Colfer Crowned King, Fochtman Queen at Prom

Chancellor Vernon Jensen Leads Impressive Ceremonies

BOARD TAKES PART

Law and Medical School Representatives Are Honored

Thomas Colfer, law senior, was crowned King Creighton XII before 600 loyal subjects at 10 o'clock Friday evening at the Fontenelle hotel. Helen Fochtman, medical senior, was revealed as queen when she entered the courtroom shortly later with her personal attendants and guard of honor, and took her place on the throne beside King Colfer. Miss Fochtman is the sister of a former prom queen, Mary Fochtman.

Colfer is a member of Alpha Sigma Nu and Delta Theta Phi fraternities and of the dramatic club. He was president of his junior law class and played in the Bluejay Revue in 1932, the Only Girl in 1933 and the Red Mill in 1933. Miss Fochtman is a member of Chi Mu Kappa sorority.

After the coronation, the governors left the room and dancing started with a special royal dance for the princess and princesses. Dancing was resumed with couples paying homage to the royal couple throughout the evening.

Military Guard
The coronation ceremonies began with the entrance of the military guard followed by the Lord High Chancellor with his attendants and crown bearer. The members of the Board of Governors then entered and took their places on either side of the royal throne.

The royal princes marched in at the Chancellor's call to take their places in a semi-circle in front of the throne. The Chancellor identified the king by striking the Crown Prince on the shoulder with the scepter. The prince then took his place on the throne, assumed the royal robe and was crowned by the Chancellor. The princess knelt in homage and then marched to the door of the throne room where they formed in four files. The princesses entered to take their places in front of the line of governors and the princess returned to their places in front of the throne.

Formed Two Files
A brilliant spotlight in the darkened room picked out the queen as she entered the room with her attendants. She marched to the throne where she was received by the king and took her place beside him on the throne.

The governors, princess and princesses paid individual homage to the king and queen and marched to the door of the room. The governors left the room and the princess and princesses formed two files between which the Chancellor and attendants left the room.

Dr. Floyd E. Walsh, dean of the college of commerce, spoke on "The International Aspects of the National Recovery Program" before members of the Rotary club of Glenwood, Iowa, February 1.

Creighton Debaters Meet Iowa State

The university debate team met Iowa State college on the subject of "Substantially Increasing the President's Power" before members of the Omaha Bar association at the Rome Hotel Thursday.

'There I Was Without A Shirt or Shave'

"I had no more idea of being present at the prom... there was I, sitting on the edge of the bed without a shirt and in house slippers and without a shave, when the dean pops his head in and says: 'Come on, let's go to the prom,'" said John D. Fitzpatrick, assistant to the Rev. J. P. Zuercher, S. J., dean of the arts college and director of Wareham hall, explaining his presence at the prom with a beard.

40 Graduates Receive Degrees, Certificates

Dr. Riley Speaks on "Ideals in the Professions;" 1100 Attend

FR. BOWDERN IN CHARGE

Forty-one degrees and certificates were awarded to 40 members of the graduating class at the third annual mid-year commencement exercises held in the university gymnasium yesterday.

Dr. Riley, dean of the school of medicine, speaking on "Ideals in the Professions," told the 1100 persons who attended the ceremonies that "perhaps the greatest intellect ever sent forth from Princeton university was lodged in the brain of little less than a moral monster, and Aaron Burr, who might have been a power in the land and have been crowned with immortality had his talents been rightly used, went down to his grave unwep, unhonored and unsung; his name well-nigh an anathema, his memory held up to obloquy, because while his mind was highly developed, somehow, his soul was warped."

The Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., president of the university, who conferred the degrees and certificates, told the graduates that "it is easy to go to hell, not only in the other world, but also on this earth, because of the lack of a philosophy of life."

The Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., was in charge of the exercises in which commissioned officers in the ROTC unit, the ROTC band and university orchestra participated.

Those who received degrees were:

- Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy—Sister M. Ludmila Bauer.
- Bachelor of Laws—Roger Louis McGarrill.
- Bachelor of Science in Commerce—James Thomas Mooney.
- Bachelor of Science in Medicine—Morris Roland Becker, Louis Vincent Brennan, John Ken Burns, William Thomas Dugan, John Mikulas Hohl, Richard William Honan, Adolph Joseph Kafka, Clarence Joseph Kurth, Hugh Anthony Larkin, Walter Joseph Longway, John Joseph McBevitt, Carl L. Mangiameli, Andrew Henry Panetiere, Samuel Joseph Procopio, John Henry Romine, Akira Tani Tanaka.
- Bachelor of Philosophy—Leslie James Hill.
- Bachelor of Arts—Daniel Joseph Edger, William Edward O'Connor, John Francis Graham and Elizabeth Mary McMahon.
- Certificates in Nursing—Marie Jorgensen, Mildred Kelsey, Edna Matteson, Elizabeth Miller, Grace Chloupka, Cecilia Dunlap, Grace Hochkorth, Helen Huzelbauer, Fernie Scamaglia, Ellen Mary Cross, Susie Pauline Tomadison, Anna Galbreth Dowley, Ann Margaret Green, Nellie Louise Lockwood, Lorena Alma Rexin, Cecelia Minola Rochford.

Dr. Clayton Gives Talk to Caduceans

Members of the Caducean society Thursday night heard the late dean of the school of medicine, Dr. H. von W. Schulte, praised as "the greatest cultured gentleman in Omaha."

The speaker was Dr. Frederick W. Clayton of All Saints church, who spoke on the subject, "The Relation of Culture to the Physician."

Date Set For Preliminary of Debate Series

Sixteen Teams Entered in First Match, in High School Library

PLANS COMPLETED

Pi Lambda Phi Enters Three Teams in Intramural Debate Tournament

Sixteen teams will participate in the first preliminary contest of the intramural debate tournament to be held Feb. 24 in the High School Library. Plans for the series were completed at a meeting of the Oratorical society Tuesday night.

"Federal Regulation of Motor Transport" is to be the subject of the 1934 Intramural Debate tournament, according to the Rev. William J. Finan, S. J.

A preliminary meeting to discuss this subject and to arrange the drawings was held Sunday, February 11, in the Moot Court at 7:30 p. m.

The teams entered in the tournament and the pairings are:

- No. 1.—Sophomore arts: Robert Hanna and Robert Swanson, affirmative; Delta Kappa Delta: John Hedrick and Eugene Fitzgerald, negative.
- No. 2.—Wareham hall: Ray Fox and Joseph Slattery, affirmative; Gamma Eta Gamma: Fred Martin and James Gallagher, negative.
- No. 3.—Pi Lambda Phi: Joe Goldward and Abraham Katz, affirmative; Wareham hall: Ed Crossin and Walter Smith, negative.
- No. 4.—Freshman Law: John Waltran and Robert Adams, affirmative; Junior arts: Leo Welch and Robert Acton, negative.
- No. 5.—Freshman arts: Stanley Rosewater and William Culklin, affirmative; Pi Lambda Phi: Murray Wintroub and Ben Smith, negative.
- No. 6.—Pi Lambda Phi: Frank Lipp and Morton Adler, affirmative; sophomore arts: Lloyd Skinner and Patrick Lynch, negative.
- No. 7.—French club: affirmative: Gamma Eta Gamma: Frank Liebert and Arthur Lollock, negative.
- No. 8.—Spanish club: Martha Lippett and Don Baca, affirmative; Alpha Chi Kappa: John Frundt and John Liebert, negative.

Ten Duchesne Students Organize Poetry Club To Criticize Meetings

Hope to Inspire Students to Increase Good Poetry in the College

A poetry club to inspire students to write poetry to give an outlet for their work and to teach them how to criticize verse was organized at Duchesne last week under the direction of Mother Casey.

Virginia Gerhardt, D 3, who has had work published in Commonwealth and various newspapers, was elected president of the organization. Margaret Burke, D 3, is secretary and publicity agent, and Betty Donahue, D 3, business manager. Mother Casey is the club's advisor.

The nine charter members are: Nan Riley, Eleanor Lubberger, Margaret Burke, Mary Ready, Beth Nothomb, Priscilla Dixon, Virginia Gerhardt, Marian Pehle and Sybil Ashby.

Students Brought to Knees; Working of Alphabet Cause

Nightly forty Creighton students bless the name of Roosevelt and pray for Uncle Sam. And it's all a matter of self preservation rather than politics for these forty students are benefitting by the "Government Alphabet."

The CWA, PWA, etc., furnishes employment to about forty students so, hence, the anxiety for continuance of the present policy of government relief. Let it never be said that the student doesn't know which side his bread is buttered on and let no stray Republican speak disparagingly of these Democratic principles.

P. S.—It is rumored that some of the blades of the school felt slighted because of having no part in the F.A.C.A. Federal Alcohol Control Administration, to you.

Fiorella, Biagio Franco, Peter H. Iacobello, Charles E. Manfredonia, Angelo A. Mastiello, Sam J. Procopio, Leo C. Rocco and William E. Soda.

Pledges of the fraternity are: Samuel J. Della Penna, Biagio Favuzza, F. J. Francobandiero, Joseph A. Giovinco, Pasquale J. Giannataseo, Frank J. LaRosa, Joseph A. Longo, Joseph Monteleone, John J. Paradiso and A. L. Pietrobonigo.

Ten Duchesne Students Organize Poetry Club To Criticize Meetings

Works of the Greatest Medieval and Modern Artists Represented

One hundred and ninety copies of famous paintings, gifts of the president of the university, the Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., were hung in the library Monday. Each copy is accompanied by a short biography of the painter and an explanation of the theme. The paintings are framed in black.

The works of the greatest artists of the world, both modern and medieval, are represented. Some of the works of old masters in the group are "My Own Portrait" by Rembrandt; "Mona Lisa," Da Vinci; "The Madonna and Child," Botticelli; "The Angelus," Millet, and "The Naughty Child" and "Susanna" by Landseer.

Modern artists are represented by "My Mother," Whistler; "The Market Cart," Gauguin; "The Smile," Webster; "Hope," Watts; "The Shipwrecked Mariner," Israels; "My Great Grandmother," Holiday, and "Venice," by Turner.

Sodality Officer Candidates Chosen

Sodality officer candidates for the new semester were selected from the group nominated at the last Sodality assembly at a meeting of the arts and commerce sodality council Tuesday in the Administration building.

Dates for a monthly general communion for each department were selected and plans for attendance at a student nine o'clock mass on Sundays were made.

Plans to Enlarge Library

Plans for enlarging the circulation of Catholic books and magazines during the month, were discussed Wednesday at a meeting of the sodality of the St. Mary's college.

Tryouts Friday For Glee Club In Union Rooms

Mendelson Named Manager By Father Bloomer; Meet at 7 p. m.

ALL STUDENTS ASKED

Everyone to Have an Equal Chance for Membership to Appear in Festival

Try-outs for the University Glee club will be held tomorrow evening at 7 p. m. in the Student Union clubrooms on the first floor of the gymnasium under the direction of James S. Jamieson sr., it was announced Tuesday by the Rev. Louis A. Bloomer, S. J., new moderator of music.

Father Bloomer also announced the appointment of Henry Mendelson, J 3, manager of the orchestra, as manager of glee club with the title of manager of university music. This does not include the band which is under the supervision of the ROTC department.

Mr. Jamieson is director of the choir of St. John's church and has been judge of a number of local vocal contests. As director of St. John's choir, he has brought the choir into one of the leading positions in Omaha.

Students from all colleges and the professional schools, have been invited to attend the try-out. Plans for the glee club include its appearance in the Music Festival which will be held in the spring in conjunction with other musical organizations on the campus and appearances at university functions and activities.

"A glee club is an essential cultural asset to any university and in furtherance with the university's aim to instill culture we are offering students a glee club that all are urged to belong to," Father Bloomer said Tuesday.

Stating that timidity shouldn't interfere with try-outs, because everyone will have an even opportunity to prove their worth for membership in the group, Father Bloomer urges every student to turn out.

Creighton's last glee club died four years ago and was under the direction of Henry Cox, local musician. It gave numerous concerts, including a week's engagement at a local theater.

Present Tableaux of 3 Paintings at Duchesne Program Monday

Margre Abel, Instrumental Trio and Student Chorus Partake in Entertainment

Three tableaux of famous paintings of the Madonna were presented at the opening program of the "conge" in honor of Reverend Mother McMenamy at Duchesne Monday evening.

Marian Condon, DU 3; Betty Harrington, DU 2, and Martha Goodrich, DU 3, each took the part of Our Lady in a different setting.

Marge Abel, DU 4, played during the program and the chorus, directed by Eleanor Lubberger, DU 3, sang two numbers. An instrumental trio, composed of Alice Smith, Florence Fitzdowd, DU 1, and Mary Catherine Reagan, from the academy, also took part in the program.

The "feast wishes" or the congratulations of the students to Reverend Mother, were expressed by Mary Frances Scharf, DU 3, at the close of the program.

Fr. Doyle in Charge of Contest

The Rev. Louis F. Doyle, S. J., assistant professor of English, will be in general charge of the Intercollegiate English essay contest, which begins March 1 and ends April 2.

Test-tubes to Royalty to Appendectomy

Great is the change from a chemistry frock to the delicate gown of a princess. Greater still is the thrill that comes in the change from being princess of test-tubes and bunsen burners to be princess to the queen for the Junior-Senior Prom.

A still greater change came to Olga Dyba, C 4, when shortly before the regal event, she donned the hospital gown in preparation for an appendectomy.

On the third day of her stay it wasn't the knights and ladies who gathered in the courtyard of an ancient castle. It was merely the friends of the Patient Princess helping her celebrate the historic event of her birthday.

Phi Rho Sigma to Give Symposium

"Hypertension" Will Be the General Topic to Be Discussed

A symposium on "Hypertension" will be presented by Phi Rho Sigma, national medical fraternity, this morning at 7:30 p. m. in the Medical Arts auditorium. Speakers will include members of the faculty of the medical school.

Dr. Bryan M. Riley, dean of the medical school, will give the initial talk on "Definition, Classification and Etiology of Hypertension." "Pathology" will be presented by Dr. Carl B. Russum. Dr. Maurice C. Howard will speak on "Cardio-Vascular Signs and Symptoms." Dr. Francis W. Heagy's topic will be "Angina Pectoris and Coronary Thrombosis."

Dr. John W. Duncanson will present "Problems Confronting a Surgeon Operating on a Hypersensitive." "Diagnosis and Prognosis" is to be covered by Dr. Raymond L. Traynor. Dr. John R. Klejva will conclude the program with a lecture on "Treatment of Hypertension."

Frederick C. Mackenbrock and Louis D. James, M 4, compose the committee in charge of arrangements.

University College and Arts Announce Highest Average for Semester

Richard Moran and Sister Wilhelmina Brenner Have Highest Grades

With an average of 96 per cent, Richard Moran, A 1, received the highest average in the arts school for the first semester. Sister Wilhelmina Brenner, UC 2, received an average of 95 1/2 per cent, the highest obtained in the university college.

Others who obtained high honors in arts are:

- Seniors: John Daum, 94; Robert Booher, 90; Carl Sagness, 89 1/2; and Jerrold Hinshaw, 89. Juniors: John Reback, 95 1/2; John Porter, 95; Edward Kuncel, 94 1/2; Frank Barts, 93; Walter Smith, 93; and Justus Kirchner, 93. Sophomores: Morton Adler, 92 1/2; Silvio Giovalde, 93; Robert Hanna, 92 1/2; Ed-ward Rosenbaum, 92 1/2; Clayton Shroust, 92; and Edward Nemeo, 92. Freshmen: Richard Moran, 96; Morris Dansky, 95; Joseph Carville, 94 1/2; Abraham Katz, 94; and Sam Mangiamelli, 94.

Highest averages in the university college are:

- Seniors: Mary Catherine Martin, 93 1/2; Helen Clarkson, 91; and Olga Dyba, 89 1/2. Juniors: Ann Langley, 94 1/2; and Dorothy Kuehn, 91. Sophomores: Mary Agnes Green, 93 1/2; and Bessie Goldward, 92. Freshmen: Mary Braman, 93; Faye Goldward, 93; and Selma Larson, 91.

Phi Rho Sigs Entertain
Phi Rho Sigma, national medical fraternity, entertained Dr. Herbert F. Gerald and his wife Sunday at the chapter house.

Scheduled Meeting Is Postponed

Union Manager Says All Problems Can Wait Until Monday

SCHOOLS ARE AROUSED

Six Who Resigned at Prom Cannot Reach An Agreement

The Students Union board of governors, six of whose members resigned at the prom Friday, postponed a special meeting scheduled for last night.

The decision was made because the board has no business to discuss that cannot wait until the regular meeting Monday, according to Leo J. Reynolds, Union manager.

Set Last Friday
The meeting date was tentatively set last Friday at a hurried meeting of the board a few minutes before the prom when the representatives of the arts, commerce and journalistic departments tendered their resignations charging unfair political tactics.

The resignations were not accepted and the special meeting was set to consider them. Four of the six resigning members said Friday they would not be present at the meeting; the two commerce members, Jack Leary and Kenneth Dellamater said they would attend.

"All" Members
The announcement made by Reynolds yesterday included an invitation to "all" members of the board, for the Monday meeting.

The eight members of the board who represent the professional schools have had no comments to make relative to the disruption of the board last Friday. The eight include the four officers of the board.

Petitions supporting the arts men who resigned were circulated in that department Wednesday.

EDITORIAL NOTE

The purpose of the "waiting game" as it is played by the board of governors should be obvious to most students.

The board engages in only one activity that immediately concerns the student body and that is the prom. Let the excitement over the prom scandals subside and the board will be able to slide by.

The suggestion has been made by a responsible Union official that the whole matter be dropped until the May elections as if the trouble were one of membership on the board rather than the organization of it.

We feel reasonably certain that the attempt to "outwait" the student body will not be successful in the three undergraduate colleges. We predict that such tactics will increase resentment.

Faculty Board Is Named in Dentistry

The Rev. John J. McInerney, S. J., regent of the school of dentistry, announced the appointment of the board of administration for the school yesterday. The members of the board are Fr. McInerney, Dr. C. E. Woodbury, Dr. E. H. Bruening, Dr. H. S. King, Dr. M. L. King, and Dr. F. J. Viner, dean of the school of dentistry and chairman of the board.

Dr. Viner announced that Dr. V. E. Levine, professor of biochemistry and nutrition, will teach one of the few nutrition courses offered by schools of the country as a regular part of dental work.

No Substitute for Oligarchy?

The Creightonian aligns itself with the three undergraduate departments in this fight over the Union board. We are convinced that the Union board is not working for the best interests of these schools, that dominated by a particular faction, it is not functioning for the good of the whole university.

There are many students in the professional schools who have indicated they agree with us in this attitude toward the board. The statement that the politicians in the four professional schools are superior strategists does not answer the charge of discrimination against the largest department in the university. Should we admit that arts, commerce and journalism members of the board are less able politicians, does that justify the professional schools in discriminating against the students of that school?

The fault would seem to lie with the form of student government which encouraged a ruthless spoils system, which depended upon might-maker-right brand of politics in carrying on student affairs.

Let us see what kind of government the Student Union board of governors really was by demonstrating what it was not.

It was not a representative form of government or arts and medicine, the two largest schools, would have received almost equal recognition due to their equal size.

It was not democratic in the sense that its governors were responsible and responsive to the will of the students.

It was not a student monarchy or individual dictatorship for no one man has held control of the board for any length of time.

It was neither representative, not democratic, nor monarchical. It conformed clearly in operation with that form of government most susceptible to tyranny, the oligarchy, or control by the powerful few for their own interests.

The talk of reorganization of the Union board that has been prevalent in many places during the past few days has been concerned mostly with what sort of plan should replace the board. While the Union board has lost face throughout the university and more particularly in the three undergraduate schools in the last two years there are many who still believe that the Union board plan is better than any substitute that might be offered. We are of the opinion that scarcely any plan could be less efficient and irresponsible to the student body.

It may be that presentation of a substitute plan is a little premature since the Union has not yet been decently buried but the temper of the students in arts, commerce and journalism would indicate this is but a matter of time. After 11 years of Union domination these students are in no mood for compromise.

However, the Students Union is incorporated under the laws of Nebraska and as a corporation cannot die the peaceful death of an outworn system of student government. Its incorporation was one more barrier between the Union and the student body it was supposed to serve for it complicated its organization. The students of Creighton university stand in no closer relationship with their student government than does the owner of a single share of A. T. & T. with Walter Gifford and his board of directors. Student government at Creighton was made a business. It has failed to pay proper dividends.

If there are some who might hold out against attempts to break down the Union, providing, of course, that a suitable substitute has been offered, then Creighton will be headed for a long hard battle. If, on the other hand, its supporters admit the possibility of a workable government receiving the respect of the student body, the battle is half won.

As it stands now, student government at Creighton does not really exist. The house is divided against itself; compromise on any sort of a patched up Union board seems impossible; and, unfortunately, the split is taking the lines made when the six members of the Union board resigned.

The most unfortunate result of the current battle on the Students Union board of governors is the widening of the gap between the undergraduate departments and the professional schools. The departments of Creighton university have never been noted for harmonious co-operative effort in student affairs but the recent break has emphasized this departmental jealousy.

What fraternities and secret political societies could not do at Creighton this departmental rivalry did accomplish. It is conceivable that the situation might have been avoided had there been no such organization as the Union board where political trading among the members is the most important activity.

Whether the Union board fostered the departmental troubles is a moot question; certainly its plan of organization did not discourage them. That a coalition of professional schools could consistently dominate the board for 11 years would indicate that the board was at least a contributing factor in describing the undergraduate and professional lines.

PERHAPS LIFE IS NOT SO BAD (Oklahoma Daily.)

As long as there are intellectual editors and other leaders who can keep their heads above the water of the great sea of world confusion, we may feel confident that better times must be in the offing.

For instance one editor offers his inspiring credo, which helps to show that there may not be so much pessimism and gloom afloat as we might think. It reads:

"That most people like clean movies better than dirty ones—

"And clean books better than dirty ones—

"And clean plays better than dirty plays.

"That college professors who break down the homespun religion of their students are as much public enemies as any other racketeers.

"That homemaking is the most dignified of all occupations.

"That the elimination of drudgery in household tasks is the greatest job that industry and invention have ever done.

"That the so-called wild younger generation is, on the whole, a fine, upstanding bunch of boys and girls.

"That crime would decrease if it were less advertised and glorified.

"That we shall wake up some bright Thursday morning and find that the depression has quietly come to an end and that business is pretty good again.

"That we in America are living in the greatest country and the greatest age that man has ever known."

LET'S GO OUT FOR GLEE CLUB

The long awaited university glee club will become an actuality tomorrow night when tryouts are held in the Union clubrooms. An invitation sent out by the Rev. Louis A. Bloomer, S. J., moderator of music, and by Mr. John G. Jameison, their new director, carries the suggestion that everyone who believes he has the slightest chance of making a place for himself on the glee club roster should be present for the tryouts.

This is particularly encouraging for those who would like to engage in major campus activities but who feel themselves unqualified, because of lack of training. The glee club is a new activity at Creighton; its directors and sponsors do not require that the students interested in it have trained voices or even good ones. It is their purpose to encourage music at Creighton through its primary media, the human voice. They are not interested in turning out grand opera candidates.

For this reason the glee club should be an activity of universal interest. Surely, from a student body of more than 2,000 the directors of the glee club may expect at least 200 candidates. Let us then try to make the glee club tryouts in engaging in an activity whose main demand on the members will be one of interest.

The organization of the glee club comes at a time when Creighton is looking forward to a new deal in student affairs and it may well apply to activities other than student government. Let us demonstrate that real Creighton spirit, so long dormant, by going out for the glee club tomorrow night.

THE FIRST EDITION

The first edition of the class of 1934 which received degrees last week is to be commended doubly. First of all, the mid-year graduates have earned the customary honor due to those who have successfully completed their college work. Secondly, they have chosen to graduate at a particularly opportune time.

Hardly anyone will deny that the chances for the graduate of February, 1934, are better than those of his predecessors in June and February, 1933. The world is a different one; it contains a little more hope and confidence; it gives promise of a better day.

Creighton and Creightonians By F. G. Deglman, S. J. Student Counsellor

This is probably the most significant Lent of your life—the Lent of the Holy Year commemorating the nineteenth centennial of our Redeemer's death. Long before the twentieth is celebrated we shall be in eternity and shall have rendered an account of our appreciation of the grace of redemption.

Because of the ample opportunities offered in St. John's church and the various parish churches of Omaha no one has an excuse to let Lent pass without some sacrifice of love of the Divine Savior. There are the daily mass with frequent communion, the Stations of the Cross on every Friday evening, the Lenten courses on Sunday and Wednesday evenings. Besides, the spirit of penance and sacrifice is urged through the law of fast and abstinence and through the exhortation to private personal restriction from worldly amusements.

Our non-catholic students are encouraged in an earnest manner by the services held in their churches to keep the season of Lent in a devotional and penitential spirit. Ingratitude to the Holy Redeemer through indifference to His passion and death for our sake would indicate a trait of character unbecoming any Christian.

Great value is to be laid on voluntary sacrifices no matter how insignificant they may seem in themselves. The divine Redeemer suffered for each of us; and from His sacred suffering and death flows that constant stream of graces that make us the sharers of His Father's love as children of God and heirs to the supernatural joys of heaven. Nothing is insignificant that expresses the love of a child for his heavenly Father.

Throughout the world this sacred centennial is kept with devotion. The unappreciative alone will let these holy days pass without special prayer and sacrifices.

CAMPUS SPOTLIGHT

Sometimes we wonder whether or not these profs really read everything we hand in to them, or do they just throw the papers into the basket, give us a fairly suitable grade and let it go at that. Marquette students are no longer in the dark as to this question. It seems a student was taking an exam in philosophy, and after writing three pages he stopped and added this line, "Well, that's all I know about philosophy, and as you won't read this far anyway, I'll just describe yesterday's baseball game instead." He then wrote seven pages about the game and — the lucky devil — the prof never discovered it!

We don't always get by so easily if we take for an example the medic that was being operated on at St. Joseph's hospital by one of his professors, and while going under the ether said, "You know, doctor, I sure did some swell cribbing when I passed that semester exam you gave!"

Since the grades came out, it has been rumored that down in the military department they mark two boxes, one "B" and the other "C". The high ranking soldiers, with all the boots and medals then place the boxes in the center of the gym floor, march in single file to the balcony (or track), then fling the papers over the railing. Those papers that land in a box receive that respective grade, those that don't happen to hit a box, float down to a graceful flunking.

It's usually the profs who give the instruction, but at Marshall college it seems to run a bit differently, as far as the Emily Post profession goes. The students have published a list of instructions of courtesy hints to the erring professors. The students seem to think it discourteous for professors to address their lectures to whomever may be outside the classroom window. They also object to the prof who doesn't wear enough belt and as a result distracts the attention of the class by hitching up his pants in between sentences.

Dear old Columbia has its troubles along with the rest of us. Can you imagine? . . . out of 188 freshmen, 121 were Republicans and only 67 were Democrats.

Jean Harlow has even gone in for instructing college students, only as far as "Hold Your Man" is concerned, though. In a recent interview with California U. co-eds, Jean gave all the rules for keeping your "street-car and show-fare" in a few simple words. "Know all the tricks," she said, and then coyly added, "but play fair." She thought the men needed a little advice also and that was, "try to be a little elusive."

Campus Comment

As a law student I feel that in all fairness to the eight remaining members of the Students Union board of governors someone should present the other side of the picture.

I personally do not believe that the six members of the board of governors that resigned from their position after the naming of the king and queen of the prom had any ground for resigning. It seems to be merely a case of "poor losers."

The members of the board who resigned claim they did so because a coalition was formed against them, putting their own group in a minority. The truth of the matter is that these resigned members themselves tried to form a coalition to elect their own candidates as king and queen of the prom.

It was exactly the same kind of a coalition with exactly the same purpose in mind as the group which won the election. And yet these resigned members claim that they do not have a voice in the government of the school because a majority group has been formed against them. The gentlemen are inconsistent; their reason for resigning is because someone else was successful in exactly the same enterprise in which they failed.

The fact that the board of governors is not a good organization as it exists at the present time is an entirely different question, one of reorganization only.

The action of the men who resigned was unfair to the person who were chosen king and queen. These persons are certainly entitled to all the honor and prestige of their positions and an uncalled for and unnecessary act, the resigning of the six, is certainly a blow to them as individuals as well as to the traditions and the ideals that their respective positions have stood for on this campus during the 11 years.

the abc of pipe tobacco

The best tobacco for pipes comes from Kentucky . . . and it's called "White Burley"

WE use White Burley in making Granger Rough Cut. It comes from the Blue Grass region of Kentucky —ripe, mild leaf tobacco that just about tops them all for fragrance and flavor.

From the right place on the stalk we select the kind that's best for pipes. Then we make it into Granger by Wellman's Method and cut it up into big shaggy flakes.

White Burley tobacco—made the way old man Wellman taught us how to make it—that's Granger.

"Cut rough to smoke cool" is the way pipe smokers describe Granger—try it

The Cry of the Gridiron . . . Creighton Haven for Coaches . . . So the Records Show . . . New Football Rules . . . What a Game . . . How About Schmidt.

WITH a call for a meeting of all interested in the gridiron sport having been issued by the athletic department, there is every reason to believe that Coach Eddie Hickey will get an early start with his Bluejay football prospects.

When the gathering is held and the plans for the spring training season discussed, it will only remain for old man weather to play the part of the "good uncle" to the Bluejays.

Head Mentor Hickey expects to take his gridsters on the field the first day of spring training and start rounding them into shape so that when they return to the field next semester it will only be necessary to do a bit of final polishing to put a No. 1 team on the field against the South Dakota pigskin players.

Prospects appear bright with only a few regulars scheduled to be lost by the graduating route. With the capable reserves on hand the new mentor should not find it too great a task to keep up his outstanding record of coaching winning football teams.

Here's News

IT is no longer news to sport fans that Eddie Hickey will replace Stark as head coach of football on the Hilltop, but to most of them it is probably news that Creighton is a happy camping ground for coaches.

In the past 12 years, three coaches have served under Athletic Director Arthur A. Schabinger. This means that the average life of a football coach on the Hilltop is four years.

In other athletic circles, however, the average life of a coach is set at two years. Maybe this is the reason that the candidates for coaching jobs on the Hilltop are numerous when there is any indication that a change will be made in the personnel.

A Faster Game

WITH the basketball season quietly fading out of the picture, the eyes of sport fans are turning toward football—that good old freezing weather sport.

The game to be played on the gridiron next season will be different from that of the past because of the altering of the rules by the National Football Rules committee.

The changes are:
1. Lifting of touchback penalty on the first incomplete forward pass thrown over the goal line.
2. Removal of the five-yard setback inflicted after a second successive incomplete forward pass.
3. Rewording of the definition of a punt to allow a teammate to hold the ball until the kicker has made contact.

Other minor changes were made, all of which point to a speedier and more interesting game and one in which the offense will enjoy a few aids.

Things to Think About

THE small and somewhat disinterested crowd that witnessed the Bluejay-Washington basketball game in the Hilltop gymnasium last Saturday night went away thinking of at least two things.

First: How could a team displaying the caliber of play that the Bears did emerge victorious over the Bluejays, who, at the time of the encounter, were in the best of condition?

Second: Why did the game have to be so lifeless?
There are too many answers that can be given for the first question, but only one can be given for the second.

It appears as if the Bluejays had not yet forgotten about the hectic game they dropped to Butler. They had plenty of time to forget it, but the things that want to be forgotten are the hardest to forget. Maybe that was the reason for the lifeless game.

Schmidty the Actor

WILLARD Willowy Schmidt has played an important role in all the cage games since he joined Coach Arthur A. Schabinger's quintet, but it was in the "dead" Washington game that he really put on a show for the folks.

Many times so far this season he has tried an overhead shot. Sometimes his aim was accurate, sometimes otherwise. In the Bear game however, he proved that it

CREIGHTON students attending the Missouri basketball game in the Hilltop gymnasium Monday evening handed the ticket taker, ticket No. 13 from their admission book. This, some think, proved to be the jinx for the Tigers who have been lucky on the Bluejay court.

Faced by the "Tower of Piza Pivotman" Willard Schmidt, Dr. A. A. Schabinger's Bluejays went into the fray somewhat the underdog but after three minutes of play it was evident that the game was to be one of the fastest and best played this season on the home rink.

Bluejay Grid Players Forget Football Game To Play Basketball

Unlike the proverbial leopard, Creighton men can change their spots. Six teams of varsity and freshmen are to play basketball in the gym Sunday, Duce Belford, director of intramural activities, announced Wednesday.

The Lions, composed of Hackett, Irish, Muffit, Serpe, Hunt, Knapp, and Bausch will play against the Elks, who are made up of Wilcox, Givvons, Oahlo, Kelly, Skull and Jones. They will play at 2:30 p. m.

The teams to play at 3 p. m. are the Wolves, composed of Marchetti, P. Jones, Lannon, Fisher, Quinn, Tomlinson and J. Samson, and the Giants composed of Bernacchi, Zehcher, Lalick, Navoichick, Lambrecht, Collin and Corrigan.

The Cubs and the Tigers will take the floor at 3:45 p. m. The Cubs include Gordon, G. Busch, Pederson, Schmidt, Archer, Kubas and Pirruccello, and the Tigers of Holland, McIver, McKathmie, Moran, Fishler, Campbell, Sesto and F. Sampson.

The victory not only gave the Bluejays sole possession of second place but shattered the hopes of Washington to gain a tie with the Butler Bulldogs for the Missouri Valley conference crown.

Don White's boys were never in close range of the Bluejays after the first ten minutes of play. At this point they trailed by five points and at intermission Creighton was leading 19 to 12.

Ed Brick, sophomore guard and former Prep star, was the outstanding player of the evening. Ed played a good defensive game and

When the Bluejays and Marquette cagemen take the floor, it will be the renewal of the oldest rivalry on the basketball records of Creighton university.

The Marquette team is one of the best in recent years. It has emerged victorious over many of the leading teams in the Big Ten conference and their caliber of play is top-notch.

The play of the Bluejays has been consistent since they dropped the thriller to the Butler Bulldogs and when they take to the mapsles they will be out to show the home fans how they stack up against a strong non-conference foe.

Sheila Shirley Crowned Queen of Annual Duchesne Mardi Gras

Previous Queens Guests at Ball

Ceremony Precedes Dancing; Tea Given By Drama Club

Sheila Shirley, president of the senior class and of the student body was revealed as the fifth Duchesne Mardi Gras queen at the Ball held in the Duchesne auditorium Monday evening.

Before 300 students and guests, the largest gathering ever to witness this annual ceremony, Miss Shirley was crowned as she knelt in the spotlight before Reverend Mother McMenamy, and two past queens, Rita Molsed, DU '31, and Phoebe McCarthy, DU '33.

Her majesty's gown of white lace ended in a graceful train and had an accompanying jacket of lace with three-quarter length sleeves puffed at the elbow. She wore blue slippers matching the royal robe of blue velvet.

At exactly 8 o'clock the curtains of the stage were opened to disclose the throne, in a black and silver modernistic setting. In the dimmed auditorium a spotlight centered on the princesses as they advanced in twos amidst the applause of the audience.

The first two princesses to enter were Elizabeth Donahoe and Florence Swift, in powder blue. They were followed by Margaret Burke and Mary Ellen Leary, gowned in deep yellow. Genevieve Welsh and Verone Gruenther came last, in green. Their gowns were made on straight lines with a wide cape collar edged with plaiting and clipped with brilliants at the cowl neckline. The skirts and trains were edged with plaiting.

Music during the ceremony was furnished by an instrumental quartet composed of Alice Smith, Mary Gauvreau, Florence Fitzdowd, DU 1, and Mary Catherine Reagan, from the academy.

Chi Mu Kappa Pledges Twelve

Honors Pledges at Banquet and Exclusive Pre-Lenten Dance

Twelve were initiated into Chi Mu Kappa, local social sorority, at formal pledging ceremonies Tuesday night in Hotel Fontenelle.

A banquet at 6:30 preceded the pledging rites. Candelabra and decorations were in white and red, sorority colors.

The formal dance following the initiation was limited to pledges, actives and alumnae and their guests exclusively. Dancing began at 9:30 and ended as the last minute of the pre-Lenten season ticked away.

The new members are: Frederika Hansen, Margaret Duffy, Dorothy Corcoran, Mary Martin, Marion Kalamaja, Patricia Duffy, Eileen Duffy, Nancie Lee Hayes, Jean Phalen, Jeanne Simplot, Terese Peter and Regina Smith.

Active members present were: Eleanor Lynch, Sally O'Neill, Mary Caroline Kull, Helen Fochtman, Helen McFarland, Virginia Mancuso and Mary Kahler.

Helen Fochtman, M 4, secretary of the sorority, was the chairman in charge of all arrangements. She was assisted by Eleanor Lynch, UC 4, chairman of the pledging committee; Mary Kahler, L 2, chairman of the banquet committee, and Sally O'Neill, C 2, chairman of the dance committee.

for them and the game ended with the home laddies carrying off a 36 to 24 victory.

The game was nip and tuck from beginning to end but the invaders failed to find the hoop very consistently until after the Bluejays had run up an 11 to 2 lead in the first few minutes of play. By half time the Schabiettes were ahead 17 to 12.

Bengals Scoreless

Returning to the maples for the second stanza of play, the Bluejays scored almost at will from all angles of the floor but kept the Tigers scoreless until five minutes of playing time remained.

The quintet of George Edwards, playing against Mentor Schabinger's second stringers, opened fire in the waning moments of the game and accounted for 13 points, 10 of which came via the goal route and three by way of the free throw line.

Fast Game

Both quintets played hard and the fast breaking offense displayed held the attention of the 1,700 fans present. The battle was rough and tumble, not only for the players but also for the officials who often found themselves in the middle of the fracas.

Seven Mardi Gras Princesses at Duchesne Four Years or More

All princesses in the Mardi Gras ball staged at Duchesne Monday evening have spent their entire college careers at Duchesne.

Verone Gruenther, Florence Swift and Margaret Burke also spent their four high school years at the Duchesne academy. Sheila Shirley, another princess, has spent all sixteen years of her school life here.

Miss Shirley is president of the senior class and the Duchesne Drama club. She served as princess of the Mardi Gras last year and will also serve as a princess at the Creighton prom this year.

Verone Gruenther was in her freshman year treasurer of her class and later president of her sophomore class. She served as junior vice-president in 1933. Miss Gruenther taught gymnastics at Duchesne last year and is also a member of the "D" club. She was in the Mardi Gras last year and is also a princess of the prom now. Miss Gruenther is engaged to Gar Davidson, Army football coach.

Another of the Mardi Gras princesses is Elizabeth Donahue, teacher of gymnastics at Duchesne academy and president of the Duchesne athletic association. She is a member of the Choral and "D" clubs.

Margaret Burke, D 3, served as vice-president of her freshman class and is a charter member of the Writer's Guild, organized last year at Duchesne. Miss Burke is now the president of the League of the Sacred Heart and treasurer of the college group of the Children of Mary sodality. She is also a member of the Choral,

"D," and Drama clubs at Duchesne. Florence Swift, D 4, was secretary of her freshman class, and is now a member of the Children of Mary sodality and the Drama club. She has spent eight years of her school life at Duchesne.

Genevieve Welsh, also D 4, is a member of the D club and sings in the chorus.

Mary Ellen Leary, in her sophomore year was editor of the Duchesne monthly and is now an editor of Shadows. Miss Leary is also a Creightontan correspondent and a princess in the prom.

All of the Mardi Gras princesses are members of the Children of Mary sodality.

Special Missionary Mass at Duchesne

The consistently large attendance at our special Mass on Missionary Sunday proves that Duchesne is really actively interested in this new venture," said Betty Donahue, DU 3, treasurer of the Duchesne Missionary Association.

Members of the association are working on altar linen for poor parishes, and earning money to send to Chinese and Indian missions. Besides this material help, every month they each offer a 15-minute visit before the Blessed Sacrament for the missions.

This Sunday will be the third month that the association has attended Mass at the convent in a body for the intention of the missions.

They Satisfy

... people know it!

Same thing with a good cigarette or a good wood-fire. All you need is a light. And all you want is a cigarette that keeps tasting right whether you smoke one or a dozen. That's what people like about Chesterfields. You can count on them. They're milder—and they taste better. In two words, they satisfy. That says it.
