pain. Your hands relax from the wound and your lips close before a prayer is ended.

No longer can you hear your little girl crying as red drops of blood clot upon her new Christmas dress leaving life long stains in her youthful mind. The whimpering sounds of your wife continue as she leans over your lifeless body crying for you and from the fear that a leg torn and mangled as hers will surely have to be removed.

She doesn't have a thing to worry about. In a few months the pain will disappear, and you have enough insurance that she and her daughter can live comfortably.

No—your the one who's insured. You're insured

● simplifying the code ● wanted: generosity

While we were looking over last year's resolutions, and the pitiful number of times that we broke those resolutions, we wondered this year if, perhaps, we couldn't formulate one resolution which could cover all resolutions. Maybe this one will work:

Student Counselor

By the Rev. Francis G. Deglman, S. J.

Calendars are such helpful things. They point out at the beginning of each new year twelve full months to be filled by God's grace with actions and events to our own happiness and God's glory.

They are marked too with commemorative days of past achievements and their makers—from January to December—to arouse your patriotism or to revive your historic memory or to awaken deep human interests.

Days of special importance to all of us are noted perhaps in a different color as all Sundays, Easter, Christmas, or the national days, Jan. 1, Feb. 22, Decoration Day, Thanksgiving.

Yes, calendars are useful things, full of interest, sympathy, hope, and help. One of the most interesting and inspiring calendars, frequently ignored because not looked at, is the calendar of the saints. On it is found a wealth of comfort and encouragement, a treasure shore of peace and happiness.

It recalls day for day the life and hope and aspirations of noble characters who worked and suffered and died to make others happy and to bring them closer to God. In the light of the hereafter their example is "like footprints on the sands of time" pointing onward and upward.

The saints fulfill the Beatitudes. They verify the promises of Our Lord. They open long vistas of the joy and bliss that can be each one's inheritance if only he keeps the two great commandments of love of God and love of neighbor.

against having to go through life thinking about this thing. Your insurance includes not living with one leg lost because of someone's carelessness. You don't have to argue with the guy in the other car trying to convince him that it wasn't your fault. You don't have to tell him you were only doing 50 when you know it was 85, or that you weren't over the yellow line, or that you didn't know there would be ice on the highway. Your insured!

You don't have to hear the shrill cry of the emergency unit and police siren, or feel the pain of being lifted onto a stretcher and taking the long ride back to the nearest town. You don't have to face anything now except your Maker. You're lucky. You're lucky because death is kind to his disciples.

Every driver should put himself in this position. Think about it. You might not be so lucky. You might live.

Perhaps this is putting the cart before the horse. We are trying to stimulate some thought on the subject of safety after 367 people died. Yet everyday we drive, and every year has holidays. But Death takes no holidays—remember.

Every time we drive we should think—of ourselves and others. If we think of safety first then consideration for others follow.

For Creighton students there apparently was no need to refresh memories on safety. None of us were included in the toll nor did any of us contribute others to death's quarry.

We can get where were going with God's speed. A heavy foot has left many a heavy heart.

You can save a life!

—if you want to.

You can save your own life—if you want to.

And don't tell me your own life isn't in danger, because I know better.

Now, that's the very strange thing about it all, friend. You're in danger just like I am.

Yet, what this thing is that doesn't want us to lead a normal life, we cannot see.

That's why I'm not taking any bets on whether you and I will continue to enjoy the beauties of life tomorrow.

The only money I care to put down is right where it'll do you and me the most good.

I mean the March of Dimes!

Polio presented its worst menace in 1952. It was more lavish with human lives than it ever has been. In 1953 it will probably take a greater toll. But it need not.

Not if you want to save your life, or that of another.

Why don't you skip the show tonight? Why don't you pass up the pleasure of a few hours so you can give someone else the pleasure of a lifetime? or even yourself?

The cause is greater than ever. Be extra generous this year! Consult your heart and give all you can. You can save a life, even your own, if you want to.

● who? is humane

Editor's note: The following paragraph appeared as an editorial in the Dec. 11 issue of the Tulsa Daily World:

"That lawyer who made a last-day effort to save Bill Cook and the mysterious Oklahoman who arranged for the funeral do not fulfill our ideas of humane conduct and straight thinking. Why should any normal human be concerned for Bill Cook, alive or dead?"

Bill Cook's error against humanity is outstanding. In one day he murdered six persons, five members of the same family. For this, the courts rightly took Bill's life.

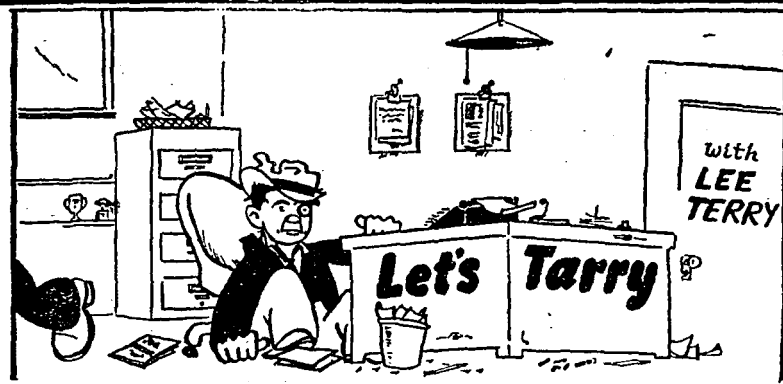

Bill's story is one of a lost childhood, a deserting father, and a mother who died when Bill needed her most.

No one taught Bill not to hate people after the finance company twice took his bicycles from the home of his foster parents. No real concern was shown, except perhaps by the police, when this hate led him into crime. Few cared when Bill died for his crimes, but then it was too late to straighten his ways. Few cared except his lawyer, a thoughtful Oklahoman, and God.

Am I not my brother's keeper? Doesn't He rejoice over the return of the prodigal son? Bill Cook's soul is no less immortal than our own; God created that soul to dwell with Him in eternity.

It is a cruel and un-Christian person who would deny a body a final resting place, and its soul the vision of God. We wonder why any normal person shouldn't be concerned with Bill Cook, dead or alive?

Well here it is the last day of the first week of a new year after two weeks vacation and there's no difference. No one feels like they even left the place. Same old faces, same old place, same old books and profs. About the only thing that has changed around here is that any Creighton student who still wants a Christmas tree can go in back of anyone's house and pick it up partly decorated. Free of charges.

I went up to the library the other day to find out how many students vowed to do more studying there this year. Again same old faces, same old—

Books Due

All books must be in by the 10th. This also includes all fines.

The price of the dance is only 50 cents per. The best part of the dance is that you can swing away with the best bands in the nation. To the juke box.

Incidentally if you come to the dance you might come out even. Monday the juke box was paying off. One student put in a nickle and got 36 cents back. Unfortunately he thought he could beat it for more and put all the money back in. The next customer hit the jackpot.

ATTENTION

Elmer Merriman, president of the Board of Governors, has requested that I remind all seniors that they can order their class rings now. Orders are being taken at the book store.

Another reminder. Don't forget that Jan. 30 is your turn to write the Creightonian—the literary edition. Anyone who thinks they can or would like to just drop your masterpiece off in the news room. Adios and a belated Happy New Year.

Creightonite Wins Jingle Contest

Two days ago Creighton university was notified of its first winner in the Lucky Strike jingle contest.

Rose Starr, A4, won 25 dollars with the following jingle: I love to bowl but seldom strike

It takes good luck, you see. But LUCKY STRIKE, the smoke delight

Sure made a hit with me. Rose, a transfer student from Denver university, sent in four jingles on December 14, from which the above was selected.

The jingle contest, conducted by Lucky Strike's advertising agency, Batton, Barton, Durston and Osborne, is part of a nation-wide collegiate advertising program in college newspapers.

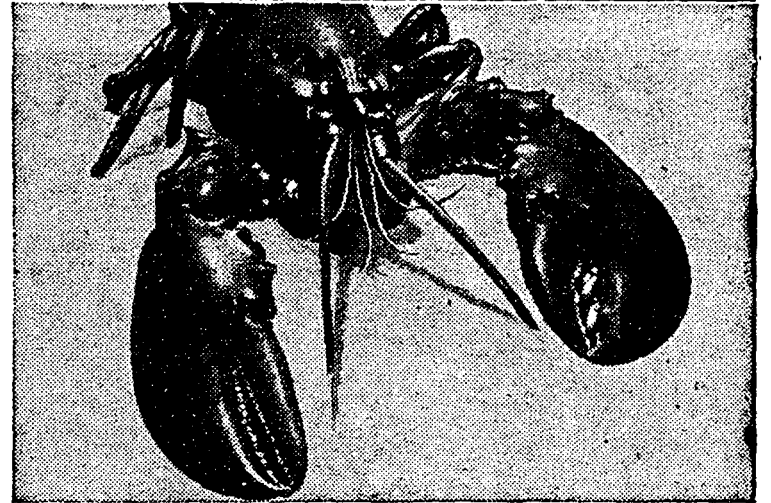

CU Students Get Army Commissions

Four Creighton university students have been selected for reserve commissions in the Army Dental corps, the U. S. Army announced recently.

They are John R. Bauerle, 804 North Thirty-third street, Raymond J. Rucker, 3007 Jackson street, Raymond W. Shaddy, 2781 California street, and Richard J. Schoessler, Reliance, South Dakota.

Upon graduation from the school of Dentistry they will begin two year tours of active army duty as first lieutenants.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

HERE'S a sad Lobster tale. Sheedy was really in hot water. His girl kept saying, "The Maine thing I don't like about you is the way you put your hair! Haven't you red about Wildroot Cream-Boil Hair Tonic? Non-alcoholic. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Perfect for you 'claws you need Lanolin on that water-soaked hair." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he shore looks slick. In fact, he's in salad with every girl on campus. So if you're ner-dled about your messy hair, butter shell out 29¢ at any toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, "Your Hair's Best Friend." Ask for it at your barber's, antenna to one you'll be tickled pink!

On Mike

I've been saying all year that it could happen, and at last it has. A Creighton student has won $25 for a jingle sent in the Lucky Strike jingle contest.

The fortunate girl is Rose Starr. This should be encouraging to all you other geniuses, because it goes to prove that it can be done. So pick up your paper, grab your pen, and get to work on those jingles. The contest is still wide open, and $25 is nothing to sneeze at.

Tonight is the Communications mixer in the beanery. It should be a big shin-dig what with the Wichita game before. The dance is only 50 cents, and we all need some fun before the big job of studying for those finals.

KOCU will hold elections for the executive staff of next semester on January 14. Everybody who has had anything to do with KOCU during the semester in any capacity—acting, announcing, or engineering—is invited and expected to attend the meeting. This is your chance to get the people you want in the executive positions. The meeting will be held in Hut 3 at 7:00.

After this meeting I'll be out of a job, so this is the last time I will be addressing you people. Somebody else will be back pounding the typewriter next semester letting you know what's on mike.

Creightonian Receives New Camera Donated by Creighton Press Club

In the above picture Creighton university Press club president, Bernard Becker, A4, presents a new Pacemaker Speed Graphic camera to MarJeane Borg, A4, Creightonian managing editor, on Tuesday of last week. The Press club purchased the camera for the journalism department and the university administration donated funds for additional accessories.

The club sponsored school mixers, last year's Skip Day dance, and a benefit basketball game to obtain funds for the camera project.

Pleiad Club Meets To Discuss Plans

Two main considerations dominated the Pleiad club meeting on Thursday, Jan. 8. One was the coming literary edition of the "Creightonian," in which the club members plan to be well represented.

The other main topic of discussion was a proposal to become affiliated with Sigma Tau Delta, national literary fraternity. The decision of the club has not yet been disclosed.

Various members of the group also read their poetry for discussion and criticism.

The personnel in Jesuit missions throughout the world are a cross-section of America. Draw a line from Whitefield, Maine, to Los Angeles; draw another from Chicago to New Orleans. Crisscross them in whatever way you please. You will still cut through some section of America which was once home to these missionaries.

Directories List Essential Data

Twice during the scholastic year the Creighton student will subject himself to the tedious process of filling out millions of small cards at registration. These cards are for deans of the various schools, the student counselor and other departments of the university. One of these millions of little 3 by 6 cards is for the student-faculty directory.

The directory lists all the faculty members and gives the names of the students, their addresses, phone numbers and home towns.

A great deal of work must go into the proofreading of this little book for an error in the spelling of a name or phone number especially of a popular co-ed may mean an open declaration of war on the student board of governors, who do all the work in preparing this book.

Although there was a long wait for this year's directory students considered it worth while, for not too many errors were reported.

Students of the student directory uncovered a few unusual facts about this plastic bound bit of information.

For instance: a student named Houston comes from Idaho, another named Del Rio hails from Puerto Rico and a young lady named Yankton resides in South Dakota.

The name Kelley, which is synonymous with the Emerald Isle and is spelled Kelley or Kelly, is well represented. There are 20 "sons and daughter's of the old sod" and eight faculty members answer to the famous name.

The O'Connor's and the Ryan's are not to be slighted. There are 10 of each. Also there are 16 Murphy's and the Scandanavian peoples are not to be shut out, for there are 11 Johnson's.

Not quite so common are the names Clinkscales, Dobrovoly, Fotopoulos, Glowczewsky and Majchszak.

Even the colors are getting into the act. For a Gray, Green, Black, White and Brown are registered as students.

Sports Deadline

by Bill Fogarty

Well, the writer of this column has brushed off the cobwebs from his typewriter that accumulated over the holidays to make a last valiant stab at writing a decent column. For next semester, the duty of writing and making up the sports page will fall into the capable hands of some other member on the sports staff.

And this swan dive into oblivion will contain a few praises, criticisms and suggestions. This corner hopes that they will be taken in good spirit, and if necessary, with a grain of salt.

THE PRAISES

Pat-on-the-Back No. 1 goes to Subby Salerno for the fine job that he is doing with the varsity. Bluejay fans cannot complain about the results so far this season. We've had thrills aplenty with those last minute finishes, which show the spirit and die-hard stubbornness that our new coach has instilled into the team.

The Creighton squad has been taking on some of the better teams in the country, and still have a long row to hoe. Best of luck, Subby.

Salute No. 2 goes to Elton Tuttle, better known around the campus as "Stretch." This player is responsible for one of the major steps in putting Creighton back on the basketball map of the nation. Last year he finished fourth or fifth among the top rebounders from coast to coast. So far this year he has been among the top 20 scorers of the nation. He broke a scoring record in Chicago with a 38 point output against Loyola. He has been given a "Y" award from the city of Omaha for his outstanding performance on the hard courts. And the last, and most important in this corner's opinion, he is a team player.

Have you ever noticed the pace at which Tuttle plays during a game? Rebounding, tip-ins, blocking shots or covering any opponent that breaks away into the keyhole. In other words he is doing quite a bit of hustling for a boy who has to play an average of close to four quarters a game. Keep it up, Tut.

Ray Yost is another lad who has been coming up in recent games to take the role that he was predestined for by the pre-season forecasters. He, too, has turned in some commendable performances. One of these being his 24 point production against Oklahoma A. & M. If Yost and Tuttle start clicking together consistently, WATCH OUT!

This last bit of praise goes to the varsity fireballers, Cole, Meyer, and Mullin. If this trio continues to improve we're going to find big time ball playing back at the hilltop sooner than expected.

Also, we hope that Bob Komarsinski, who recently lost his father, will return to give Subby a third member to his tall rebound and scoring combo. Also, that those "anonymous substitutes" will take a lesson from Don Loisel's clutch playing and present the fans with some of that "college try" they expect and deserve to see.

The Criticisms and Suggestions These unfavorable comments are directed only to the fans that attend the Bluejay games. It is hoped that they will be received in the proper spirit with which they are intended.

No. 1 on the list is due to the recent game with Idaho State. Quote a few of the Creighton students were openly and loudly criticizing Jerry Lucas' performance in the last part of the game. Some have even gone so far as to accuse him as the cause of losing that game. They seem to forget cheering him last year when he saved quite a few red faces after the Buena Vista tilt by teaming up with Eddie Cole to beat the small Iowa college. Also that it was his clutch free throw that won the "deep freeze" from Rockhurst the first part of this season.

None of these drum beaters can ever accuse Jerry of loafing during a game. He tries every second he is in there, and this corner thinks that he will develop into a top notch college player. So we suggest to you fans to stick with your players, win or lose.

The other criticism that we have to offer is likewise connected with the recent game. Ant this is in regard to the fans' attitude toward the referees. Pinky Knowles and Cornie Collin, both former Creighton greats, received a number of raspberries during the course of the evening by people who probably know as much about basketball as Carrie Nation. Yet these people loudly commended, unfavorably of course, on the refereeing of two men who have forgotten more about the round ball sport than most of us will ever know. Those who have ever seen Pinky Knowles play will never forget him, or for that matter, ever boo him. So why not wise yourself up, and display sportsmanlike conduct in the stands.

"Ahhh-Way-Vor"

This concludes this semester's sports page. Ye Editor sincerely wishes his successors luck, and gives his eternal gratitude to those who ever bothered to read his column more than once.

All Thumbs and Corner Four in Race for Top

Pin Misses, Jaysters Tied With 17-10 Marks

The big shift in the Creighton bowling league is on, and all of the pressure is on the Corner Four.

The public relations team has been leading the league since the start of the season, but have been edged out in their last two matches with the All Thumbs and the Bug Boys. This is due to the handicap system which spots the underdog 80 pins for every 100 pins difference there is between their over-all average and that of their opponents.

Drop Two

Last Monday night the Corner Four dropped two out of three games to the Bug Boys, losing one game by the margin of one pin. As a result of the last defeat the leaders are hanging on to first place by a one game margin over the All Thumbs.

In the Women's league it's a neck and neck race between the Pin Misses and the Jaysters. These two teams are tied for first place in league standings with identical 17 and 10 records for a .630 percentage.

Two new team records were set in the men's league by the Corner Four Monday night in the high team series and the high team game. Jim Tiehen continues to lead the individual standings in the men's league with a 162 average for 27 games. Virginia Chisholm holds a 123 average for (Continued on Page 6)

Jays Host to Wichita Five

The University of Wichita Wheatshockers, sporting a near-perfect 7-1 record, will tangle with the Jays tonight for the first time in the current campaign.

And they'll be boasting Cleo Littleton, a court demon if there ever was one. If he does a repeat performance of the two games here last year, watch out Creighton.

He should feel right at home in our gym since he scored enough points in that two-night stand to almost beat the Jays single-handed. Both games he pulled out of the fire to down us 66-63 and 63-62.

When the two teams met earlier in Wichita, it was just as sad a tale because the Kansans trounced the Blue and White, 100-63. This was the highest score run-up by the Wichita boys all last year.

A freshman last year, Littleton ended up the season with 555 points and an 18.5 average. Besides taking second position on the Missouri Valley conference scoring list, he snatched another laurel by gaining a starting role on the conference All-Star team, the only freshman in the history of the league to achieve the honor.

This season he's done his reputation no wrong. By compiling a 16 point point-per-game average thus far, Littleton seems to be coming along better each game. His defensive game has improved considerably also.

Besides Littleton, there are eight returning lettermen. This list includes: Verlyn Anderson, Curtiss Hightower, Jim McNeerney, Mervin Carman, Tippy Tucker, Gary Thompson, Paul Scheer and Sid Gates.

And not all the credit for the Shockers' fine showing this season can be given to Littleton.

His two talented co-workers, Paul Scheer and Gary Thompson, have come along better than expected.

Scheer ranked second in the scoring column last year mainly because of his specialty, a tricky jump shot. This shot is described by many coaches of the conference as the "most unguardable shot ever seen."

Thompson isn't much of a scoring threat, but handles himself well as the team playmaker.

Then there's Mervin Carman, 6-8 rebounding ace. A sophomore, tall Carman was not much of a scorer last year but has looked plenty good so far.

Wichita didn't have such an impressive won-lost record last year, 11-19, but Coach Ralph Miller was just grooming his boys for this year. He lost only one starter from last season, forward John Friedersdorf.

In emerging victorious from 7 of their 8 contests, Wichita has steam-rolled: Southwestern (Kans.), Fort Hays State, New Mexico A. & M., San Francisco, San Diego State, Springfield and Houston. In their only defeat, the Kansans were captured by a tough Detroit aggregation in an overtime affair.

Rugged Slate Ahead of Jays

The Creighton Bluejays, having enjoyed a fairly successful first semester, are preparing to roar into the second semester with a resounding crash. Such a crash can only be created with a victory over Iowa State the 24th of January.

Before Subby and his charges can plan for their attack on the Cyclones they must first clear the tremendous hurdle placed in their path by the high flying Wichita Shockers. The Kansans will pay their visit to the campus this evening and should provide a lively two hours of entertainment for the Bluejay followers.

Heading the Wichita quint is Cleo Littleton who went on a scoring rampage during his last visit to the hilltop.

After the Shocker tilt the Jays have only four more home games, one being with its traditional rival, Omaha University, February 2. After that contest Cornell College, Rockhurst and Beloit College play in that order.

Ten games face the Blues on the road during the second semester. The one with the most crowd appeal will most likely be the pair of games with Seattle University and the fabulous O'Brien twins.

Cell Mates, Xsi Psi Phi Still Dominate Intramural Play

Nothing spectacular happened on the Intra-Mural scene this week. The usual amount of games were played with some good and some bad results. It can be clearly seen that the "Powers" of the respective leagues are coming along better than expected.

Inter-Frat League Wednesday, Dec. 10, 1952

Phi Alpha Delta was equally effective in both halves as they trounced Alpha Phi Omega, 31-13.

The winners led by 9 points, 16-7, at the intermission mainly through the efforts of Whyte. They scored 14 floor shots while making only 3 gift tosses, an accomplishment which left the losers open-mouthed.

Whyte got 13 to head the scoring column and his mate, Koleg, swished 6.

K. Grad's 8 were high for Alpha Phi Omega.

Phi Alpha Delta		Alpha Phi Omega
E	T	E	T
Whyte	6 13	K. Gard	3 2 8
Elsworth	2 1 5	Quinn	1 0 2
Dudek	2 1 5	Anton	0 0 0
Koleg	3 0 6	Weathers	1 0 2

Monday, Jan. 5, 1953

Delta Theta Phi had little trouble trouncing Alpha Phi Omega, 30-17, in an anything but exciting game.

The losers were colder than a barrel of fish in the first half, making only 3 points.

Delta Theta Phi just couldn't be stopped. Not when their line-up included men like Wolbers, Connel, and McNair, who hooped 9, 8, and 6 counters respectively for the winners.

K. Gard's 9 were high for the defeated outfit.

Alpha Phi Omega		Delta Theta Phi
E	T	E	T
Anton	0 1 1	Connel	2 3 8
Dvorak	0 0 0	McNair	3 0 6
K. Gard	4 1 9	O'Neill	1 1 3
Quinn	2 0 4	Seld	1 2 4
E. Gard	1 1 3	Wolbers	3 3 9

Xsi Psi Phi added another name to its list of beaten foes by swamping Phi Beta Pi, 55-25.

Xi Psi could not be held down, scoring 24 points the first half. The sky was the limit as far as they were concerned in the second two periods but they took it easy and still kept the rim hot.

Gradoville's Cager Sport 6-0 Record

Creighton's B squad members are looking at the world through rose-colored glasses these days. It must be their six-game victory string that's doing it.

But Coach Paul Gradoville does not share his pupils' lofty attitude. Says Paul: "We are unbeaten in six games, that's true, but outside a few of the games, our competition has not been really tough."

A big reason for the Frosh's success has been Roger Rosenquist, the Omaha Flash. Leading the team in scoring with 80 points, the 6-3 freshman has tallied on long as well as under-the-basket shots. His agility as a defensive ace has also spelled defeat for the opponents.

The center of attention in the front line corps is tall Howie Shortley. Standing 6-7, the big boy has an added weapon, weight, which makes him equally dangerous when the going gets rough under the boards. His 61 points are enough to make him No. 2 in the scoring column.

Then there's Clarence Jones, a boy with dancing shoes. Operating from the forward slot is bread and butter for Jones, and he's especially elusive on those drive-in shots. Garnering 52 markers so far, Jones is the third high scorer.

The back court boys, Dick Rademacher and Jerry O'Connor, have been doing a lot of playing in their positions. They both have a good amount of speed and the talents necessitated by this asset.

The team has a capable group of substitutes who, because of the inferior competition, have seen quite a bit of action. Coach Gradoville has emptied the bench on more occasions than one.

Lucas with 13 and Lavin and D'Angelo's 13 each played the winners.

Haas and Reynolds were hot for Phi Beta, garnering 9 and 6 markers respectively.

Xsi Psi Phi		Phi Beta Pi
E	T	E	T
Lavin	6 1 13	Mallina	2 0 4

Larson	2 1 5	Reynolds	3 0 6
D'Angelo	6 1 13	Dean	2 0 4
Monahan	1 0 2
Pfeher	3 0 6

A low-scoring but exciting tilt was recorded when Delta Sigma Delta overcame Delta Sigma Pi, 29-18.

P. Gradoville was doing all the scoring for the winners from his back-court position. He possessed only 8 points at the intermission but kept right on going and amassed 17 credits by the time the gun sounded.

Duve was the only man on the losers who was hitting consistently. He totaled 8.

Bitter Rivalry To Resume Between Faculty And Pupils

Wanted! A medical doctor to donate his services on the afternoon of Saturday, January 10. Purpose—to administer to run down basketball players. Place—Gymnasium (third floor). Time—1 p. m.

Yes, you've guessed it. Once again the journalism students at Creighton university are going to submit themselves to the probable humiliation of being drubbed by certain faculty members in a game of roundball (basketball).

The well conditioned male athletes of the newsroom think that they now have the answer to the jinx that the faculty teams have held over this younger set for the past couple of years.

The secret to success they've decided, is to acquire a state of perfect, yes this is correct,—perfect physical condition. This, they agreed unanimously, would require forsaking such pleasures of life that might detract a person from this goal. Some examples of their lentenlike resolutions are eating, drinking (other than innocent beverages), smoking (this refers to king-size cigarettes orly—that extra five puffs can ruin a man), and lastly, women.

Yule Vacation Rust Stops Jays Cold

After Creighton suffered an upset at the hands of unheralded Idaho State College, Subby Salerno expressed the opinion that perhaps the long Christmas vacation might have allowed rust to form in the muscles of his previously high flying cagers.

At any event Subby is using the time proven and age old remedy to rid his charges of their dilapidated muscles. Plenty of work and reconditioning exercises are the order of the day. "We will soon be back in peak condition," reports several of the players.

In the Idaho State contest the Blues were without the services of Bob Komarsinski. Bob's father passed away January 2. It is not known whether Bob will return in time for the Marquette encounter.

Bob Meyer, ace guard, was hobbled by a badly sprained ankle but performed with surprising agility. He fouled out early in the fourth quarter however and his loss proved a real let down to the Creighton forces.

Going into the weekend games all the Blues are reported to be in tip top shape and primed to grab a few victories and put the Blues back on the winning side of the road.

With the end of the weekend, and those games the Bluejays athletic picture comes to a close for the first semester. Success in limited qualities was allotted to the fledgling mentor Subby Salerno during the first part of the year. If he can get a few good (Continued on Page 6.)

 preparations they (each and everyone) are doing little exercises such as running to dinner, getting lots of sleep, and refraining from any mental exhaustive projects (such as term papers etc.). They have been practicing hook shots into the wastepaper basket with wadded up paper for over three months now, so it is believed that their shooting percentage will rewrite the record books. (We will not predict whether this will be a new high or an all time low.)
 The strategists of the newsroom have decided to assign Leland (Arms) Terry to the task of guarding the faculty star, Robert (Hook Shot) Reilly. This, they believe, will eliminate two big dangers on the hardcourt.
 The faculty coach, who is also "Phog" Reilly, issued a very pessimistic statement as to the outcome of the game. In a pre-game interview, Coach Reilly admitted that the journalism students had the heigh needed to control the backboards this year. However he seemed to think that the faculty's youth and speed (Honest—this is what he said) would even the score up somewhat.
 "Phog" (or is it "Hook Shot") remained silent as to his actual starting lineup. But he submitted a few names that should strike terror in the hearts of the communication students. Varsity coach Subby Salerno, public relations worker Steve Murphy, Jim Tihen, and others yet to be named.
 Reilly has submitted an informal plea for mercy to the students due to the poor condition of his players. But rumors are floating around that he has been secretly dieting in preparation for this game. (He is a faithful reader of "Fat Boy Wheeler's column.")
 Tch! Tch! Mr. Reilly.

The Amoebas were on the long end of a 40-37 score but they had a good deal of trouble overcoming their opponents, the Fixers.
 After battling to 16-all at half time, the Amoebas managed to gain a slight advantage through their all-around alertness on both defense and offense.
 Kieffer, Petted, and Duff each contributed 10 markers towards the winning cause. Their contemporary, Mancuso, added 8.
 J. Egan's 14 counters led the losers, followed by Eichler's 10.

The Cell Mates, one of the better teams in the American League, had a tough time beating the Cueballs, 25-17.
 The losers possessed a half-time advantage, 12-8, but Bownes of the Mates hooped 10 second-half points to pull the winners out of hot water.
 Nieland, who was the Cueballs' main threat in the first two periods, cooled off too much at the intermission and could not regain pre-possessed form.
 Bownes totaled 14 credits in all; Nieland managed 11.

 games out of players like Frank Gollon and Jack Peterson, prize rookies, who have failed to produce thus far, and with the help of portly Bill Heyden he should be able to better his success and come through with a good second semester.
 With the best first half of the season in many years Subby has proven his ability as a coach. He was directly responsible for all the success that the team has thus far reaped.
 The Frosh five under the direction of Paul Gradoville former Blue cager has been moving along at a terrific clip and have yet to lose a game while tangeling with some pretty rough competition.

 Paul likewise has done a good job with his yearling cagers and made the most out of the limited talent afforded him. The boys he has are good but the bench is rather weak.
 During the second semester they will run into the University of Omaha's Papooses twice if they make it through those tilts without marring their record they should be able to travel through the rest of their schedule undefeated.

ARE YOU TOUGH ENOUGH FOR THIS JOB?

If you can make the grade, the U. S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can—then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.
 It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?

To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. OR WRITE TO: AVIATION CADET HEADQUARTERS, U. S. AIR FORCE, WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

Conkling-Hubenka

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Conkling have announced the engagement of their daughter, Beverly, to Lt. Lloyd Hubenka, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Hubenka.

The couple will be united in marriage February 14, at Dathan, Alabama, where Lt. Hubenka is stationed.

Bev, a June graduate, is now president of Kappa Beta Gamma, sorority, president of Alpha Psi Omega, and a member of Gamma Pi Epsilon. Lt. Hubenka graduated in '52, and was affiliated with Phalanx, military fraternity.

Engagements Fill Holiday Air

Jesse-Merriman

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Jesse have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marilu, to James E. Merriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Merriman.

Marilu graduated from Academy of Sacred Heart and attended Duchesne college and the Catholic university of America at Washington, D. C. She will graduate from Creighton in June of this year, and is a member of Theta Phi Alpha sorority.

James graduated from the Creighton school of commerce and is now in the school of law. He will graduate from law school in June. He is a member of Delta Theta Phi, national law fraternity, and is now president of the student board of governors.

Leavenworth Grill Is Site of Holiday Party

Commerce coeds enjoyed a Christmas party on Sunday, Dec. 14. The party was a dinner at the Leavenworth grill.

Mrs. Jeannette R. Mason, instructor at the school of commerce and Mrs. Virginia Chisholm, secretary in the office of the school of commerce, were guests.

There was a rude awakening, a cold slap of a wet towel on unexpected faces of students last Monday. Holidays were over; classes commenced. The only trouble is that to some people it's mucho hard to convince them that the dance is over, the music stopped. Some student was walking around with a New Year's hat and wishing all a Happy New Year! We told him that we hated to interrupt him, but New Year's was over. What? he retorted, you mean it's 1951 already?

And then there are the ones still trying to sell 1952 TB Christmas stamps. Some others are wishing us a Joyous Yuletide. Our guess is that they were stepped on trying to Christmas shop.

Engaging the Beginning of the End

Engagements filled the holiday air. So, not to be outdone, Rewbarb wishes to announce her engagement also. Mr. and Mrs. Bluejay Creighton wish to announce the engagement of their daughter to Fina Lexams, schlamante of Mr. and Mrs. Poor Grades. The wedding will take place during the week of the 16th. Since banns have been published, anyone objecting to the union is cordially invited to intervene against the match.

However there is already some doubts as to the longevity of the match and the fitness of the two toward each other. Quoting from a wellknown lower Slobbovian correspondent and crack(ed) newspaperman O.-U. Fooluu, who says, "This match will never do. The two are not compatible. Lexams is too domineering and quick to destroy all those that do not understand him. And Rewbarb will rue the day."

A. Chicken Says, "There's Foul Play Here."

In jest someone laughed and said, "Are you a man or a mouse. In all due seriousness, something squeaked and ran across the floor. In case any profs are wondering where some commerce coeds are, well, it's a high jump from the floor to the chandeliers when a mouse is around.

The mystery of the mouse invasion of the commerce cottage was barely cleared up, when someone apparently didn't like the commerce cottage door. So while running out the door she (being a barry named kay) practically took it off with her, at least she tore part of it off the top hinge. Amazed by this show of physical veracity, Joe Krecji of mat fame has been trying to sign her up with the Brute from Abrutio, Baron Leoni.

And they called Dryden a wit! This bit of shocking news must be passed on to multitude of those who are!

It seems that a certain man named Abe and his girlfriend Anna were very much in love. So after waiting the necessary six years, they spoke the nuptial vows. For several years they lived in extreme bliss. Love smiled on the happy home. But all of a sudden there came into their midst, a discord. And they were divorced. National headlines! It was the first time that anyone had seen Abe and Anna split!

Abe and Anna and the Bunch (they were blessed with little Abe and Annas) had appeal, so that the shocking news story was indeed a tasty tidbit of revelation.

A Velled Mystery

It seems that there has been scribbled on various and sundry walls the avowal "spaacu." This we are dying to know about. So in lieu of the above desire, we are running a contest to find out the exact meaning. Here, to all eager applicants, are entry requirements.

First, to apply, send in your name and address upon the backs of 89 prospective people.

Secondly, send in on a certified public accountant your duly sworn perjure to name all your various and sundry children "rewbarb", during the years up to 1989.

Thirdly, give 89 reasons why

The couple was married in St. Cecilia's Cathedral with the Right Rev. Msgr. Ernest G. Graham officiating. They will make their home here in Omaha.

The bride was graduated from St. John's high school, class of '47 and is employed in Omaha. The bridegroom was graduated from Creighton Prep in 1945. He is now a junior in the school of dentistry and is affiliated with Delta Sigma Delta, national dental fraternity.

Kappas Complete Plans for Variety Show and Initiation

Kappa Beta Gamma, social sorority, held its regular meeting, Wednesday evening, Jan. 7, at the home of Catherine Corboy, N3.

Plans were made for the coming variety show to be sponsored by the Creighton sororities.

MarJeanne Borg, A4, vice-president, will assume the duties of president when the present president, Beverly Conkling, A4, leaves the hilltop to be married.

Committees were named to arrange the initiation and dance which will be held Thursday, Feb. 12.

Phi Beta Pi

Phi Beta Pi, medical fraternity, has a new house guest since the Christmas holidays. Fraternity members presented their house mother Mary Christenson with a cocker spaniel puppy on Christmas day.

The new house guest answers to the name of Alfie.

All About Nothing

This feature is dedicated to no one in particular. It is about nothing in particular. Rather it is just some verbs, adverbs, subjects, and predicates, which are designed to take up space.

Every week a certain number of features must be written, for publication in the Creightonian. The ideas for these little gems must come from the feature editor or other members of the staff.

Until this week ideas were flying around thick and fast, but now we have reached a journalist's nightmare. No one can come up with a feasible idea for a feature.

So far we have had features on the Prof's beating the students and the students beating the prof's. We have informed our readers about X and Y until they were black in the face. The X and Y system had to be stopped because of the complaints of the Math department. Too many students were getting the notion that X was the character they read about in the paper instead of the unknown Algebraic quantity.

There have also been features on: Pogo, Vacations, Exams, Fountain Pens and What Holds Up Creighton.

But came this week and there was nothing to write on. The Inter-Frat ball, which was a great success, was held last night. So that was out and homecoming is two weeks away. So here we sit with nothing to write.

The managing editor is beginning to glare our faculty adviser is starting to reach for his grade book, but still ideas will not come.

Vainly we sit at our typewriters. Desprately trying to bring out jumbled thoughts into a pertinent idea for a feature.

The copy chief is yelling for more copy. Still no idea. The reporter is saying I'm done with my beat give me an idea for a feature? Still that idea simply will not come.

"We could write a feature on the bulletin board, ventured one reporter.

"Used last week," snapped the editor.

"Maybe we could do one on the snack bar."

"Had hundreds of them."

So that's how it goes. There are some weeks in which it is almost impossible to cook up a feasible idea and put it on paper.

Delta Sigma Delta

Creighton members of Delta Sigma Delta, national dental fraternity, visited the University of Nebraska, Wednesday Dec. 17. The event was the annual meeting between the Creighton chapter and the Beta Beta chapter at Nebraska U. in Lincoln.

The group driving to Lincoln was entertained with a tour of the Nebraska school of dentistry upon their arrival. Following the tour they were guests at a dinner held in their honor. Approximately 25 Creighton Deltas attended.

Concluding the evening's events was a clinic presented by Dr. Bruce Edwards, eminent oral surgeon of Lincoln. The entire program was under the direction of Dr. Edwards.

Dr. G. G. O'Connor, instructor of operative dentistry here at Creighton, and Dr. Bert Dienstbier, representing the graduate chapter here in Omaha, attended the session with the fraternity.

President Keith Chostner, D4, has announced Wednesday, Feb. 4, as the date for pledge night activities. No definite plans have not been formulated as of yet.

Phi Alpha Delta

Members of Phi Alpha Delta, national law fraternity, will hold a meeting Monday noon, Jan. 19, in the student bar association lounge. Attendance is urged because yearbook pictures will be taken at this time.

Xi Phi Phi

Approximately 46 freshman dental students were entertained at a party held in their honor last night. They were guests of Xi Psi Phi, national dental fraternity, at a party held in the Hungarian Home. Refreshments and sandwiches were served.

The main program of the evening included a woman accordionist and a magician.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Louis Barinaga, D2, Charles Bernard, D2, Len Cutuli, D2, and John Stanesic, D2.

Creighton Priests Aid at Christmas

Again the 56 Jesuit priests at Creighton university traveled to towns and cities in Nebraska and Iowa to assist parish priests with Christmas Eve and Christmas day church services.

The holiday trips are an annual affair and some of the "old-timers" on the Hilltop take pride in the fact "they've made the circuit" down through the years.

Priests traveled to the following places: Rev. Charles K. Hayden, S.J., North Platte, Nebr.; Rev. Kermit P. Kennedy, S.J., Spaulding, Neb.; Rev. Ignatius J. Davlin, S.J., Greely, Neb.; Rev. Charles T. Shinnery, S.J., Imogene, Ia.; Rev. Edward A. Thro, S.J., Fremont, Neb.; Rev. Charles A. Kanne, S.J., Carroll, Ia.; Rev. James B. Guerin, S.J., Genoa, Neb.; Rev. John J. Foley, S.J., Emmetsburg, Ia.; Rev. Floyd A. Stanton, S.J., Granger, Ia.; Rev. Austin E. Miller, S.J., Elkhorn, Neb.; Rev. R. C. Williams, S.J., Council Bluffs, Ia.; and Rev. J. Willis Averill, S.J., Atkinson, Neb.

Most of the others visited parishes in Omaha. The Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., President of Creighton, celebrated the midnight Mass at St. John's church, on Christmas eve.

Envy of the success of others is the best indication that you do not deserve, and probably will not have, similar success.

Women's Sodality To Meet January 12

The Creighton Prep library will be the meeting place for the Women's Sodality Jan. 12 at 7 p. m.

This first monthly meeting of 1953 will be held earlier than usual. This will allow members of the Catholic Action group to attend the meeting the same night.

This will be an important session for probationers who hope to make the Act of Consecration at the coming Reception into the Sodality. The date of the Reception will be announced soon. To be received a probationer must prove a good knowledge of the Sodality and fidelity in living up to the Sodality way of life.

KOCU to Present New Show Series

The campus radio station, KOCU, will present a new series of programs beginning Jan. 12.

The series will be transcriptions dealing with cancer. The programs will be musicals featuring well-known artists.

News will be broadcast over KOCU as usual every day during exams in order that the students may be kept informed on the current events.

Active CIIR Group Fosters Relations

By Bob Gisler

The Creighton Institute of Industrial Relations is Creighton's answer to the need for better relations between capital and labor. The Institute, better known around the University as CIIR or the "adult education program," is dedicated to the fostering of good relations in the industrial world.

Founded in 1945, under the direction of the Rev. Henry W. Linn, S. J., CIIR has expanded today to include a branch in Sioux City, Ia. Included in the curriculum are such courses as "Straight Thinking," "Democracy and Labor," "Parliamentary Procedure and Public Speaking," "Budgeting Plans and Business and Home," "Right and Wrong in Public Life," and "Organization Techniques for Business and Labor."

CIIR is organized around two separate divisions, the labor and school and the employer's conference. The labor school has as its goal the training of leaders for labor who are honest, upright, forceful and progressive. Leaders who know their rights and duties and who are prepared to face their problems with understanding and a sense of justice.

The employer's conference has as its goal a better understanding of the problems facing management today. This understanding is achieved by open forum discussions led by experts in the various fields and through mutual aid among the members of the discussion in determining the solution of the problems presented by today's changing economic conditions.

The Institute is open to all adults engaged in business today, regardless of race, creed or labor affiliations. No credits are required for admittance, no tuition is charged, and a person may take as many or as few of the courses offered as he sees fit. It is through this type of organization that the most aid can be offered over the widest range of effectiveness.

Today CIIR is directed by the Rev. Austin E. Miller, S.J. Father Miller is widely known in labor circles as an arbitrator in labor management disputes and in 1949 was made a charter member of the mayor's committee on human relations of Omaha. Under Father Miller CIIR is accomplishing its goal as stated by Father Linn in 1945, "If (by proper education) we can count on intelligent, well trained, courageous labor leadership, we can count also on economic, social and industrial order."

Debate Squad Meets

A meeting of the debate squad is scheduled in the Creighton Prep library on Thursday, Jan. 15, at 7:30 p. m. This is the debate which was cancelled the night of the Christmas storm.

The squad has received a challenge from the University of California debate team, which is travelling the country. The California team expects to be in Omaha Thursday, Feb. 12.
