What is the importance of communications and electronic commerce in the age of the Internet? That is the topic of "The Electronic Commerce Executive Lecture Series" sponsored by the Joe Ricketts Center in Electronic Commerce and Database Marketing in the College of Business Administration. The event will be held tomorrow from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at the Marriott Hotel, 10220 Regency Circle. David R. Laube, vice president and chief information officer for U S WEST, is the featured speaker. As the leader of the largest information technologies (IT) organization in Colorado with 6,000 employees, Laube is responsible for all systems development, computer operations and systems architecture for the company.

The Staff Advisory Council congratulates Rachel Dowd, Osteoporosis Research Center. Dowd has been appointed to serve on the University Committee on the Status of Women.

The Department of Fine and Performing Arts will present "An Evening in the Studios - The 1999-2000 All Student Art Exhibit" on Monday, May 1, from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Visual Art Studios in the Upper Level of the Lied Education Center for the Arts. The exhibit will feature ceramics, drawings, paintings, photography, prints, sculptures and digital images done by CU students during the Fall 1999 or Spring 2000 semesters. The exhibit will be open for one night only with refreshments and music provided by Creighton guitar students. There is no admission charge to this exhibit.

The Creighton Dance Team is seeking items for its annual garage sale. Please call Judy Streitz at x2563 if you can donate to this cause.

You are invited to celebrate service. Join Creighton students, faculty and staff at a prayer service in appreciation of your commitment to service this year. The service will be held today from 5 to 6:30 p.m. in the Jesuit Gardens (rain location lower St. John's Church). Refreshments will follow the service. Sponsored by University Ministry.

Creighton Reading Series: Poets and writers from Creighton's graduate program in creative writing will read from their work Thursday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m. at Borders Books, 72nd and Dodge streets. Admission is free. For more information, call x2192.

The Creighton Cardiac Center is recruiting Type 2 diabetic patients for a study. Patients eligible for the study will be placed on the antihypertensive drug Atacand once daily. The study will run from four to 26 weeks and eligible patients will have an EKG, blood draw and endothelial function evaluations. The drug will be provided at no charge and patients will be compensated for their time and participation with a stipend of up to $100 if the entire study is completed. Individuals with high blood pressure and/or high cholesterol are not eligible. If interested, please call Tom at x4992 or Sharon Kingston at x4652.

If your department has moved or had personnel changes, please review your Banner ship-to code and update as required. The Financial System requires a predefined ship-to code to be used by the requesting department with the following fields: 1) street address--on campus locations will be assigned 822 N. 22nd St. for central receiving, and locations within Saint Joseph Hospital will be assigned 601 N. 30th St. (if your department has a street address, please include); 2) building; 3) room number--departments are encouraged to assign one room number for an entire area in one building that can act as a central receiving point for the department; 4) contact name and department--this should be a person who can be contacted regarding delivery questions and/or arrangements, and 5) contact phone number for the contact person. To ensure deliveries are made to the correct location, each department must notify Purchasing of any ship to change. Please e-mail your request to andrea@creighton.edu or fax to x2398.

The Faculty Council will meet at 3 p.m. on Thursday, April 27, in the Union Pacific Room of the Reinert Alumni Library. The Academic Council will meet at 4 p.m. in the same room.

Creighton employees who have gifted middle and upper school children will want them to attend the Summer 2000 Ad Astra and/or Arete programs. These two residential programs provide a broad array of classroom and social activities for bright children. A 25 percent discount in tuition is available for Creighton employees. For more information or a brochure, please contact Mavis Hill at x2843 or mhill@creighton.edu.

The Skutt Student Center Information Desk is serving as a collection site for used prescription eyeglasses, hearing aids and batteries (except car batteries). You may drop any of these items into the boxes provided for recycling. The eyeglasses and hearing aids will be matched to people in Third World countries whose requirements fit the prescription. For more information, call Ron Wallquist at x1714.
