Enrollment Registers Climbing

Compared to Last Year

Creighton's over-all enrollment for the current semester followed the usual trend of recent years.

The entire university has an enrollment of 2,482 students for the current semester. This is 165 below the fall semester's enrollment of 2,647 and 71 above the enrollment of last year's spring semester which was 2,411.

Just Because

The enrollment for the first semester is usually higher than the enrollment for the second. This is because the number of transfer students and new enrollees that enter the university for the second semester does not compensate for the number graduated at the end of the first semester.

The arts college had an enrollment of 1,255. This includes 228 students from the associated nursing schools.

New Press Club To Be Announced

Communication arts students will form a modified press club this Sunday at a one o'clock meeting in the Omaha Press club rooms of the Rome Hotel.

James McGaffin, news director for WOW and WOW-TV, will be guest speaker at the organizational meeting.

The Press club originally contained only members from the Creightonian. The new group hopes to integrate the activities of both KOCU and the Creightonian, according to club officials.

Dudley Sauve and David Haberman, moderators for KOCU and the Creightonian respectively, urged all students who are in the communications field or who are interested in the work of the communication arts to attend the Sunday meeting.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Dental Test Board To Visit Creighton

Creighton's dentistry school will have an examination board in April, Dr. Robert H. Schemel, dean, announced this week.

The announcement was made on the return of the dean and the Rev. Edmund J. Stumpf, S.J., regent of the dentistry school, from Chicago. They attended the annual Congress of Dental Education and Licensure. Forty-three dentistry schools unanimously endorsed the idea that students should take national dental examinations.

On the Hilltop—Neuter Gender

A Creighton English professor was assigning outside reading to students in his class last Wednesday morning.

As he wanted to assign a certain novel to a suitable personality, he asked the following question:

"Who's the most masculine person in the class?"

A voice from the back of the room piped up:

"Male or female?"

Creightonian Receives Advertising Plaque

The Creightonian has been judged the winner of the college classification for advertising coverage of the United Red Feather-Red Cross Campaign contest in Omaha. The contest was sponsored by the Omaha Advertising club and the judging was by members of the Advertising club of Des Moines.

The award was made on basis of quality of coverage and making the best use of available resources. The awards will be presented at a future advertising club meeting. The Creightonian will be given possession of the rotating plaque for one year.

The Creightonian won this award last year also. A college which wins it three years in a row is allowed to keep the plaque.

Provincial Confers Here

The Very Rev. Leo J. Burns, S. J., provincial of the Jesuit fathers in Wisconsin, arrived Tuesday from Milwaukee to spend two weeks at Creighton in conferences with the Jesuit fathers.

Deadline Set For Applying For Degrees

Candidates for degrees at the end of the second semester are required to file an "application for degree and cap and gown" card at the registrar's office by Thursday, March 1.

Before filing an application for a degree it is necessary to obtain a graduation fee ticket ($15) from the business office. This applies to both veterans and non-veterans. The registrar's office will issue necessary forms upon presentation of the ticket.

No application will be received after March 1.

Those who applied for a degree at some previous time but did not graduate must also file a new application if they expect to graduate in June. A new graduation fee ticket will not be required, however.

Candidates must be present at commencement June 7, to receive a degree.

Deadline Extended

The deadline for ordering senior announcements has been extended to Saturday, Feb. 25, according to bookstore officials.

Students may place their orders either at the Hilltop bookstore or at the medical bookstore.

Cardinal Spellman To Speak at Meeting

The formation of a nationwide Greater Creighton committee was announced today by the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S. J., president of the university. The committee will hold its first meeting the weekend of March 23.

His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, will address the first convocation at dinner on March 23.

The first convocation of the advisory and planning committee will open officially about 4 p. m. Friday, March 23. Expansion plans and other problems of the university will then be studied and discussed in sessions on the Creighton campus. A second convocation dinner will be held on Saturday evening, March 24.

25 Get Parts For Musical

Harry N. Langdon, instructor in speech, has reported that tryouts held this week for the dramatic arts department's spring musical, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," produced keen competition for the 25 speaking parts. Mr. Langdon is directing the musical.

In the song department, "Thou Swell," "My Heart Stood Still" and the modernized "Camelot Samba" will be featured.

Joan Lubischer, commerce, first year, will handle choreography for all numbers. Marjorie Masek, arts, fourth year, will act as accompanist.

The play, based on a Mark Twain novel, first ran on Broadway in the '20s and was rewritten in 1943. It will be given April 25-27.

Alumni Host to Bluejays

Chicago alumni will give a party for the Bluejay basketball team after the Loyola game Wednesday, Feb. 22. A smorgasbord will be held at the Town House in Chicago.

Prom Elections Are Next Week

Final elections next week will determine candidates for prom princes and princesses in all schools of the university.

This week's primaries selected five candidates for each of the positions from which the students will make their final selection.

King and Queen Creighton will be chosen by the Board of Governors from among the winning candidates in next week's election.

All full time junior and senior students are eligible to vote in the finals.

The final candidates for the various schools are:

The function of the Greater Creighton committee will be to review the university's building and long range development plans and other phases of the university's activities.

The committee will also consider the problems and projects of the university and advise the administration on specific projects and plans as the development program is enacted in the next ten years.

It will also help interpret the needs and plans of the university for the public. A 14 million dollar development plan was made public by Father Reinert last month.

Sounding Board

"We expect this committee to act as a sounding board and advisory body in this period of planning for Creighton," Father Reinert said. "We feel that those invited will consider the position both an honor and a responsibility toward the future of their university."

Father Reinert said he was particularly pleased by Cardinal Spellman's interest in Creighton university. "The inspiration he will furnish as we embark on this new era will be of lasting benefit to the committee and to the university."

The Greater Creighton committee will be the first group of such size and scope to participate in development plans for the university.

500 Invites

This week, 500 invitations were sent to Omaha business and civic leaders and leading Creighton alumni from Omaha, New York, Denver, Detroit, San Francisco and other parts of the nation to serve on the newly-formed committee. Appointments are not limited in time. General convocations will probably be held every few years.

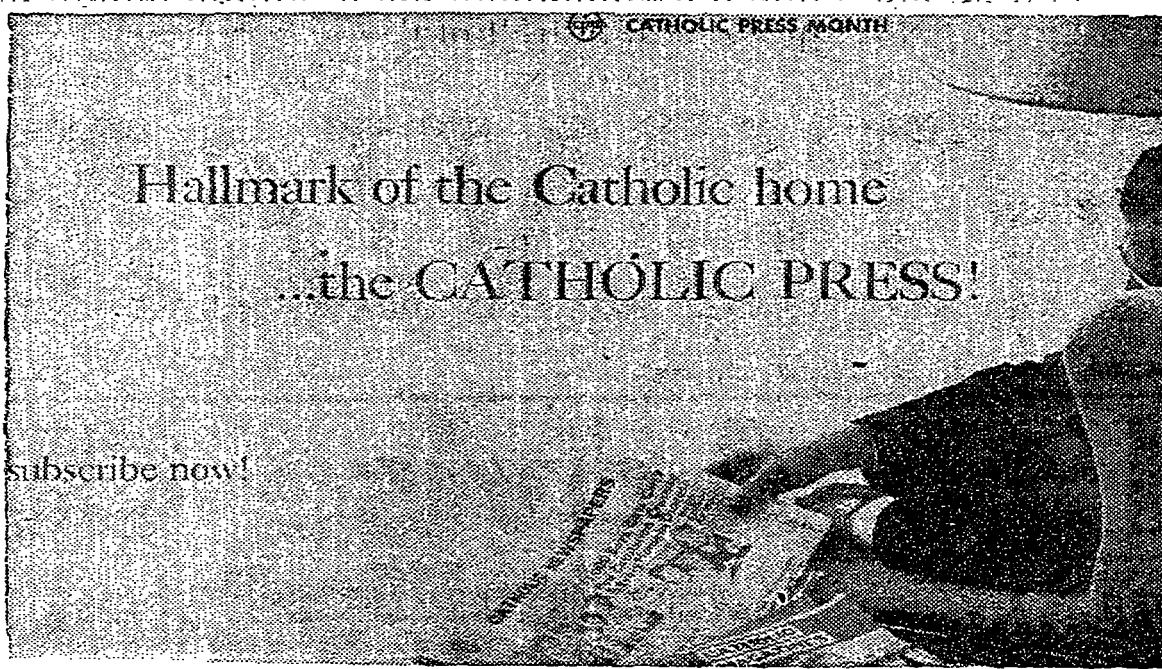

Membership by invitation represents Creighton's 15 thousand alumni in various parts of the country. Omaha alumni and civic leaders have been invited to represent the community's interest in Creighton university as it prepares for the future.

Fr. Keeler Joins Philosophy Staff

The new face recently seen on the podium in a couple of philosophy classes is that of the Rev. F. C. Keeler, S. J., who joined Creighton's faculty this semester.

He has also taken over the debate squad and is teaching a course in moral guidance at the Notre Dame mother house.

Father Keeler has worked mainly in the fields of philosophy and sociology. Before coming to Creighton, he did graduate work at St. Louis university and the University of Michigan.

● fingers as of fire

A familiar radio program uses for an introduction this quotation: "Freedom of the press is a flaming sword . . ." In this striking simile we see the strength of such a powerful freedom.

It hardly seems accidental that the freedom of the press is so often linked with fire. Fire, once it is allowed to burn, will change what it comes in contact with. It will clean and purify. This idea is expressed in our concept of Purgatory.

The free press, too, has that ability to change or influence the mind open to truth. As fire leaves its scar on an object, so the free press makes an eternal mark on the character of its readers.

Just last week, a local parish bulletin pictured the Catholic press as descending from the tongues of fire of the Holy Spirit. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, the Catholic press is the modern means through which fiery tongues of truth and wisdom descend for all who give ear to His Word.

But since it is not possible to reach today's masses by word of mouth alone, those fiery tongues might be depicted in our modern world as fiery fingers—guiding the pen or tapping the typewriter keys of the Catholic press.

As the disciples once carried the knowledge of God to all men by the spoken word, today's disciples convey the teaching of Christ and of His church to men through the printed word.

Once a year during the month of February we are reminded of the privilege we in America possess—the freedom to print God's truth. We are asked to support the Catholic press. Support it, indeed!

We should be willing to defend it with our very lives. Does that statement sound a little radical or melodramatic? If so, then we must count as radical our brothers who have died so recently for this and other freedoms in the Land of the Morning Calm. We pray God that they died not in vain.

A free press is one of the most powerful deterrents to tyranny and totalitarianism. That is why the communists always place the silencing of the Catholic press in a foremost position in their plans to control a country. First they attack the Church and her leaders, then they crush the Catholic press.

No greater help can we give our Catholic writers than to pray frequently that the Holy Spirit will grant them the graces so necessary for their responsible duties.

Come, Holy Spirit,
Guide the minds of Thy writers.
Instill in them the Words of Thy Wisdom,
Send them Thy Truth
And they shall be Thy instruments
As Thou dost renew the face of the earth.

● whose newspaper?

The very name of our institution implies diversified interests. A university embraces many aims as seen in the various schools here on the Hilltop.

In order to promote greater understanding and harmony among all these colleges, there must be some unifying influence available to all interests in the university spectrum.

Only twice a year the entire student body gathers as Creighton university—once in the fall at the president's convocation, and again in the spring commencement.

How is this far-flung institution to keep its varied activities and interests before its members? Through its communications, of course. But here we find the crux of the matter.

What is to be made public must be efficiently disseminated to the whole university. For this reason, there are countless bulletin boards on walls all the way from St. Joseph's hospital on south 10th street to west 40th street fraternity houses.

But bulletin boards cannot do the whole job. At best they inform only that portion of the student body which regularly reads them. For many, one board is all they usually check, and no one board can post all the information which is to be publicized.

Enter the newspaper, YOUR newspaper. Its one purpose is to keep YOU informed on the state of affairs here at Creighton. It carries to us the words of the president, reports of the board of governors, the guidance of our student counselor, and the achievements of all our scholastic and extracurricular endeavors.

At this point the spotlight turns on you and me. Every one of us has an interest in some club, group or activity. If our group wants to attract new members and grow in vitality and interest, the newspaper can help greatly by publicizing its business.

But a handful of part-time journalists cannot gather each and every little item of campus news. Some of the events are bound to escape our hurried perusal. Try as we may, often we fail to pick up on a big story.

Here's a timely example: the Creighton Players are holding tryouts for the spring musical even now as this is being written. But the coverage given this undertaking has been limited, to say the least. There is one sign presenting the appeal for talent. It is located in the first floor hallway of the administration building. Needless to say, a great many students know nothing of these tryouts. And there may be potential Ethyl Mermans or Ezio Pinzas among the uninformed.

It should be quite evident that we of the newspaper staff need YOUR help. We can't hope to cover the campus as completely as we would like to. If you, the members of the various groups, would make it a habit to inform the newspaper of your plans and activities, we could all feel more free to call The Creightonian OUR newspaper.

Enter the Female: Republicans may still enter Clare Booth Luce, ambassador to Italy on their ticket as vice-president.

Song of the Olympics: Russia took the Seventh Winter Olympics at Cortina, Italy, by a landslide, scoring 121 points. A Kremlin query came to Washington last week in the form of a song: "Are You Satisfied?" The United States hopes to answer Russia in August with a melodious "Summertime."

Puzzle for the Day: Prime Minister Anthony Eden of England, had a busy three weeks in Washington last week. He conferred with Ike, spoke to Congress, and held a press conference before heading northward to Canada. Two days later, Ike received a note from the Treasury department reading, "What happened?"

Civil Cites: Former President Harry S. Truman's favorite target for criticism still appears to be Ike. Both Ike and Truman are old military men. Republicans thought of Korea and remarked that at least one ex-military man has become a civil-minded president.

Jimmy managed to save enough pennies to burn a vigil light in church. He lit the candle and went to the front pew to pray.

Soon he was conscious of his buddy kneeling beside him. Giving him an energetic shove, he whispered fiercely: "Get out of here; go and pray on your own candle."

● one more to avoid

It looks like we're going to have to settle for Kingsmark if we want to see live drama in Omaha. Too many of the plays brought in by local sponsors are distasteful to our Catholic moralists.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday Bad Seed will be presented at the Civic music hall. This production has been rated class B.

That means the play is morally objectionable in part for all. No one should attend unless he has the explicit permission of his confessor.

In One Head and Out the Other by Roger Price, Bellantine Books, Inc., New York, N. Y., 150 pp.

Semester grades depressing, romance gone to pot, allowance cut, whatever the case may be . . . Avoid it all, says Roger Price.

Hilariously, Price satires the copeless modern life we live and modern philosophies which attempt to resolve this copelessness. Mr. Price's solution for the problems of modern life is Avoidism.

His motto is, "I won't, therefore I ain't gonna." This philosophy, he says, will save modern man from himself, since all other methods, even couch psychiatry, have failed.

This book pokes the inners of pseudo-philosophy, drug store psychiatry, magazine child guidance, and advertising so riotously one can easily lose sight of the import of this sociological commentary.

The absurdity of the American voguishness of thought is stripped of all its pretenses by the outrageous humor of funnyman Price.

The book can best be judged by saying it is refreshing reading and certainly a well spent ninety minutes.

Ralph Fournier, A2.

● your team, your club

Coach Tommy Thomson's Bluejays haven't blazed any headlines for entering among the ranks of the nation's top teams, but still their record is impressive. They have played some of the best teams in the country and have given a notable account of themselves.

This was especially true on their between-semesters eastern jaunt. In every game they were the odds-on underdog and were outmanned in experience and height. But still they were able to come up with an upset win over one foe, St. Michaels of Burlington, Vt.

All season the Jays have shown themselves to be a strong second-half team. They can play like five old ladies in wheel chairs during the first-half of a game, but in the second-half they always come back like a bunch of hopped up jaguars.

In the trade talk of the horse racing profession this is known as "stretch drive" and is attributed to a thoroughbred. A horse may not always come under the wire first, but when his speed increases in proportion to the length of the race and he keeps improving with each succeeding race, it is almost self evident that someday he is going to win over everybody.

Creighton has a team with championship potentialities, and deserves to have a champion organization backing it. Such an organization exists on the Hilltop and is in the midst of a membership drive. It is the Pep club, and it needs your support.

It's your team and your club. The best way to support the team is through the Pep club.

Housing Requirement Stated by President

With completion next September of a new men's dormitory, all unmarried, resident freshman and sophomore men will live in university dormitories, the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S. J., president, has announced.

A new combined board and room plan, providing 20 cafeteria service meals a week, will also go into effect at the beginning of the 1956-57 school year, he said.

Father Reinert made the announcement in a letter mailed to parents of students. Accompanying the letter was a folder describing details of the new accommodations and plan.

"Creighton university makes a sincere effort to aid her students in finding suitable housing facilities either on or near the campus, because the proper kind and place of residential accommodations are conducive to a successful academic year," the president told parents.

Nurses Excluded

According to his announcement, all single freshman and sophomore women students from outside Omaha will live in women's residence halls, except those who can live with near relatives and those who, with the dean of women's permission, reside and work in an approved private home for board and room. Registered nurses are also excluded from this arrangement.

The president said some men students above the sophomore level may be accommodated in the new men's dormitory, Deglman hall. For those who cannot obtain dormitory space, ample satisfactory housing is available off-campus, he said.

The new combined board and room plan will utilize the new student center's extensive dining facilities, Father Reinert pointed out. Every meal except that of Saturday evening will be included in the plan.

Rates Given

Semester rates will be as follows:

Wareham and Dowling halls

(freshman men—board and single room, $310; board and double room, $295.

Deglman hall (sophomore and above, men)—board and double room, $310. (No single rooms will be available in the new dormitory.)

Residence halls for women—board and single room, $310; board and double room, $295.

Only a few single rooms are available in university dormitories. There are some three-occupant rooms with the same rate as that for double rooms.

All university dormitory space will come under the combined board and room plan announced by Father Reinert.

List Approved

Upon their arrival on campus next fall, men students above the sophomore level will be provided with a list of approved off-campus housing by the office of the dean of men. Apartments will not be included, since the university does not generally approve of single, undergraduate men renting apartments. However, male graduate and professional students may live in apartments.

Actual financial arrangements with landlords will be left to students.

All housing arrangements for undergraduate women are to be made through the office of the dean of women. Because of the obvious advantages, the president said, junior and senior women will be urged to live in residence halls. Nevertheless, inspected and approved housing will be available for those permitted to live off-campus.

Exceptions

The university does not approve of single undergraduate women renting apartments, Father Reinert said. Graduate women and registered nurses, however, may live in apartments.

The office of the dean of men will continue to assist married students to find suitable living accommodations.

Netherlands Offer Three Fellowships

The Netherlands government is offering three fellowships for study in that country, according to an announcement made this week by the Institute of International Education.

The fellowships are open to men and women who are U.S. citizens and who have their bachelor's degree by the time of departure. They may study the Dutch language, history, Sinology, history of art, archaeology, technical and natural sciences, economics, business administration and agriculture.

Requirements

Candidates need not know the Dutch language but it is desirable. They must have a good academic standing, be in good health and have good moral character and personality. They should be under 28.

Awards offered are the "Hendrik Willem Van Loon," "Edward W. Bok," and "Hendrik Anton Goenen Torchiana" fellowships. Each has a cash stipend of 2,250 guilders, enough for room and board. Tuition is waived, but the grantees should be able to pay their own travel expenses.

Schools Open

Institutions at which the grantees may study include the Universities of Amsterdam, Leyden, Groningen, Utrecht; Free (Calvinist) university in Amsterdam; Roman Catholic university in Nijmegen; Institute of Agriculture in Wageningen; Institute of Technology in Delft; Institute of Commerce and Economics in Rotterdam; Roman Catholic Institute of Commerce and Economics in Tilburg.

Closing date for applications is March 1. They may be obtained from the United States Student Department of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th street, New York 21, N. Y.

Mobile Laws Altered Beginning Thursday

As of next Thursday, all Creighton dental, law, pharmacy, commerce and arts students will be allowed to park in authorized parking areas by permit only, according to revised campus parking regulations announced this week by the Rev. Austin E. Miller, S. J., dean of men.

Regular parking assignments will be given to all vehicles, Father Miller said, and students who do not observe this regulation or neglect to obtain permits will be tagged and fined.

Stiffer penalties for persons who neglect to pay fines promptly are also part of the revised regulations.

Application for parking permits will be handled as follows:

Application for parking permits will be handled as follows:

Dental students who will be driving on campus will apply for parking permits (stickers) at the office of the secretary of the dean of the school of dentistry Monday, Febr. 20, during office hours, and Tuesday, Febr. 21, during morning office hours only.

Law students will apply at the office of the secretary of the dean of the law school Monday, Febr. 20, during office hours, and Tuesday, Febr. 21, during morning office hours only.

All pharmacy, commerce and arts students will apply in the area immediately outside of the office of the dean of men, administration building, Monday, Febr. 20, from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. and Tuesday, Febr. 21, from 9 a. m. to 12 p. m.

Revised Rules

Under the revised regulations, parking assignments will be handled in the following manner:

As of Febr. 23, all dental and law students will park in the parking area east of Lincoln boulevard and south of California street.

All pharmacy, commerce and arts students will park in that parking area west of the arts school and east and south of the stadium.

All Creighton Prep students driving cars to and from school will park in that parking area east of 24th street and south of Burt street, that parking area immediately south of the Haulway company.

All students living on campus will park in that parking area east of the college of commerce, except for that area which is reserved for faculty.

Students ticketed for parking violations will be fined according to parking regulations as they stand in the student handbook.

However, under the revised regulations, fines are to be paid at the dean of men's office between 10:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. on the Monday following the day on which the ticket was issued to the violator. If the fine is not paid at this time, the amount will be doubled and must be paid on the second Monday after the violation. If the fine is still not paid on the second Monday after the violation, the amount is again doubled and must be paid on the third Monday following the violation.

$1 Fine

For example, a $1 fine would be increased to $2 if not paid on the first Monday. It would be increased to $4 if not paid on the second Monday.

Violators who do not pay fines on the third Monday following their violation will have to obtain clearance from the office of the dean of men before continuing as a student at the university.

A special warning was issued to students who have been in the habit of parking in the quadrangle between the Prep building and St. John's church, and on the drive immediately south of the gym. Vehicles parked here will be ticketed for parking in a restricted area. No parking is permitted at either location.

Dr. Levine to Speak

Dr. Victor E. Levine of the Creighton university school of medicine will speak at the monthly convocation of University of Nebraska medical students Feb. 22 in Omaha. He is a professor of biological chemistry.

Roadworn Jays Feted at Dinner Given by Boosters

The Booster club committee welcomed the Blue Jay basketball team from its road tour with a buffet supper Feb. 7, at the beanery.

Coach Tommy Thomsen showed the group movies of the University of South Dakota and the University of Omaha games.

At a meeting held last Wednesday evening, the committee solidified plans for future activities. L. James Madden, BSC '54, is chairman and Leo J. Zents, BS '39, is vice-chairman.

English Contest Entries Are Highest in History

The Rev. Paul F. Smith, S.J., head of the English department, this week expressed his appreciation for the largest turnout of student essayists in the history of Creighton Intercollegiate English contest participation.

Out of 49 entrants, 11 were selected for final scrutiny and debate. From this number the three best entries were mailed to St. Louis for competition in the intercollegiate finals.

"I want to thank the faculty members for their interest, and congratulate the students on the high level of average performance," Father Smith said. "They (the students) were doing real pioneering in literary criticism by adapting principles as old as Aristotle and Horace to a subject as new as television drama."

The names of the three winning Creighton writers will be disclosed in the future.

Fr. Williams Undergoes Surgery at St. Joseph's

The Rev. R. C. William, S. J., director of the Creighton division of communication arts and department of journalism, underwent major surgery Wednesday at St. Joseph's hospital.

It is expected that he will be confined to the hospital for at least three weeks.

Guided Missiles Recruiting Team To Visit Monday

A special recruiting team from White Sands proving ground, New Mexico, will visit Creighton Monday to interview students interested in obtaining positions at the proving ground.

The New Mexico proving ground is the research and development center for guided missiles, rockets and upper atmosphere research. There are vacancies in all the technical aspects of the proving ground activities, especially for physicists, mathematicians and engineers.

Positions are under the Civil Service. Salaries start at $4,000 a year. Insurance and retirement benefits are granted in addition. Also, employees have annual vacations and sick leave.

Personnel hired are assigned to research laboratories, field test divisions and support organizations.

Levine to Give Paper

Dr. Victor E. Levine, professor of biological chemistry, will present a paper on "The Errors in the Detection of Morphine" at the eighth annual convention of the American Academy of Forensic Sciences to be held Feb. 23-25 at the Drake hotel in Chicago.

Med Report On Research To Be Given

Allen B. Schlesinger, assistant professor of biology, will read a paper on the "Fate of the Embryonic Epithelium of the Middle Ear" at the April 4-6 meeting of the American Society of Anatomists in Milwaukee, Wis.

Mr. Schlesinger, senior author of the paper, was assisted by Dr. Leo P. Clements, professor of anatomy, and Dr. Paul Guggenheim. An ex-faculty member, Dr. Guggenheim is now with the Menninger Foundation of Topeka, Kan.

This paper is the second report of a continuous research project supported by a grant from the U.S. Public Health service. The first paper was read last year at the annual meeting of the society in Philadelphia, Pa.

The research is aimed at understanding causes of congenital deafness in children. The normal formation of the ear is being studied for a better understanding of why children are born deaf and for possible cures.

Bluejays Tangle With Omaha U. Tonight

Today in Sports

By CHUCK MAXWELL

Our Indian acquaintances from out on Dodge street are scheduled to repay our visit of Jan. 12 to-night down in Matty's gym.

Thomsen's young cagers belted the tame Indians 77-60 on Omaha U's. home court. Creighton presented more class and finesse than did their shaky arch-rivals. Tonight, eight games later, the Bluejays ought to again dispose of their 60th street opponents without too much trouble.

There's nothing in the basketball world that Omaha U. would like more or want more than the scalps of Creighton's Bluejays. But the Jays own an important two-fold advantage. They are playing on their home court and they have met tougher competition than their fellow collegiate performers. The powers out east threw everything in the books at the Blues so they ought to be prepared for anything the Indians have to offer.

Bill Klimisch and Jack Mesmer are to be commended for their fill-in jobs against Loras. They plugged the hole left by Lyle O'Dell's loss. Jim Maher impressed Creighton fan with his A-1 marksmanship in the late stages of the same game. Maher always seems to be the man to come through late in the game. This wasn't the first time he came off the bench shortly before the final horn and gave Creighton backers an eyeful. Good man to have around in a tight spot, right?

Creighton's 73-65 loss to Marquette was better than expected on the Jays' side of the fence. Bob Gibson really wowed 'em up there in Wisconsin with his 29 points and his overall performance. Coach Thomsen said that "Gibson played so good he had the supposedly partisan crowd on his side." Marquette didn't use many substitutes as many thought they would. Terry Rand, the Warrior candidate for All-American honors, saw action until the last 30 seconds of the game.

Marquette is going to participate in the NIT tournament. They have a solid and potent ball club. And Creighton came within eight points of the Warriors on their home court.

Zips Zoom Ahead

The Agnew Angels are flying high. In one contest they downed the Challengers, 50-41. Bob Strangle threatened for the losers with 15 points while Dan Rump paced the Angels with 13 points. In their last outing the Angels dumped the Ciceros, 46-38. Once again Dan Rump stole the show as he pumped in 20 points.

Bud's Boys can't seem to find the range. They were no match for the Cardinals as the latter trounced them, 54-35. Phil Gradoville led all scorers with 30 points. George Ciani managed 14 points for the losers. The Best also dumped Bud's Boys by a narrow margin of 39-31. Bob Daley pepped the losers with 19 points while Terry Macnamara dropped in 19 for the winners.

Phi-Chi romped over Phi Beta Pi, 72-29. Ten players made the scoring column for the winners while Bernie Rudis led the losers with 13 points. Phi Chi continued their pace as they blanked Phalanx, 49-31. Bill Chandler snagged 18 points for the winners and Jerry Dugan contributed 10 for the losers.

Phi Beta Pi gained an easy victory as Delta Sigma Pi forfeited a 2-0 score.

The Zips are still at it. They sailed by Phi Rho to a 29-15 win. The Zips' Jerry Lucas topped all scorers with six points. Eugene Kolls managed five for the losers.

The Jokers weren't kidding when they blasted the Combines, 51-32. Jim Eischen paced the winners with 17 points. Paul Lauinger dropped in 10 markers for the losers.

Mike Miller, with 22 points, led his Blue Trotters to an easy win over the Colts, 47-31. John Riordan potted 10 points for the losers.

The Hangovers were "hung" by the Challengers after a 22-22 tie at halftime. The latter team came out on top by a score of 42-37. Jack Gillis pumped in 14 points for the winners while Larry Halbur garnered 20 for the losers.

Ciceros whitewashed the Tigers, 42-22. Jack Jelen dumped in 17 points for the winners while Dick Ronk garnered 15 for the losers.

Phi Chi also chalked up an easy win at the expense of Delta Sigma Pi. Again the winners were awarded a 2-0 score.

Phalanx dumped Phi Beta Pi, 32-23. Lewis Nichols potted eight points for the winners while Don Bruhn managed 13 for the losers.

O'Dell . . . Ineligible.

O'Dell Dropped as Creighton Center

Creighton lost the services of Lyle O'Dell 48 hours before last week's contest with Loras. O'Dell was declared scholastically ineligible to compete in varsity athletics this second semester.

Creighton follows the regulations set up by the NCAA in regard to the eligibility of athletes. According to the NCAA, in order for an athlete to be eligible for any sport in any given semester he must have passing grades in 12 hours during the semester previous to the one which he is playing at the present time.

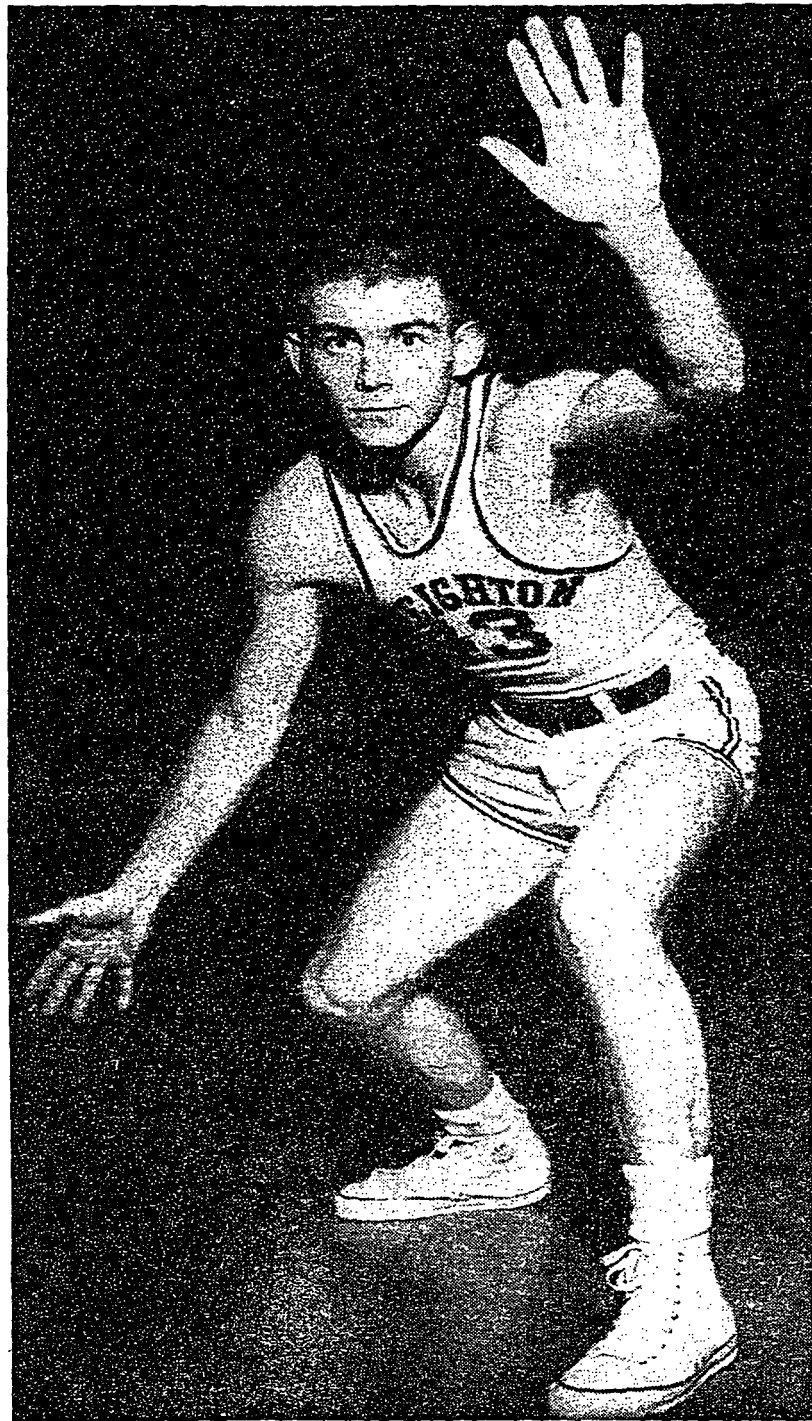

At the time O'Dell was declared ineligible, he was the top rebounder on the Jay squad with 126 rebounds in 17 games. He was the second highest Bluejay scorer with 218 points on 81 field goals and 56-90 free throws. O'Dell also owned the best shooting percentage with a 44.5 reading.

O'Dell was the tallest cager on the Creighton outfit. He stands at 6-5 and weighs 208. He won Inter-City honors at Omaha North his senior year.

The "small package" is Jim himself, whose five foot nine inches is considered small in this game of usual big men.

The "big thing" is Jim, again

Jay Rifflers Spill Carson, 1847-1810

The Creighton Bluejay rifle team triggered its way to a 1,847 to 1,810 victory over the Carson, Iowa, rifle team Tuesday, Feb. 7.

The match was led by Jim Mills, medicine, first year, with a high score of 377. Bob Herek, pharmacy, second year, and Jim Tanner, commerce, first year, followed with high scores of 374 each.

On Feb. 9 Creighton finished in the middle of a three-way match with Omaha university and the Packers rifle squads. Omaha university won the match with a total score of 1,851. The Jay team fired 1,844 and the Packers trailed with a 1,820.

Simon Guns Jays Past Loras, 75-61

Creighton won their ninth game of the season by hustling past Loras, 75-61. The Bluejays played without their tallest teammate, Lyle O'Dell, who was declared scholastically ineligible two days before the Loras encounter. O'Dell was the regular pivot man during the first semester.

Bill Klimisch, Jack Mesmer and Dan Simon banded together to rally the Creighton cause. Klimisch grabbed 10 rebounds and potted eight points while Jack Mesmer, the "unknown" sophomore from St. Joseph, Missouri, snared 15 rebounds and made Creighton fans forget about the hole left by the loss of O'Dell.

Simon racked up 21 points for a personal season high. Bob Gibson, between frequent mix-ups under the baskets, dumped in 16 tallies. Jim Berry scored 10 as did Jim Maher. Maher really gave the Jay patrons something to coo about when he came in during the late stages of the game and hit the first five shots he took.

Loras led the Blues 28-25 at intermission. Al Carew scored 17 points for tops on the Loras squad. Joe Ottavi threw seven fielders through the nets.

With 8:31 left to play Bob Gibson and Jim Kenney got a rest at the request of the officials. The game featured numerous rough-neck tactics throughout the 40 minutes.

Marquette downed Creighton 73-65 on the Warriors home court in Milwaukee. The Warriors used their regulars most of the game.

Bob Gibson played a terrific game totaling 29 points and turning in an outstanding floor game. Jack Green's rebounding was above par for the short time he played.

Gibson's 29 points threatened Marquette's gymnasium all-time record of 32 points scored by one player in a game.

the KOCU column

Musical tastes will be catered to this semester in program dishes designed for both long hairs and crew cuts.

"Columbia Classics," for instance, features the classical music of the ages. Albums of such artists as Strauss, Chopin, Litz and Beethoven will be aired each Tuesday and Wednesday evening at 7:30. Jazz enthusiasts, on the other hand, will be treated to such notables as Louie Armstrong, Fats Waller and George Shearing on the "Jumpin' With Joye" show. With Marty Joye as disc jockey, this show is heard at 8:45 on Monday through Thursday evenings.

"550 Melody Lane" will take popular music fans down the roads of rock and roll, rhythm and blues, and ballads. Forty-five minutes of popular recording stars and the hits of the day will be the menu of this show every Monday through Thursday evening at 9:00. All in all, it looks like a musical treat to suit every taste.

We've captured another sponsor! That's right, we've added another nationally known firm to KOCU's growing list of subscribers. Old Gold signed up for spot commercials beginning this week because students compose the majority of the audience.

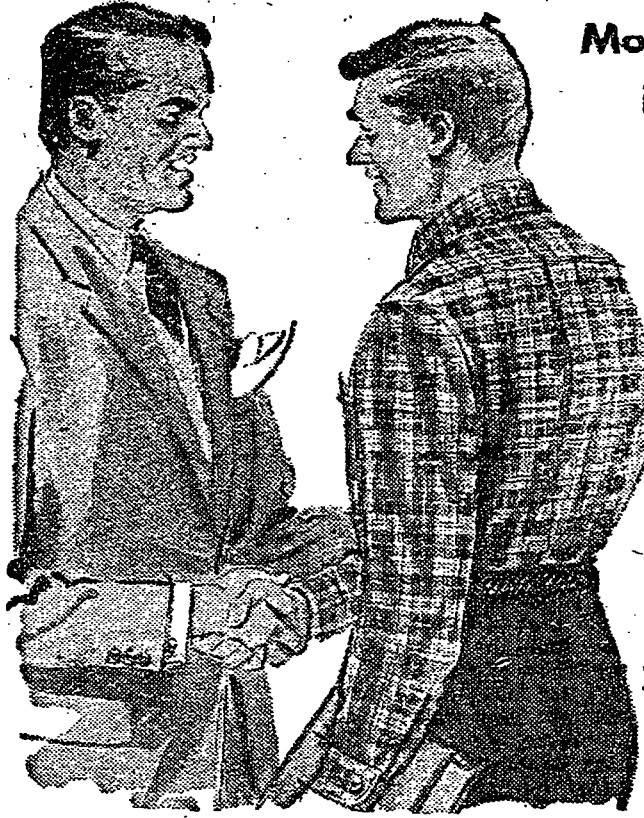

In answer to many inquires from the technically minded, KOCU is a carrier-current station. It is connected to the beanery, snack bar, and Dowling, Agnew and Wareham halls by means of wire through underground tunnels. It is possible to pick up the station a block or so from the dorms because of radiation from the wires. It is not connected to the girl's halls because this would mean crossing private property. In any event, all we want you to remember is that you can pick up KOCU at 550 on your radio dial.

Dr. Kupcek Is Named Member of Text Panel

The United States Armed Forces institute, Madison, Wis., nominated Dr. Joseph R. Kupcek, assistant professor of modern languages, to serve as a permanent member of the standing panel for selecting foreign language textbooks for colleges or junior colleges.

The texts are used for specific USAFI courses and are submitted for final evaluation to the standing panel, which consists of not less than three distinguished specialists and teachers.

Doctor Kupcek says he served temporarily before on the panel.

French Professor Asks Father Williams for Help

The Rev. R. C. Williams, S. J., director of the division of communication arts, has been asked to assist in editing an international bibliography on educational television. The request came from Henri Dieuzede, professor in charge of educational television at the audio-visual center in the Ecole Normale Supérieure at Saint Cloud, France.

M. Dieuzede was one of the French delegates to the international conference on educational television sponsored by UNESCO in London during July 1954. Father Williams, a consultant to the American delegation at the conference, met him there.

Both appeared on a closed-circuit panel program recorded by kinescope for discussion by the conference. When they entered the Lime Grove studios of the BBC for rehearsal, name plates were already in place on the discussion table. The artist had divided the French delegate's name so that it read "DIEU ZEDE."

Students of French will appreciate his comment, "Dieu Zede—good Lord, Zede—how did you ever get here!"

'20 Graduate Donates Books

One Published in 1828 Is Added to Museum

A 1920 graduate of the college of pharmacy has presented a collection of unusual books to the university.

Leo C. Weber, Arlington, Neb., donated the books, one of which dates back to 1828. The newest book in the set was published in 1908.

Mr. Weber began in the pharmacy business with the Weber pharmacy in Gilbert, Ariz. He then moved to his present location and is now proprietor of the Arlington Drug store.

Dean William A. Jarrett of the college of pharmacy accepted the books on behalf of the university. Four of the books will be put in the Creighton university library. The fifth and oldest book will be added to the pharmacy museum collection.

The 1828 volume is entitled "The First Lines of the Practice of Surgery" and was written by Dr. Samuel Cooper, a London physician. It tells of the pharmaceutical and medical techniques of the times. The book was published in July of 1828 in Boston by the Timothy Bedlington Publishing Company.

Levine Expresses Crime Lab Views

Dr. Victor E. Levine, professor of biological chemistry in the Creighton university school of medicine, spoke to two Omaha organizations last week on the "Scientific Aspects of a Crime Laboratory."

On Feb. 9 Dr. Levine addressed approximately 175 members of the Holy Name society of Blessed Sacrament parish. He also spoke to the Omaha Sports club Feb. 7 in the American legion building.

The professor recently appeared on a local television news conference where he disagreed with the Omaha police chief, Harry M. Green, concerning the practicality of a mobile crime laboratory for the Omaha police department.

Dr. Levine declared then that a mobile crime lab would be insufficient and not capable of handling the needs of a city of Omaha's size.
