

Vaughn Monroe, Sauter-Finegan in Gym Tuesday

Eddie Sauter, Vaughn Monroe, and Bill Finegan harmonize

At 12:30 a. m. the doors of the gymnasium will be opened. All students are asked to be in their seats by 1 p. m. since the tape recording of the show will begin at this time.

Arts, commerce, and pharmacy schools will be released at this time. Other schools should see their deans as to dismissal from class.

The gym will be closed from 9 a. m. till 12:30 p. m. for rehearsals.

The school is very fortunate in having this show come to the campus. Appreciation by the audience can be shown by orderly conduct.

St. John's and Creighton Prep high schools will be guests of the university.

Please be in your seat by 1 p. m.

Vaughn Monroe, top rated radio and recording artist for more than a decade, and the Sauter-Finegan orchestra, latest thing in popular music, will join musical talents to present a free concert and a nationwide radio show, "The Camel Caravan," at Creighton university, Tuesday in the gymnasium at 1-3 p. m.

Appearing with Monroe and Sauter-Finegan will be Sally Sweetland, vocalist. Director of the show is Jack Grogan with Bill Becker as the assistant director.

The stars will dedicate their

CBS-radio network program to this school and will feature the Creighton university's theme song, the "White and Blue," on their broadcast. The program will be recorded by electrical transcription for actual broadcast to the nation at a later date, Nov. 30. Thus students will have time to write the folks back home when to listen to the broadcast.

Client of the show is the R. J. Reynolds tobacco company, of Winston-Salem, N. C. The agency is the William E. E. company, 100 East 42 street, New York 17, N. Y.

Vaughn Monroe Plays More At Colleges Than Do Others

Vaughn Monroe—"150" Colleges"

Probably Vaughn Monroe has broadcast his weekly radio program from more colleges than any star in radio history. Vaughn estimates the number of colleges he has played in is in the neighborhood of 150.

Vaughn, who will add Creighton to his list when he brings his "Camel Caravan" here on Nov. 10 was born in Akron, Ohio, and was graduated from the Jeanette, Pa., high school as "The Boy Most Likely to Succeed." While attending high school, he played for local bands and saved enough to enter Carnegie Tech although he did not finish. Vaughn toured the country with various groups until 1937 when he joined a band managed by Jack Marshard in Boston. He was quickly promoted to leader.

In the meantime, the tall musician was studying voice at the New England Conservatory of Music. However, when Vaughn was induced to handle the band vocals in 1940, he had to hire a coach to tone down his booming baritone for the more intimate microphone style.

Hits Paramount Theatre

The first big date was in the New York Paramount theatre and he launched the group in the big time engagements around the country. This began a career that saw Vaughn Monroe and his company setting records year after year for personal appearances.

The success of "There, I've Said It Again" in 1945, which sold more than 1,250,000 records, established him as a top-recording artist. A long list of his included: "Let It Snow," "Ballerina," "Cool Water," "Riders in the Sky," "Mule Train" and "Racing with the Moon," his theme song.

In 1946 Vaughn went on radio for a summer series, and that started his association with radio and his sponsor. While traveling around the country for dance dates he broadcast his CBS-radio network program more and more often from halls of ivy. This eventually became the habit and now every program originates from a college campus for an all-student audience. And, naturally, the program airs a salute to the host college.

For this season's series of broadcasts, Vaughn Monroe has teamed up with the new sensation of the dance bands, the Sauter-Finegan orchestra.

Young GOPs Revise The Nat'l Platform

The Young Republicans' club will hold a meeting in the law lounge at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, November 10. At that time a program for revision of the national platform to better conform with the thinking of Creighton Young GOPs will be inaugurated.

Bluejay photographers will also take club pictures for the year-book.

The Lancaster county Young Republican's will hold a mixer in the Cornhusker hotel on the evening of Friday, Nov. 13. All Creighton Young GOPs interested in attending are urged to be at the meeting Tuesday, or contact Shane Hugh O'Neill L2, or Joe Hill, A4.

CU Instructor, Son Injured in Accident

J. Williams Presides At Registrar's Meet

Midland college, Fremont, Neb., was the scene of the fall meeting of the Nebraska Branch of the American association of collegiate registrars and admissions officers, Friday, Oct. 23. Jack Williams, registrar, Creighton university, presided.

Edward D. Murphy, business manager and Jack Williams attended the office management seminar, Friday, Oct. 30, at the University of Nebraska. The National Office Management association and the College of Business Administration, University Extension Division of the University of Nebraska sponsored the seminar.

Laurence H. Brown, acting director of the department of sociology, and his son John, A2, were injured Saturday morning, Oct. 28, in an automobile accident on route 6 near Casey, Ia.

The father and son became the sixth and seventh Creightonian auto accident victims within the past two weeks.

Mr. Brown and John were going to Des Moines, Ia., to visit Mrs. Brown, who has been caring for another son in Des Moines who is ill with pneumonia.

The accident occurred when a car coming around a curve side-swiped a second car, rolled over and struck the Brown auto.

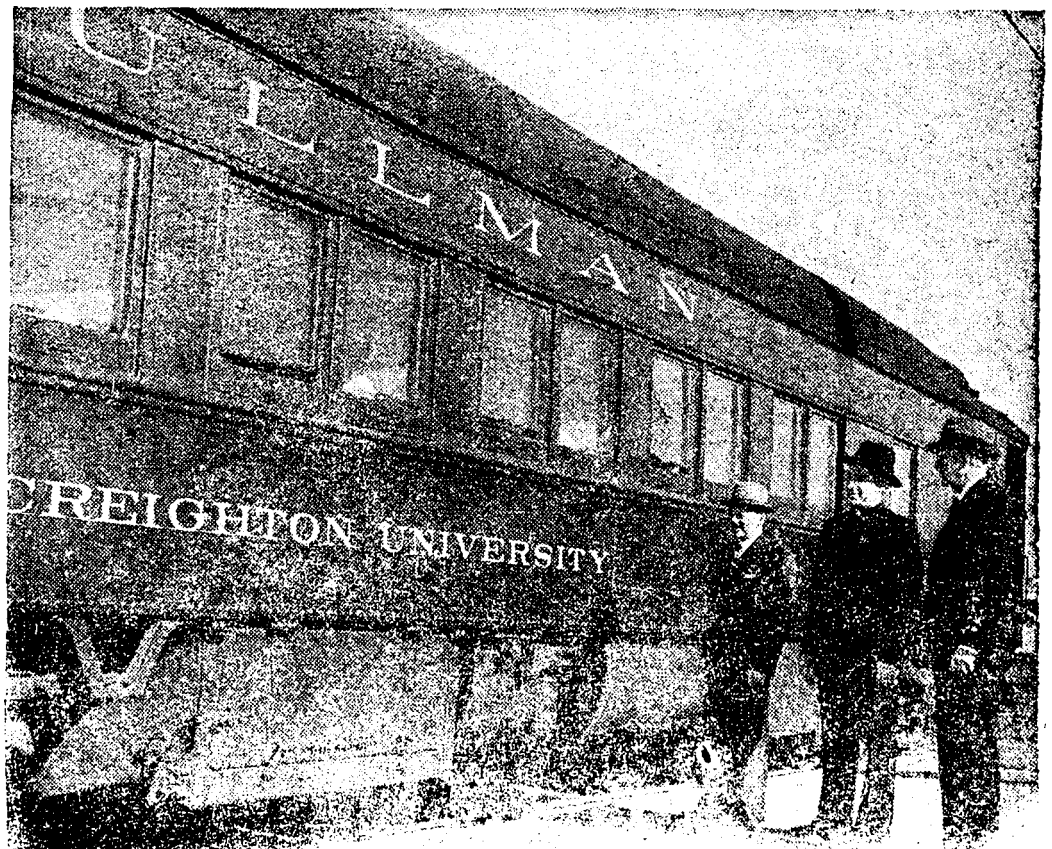

The Browns are hospitalized in Greenfield, Ia.

John has been unconscious since the occurrence of the accident. He suffered serious head injuries, a broken leg and cuts and bruises. A report from the president's office late Wednesday afternoon said that John rallied Monday night but lapsed back into a coma, and that his condition is the same.

Mr. Brown was shaken up and suffered superficial cuts and bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are in Greenfield where they are watching the progress of their son.

The Name of Creighton Travels

A Pullman car which will run on the Burlington railroad from Omaha to Kansas City was named Creighton University. W. F. Burke, general passenger agent for the Burlington in Omaha; the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., Creighton president, and J. M. Harding, member of the Puliman board of directors, view the name. The name was suggested to Mr. Harding by attorney Ralph Svoboda, a Creighton alumnus.

Sodality Union Busy Naming Committees

The Sodality union has appointed a committee to pick a topic for the Student Sodality congress at a meeting held Sunday, Nov. 1, in the school library.

Another committee was also picked to make plans for the celebration of the Feast of the Blessed Virgin Mary to be held Dec. 8.

Officers of the Sodality union are as follows:

Joe Statz, prefect; Subby Basilio, vice-prefect; Rita Ryan, recording secretary; Jean Welsh, corresponding secretary; and Don Cimpr, treasurer.

Student Union Ball at Peony Tonight

cut off your nose

My fictional friend has chosen to present his girl with bricks rather than bouquets for the Student Union ball. Although this is not the best practice, it is preferable to the student use of brick bats, these gentle gifts being directed to the Student Union and not toward the girls.

It is exceedingly difficult to explain this paradoxical attitude of the student body. On the one hand we have a project which is designed to benefit the entire student body and still provide them with an enjoyable evening. On the other hand we have that same student body responding to this proposal about as well as to the mating call of the wild goose. Why?

One general criticism that has been circulated around school is that the ball costs too much. Let's analyze the situation. The tickets cost $3. In comparison to other major dances, this is more than some—less than others. It is not expensive; it is an average price for a good evening's entertainment. In addition to this, however, there is a factor that actually makes this dance cheap. This factor is one already mentioned before—the fact that the money spent for the ball is being returned to each and every student, only in a different form. Because of this double effect, then, the Student Union ball deserves support.

The cost of the corsages which the student union will sell needs little justification or explanation. Have you ever tried to purchase a corsage for any less than, or even for $2?

Other than this excuse for failure to support the Student Union ball, there is nothing that one can decisively point to as a reason for the slow sale of tickets. Perhaps it is lack of energy after exams (?). Perhaps you're saving for vacation already. Perhaps it's because the student body lacks the spirit and ability to finish a task it has started. Pick your answer.

The ball is this evening. It is still possible to make reality out of a cherished dream.

Tickets anyone?

By the Rev. F. G. Deglman, S. J.
On Nov. 9, 1878, the Very Rev. Peter Beck, the then General of the Society of Jesus, signed the document whereby the sodality for students established at Creighton under the title of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the patronage of St. Aloysius was aggregated to the Primary Sodality of Rome and would henceforth share all the privileges, indulgences and favors of the first sodality.

Thus the Creighton sodality was canonically erected in the first year of the school and now celebrates its diamond jubilee.

The sodality register records the names of the hundreds upon hundreds of students who were enrolled in this sodality during the past seventy-five years. Men now prominent in all walks of life, in the priesthood, as doctors and lawyers, as newspapermen, bankers, businessmen, in civic activities and as executives honor the sodality roll call.

The first sodality prefect was Moses O'Brien. Of our more recently departed Professor Hugh Gillespie was prefect in 1908; Francis Matthews in 1909; Francis McDermott in 1913, and our latest departed regent of the university, Edward Epsen was an officer in 1917.

The history of the sodality at Creighton is an inspiring proof that true devotion to the Blessed Mother of God is a valuable asset in life for personal holiness and apostolic influence.

To commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary in an appropriate manner, the Sodality Union Board of officers has chosen Tuesday, Dec. 8, the patronal feast of the sodality, for a solemn celebration at 10 a. m. in St. John's church. All sodalists are being invited. Let us all join in giving a worthy tribute to Our Queen and Mother. The celebration forms are proper opening of the Marian Year proclaimed by the Holy Father in commemoration of the centenary of the proclamation of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception.

Your

Board Of Governors

Report

Class officers of each class in all schools of Creighton university will meet with the board of governors at the meeting Dec. 1 in the snack bar. Plans were formulated for that evening at the board's regular meeting Tuesday night in the newsroom.

Board members on the six committees will present a summary of their functions to the class officers at this session. This year the heads of the classes will work with the board members on their projects. The Tuesday night meeting is for the purpose of indoctrinating the leaders in each school in their respective duties as officers.

Plans for a road trip to Drake university for the basketball game in January were begun. Frank Brau, M3, chairman of the athletics and school spirit committee, will present information on the proposed trip at the next meeting. Other members of this committee are Paul Gradoville, D2, and Tom Schermuly, P4.

Eddie Haddad will play for the homecoming dance at Peony Park Feb. 2, 1954. Bob Klein, A3, has made negotiations with Haddad, and the contract will be signed this week.

Proof reading on the student directory has been completed. Kenneth Stangel, C4, president of the board, said it should be ready for distribution soon.

Paul Rauth, L2, head of the cultural activities committee, will contact the Dramatic club in order to help boost the forthcoming production, "Dr. Knock." Other members of this committee are Thomas Dunblin, M3, and William Holthaus, D3.

Stangel, speaking as president of the board, asks all students who wish to offer criticisms, constructive or otherwise, to attend the board meetings. They are open to Creighton students, and are held alternate Tuesdays.

Absent from this week's meeting were Monte Taylor, L3, and Holthaus. Present were: Stangel, Klein, Gradoville, Brau, Sebastian Basilio, A4, Rauth, Frank Hogan, C3 and Miles Vana P3. The Rev. Austin E. Miller, dean of men and moderator of the group, also was at the meeting.

cries and replies

Editor's Note—The following letter was received this week by the Rev. William F. Kelley, S. J., dean of Creighton college, from Lydia Vonmetz who attended Creighton university last year as an exchange student:

Dear Father Kelley,

School keeps me busy from morning till night. That does not mean, however, that I don't think of Creighton a lot. I get homesick for the dear campus everytime I look at my yearbook or when I get a letter from the kids, in which they tell me what is going on over there. I really felt at home at CU and I thank God that I had the opportunity of studying there during the past school year.

There is quite a difference between Creighton and the school I am attending this year; but before I start on that subject I think I had better tell you about some general impressions I had when I saw Germany again after a year.

I was surprised at how many things have changed to their advantage:

An enormous amount of building and rebuilding was done. Whole settlements for fugitives were erected and also a little colony for American soldiers who have their families with them.

Many technical improvements have been achieved also. The most important to me is that we have two TV sets in our town now. In northern Germany TV is more advanced than here in Bavaria. Of course, there still is no comparison with American TV work but at least it is a beginning.

More people drive cars than when I left. They are also better dressed. The fashions are more or less Americanized. American dancing-music is most popular (I always listen to the Hit Parade on AFN), and many American expressions are being used in our language.

I am thinking our epoch is very similar to the time of Louis XIV, when the whole of Europe was imitating France, America taking France's place now.

Too, the difference between America and Germany was not too hard to get used to for me and I got accustomed to our way of life pretty soon again (though I do miss potato chips and hot dogs.)

As I already mentioned I spend most of my time at school or studying at home. I attend the same Catholic private school (owned by Irish Sisters of Loreto, 1,000 students, all girls) I went to before I left. I am in the 9th grade, which makes me a senior. The subjects I am taking this year are:

German, English, French, Latin, math, physics, chemistry, biology, geography, history, sociology, religion, arts music and phys. ed. They are all compulsory. I have classes every day, Saturday included. When school first started I had quite a hard time trying to catch up with my classmates in the subjects I missed out on last year, particularly in chemistry and physics. In French, math, religion and Latin, the subjects I took at CU, I am all up to date with the rest of the class. English, of course, comes easily to me now. We are just translating the "Declaration of Independence" into German.

Several times I had to give a little talk about my experiences in and impressions about USA. I keep telling my teachers about the healthy relation between students and profs in America and I hope it makes some impression on them. Being class president and representative for our whole school this year I get to talk to our teachers about the advantages and disadvantages of our system of education and the one in the States very frequently.

The little space I have left here I want to use to thank you very much for all the kindness and interest you had for me last year.

With best wishes I remain yours truly,

Lydia Vonmetz

Dear Editor:

My particular cry this week is aimed at your sports department. Your sports editor, Bob Gisler, has been crying all year about the fact that he hasn't been kept informed of the intramural football games. He blames his poor writings on the failure of team captains to put down the full names of the players and the scoring highlights of the games.

Realizing that it is the duty of the students to make the "Creightonian" a better paper, I took it upon myself to personally write up the games in which Phi Beta Pi participated. In the semifinal game, in which the "Betes" beat the "Little Caesars" by a score of 13 to 0, I recorded the full names of the players and the scoring highlights of the game on the bottom of the score sheet. The same was done for the championship game in which the "Betes" beat the "Delts" by a score of 13 to 7.

Much to our disappointment, we received four lines of print for the semi-final game and five whole lines for the championship game. Mr. Gisler apparently didn't even look at the writings. He neglected to mention when the touchdowns were made, how they were made, or who the key men in the game were. He merely copied down who made the points from the score sheet. They were all close, hard-fought games and the players deserve a little credit in their paper for their efforts. We at the medical school like to feel that we're still part of the university and not just the orphans from 14th Street.

I am enclosing a few clippings from last year's sports section, so ably edited by Bill Fogarty. If Mr. Gisler is at all interested in intramural sports, he will read them and learn a few points about sports reporting.

Hats off to Rita Bernica and her yearbook crew who were on hand for the championship game. If we can't have a decent paper, at least we'll have a good yearbook.

Pat Kenney, M3.
P.S. We might be able to dig up a picture of the championship team if you're interested.

Celebrities on the campus next week! On Tuesday, Nov. 10, the Sauter-Finegan orchestra and Vaughn Monroe will broadcast their nation-wide "Camel Caravan" from the gym. The program won't actually be broadcast on the spot, but a tape of the show will be made and the faculty and student body are invited to watch the tape being made.

We will have a chance to watch one of the top bands in the country. The orchestra has received reviews from many national magazines and is attracting attention by their distinctive styling of songs.

Doors Open 12:30

If you wish to come early and watch the equipment being set up, the gym doors will open at 12:30. They will definitely be closed at 1:30. Take advantage of this opportunity and come to the show!

We believe in giving credit where credit is due, so take a look at the great number of unsung heroes who help to put the programs you hear every week on the air.

Besides the announcers and various voices coming over the air waves, there is the engineering staff, the continuity writers, who compose the copy used in broadcasting, the music staff, who decide what records are to be played, and line them up for the shows, the publicity staff, who publicize the programs and strive to make Creighton more KOCU-conscious.

Last Tuesday staff elections were held and pictures were taken for the yearbook. The new staff members are Bob Gislser, A4, who was retained as program director for the coming semester. Al Vampola, A2, is the news director; business manager is Jack Oalbach, A2; Carol Wimsatt, A3, remains as head of continuity, and Betty Sheehan was elected publicity director.

Need Live Audience

Plug: the cast of Hilltop Show Time would appreciate a live audience in the auditorium when they do their show every Monday night at 8.

That's all for now, but we'll be here next week, same time, same station.

Church Colleges Held 18th Meeting Nov. 14

The 18th annual conference of Church-related colleges in the west-central area will meet Nov. 14, in the Creighton university law building.

The Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S. J., president of Creighton university, is secretary on the executive committee of the west-central area, and is secretary of the administrative board.

The activities for the day will begin at 10 a. m. and will terminate at 4 p. m.

The main speaker will be the Rev. Charles Wesley Lowery, Ph.D., from Washington, D. C.

Dr. Lowery's address will be centered on the theme, "Communism and Christ," which is the title of his recent book published in January, 1952.

Dr. Lowery received his Master of Arts degree from Harvard in 1927. In 1930, he received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from the Episcopal theological school in Cambridge, Mass.

In 1933, Dr. Lowery received his Ph.D. from Oxford university and from 1949 to 1951 lectured in theology at the Philadelphia Divinity school.

Dr. Lowery published a comparative documentary study of Christianity and Communism entitled, "Conflicting Ideas," in 1953.

In September, 1953, he revised for the third time his book entitled, "Communism and Christ."

Campus Sodality To Observe 75th Year at CU Dec. 8

The 75th anniversary of the establishment of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary here at Creighton will be celebrated at St. John's church on the patronal feast of the Sodality, Dec. 8, with a solemn high Mass.

presiding will be his Excellency Archbishop Gerald T. Bergan. All sodality members of the schools in the city of Omaha are being invited.

Officers of the Mass will be former Sodality members, who became priests. Altar boys will be chosen from the ranks of alumni who are members of the Sodality.

Sodalists from Prep also are invited. The Sodality Union board of officers is extending an invitation to college sodalists of the union to form a group of delegates to honor the occasion.

In the office of the Sodality, the register of all names of men who were enrolled since 1878 has been kept. Among them are found names of very prominent professional and business men here in Omaha. Listed, also, are the names of all reverend directors.

Since Dec. 8, is also the opening of Marian year, which commemorates the centennial of the Proclamation of the Dogma of the Immaculate Conception. This will be a public tribute to the Blessed Virgin Mary by Creighton university and will serve as an inspiring beginning of the Holy Year.

'Doctor Knock' Cast Needs Help of Medical Profession

Wanted! One doctor to serve as technical advisors during the next week of rehearsals of the current production of "Doctor Knock." Art Eckdahl, portraying the lead, has to give a lot of physical examinations to all types of French peasants and has to wield a mean laryngoscope and stethoscope.

So the theatre department is interested in having a medical student or someone knowing medicine present for at least one rehearsal. If they will let Dean Graunke, dramatics instructor, know which time would suit them.

A corps of students are doing production work on the comedy which opens Nov. 20 for a three night run. Sets representing a French mountainside, a consulting room, and a hotel are being constructed.

Ziegler Stage Crew Head

Eleanor Ziegler is head of the stage crew with the assistance of Owen Neary, who is production manager. Tom Morrison is in charge of lighting and special sound effects.

One of the problems he is concerned with is providing a set of internal explosions for an ancient automobile, supposedly a 1902 Panhard. Mary Reid is chairman of the publicity aspect and Ruth Welsh is head of the properties department with such items of concern as anatomical diagrams and models.

Heads of costumes and make-up are Marguerite Murphy and Marilyn Seidel respectively.

Additions to the cast include: Owen Neary, "Scipio"; Dave Kupka, "Bernard," and Bob Gislser as the "Second Countryman."

Tickets are now on sale for the production. They can be secured from any Creighton Players' representative.

The special ticket for the two major productions of the year is being offered for the first time at a cost of 75 cents for members of the student body.

A musical comedy will be given by the drama department during the second semester.

ACS to Show Movie; Yearbook Pictures

The student affiliate of the American Chemical Society will hold a meeting on Monday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 in room D7.

At this meeting a movie of interest to the student affiliates will be shown.

Harry H. Hughes, A4, will give a short talk on "Photosynthesis." Yearbook pictures will also be taken at this time.

An executive committee consisting of Jim Mills, A2, Verne Goldsberry, A3, and Maureen Powers, A1, has been appointed by Bob Augustine, A4, president.

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey—based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges—shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

ROTC Branch Inspected Tuesday By Gen. Whitelaw

Brig. Gen. John L. Whitelaw, assistant division commander of the 10th mountain division at Fort Riley, Kans., inspected the Creighton university ROTC unit Tuesday, Nov. 3.

In an interview, General Whitelaw expressed his sentiments regarding the Creighton ROTC unit:

"I particularly admire the spirit of the cadets here at Creighton. The spirit is bound to be high when there is such fine cooperation from the faculty and staff of the military department."

In regard to ROTC units throughout the country, General Whitelaw had this to say:

"I consider the ROTC units as being an important part of the military program. I am edified by the interest and intelligence shown by these ROTC students."

Meets Old Friend

General Whitelaw was particularly pleased to see "his old friend," Captain William Obley, S3, of the Creighton military department. Captain Obley and General Whitelaw served together in January, 1945, in Belgium during the "Battle of the Bulge."

General Whitelaw graduated from West Point military academy in 1918. In 1939 the general graduated from romand and general staff school. He is presently stationed in headquarters of the 10th mountain division, Fort Riley, Kan.

The general was scheduled to inspect the ROTC unit of Nebraska university following his visit here. From there he will travel to Minnesota.

Grades—Or, Put on the Brakes Mother, They're Downhill

This is a delicate situation, one we all must face. As Truth, grades must out. In fact they should be thrown out, but that is not the problem. The problem is how to explain (make excuses for) those nasty little marks on that nasty sheet of white paper known as report cards—or, isn't there some way to make that D look like an A?

To all of you, perhaps there is an excuse among the following which you might use.

First there is the average mediocre excuse used by many of us, "But mother, it isn't recorded. It's just a little note to let us know wherein our weakness lies. Next time I will do better."

"The instructor hates me." This is always a good excuse. Or as one student said, "Dig me, dad, I goofed."

A more ambitious student had this to offer. "Can I help it if I'm the only one that snores?"

An independent in those questioned shouted, "I refuse to be regimented. I will not laugh at his corny jokes!"

A common complaint was, "The instructor graded on a curve. I'm at the last of the alphabet."

Here is a student to be pitied. He stated, "The instructor throws the test papers out the window of the fourth floor. This is to see what grades the students will get. The papers that land first get A's, next get B's, then C's, and so on. Mine got lost."

One poor mistreated, abused it'l student wailed, "The prof's got something against me. Just because I cut 89 times, came in late 53 times, and fell asleep 37 times, not to mention not handing in a paper all semester—Well I think he's just prejudiced."

Here is a valid excuse to explain poor grades, "But mother, I didn't get a chance to get to the book store before this."

And here is a consoling thought one student offered. "I could have failed completely!"

One of the more modest students stated, "Let's face it. I'm stupid!"

However, to end this very touchy subject, we ask you all to stop crying and have hope. As one student maintained, "I can only quote Shakespeare. 'To B or not to B' and I didn't."

Shelley Books Feature Library Additions

A sudden rise in interest for the poet, Shelley, is the dominating theme in the library this week. "My Best Mary," Spark and Stanford, is a collection of the letters of Mary Shelley. In his "Shelley, The Last Phase," Ivan Roe reveals some of the forgotten incidents in the life of Shelley.

The Union Panamericana of Washington has published a series of books which should capture the interest of the Spanish students. "The Philosophy of Contemporary Latin America," and "The History of Venezuela," are two of the subjects covered by this series.

Frederick Boas discloses the unfamiliar prose works of Thomas Heywood in his book, "Thomas Heywood." Samuel Coleridge is the subject of Humphry House's, "Coleridge." In this work, House portrays the individualistic characteristics of the poet, as well as his works and criticisms.

Several books on the various phases of mathematics are making their first appearance on the shelves, and J. Wight Duff's "Literary History of Rome," will be of immense value to the history students who are interested in the origin of Rome and its history until the close of the Golden Age.

Creighton Observatory Opens For Rare Mercury Passage

The Creighton observatory will be opened Saturday, Nov. 14, in an attempt to record the exact time of Mercury's passage as it crosses the face of the sun. The Creighton Prep Amateur Astronomers under the direction of the Rev. John Auer, S.J., instructor at Creighton Prep, is the group in charge of the operation.

The event is of considerable interest in that it is only about 13 times a century that Mercury crosses directly between the earth and the sun. This rarely happens entirely in Omaha daylight hours under conditions giving reasonable hope of good visibility. Further interest lies in the fact that the orbit of the planet can be determined with great precision from the accumulated evidences of these passages.

Results to Harvard

If visibility permits, and the Creighton observatory instruments function perfectly, results will be submitted to Harvard university for examination and entrance in the permanent United States record.

Creighton's observatory will use a five-inch refractor telescope with a magnifying power of 125. The planet will show at one two-hundredth of the diameter of the sun (about the size of a penny on a full bed sheet if viewed from a distance of a quarter mile). Because Mercury is so small, only 3,000 miles in diameter, it is not easily seen against the sun. But the 125 power telescope will bring this in clear focus if weather conditions are favorable.

Every precaution has been taken to secure accuracy in the clock of the observatory. Any results reliable to the closest second would be considered of permanent scientific value, and will be entered in the permanent American can Naval Observatory records.

The observatory itself has been officially closed since 1927. It will not be officially opened again until a professional astronomer is here to operate it. However, work of this sort has been done throughout the years since the observatory's closing.

'Tut' Tuttle

We could start letterman's corner this week with the mention of "The Danbury Flash," or "Stretch" and to those Blue Jay fans of last year this would be "nough said."

To the uninitiated we are referring to Elton "Tut" Tuttle. "Tut" first came to Creighton in 1949 and won his Freshman letter as a Blue Jay. Then after a year's lay off in 1950 he returned in 1951 to start his record breaking career on the Creighton Varsity. A career that promises to continue this season.

By record breaking we mean the record "Tut" set last year when he broke "Ick" Miller's total point record of 405 points. "Tut" came up with 469 points last year. Coupled with 261 points scored in his first year on the varsity this gives "Tut" a very good chance of passing the 1000 mark in total scoring this year.

"Tut" came to Creighton from Danbury, Iowa (thus the "Danbury Flash") where in high school he came up with four letters each in basketball, football and track.

And as the saying goes—his "vital" statistics are: Height 6' 4", weight 200 pounds, age 25. And as his activities on the basketball court show these are vital statistics.

Duce Is Speaker

Athletic director J. V. Belford was the main speaker at St. Bernard High School, Oct. 29. The St. Bernard quintet reached the semifinals in the state tourney last spring.

He also spoke recently at a luncheon for the Southwest Iowa Coaches and Athletic directors held at the Chieftain hotel in Council Bluffs.

Mr. Belford is scheduled to speak at Wisner, Neb., Saturday, Nov. 7, before the Cattle Growers convention.

Jaysters Beat Bluejeans Second in Faculty Bowling

The Creighton women's bowling league this week shows a tie for second place between the Jaysters and the Bluejeans. The Jaysters beat the Bluejeans two games to one to give both teams an 11-7 record. While the Jaysters were beating the Bluejeans, the Bluebells took on the Salt Miners. The Bluebells won, 2-1.

In the faculty bowling the Bug Boys won from the Black Robes 3-0 by forfeit. The Corner Four shellacked the All Thumbs 3-0. Team Six won from the Cosmodomians 2-1.

This week's highs were: Team series: Corner Four, 1,726; Salt Miners, 1,402; Team game: Corner 4, 623; Bluebells, 524. Individual series: Quinlan, 449; Bricker, 399. Individual game: Larkin, 195;

Vampola Elected Head of Rifle Squad

Al Vampola was elected president of the Creighton Rifle team at a meeting held last Thursday night. Other officers elected at the same time were, Francis Scott, secretary, and Jim Stewart, treasurer.

Competition in league practice for the team is slated to start on November 19, however, a schedule for the season was not yet available.

The only other action scheduled for the team is a practice match to be held next Thursday night against the South Omaha Packers.

Blue Views

by Bob Gisler

Well fame is widespread—and infamy much more so. It seems that the San Francisco Foghorn, published by the students of the University of San Francisco, made mention of a little article that appeared on this page of the Creightonian in their Oct. 2 issue.

The article had stated that last year's Blue Jay teams had a record of better than .500 for the 1952-53 season. Tom Haley in his column "The Dragnet" (this is San Francisco not Los Angeles by the way) wanted to know, ".500 what?"

A .500 percentage of wins and losses, Mr. Haley. And thank you for the mention.

Well with that little item out of the way let's turn back to Hilltop Sports.

Mr. Duce Belford, athletic director, said that the intramural bowling is coming along quite well and that more leagues are being formed. So anyone interested should go to the meeting that is to be held at the Athletic office next Tues. and investigate the possibilities. This is a fine opportunity for some more coeds to get into the picture too.

And for those that have heard rumors about Bob Meyer having an operation on his foot there's good news. Mr. Belford said Wed. that the doctors have decided that Bob has made good progress in his recovery and that an operation doesn't seem necessary.

Well that about seems to be the extent of it for this week. So we'll close with what we hope will be our usual reminder. "Remember ????? is not only part of life, sportsmanship is a way of life."

Ticket Books Available Now

Student activity books, which every student needs to see the Blue Jay home games, are ready at the athletic office.

The tickets may be obtained at the athletic office between 8:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Students must present their activity cards in order to receive their books. Books will not be given out unless the students present their cards. Also books will not be given out on the day of any game.

These books will admit students to all the Creighton home games except the Philadelphia Oilers game on Dec. 19.

Miss Jackie Murphy of the athletic office said that books should be picked up as soon as possible

Intramural Bowling Starts; VIPs, Skids Tie for First

Notice
Basketball Schedule
Due to the appearance of the Camel Caravan show in the gym on Nov. 10 the intramural basketball schedule is tentative. Please contact the athletic office for revised schedule.

Basketball Team In Gym Dedication

The Creighton University basketball team will participate in the dedication of the new Holy Cross gymnasium Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 8 p. m.

The Blue Jay varsity will play a practice game with the freshman.

Athletic director J. V. Belford reminds the students that this will be a good opportunity to see the Creighton quint in action for the first time this season.

Cullen Top Again; Ballot Is Perfect

Ed Cullen, A3, is back in the lead this week in the football ballot contest. Ed, who was unseated last week by Jim Connor, turned in a perfect ballot this week to regain first place. Ed, who was the only one to pick the Army-Tulane tie boosted his average to 82.

This was the first perfect ballot turned in this year, and the first tie game picked. Congratulations are due to Mr. Cullen for his fine job last week. The second high ballot for the week was a 90 turned in by Bill Pettinger. This puts Bill in second place with an overall percentage of 78.

Cathy LaPlante, the leading co-ed entry, has continued her steady climb toward the top. This week she is in a third-place tie with Bob Egan. Both have averages of 76.

Basketball Regulations

The following are the regulations released by J. V. "Duce" Belford, director of athletics, that will govern play in the regular season intramural basketball tournament:

Leagues will be formed, consisting of six to eight teams to a league with the exception of the inter-fraternity league.

This will be a round robin type of league, which requires every team to play every other team in the league, and the winner is declared on a percentage basis. League play will continue until March 1.

On March 1 there will be a single elimination tournament for the all-university championship. A suitable trophy will be presented to the winning team, and 10 medals will be given to the individuals of the winning team. Teams in first and second place in the various leagues will qualify for the championship tournament.

A student may play with only one independent team or one fraternity team. A student may not change teams. Once he plays in a game or a part of a game with one team, he belongs to that team for the duration of the 1952-53 season.

Any number of students may play with a team, but they may not change to another team after they have played in any part of a game. Teams using ineligible men may lose by default. However, with the permission of the opposing team an ineligible player may be used. The referee will deduct any scores made by the ineligible player from the team's total score.

Students may play in either the inter-fraternity league or in an independent league (non-frat.) but not in both.

Players who have earned a basketball letter in a four year college or university will not be allowed to compete in the championship tournament at the end of the season. A "four year" college or university is any university, including Creighton, where

Meeting to Be Held Tuesday

Last Sunday the intramural bowling league played its first game at the Music Box. With ten teams filling out the league, the action was fast and furious. The VIP's and Skids wound up in first place winning all three of their games. Bill Pettinger, of the VIP's wound up with high game honors with a 199.

In second place with a 2 and 1 record are the Holey Rollers, the Tripple Arms, and Team No. 10. The outcome of these three games was in doubt until the final game had been played.

In third place with a one and two record are the Hui O Hawaii, Team No. 9, and the Spatulas. Rounding out the league are the Goofballs and Agony Hall with an 0 and 3 record.

VIP's Take Individual Honors
The VIP's had high team series (3 games this week with 1,910 pins. The VIP's also won high team game (1 game with a 672. Ed Tasaki, D2, of the Hui O Hawaii's took high individual series (3 games and high average honors this week with a 471 and a 157, respectively.

Meeting to Be Held
The closest game was between the Holey Rollers and the Spatulas. The Holey Rollers won it in the last game with a score of 1,494 pins to 1,491 pins.

There will be a meeting of all the members of the bowling league on Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. in the athletic office. It is important that all should attend.

basketball is an intercollegiate sport.

Teams must report for play within 15 minutes after the game is scheduled. If a team is more than 15 minutes late, the opposing team may claim a forfeit. Two forfeitures by any one team will disqualify and cause the team to be dropped.

If a team wishes to postpone a game, the athletic department must be notified at least 48 hours in advance of the time the game is scheduled.

Each team must have a checker to watch the timer and scorer. If they fail to provide a checker and advise the referee as to who will check, they must accept score and time as kept.

Players will be disqualified for conduct unbecoming a Creighton University student (profanity, unnecessary roughness and disrespect of official.)

French Teacher Former OSS Member; But Medal Awarded for Literary Efforts

By Margy Ryan

Three European trips in three years is a record envied by most and unequalled by many, but attained by Dr. Alexandre Goulet. He is the new French instructor on the Hilltop, replacing the late Dr. Aloys Klammer.

Tour Next Summer
Dr. Goulet has conducted five tours of Europe, covering 10 countries. Groups of 20 to 30 people were usually in his party. He prefers to take a smaller group because it is easier to travel and the individual persons become more thoroughly acquainted with each other.

England, France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Spain, Austria, Luxembourg, Holland, and Monte Carlo were all included on the itinerary each time. Dr. Goulet is planning on conducting the trip again next summer, but his plans are still tentative. However, he is urging anyone interested in making the trip to see him about arrangements. Ship reservations will close in January.

Honored by Academy
Dr. Goulet attended the University of Paris, where he received his Ph. D. He also is a graduate of the Ecole de Preparation et de Perfectionnement des Professeurs de Francais a l'Tranger, and the Institute de Phonétique.

Awarded the Richelieu medal for recognition of literary excellence, Dr. Goulet considers this distinction one of the highest honors he has received. Composed of 40 members, the French Academy who bestows the award is the highest authority of the French language which supervises and upholds the purity of the language. The Academy's members are selected from among the best French writers and hold a lifelong position.

Dr. Goulet has written Une Nouvelle France en Nouvelle Angleterre, a French book, published in Paris. Recently he has undertaken the translation of Dr. Austin J. Apps' "Making Good Talk; How to Improve Your Conversation." Dr. Apps is an English professor at La Salle college, Philadelphia, Pa.

Several of Dr. Goulet's English to French translations of the individual chapters of the book have appeared in "Le Travailleur," a Worcester, Mass., French magazine. He has also contributed articles to "Revue de l'Alliance Francaise," a magazine of world-wide recognition.

Taught in Europe
Prior to coming to Creighton, Dr. Goulet taught at the University of Scranton, Scranton, Pa., where he was chairman of the "L'Alliance de Francaise."

Biarritz American university at Biarritz, France, was his post following the war. Five thousand G.I.'s and allied troops attended the university which was staffed by representatives from American colleges and universities, and a few European professors. Biarritz was operated by the war department under the information and education division. Located near the Spanish border on the Bay of Biscay, the school had quotas of students from every allied country with the exception of Russia.

Dr. Goulet said, "Perhaps they were afraid of being contaminated by our western culture."

Dr. Goulet was also a member of the faculty of Boston college, and while there, as well as while at Scranton, he was a member of the scholarship committee. Under the auspices of the French consulate of Boston, the committee annually selects a candidate for study at a French university.

Cloak and Dagger Man
During the second World War, Dr. Goulet remained in London and Paris, where he served with military intelligence and the office of strategic services. His work in these years was typical

"cloak and dagger" service, and Dr. Goulet has many remembrances of experiences occasioned then.

Immediately previous to arriving in Omaha, Dr. Goulet was in Washington where he was employed by the French-Canadian broadcasting system.

Alliance-Francaise To Be Inaugurated At Creighton Uni

Tomorrow morning under the auspices of Alliance-Francaise a French Cultural center will be inaugurated at Creighton university.

The first offering will be French classes for adults in the seminar room of the administration building. There will be a beginners' class at 9 a. m. in the same room for those with very little previous training in French. At 10:15, there will be a conversational class for those who have studied the rudiments of French.

Dr. Alexandre Goulet said that the classes will be "down to earth." They will cover such things as travel, eating in restaurants and going to the theater. The class is open to the public as well as Creighton students.

The college registration fee does not cover this class which requires payment of an additional $10 fee.

Dr. Goulet, director of the French center will be in charge of the classes. He will be assisted by Dr. Henri Ouellet, the present chairman of the local Alliance-Francaise. The classes will continue until the end of the semester.

Freedoms Save U. S. and Britain From Commies

Russia cannot get England or America until free speech and free press are abolished in these nations, according to William Ritchie who gave the main address at the initiation meeting of Alpha Sigma Nu, Jesuit honor society, held Sunday at the Fontenelle hotel.

Fourteen new members and 40 alumni heard the 1952 democratic candidate for U. S. senator from Nebraska speak on "The Obligations to God, America and Our Fellow-men."

Mr. Ritchie spoke extensively on his trip through Russia and Siberia in 1939. He told of one instance in which he and members of his party attempted to purchase ivory antiques in a Russian shop. A commissar instructed the clerk to remove the ivory from the counter.

Ritchie said, "I noticed some pictures of Stalin . . . and decided I would buy some. Shortly after, one of the commissars came over to where I was standing and said to me, in English, 'Come outside and let me have that picture you bought.' He turned to the clerk and spoke to her in Russian. She brought out the box of ancient ivory and told me I could purchase what I wanted."

"This commissar took the picture out of its frame and wrote on it in Russian the date, the name Joseph Stalin, the name of the place and returned it saying, 'Keep this picture ALWAYS, it may save your life someday.' Then the commissar said, 'We cannot get England or America until free press and free speech are destroyed. When this is accomplished, we will give the coup d'etat.'"

Mr. Ritchie concluded, "God is great and his wisdom will help us, but we must do our share to preserve our aims in life and to maintain and preserve forever the freedom of thought, action and faith in God, with which this nation has been blessed."

Dr. Clements on TV Next Tuesday Morn

Dr. Leo P. Clements, professor of anatomy, will explain the growth and development of human bones next Tuesday at 11 a. m. on WOW-TV. He will be assisted by two medical students on this program in the "To Your Health" series.

Last week Dr. Clements appeared with Dr. Hugh J. Phillips, instructor in physiology, in another program in the Creighton series. Dr. Phillips demonstrated a simplified method for extracting hormones for pregnancy tests, a method resulting from his research in the laboratories at the medical school.

Two Creighton faculty wives also appeared on last week's program. They were Mrs. John North and Mrs. Arthur Umscheid.

Librarian at Meet

Miss Mary Hunt, head librarian, attended the mid-west unit of Catholic Librarians convention at Sacred Heart college, Wichita, Kans., Oct. 30-31.

Main speaker was the Rev. Edward Young, former Protestant minister who became a Catholic convert and was recently ordained. He addressed the group on "Creative Writing."

Trieste Films Will Be Shown by Lt. Aust

Lt. Robert Aust, first basic instructor and assistant PMS & T of Creighton university's ROTC, will show films of Trieste in the Creighton prep library at 4 p. m.

Monday. The meeting is sponsored by the International Relations club.

Lt. Aust recently returned from a 3-year tour of duty in Trieste where he was the assistant regimental intelligence officer for the 351st infantry regiment.

Creighton is one of five schools discussed in the "College and University Writing-Production Techniques" section of a book on educational television to be published in a few weeks. The book is "Television for School and Community," by Dr. J. W. Callahan, assistant professor of speech and dramatics at Hunter College of the City of New York.

A pre-publication notice of the book was received this week by Frank McCann, instructor in speech and director of radio and TV. It will be published by the McGraw-Hill Book company next month.

The script for a Creighton program in the "Doors of Knowledge" series on WOW-TV will be reproduced in full in Dr. Callahan's book, entitled "Counting—Then and Now," the script was written by the Rev. R. C. Williams, S.J., director of communication arts, with material supplied by John Englund, instructor in mathematics, who presented the program in March, 1952.

Other schools whose scripts will appear in the book are the Universities of Michigan, North Carolina, and Rochester. A script prepared jointly by the New York State College for Teachers and the New York State College of Forestry will also be included.

With Halloween all ghosted out and quarter exams all ex-ed out, Shep is about ready to take off for the Student Union ball tonight.

Miss Goldbrick will be announced tonight in all her or his (as the case may be) glory. Shep understands that this lovely, tall, graceful coed is a member of Alpha Sigma Nu frat. Seems a pretty sneaky way to be honored when she couldn't make it into the coed honor sorority.

Shep has been wondering when Vaughn Monroe will become modernized and start racing with the moon in a jet instead of on a Camel.

Shep has finally decided why the Camels coming to CU this Tuesday have such huge humps. The Sauter-Finegan orchestra hides all its dingle bells, gongs, triangles and glockenspiels in the place where water should be.

Shep has been racking her brain and there are only about 25 more school days before Christmas. Not that she doesn't like going to classes she is just preparing for the Christmas shopping rush.

In all seriousness, Shep wishes to console all those who goofed on their quarterly exams. She feels that she won't be lonely any more as there will be many in the doghouse—with or without Shep.

CU Medical Clinic Offers Service to School, Omahans

Student doctor John McDonough, M4, examines patient at Creighton medical clinic.

To most of us on campus, the Creighton medical clinic is a vague conception of privileged service offered students should they be stricken by the flu bug, appendicitis, or a car on 25th and California streets.

Actually, it is more than that. The dispensary, founded in 1892 with the school of medicine, serves Omaha. More than 2,000 new cases are taken on and more than 27,000 old cases are handled each year free, or at a very low price. These thousands of patients are discriminated, not by age, race, color or creed, but paradoxically in the U. S.—by the wages they earn. They must be unable to afford medical care by a regular doctor.

75-Cent Fee

The only fee these people have to pay is a registration fee of 75 cents—it used to be 25 cents “before inflation”—which includes the cost of chest films and regular laboratory expenses. A nominal charge is made for medicine costs, dressings and additional laboratory and X-ray work.

If the patient requires hospital care, he is sent either to St. Joseph or St. Catherin's hospital, where he is accommodated in beds for clinical use at $2 a day or for free.

Under the supervision of Dr. Benjamin Slutzky, director of the dispensary, senior medical students care for the patients, clerking not only at the clinic, but also in the hospitals and at the patients' homes.

Outcall service to homes is assigned to students every night at two-week periods. During epidemic times, a clerk may make as many as 12 calls a night.

Travels 100 Miles

One student claims he traveled over 100 miles one night last year.

All is not painful sickness at the clinic, however. While waiting to register between 8 and 10 a. m., or for medical attention in the afternoon clinics, people have met their “one and only.”

Woodruff Addresses Lawyer Association

The convention opened last night when Jerry Geisler, noted Hollywood attorney addressed the association. Sessions are being held this year on insurance law, real-estate, probates, administrative law and labor law.

cine is covered by the clinic. Consequently, social service agencies in Omaha refer people there. Some of these agencies are:
