Herman Dippel Is Again Made Bluejay Editor

First Student to Be Made Editor for Two Successive Years

BOARD MEMBER.

Work to Begin Immediately; Will Hold Staff Meeting Soon

Herman J. Dippel, J. 4, of Council Bluffs, was re-appointed editor of the 1935 Bluejay, Creighton university yearbook, Tuesday, by Joseph P. Murphy, faculty adviser of the publication.

Dippel's appointment comes as a singular honor, as he is the first student in the history of Creighton to edit the book for two successive years.

The new editor ranks high scholastically in his college and has been active in extra-curricular work for the past three years. He is a member of the Union Board of Governors, a member of Alpha Sigma Nu, national honorary scholastic fraternity, assistant prefect of the college of journalism sodality, one of the founders of Phi Epsilon, local journalism fraternity and senior representative for the college of journalism on the pep council.

Dippel indicated that work on the new annual would start immediately with the photographing of seniors in cap and gown. Each senior will be allotted certain days in which to have the photograph taken.

Entire University Hears Holy Ghost Mass Celebrated

Father Lane Celebrant; Fr. Bowdern Delivered Sermon to Students

PREP CHOIR SANG

Friday morning the entire student body and faculty members attended the annual Mass of the Holy Ghost in the university chapel with the Rev. Joseph F. Lane, Ph. B. '27, officiating. Father Lane was assisted by the Rev. Philip Froebes, S. J., the Rev. J. C. Ryan, S. J., and the Rev. Francis Deglman, S. J., student counsellor.

The Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., dean of the university college and graduate school, delivered a sermon on Christian culture, the mission of the Catholic college. Father Bowdern gave a survey of Catholic philosophy of education and said that no one in the university world has ever invented or perfected a more efficient use of reason or a more trustworthy measure of truth than scholastic philosophy.

Members of the university sodality were ushers and the Creighton Prep choir sang the Mass.

Bluejay Sweetheart to Be Presented Dads' Day

Fathers to Attend Banquet; May Plan News Reel Pictures

A banquet, football game and the formal presentation of the 1934 Bluejay sweetheart are the plans announced for Dads' Day, November 24. Invitations will be sent to the students' fathers inviting them to attend.

Formal presentation of the 1934 Bluejay sweetheart will be held during the half of the game. Tentative plans are that there will be news reels taken of the presentation at the game.

Students are urged to write their fathers and have them attend the game.

Jesuit Pastor Unveils Marker Dedicated to Father De Smet

Memorial Erected Honoring Renowned Indian Peacemaker

U. S. Government Assisted by Famous Priest in Negotiations

OPENED SCHOOL

A marker dedicated to the memory of Pierre Jean De Smet, S. J., peacemaker among the Indians, was unveiled Friday by the Rev. Martin Bronsgeest, S. J., assistant pastor of St. John's Collegiate church, at State and Broadway streets in Council Bluffs. The granite boulder, bearing a brass plate, marks the spot where Father De Smet offered the first mass in Council Bluffs and where in 1838 he opened a school, of which Creighton university is the second descendant.

With the Rev. J. F. Costello of St. Patrick's church in Council Bluffs as master of ceremonies, the program included the invocation by the Rev. P. N. McDermott; songs by St. Paul's choir; an address by Mayor H. P. Finerty of Council Bluffs; the introduction of Mr. Frank Burkley, who as a boy served Father De Smet's mass in Omaha; the introduction of Mr. O. J. Pruitt, who started the movement for the monument and carried it through; a discussion of the history of Father De Smet's activities by the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdern, S. J., dean of the graduate school and the university college, and benediction by the Rev. Ignatius Stein, O. S. B.

In the course of his speech Father Bowdern remarked: "On such a large scale was the Jesuit effort among the Indians that Father De Smet was appointed to direct operations from headquarters in St. Louis. From year to year his ascendancy over the Indians grew to such proportions that the United States government never attempted any negotiations without him. Time and time again when all others failed he succeeded in making treaties of peace with the Indians. The difficulty was never with the Indians but with the whites, whose greed, injustice and brutality provoked the Indians to war. Helen Hunt Jackson was speaking mildly when she called our treatment of the Indians 'A Century of Dishonor.'"

Saint Mary's Glee Club Opens Year's Activities

Members Rehearsing Numbers for Mercy Federation Homecoming

The College of Saint Mary Glee club made its initial appearance of the year at the Holy Ghost mass celebrated in the convent chapel, Friday. At present the members are rehearsing numbers for the Mercy Federation homecoming which will be held in the near future.

The members are as follows: M. L. Schwertley, M. Kelly, L. Kelly, E. Connor, E. Holland, B. Schnitker, G. McBride, D. Polan, G. Martin, M. Kavanaugh, A. Moonlight, L. Frederick, M. Skomal, L. McBride, R. Maxwell, P. Powers, H. Jezewski, R. Pavlik, D. Kuehn, A. Smid, R. Cocomo, E. Shea, C. Moriarty, M. Alegeo, and M. Kuhl.

Cat Nap Captures Well-Known Derby

The Brown Derby, symbolizing the week's most foolish blunder by a law freshman, now adorns the head of John Frundt, L. 1.

Frundt, who fell asleep in Torts class during the discussion of a case, awoke several minutes later, somewhat confused as to what was going on. To hide his embarrassment, he immediately asked a question, only to discover that he had overestimated the speed at which the discussion was proceeding—he was just one case ahead of the rest of the class.

Choose Debaters for International Meet With London

Roach and Hedrick Named at Elimination Contest Sunday

UPHOLD NEGATIVE

Frank R. Roach, A 4, and John E. Hedrick, A 2, have been chosen to represent the Creighton university debate team in an international debate with London university November 5, at the Central High school auditorium. Their appointment came as the result of the elimination contest held Sunday in the Creighton auditorium. Judge William G. Hastings, justice of the fourth district, state of Nebraska, has consented to preside over the debate as sole judge. Louis J. Te Poel, LL. B., dean of the Creighton law school, will act as chairman, with Clayton H. Shrout, captain of the debate squad, as assistant chairman.

Roach and Hedrick will defend the negative side of the question: "Resolved: That Pacifism is the Truest Form of Patriotism." The London team will be represented by J. Hirshfield and D. W. Scholes, both outstanding in scholastic and debate circles at the London university.

Admission for university students will be 15 cents, with general admission tickets selling for 25 cents instead of 20 cents, as was reported last week.

Literary Club Will Review Gibbs' Book

The Literary club of the school of nursing at St. Joseph's hospital will hold its initial meeting on October 27. "The Cross of Peace," by Sir Phillip Gibbs, one of the book-of-the-month winners, will be reviewed by Mary M. Deilly, N. S.

The committee on the selection of books will consist of Alma Wagner, N. S., chairman; assisted by Mary Walla, N. S.; Vivian Miller, N. 2, Helen Etner, N. 3, and Doris Benning, N. 3.

Publicity for the club will be in charge of Lucille Pivald, N. 2, and Blanch Rader, N. 3.

Girls' Physical Exams

Physical examinations of women students will be started soon by Dr. Nancy Catania. All girls are required to report to the clinic at the prescribed time, which will be announced later, or forfeit health privileges.

"Pop" Concert Will Begin Series of Musical Activities

Programs to Be Based on Requests; Orchestra and Glee Clubs Will Take Part DURING CHRISTMAS

A "Pop" concert, one in which the program consists of semi-classical and light classical music, will be this year's first concert to be presented by the orchestra and glee clubs during the Christmas season.

Requests for special numbers on the program must be turned in to Henry Mendelson, J. 4, manager of music, within the week.

Orchestra rehearsal will be held tonight at 7:30 under the direction of Joseph Sobota, director. Thirty students attended the first rehearsal last Wednesday, but more string and wood-wind instrumentalists and a drummer are needed, according to the manager.

Seventy students, the largest number in the history of the organization, attended the Glee club try-outs in the student's club rooms in the gymnasium Monday night. Of that number, 34 were girls. Members of the Glee club will be announced in time for the rehearsals next Monday by John G. Jamieson, director.

Rehearsal of the Girls' glee club will be held from seven to eight o'clock Monday nights and the Boys' glee club will rehearse from 8 to 9. All rehearsals for the music department are held in the student's club rooms in the gymnasium.

Ensemble music will be organized and rehearsals started sometime next week.

Special Elections for Members of Union Board Held

Journalism, Commerce and Arts Choose Student Nominees

Special primary elections in the colleges of arts, commerce and journalism, to elect members of the student union board of governors, were held October 10.

Primaries in the school of law and the college of pharmacy will be held October 24. Final elections in all the schools will be held November 7.

Nominees in the various departments are: arts—Edward Crossin, Robert Gilmore, Gene Hackett and Robert Thurmond, all seniors; commerce—Frank Wolfe and Carroll Leary, both seniors; journalism—George Vana, Paul Ernst, Steve O'Rourke and James Corrigan, all juniors.

Medical Forum Holds First Meet Tonight

The Medical Forum will hold its first meeting of the year at the Knights of Columbus club at 7:30 tonight. Topic for discussion will be "Eustanasia" and "Internship."

Officers of the Medical Forum are: Mr. Arnold, M. 4, president; Abraham Riemer, M. 4, vice-president; Mr. Grayson, M. 4, secretary.

Enrollment Has Increased Over Previous Years

2,447 Is Total of This Fall; 2,597 Including Other Women's Colleges

ALUMNI CREDITED

Three Departments Show No Increase; Results Not Expected

Creighton's enrollment has increased over 2,208 students to 2,447 students this year, according to the official registration figures announced Saturday by the Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., president of the university.

Including the affiliated colleges for women, the total for this fall is 2,587, in comparison to 2,562 for last year. Only three divisions of the university failed to show increased enrollments.

Credit Alumni

"During the early summer many of us expected a decrease in enrollment," declared President Mahan, "and therefore this increase is most heartening to the officials and faculty of Creighton. Most of the credit must go to our loyal alumni throughout the midwest, who were instrumental in sending many worthy students to Creighton."

The students this year are divided as follows: college of arts and sciences, 373; college of commerce, day school, 186; college of commerce, night school, 147; university college, 57; graduate school, 53; adult education courses, 169; college of journalism, 41; school of law, 146; school of dentistry, 91; school of medicine, 308; college of pharmacy, 75; school of nursing, 47; summer session, 482; and high school, 272.

Oratorical Group Hears Debate On Radio Censorship

Seitz to Talk on Different Phases of Debate at Meetings

ALL TO COMPETE

A debate on the government censorship of radio was held before approximately forty members of the Oratorical society in the moot court room Monday evening. The affirmative was held by Raymond McCarthy, A. 1, and Roy Nelson, A. 1, Emmett Tinley, A. 1, and Raymond Burroughs, C. 1, argued the negative.

R. C. Seitz, director of the society, stated that everyone in the organization will be given an opportunity to participate in debating. Debates have been arranged for the next six weeks with a new group of speakers each week. Public discussion is encouraged after each debate.

Each week Seitz will lecture on different phases of debating. Instruction in oratory and a weekly oration by some member will be introduced as a preparation for the Creighton Oratorical contest and with the hope of developing a candidate for the Intercollegiate Oratorical contest.

Medical Faculty to Assist in Assembly

The faculty of the Creighton university school of medicine is taking active part in the second annual assembly of the Omaha Mid-West Clinical society to be held at the Paxton hotel October 29, 30, 31, November 1 and 2.

Dr. Carl Russum, Dr. B. M. Kully, Dr. J. F. Kelly, Dr. J. E. Gardiner, Dr. J. A. Borghoff and Dr. T. L. Houlton will have exhibits on display.

Shanahan Teaches

Advertising classes in the Omaha Y. M. C. A. schools are under the direction of James A. Shanahan, AB '18, representative of the college of arts and sciences on the alumni council and former instructor at old Creighton.

Plan Many Activities for Traditional Homecoming; Creighton to Greet Alumni

New Leaders for University Band Named Tuesday

57 Promoted by Slezinger, Band Director in First and Second Basic

SIX CORPORALS

The appointment of William S. Roach, A. 2, as drum major of the ROTC band, and 57 band promotions, were announced last week by Sergeant Daniel Slezinger, band director.

In the first basic the following appointments were made: Master sergeants, Millard F. Beeson, Donald E. Libbey; staff sergeants, Mathew G. Beha, Ralph D. Bolton, G. Lawrence Keller, Raymond C. O'Neil; sergeants, George C. Anstey, James J. Glass, Alvin J. Gross, John F. Knox, Leo E. Mullany, Ernest Priesman, James Skuteley, Maurice H. Terunus; technical sergeants, Frank Lamartia, Joseph J. Martin, Theodore Nothomb, Vennie V. Virgil, Marvin E. Tritsch, Marcus J. Wiest.

Those appointed to corporals were Maynard P. Bauer, Alexander J. Filip, Ornell A. Kelly, Richard E. Sheehan and Herman Sheehan; privates, 1st class; J. Stanley Arnold, John B. Girsch, James T. Kligen, Cornelius E. Mannhard, Harry Perelman, Donald C. Stewart.

In the second basic the following appointments were made: master sergeants, William J. Kelly, J. Dean Kovar; staff sergeants, John G. Jamison, Theodore L. Kowalski, Lad J. Kucera, George E. McNally, Joseph F. Trvdy, Emil E. Velehrsky, William K. Wolf; technical sergeant, Philip A. Tomek; sergeants, Harold Bloch, George W. Egermayer, Charles N. Gonderinger, Robert J. Herdzins, Daniel M. Murphy, James J. O'Connor, Charles W. Rasmussen, Carl Etraub and Edward J. Wood; corporal, Warren T. Ritchie; 1st class privates, Harry E. Bromberg, Ivan E. Callen and Robert A. Garvey.

Opening Broadcast Will Take Place October 22

Plans for the first semester of Creighton's University of the Air will be completed by October 20, according to the Rev. Leo H. Mullany, S. J., radio director.

Three new student announcers have been chosen. They are Robert Braun, John Liebert, and Mary Ellen Martin. Milton Frohm and Maurice Langdon, announcers from last year will also be on the committee this year.

This is a change from last year's routine. The former staff consisted of only three announcers, each one announcing a full week. Under the new policy with five announcers, each one will take a day of the week.

The first broadcast of the year will be on Monday, October 22, when Mr. Charles C. Charvat of the English department will review the "Trumpeting Crane," a narrative poem of the middlewest by Helen Margaret.

Dr. Levine Meets Grad on Expedition

When William J. Leary, M. D., and ship's physician sent his regards for "my dear old Alma Mater" in a letter to Dr. Victor E. Levine, professor of biological chemistry, he was writing of Creighton.

On his Alaskan expedition this summer, Dr. Levine met Dr. Leary, a Creighton graduate, at Dutch Harbor. "Your ship leaving the wharf," wrote the doctor, "made me homesick for Omaha and dear old Creighton. It was a rare pleasure to meet you, not

Coeds Feel as Tho' They're in Old Rome

At last, Creighton has gained the prestige of the Parthenon and the Roman coliseum. It, too, is in ruins.

Tuesday morning coeds traipsed over to the Cottage's little sister, namely the Arts' smoking room, as is their wont every morning. As usual, the room was full of smoke. But it was not the smoke of that delightful blend of Camels, Luckies, and Phillip Morris, preserved by an occasional Kool, that usually tickles one's nasal membranes. It was, oh it's sad to tell, the imitable clouds made by fallen plaster. The floor was covered with jagged slabs of plaster that had known higher places in their time. The furniture stood forlornly in a desolate huddle. And the ceiling watched over the debris with a lathy grimace and a wooden stare.

Unbelievable, the coeds were speechless. Then came the inevitable question: "What happened? Was it the Silver Shirts? An earthquake? Or the Indians?" (There are the ghosts of many a slinky red man haunting the arts building, you know.) Nobody knows. It happened during the night.

First Anniversary of Italian Club Observed Friday

Italian Consul Presented With Scroll For Work in Omaha

Seventy Creighton administrative officials, faculty members, students, alumni and guests attended a Columbus day banquet Friday night at the Knights of Columbus club to celebrate the first anniversary of the University Italian club. Mr. V. P. Chiodo, Italian consul, was presented with a scroll in recognition of work in philanthropy, Catholic education, and physical, moral and social well-being of Italian youth in Omaha and Nebraska.

The Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., Creighton university president, lauded the club and its membership, telling of the place that it has in the community and state, as well as in the university.

Besides Mr. Chiodo and Father Mahan, the honor guests included Msgr. James Stenson; the Rev. John J. McInerney, S. J., regent of the medical school; the Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, S. J., dean of the arts college; Dr. Floyd E. Walsh, commerce college dean; the Rev. Michael Stagno; Hugh F. Gillespie; member of Creighton law school faculty, and Dr. and Mrs. Louis Carnazzo.

Peter Iacobelli, Andrew Panettiere, Frank LaRosa, John Paradiso, Angelo Masterlino and Gildo Cortese made up the committee in charge of the arrangements. Al Fiore, Creighton arts college faculty member, is founder of the group.

Partial Change Made in Cast of University Play

Father Doyle Announces New Players for Irish Comedy

A partial change in the cast of "The Pride of the Madigans," by Thomas H. Leddy, special student, to be presented in the university auditorium November 5, 6 and 7, was announced yesterday by the Rev. Louis F. Doyle, director of The Little Theater.

Young Barney Madigan, juvenile lead, will be played by Charles Quinn, A. 2, in place of Ambrose Grady. James R. Flynn is cast as old Barney Madigan. Shamus Madigan will be portrayed by William Redle, A. 2. The sheriff has not yet been cast.

Students who wish to work backstage see Henry Mendelson, manager of dramatics.

Department Banquets Friday Night; Registration Saturday

FRESHMAN GAME

All Departments, Schools and Organizations to Have Floats

Homecoming activities, including a barbecue, the homecoming parade, an alumni tea and an afternoon game, will come to an end with the Creighton-Rice football game and the dance which follows Saturday night.

Other events on the homecoming program are the departmental banquets Friday night, and registration and balloting for alumni council representatives at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Enter Floats. Every school, department and organization of the university will enter a float in the parade, which will be assembled in the driveway in front of the gymnasium at noon, Saturday. The Alumni association announced that a loving cup will be awarded for the best and most unique float.

The proposed parade route is from California south on Twenty-fourth street to Farnam, east on Farnam to sixteenth, north on sixteenth to California, and west on California to the university. Two bands will accompany the parade, the ROTC and Father Flanagan's.

Paper on Legion of Decency Read At Group Meeting

Discuss Objections of Movie Producers; Outline Standards

BROWN PRESIDES

"Is the Legion of Decency Practicable," a paper read by John Walter Rebeck, A. 4, precipitated a spirited discussion Thursday evening at a meeting of the Catholic Action Study club.

"The Legion of Decency is a movement not of political agitation. It uses no forces except an enlightened understanding of moral decency. The movement does not aim at removing the screen picture but at elevating the tone of the productions so that they serve the public in obtaining clean and wholesome recreation."

In a discussion following the reading of the paper, members of the club answered the current objections of the movie producers and outlined several standards of morality for the cinema. They also voiced a plea for less of the caricatures on life and more of the portrayal of the beautiful events.

Michael Brown, L. 1, chairman of the Catholic Action club, presided over a membership representation from all departments of the university.

Loan Fund Drive Commences Oct. 24

Work on the Agnew Loan Fund will start October 24, in all departments of the university, according to Neil Gary, C. 4. Collections will be made under the leadership of each department.

The 1934 Bluejay sweethearts will be introduced during the Agnew Loan dance which will be held November 9. Those who paid their pledge fee of one dollar will be admitted to the dance free.

Creighton's Greatest Homecoming

Judge James M. Fitzgerald, president of the Creighton Alumni Association, keenly interested in the welfare of the university, has issued an appeal to the student body to be "very much in evidence" during Homecoming week.

Material plans indicate that this homecoming will indeed be the greatest in the history of the university, but Judge Fitzgerald has put his finger on the real problem: Will Creighton students be in evidence at the festivities?

"Nothing But a Nothing"

Once, long, long ago, there lived a student who was elected to the office of class president and then proceeded to do things worthy of the honor bestowed upon him.

With Other Editors . . .

Students at the Polls

One doesn't have to be a student of economics to realize and appreciate that, living in these days, he is watching history in the making.

Inevitable reverberations to the new deal have set in, and are at their height in these weeks of fall political campaigning.

This is well. A political party, or an administration idea can thrive only on competition.

Those of us who vote this fall, many of us for the first time, are keenly interested in the pro and con.

Others among us have not yet the right of franchise. But this majority, if it be one, is not to be underestimated in its judgment, and in its influence. The modern student, as found at Marquette, is too appreciative of the opportunities for study and thought in this era to pass them up.

The Red Scare and Democracy

Editorializing upon the ancient "red" bogey seems superfluous. But since so many seemingly intelligent people still make speeches about this hackneyed subject it is perhaps not amiss to add a trifle more to the verbiage.

The history of scares in this country dates clear back to the days of Salem, Massachusetts where those who were disliked were dubbed "witches."

As the years rolled on "Free-thinkers" were the wicked. Then there was the "I. W. W." and that very awful word "Socialist."

services in preparing for such events as homecoming. This class president worked hard to erase artificial barriers thrown up between the members of his class by fraternities and cliques.

The example this student set was emulated by other class presidents, and slowly but surely that indefinable something called school spirit crept back into campus affairs.

If the organizations which control the class elections would take time out to think about it, they would hesitate before putting a figurehead into a place of honor.

The individuals who find themselves in possession of an office by virtue of what is politely called politics, are more to be pitied than otherwise.

Perhaps out of the group of "nothing but nothings" who will take office in the coming class elections there will be one dark horse who will show real qualities of leadership.

Creighton and Creightonians

By F. G. Degiman, R. J. Student Counselor

Sunday, October 21, is set aside by the Church as Mission Sunday. It may prove interesting to all to learn on this occasion the mission activities of the order of men with whom you are closely associated at Creighton.

According to the records of 1934 there are 3,104 Jesuits in the field among pagans, 1,790 priests, 714 scholastics and 600 brothers.

Two thousand two hundred and seventy-three Jesuits are in Asia alone, in Armenia, Ceylon, China, India, Japan, Java, Syria, Uruguay, and the Philippines.

These numbers do not exclude the 1,773 Jesuits who are working in the civilized portions of the Philippines, among negroes and Japanese in both American continents or on missions in northern Europe and Australia.

The numbers above are but a small portion of the mission personnel of the Church. Priests and Brothers and Sisters of other religious orders and societies are heroically active among the up to 1,075,000,000 heathens of the present time.

This vast army of missionaries is for the most part living on alms. The love of Christ and zeal for souls is the secret. You can aid by prayers and sacrifices and by giving material help.

munists are the bad, bad persons. The red scare has been so overplayed by reactionary groups like the D. A. R. that it no longer throws holy terror into the hearts of the masses.

Professor Philip D. Sherman of Oberlin college was addressing the convention of the National Exchange clubs and he averred that in an F. E. R. A. school 50 unemployed girls were being taught communistic lore.

Assuming that Professor Sherman was correct, and since he did not mention the place where all this took place we can only give him the benefit of the doubt.

Dowling Students Hold First Dance At K. of C. Club

Fifty-eight Couples Attend Opening of Season Monday

Students of Dowling hall opened their current social season last Monday night with a dance in the Seville room of the Knights of Columbus club. Fifty-eight couples attended.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Mansfield Marshall, Robert O'Shea, Robert Johnson, Lorentz Thorengron and Andrew Balk. Louis Seno and Robert Zuercher served punch.

Guests of honor were; the Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, S. J., dean of the arts college; John Fitzpatrick, vice-proctor of Dowling hall and Al Fiore, proctor.

Warren Ritchie and his band furnished the music.

Legal Fraternity Has Luncheon at Hamilton Hotel

Delta Theta Phi, national legal fraternity, held a luncheon at the Hamilton hotel Thursday. John C. Barrett, L '13, speaker on the program, told of his experiences in handling a case in which the outcome depended on the meaning of the word "poisoning" in a life insurance policy.

In his search for the definition of this word, Barrett visited the Creighton library where, in the Oxford-English dictionary, he found the definition that the court favored in its decision.

Father McNerny Listed

The Rev. Father J. J. McNerny, S. J., regent of the school of medicine, was listed in the Who's Who for the year 1934 for work accomplished in the field of medical education.

Award Prizes

Charles Brown, haberdasher, will give a tie each week and the John Doss cafe will give two Sunday chicken dinners to students picked at random from the university student body. The names will appear in the advertisements of The Creightonian.

Five Men Pledge Phi Beta Epsilon Social Fraternity

Phi Beta Epsilon, local social fraternity, has officially pledged the following: Meyer Raben, C2; Isadore Mittleman, A1; William Rosenbaum, A1; William Gray, A1; and Sam Weinstein, A1.

Joseph Solomonow, L4, was elected president for the year. Other officers are: Max Resnick, C3, vice-president; Morris Koom, C3, secretary; Harold Block, C2, treasurer; Harold Stern, D1, sergeant-at-arms, and Jack Slutsky, C2, reporter.

A "fun frolic" will be discussed at the first meeting to be held at the chapter house, 606 North Thirty-third street.

Nurses Elect Officers

The freshmen students of the St. Joseph's school of nursing at a recent meeting organized their class and elected officers. The results were: Claralynn Propst, president; Eleanor Zipper, vice-president; Erma Marcs, secretary, and Mary Larkin, treasurer. Miss Kathelene Fallewell will be sponsor of the class.

Student Marries

Max E. Ireland, ex-pharmacy sophomore, Malvern, Iowa, was married at Malvern on Sunday, September 30, to Miss Helen Louise Marshall, of the same town. Ireland, while at Creighton, was a member of the Phi Delta Chi, national pharmacy fraternity, and a member of the Student Union Board of Governors.

Bartson Is Chairman

Esther Bartson, N 2, is chairman of the activities committee at St. Joseph School of Nursing, with Rose Tobas, N 2, Alma Wagner, N 3, and Mary Gertrude Savidge, N 3, assisting. All plans have not been made, but soon the activities schedule will be put into effect.

The Creighton footballers will be the guests of the Des Moines Alumni club at a reception following the Drake-Creighton football game in Des Moines, November 24.

Frat Entertains Pledges Tuesday at Theatre Party

Kappa Psi, pharmaceutical fraternity, welcomed the members of the freshmen class Tuesday evening, at a theatre party at the Orpheum and a pledge supper at the home of J. R. Sonwaikis.

Included in the pledges are: Leonard Van Ackeren, Otis Trier, Charles K. Smith, Clyde E. Smith, Rorer Eastman, Robert Hardzina and John Patricka.

Well-Known Doctor Dies

The death of Willis J. Redfield, MD '00, occurred September 22 at his home in Omaha, following an illness of five years.

Dr. Redfield practiced in several Nebraska towns, including Union, Wood River, North Platte and Grand Island. He served in the war as a major in the medical corps and afterwards started a general clinic in Omaha in co-operation with James G. Vetter, MD '21, William J. Adams, MD '24, and Edward J. Cogan, DDS '20.

10 Years ago this Week

Two Creighton university bands, one under the direction of Professor Cox and the other under the supervision of the ROTC units were organized.

Coeds were first admitted to the college of commerce, finance and journalism in Creighton university.

The name Creightonian was first given to the university paper and journalism students were first obliged to work on it as part of their regular work.

Two hundred and fifty freshmen participated in the original clown parade held October 2. A unique feature of the parade was the total absence of anything that bordered on rowdiness.

1924 annual homecoming arrangements have been completed with the main feature, the Bluejay-Haskell game.

Enrollment of Warren Bachelis as a freshman at the age of 13 was revealed by University of California registration officers. They said he is the youngest student ever to enroll at the university.

Undefeated Rice Owls Battle Creighton Homecoming Day

Conference Tilt On Valley Card This Week-End

Bulldogs Meet Grinnell in Only Loop Game; Aggies Go South

GAMES FRIDAY 1933
Home Team	Visitor Score
Creighton	Rice 11-13
Drake	Grinnell 13-0
George Washington	Tulsa 6-13
Washington	Simpson

GAMES SATURDAY 1933
Home Team	Visitor Score
Creighton	Rice 11-13
Southern Methodist	Ok. Aggies 7-7

Sill seeking a successful week, the Missouri Valley members start their fourth launch in search of a prosperous return.

So far this season Valley eleven have been on the short end of scores in most of the games. Creighton, Drake and Grinnell have failed to register a win.

Aggies Meet Mustangs But Drake and Grinnell play each other in a Valley tilt so this means that one of the teams will break into the winning column, unless it ends in a tie. This is the second Valley game of the year. Oklahoma defeated Drake in the other.

All other games will be against non-conference teams. Tulsa goes to Washington, D. C., where they battle George Washington university. The Oilers went last year over the Presidents, 13 to 6. In another closely watched game the Oklahoma Aggies meet Southern Methodist at Stillwater. Last week the Southern Methodist Mustangs were tripped by the Rice Owls, 9 to 0. The Aggies have yet to taste defeat. Last year's game ended in a 7 to 7 tie.

Homecoming at Creighton

The Rice Owls from Houston, Texas, again comes north to oppose Creighton in a homecoming fray. Last year the Owls were on a short 14 to 13 count. This will mark the third meeting of the two schools, each having won a game. The Owls are a heavy favorite to win as they have a good record for this season's playing, having defeated Purdue, Loyola, and Southern Methodist while being held to a 9 to 9 tie by Louisiana State.

Washington Faces Simpson

Simpson again appears on the Valley schedule this time against Washington. Simpson played Drake earlier in the season and held the Bulldogs to a deadlock. Washington with a big strong team should win over the small college.

Owls Are Undefeated So Far This Season

Held to a Tie by Louisiana State; Purdue One Victim

Bluejays Are Losers of Hard Fought Game to St. Louis Billikens

SPORT CHIPS

By PAUL ERNST

The baseball season is over to many, but the world series is still being "played" over by many lovers of the national game. During the past year of baseball many of the breaks turned toward the owners of clubs.

Detroit copped its first pennant since 1909, while St. Louis kept the red ink off the books for the first time since 1931. Tom Yawkey, Boston Red Sox owner, invested plenty of dough in his club and park, but he found it was worth the time and effort. Before the season was half over the Boston club had over 70,000 more paid admissions than last year's (1933) total.

Fighting Series

Old times were on hand during the past World Series, and the fans really received their money's worth of fun. The players were playing for blood and Mike Cochrane and Schoolboy Rowe suffered spike wounds. Dizzy Dean was beamed by a throw on an attempted double play, while Orsatti and Pepper Martin tried to cave in the fences catching fly balls. Then to top things off Ducky Medwick and Merve Owen got into a tangle that just about started a riot and caused Medwick to give up his position in left field.

In sliding into third, Medwick went at the bag with his spikes flying high as Owen, Tiger third baseman, was blocking the base. Thinking that Ducky was trying to spike him, Owen stepped on Medwick. Then Medwick kicked back and players from both teams separated them. When he went back to his position in left field in the seventh, Medwick was given a fruit shower. The game was held up twenty minutes and finally Judge Landis called both Owen and Ducky over to his box seat. After holding court Landis decided that Medwick had better leave the game. All this took place in the last tilt.

Dizzy Dean Hero

Dizzy Dean was as good as he predicted and was the hero of the series. Dizzy said before the series started that he would win two games and pitch a shutout. He also went on to say that all the Cardinals needed was himself and his brother, Paul. Both Deans won two games.

The performances of Diz Dean in the series are ranked higher than those of Christy Mathewson back in 1905. Dizzy pitched three games, winning two and losing one. He pitched the first game with only one day's rest and this was his third game in six afternoons. After being hit in the head and knocked out, Dizzy came back the next day and lost a tough tilt by the score of 3 to 1. With the series tied at 3-all, Dizzy took the mound for the final tilt after resting just one day, and turned back the Tigers, 11 to 0.

Two of baseball's greatest players passed out of the major leagues this past season as regular players. Babe Ruth and Burleigh Grimes are the unfortunate old-timers. Grimes, after trying to stage a comeback with three different clubs, was handed his unconditional release by the Pittsburgh Pirates last week.

Babe Ruth has hopes of managing a big league team next season. The Babe has no idea what he will do unless he becomes the skipper of a club, for his playing days are over, as the old legs are gone. He is the holder of many league records and in the World Series the Bambino has the leadership in about every department of the game, even pitching.

It is mighty tough to see such a star as Ruth pass from the big show, but he has had his day and must depart to make room for the youngsters.

New Football King

A new football team will reign in the United States this year if the present conditions keep going. Saturday, October 13, fifteen major teams dropped before unknown foes. The elevens that were upset on that day were Southern California, Michigan, Penn, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Cornell, Nebraska, Purdue, Yale, Oregon State, Alabama Poly, Centenary, Georgia Tech, Texas Christian and California. Last Saturday more colleges with big football names fell before small schools. St. Mary's received a first-class setback from the unheard-of Nevada clan and Washington State, conquerors of Southern California, lost to Gonzaga. Here in the midwest, Nebraska won a 14 to 13 decision over Iowa and Tulsa was defeated the initial time since 1932 by Texas Christian.

In the Big Ten, Chicago won its first conference game in two years by bowing over Michigan, Big Ten champs and last year's outstanding eleven. Northwestern journeyed to Palo Alto and took a thumping from Stanford. Minnesota was idle, as Coach Bernie Bierman was resting his boys for this week's clash with Pittsburgh.

The Gopher-Panther battle will bring together two of the outstanding teams of the country. Last year the Gophers eked out a 7-to-0 win over the easterners and this season Coach Jock Sutherland is after a win. The defeat suffered by the Panthers from Minnesota was the only drawback on the Pittsburgh card. Pitt showed plenty of power in downing the Trojans from Southern California, Saturday. This tilt may decide the leading eleven of the country.

Notre Dame Wins

Michigan State looks plenty good and the same goes for Stanford. Notre Dame returned to old-time form in trouncing Purdue, 18 to 7, at South Bend. Elmer Layden seems to have developed a scoring punch and a mighty tough line. The Raiders scored three times against the Boiler-makers within ten minutes. The fighting Irish with George Melinkovich, Wallace Fromhart, Fred Carideo and Mike Layden, doing the ball carrying, warm the hearts of Rambler fans.

Notre Dame has its slate filled with mighty football teams that it has to meet before putting the togs away in moth balls. But the spirit of Notre Dame has again risen and the many Irish followers are backing the Raiders on what they hope will be another big year. The South Bend lads have Carnegie Tech, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh, Navy, Army, Northwestern and Southern California left on their schedule.

If Notre Dame can win over these foes it will again dominate the football world. Defeated by Texas in the opening game, Notre Dame seems to have hit a fast stride and the remaining Irish opponents will find that out.

Missouri Eleven Downs Weak Jays, Score Is 13 to 0

Bluejays Have One Scoring Chance; Billikens Big and Fast

A fast and big St. Louis university eleven defeated the scrapping Bluejays of Creighton, 13 to 0, at Walsh field Friday night. The Billikens packed too much beef for the Bluejays and with plenty of speed the Missouri lads kept possession of the ball for most of the first half. Captain Carl "Hurry" Kane and Tommy Hurley, halfbacks, with their speed made it possible for the Billikens to score twice.

Kane Leads Billikens Kane, with the aid of Hurley, Cochrane and Kloepper made 233 yards from scrimmage, Kane making 95.

St. Louis scored in the second period on a pass from Hurley to Cochrane which was good for 13 yards. The pins were set for this pass after the Billikens took the ball on Creighton's 27-yard marker. From this point they pushed the oval to the 13, where they passed on the fourth down.

Kane kicked the extra point and soon after the half ended with the Jays seven points behind. The third period was scoreless, but in the fourth canto the Billikens put over the last score.

Jays Start Drive With the ball resting on their 47 the Billikens went to work. With Hurley and Kane ripping through the Creighton line they reached the 12. Then on the first try this pesky Kane went through the right side of the line for a touchdown.

Creighton received the kick off and the oval was downed on the 18. From here the Bluejays batted their way to St. Louis' 21. Hackett on an end around play fumbled and lost 10 yards. Gene was in the open and probably would have gone for a touchdown.

On an attempted pass Moran was nailed for a five yard loss and Brick missed a pass for the third down. With the last down coming up and 30 yards to go, Serpe passed to Wilcox and the little fellow was stopped on the 15.

Regulars Missing The Blues had a patched up lineup being without the services of Holland, Schmidt, Zuercher, McKenna and Naviochick.

Bill Klem, major league umpire, worked his fourteenth world series this year. Klem was an umpire in 1909 when the Detroit Tigers won their last pennant. The first fine ever pinned onto an umpire, during a world series, was handed out to Klem in the recent fall classic.

Freshman Fracas On Schedule For Homecoming Day

Bluejays Meet South Dakota Coyotes; Jays Won Last Year

Old grads will have a chance to see future Bluejay varsity men in action when Coach Duce Belford sends his freshmen against the yearlings from South Dakota university homecoming afternoon. Last year, Coach Belford's frosh array ran rough-shod over the Coyote freshmen to win 59-to-0. The Dakota freshmen, enforced with seven former all-state high school players, have a fighting chance to even the series this year.

The probable starting lineup for the Creighton freshmen as announced by Coach Belford will have Borak and Bokmueller, ends; Nelson and La Mantia, tackles; Winship and McGuire, guards; Kowalski, center; Safranek and Collins, halfbacks; Weber, quarterback, and Hartnek, fullback.

Discussion of Mass and Meeting Mark Sodality Gathering

Father Condon Speaks on Essential Parts of the Mass

BI-WEEKLY MEETS

First of a series of bi-weekly sodality conferences was held October 12 with the Rev. Michael Condon, S. J., sodality moderator at the College of Saint Mary, conducting a discussion of the essential parts of the Mass.

Following the conference, a business meeting was held in the lecture room, Lucille McBride St. M 2, conducting. A talk on Catholic literature was given by DeNelda Kuehn, St. M 2, chairman of the Catholic literature committee. Rita Clare Browne, St. M 2, chairman of the publicity committee, spoke on the "Character Tower," an important feature of the college sodality.

Next week's meeting will be conducted by Geraldine McBride, St. M 2, chairman of Our Lady's committee.

Caducean Society Will Continue Medic Work

Plans to Stimulate Greater Interest by Inviting Guest Speakers

The Caducean society of the school of medicine will continue its extra-curricular activities of a cultural nature during the coming year, John Collins, president, announced Monday.

The society plans to stimulate greater interest by inviting speakers to address the group, giving their views on topics of medical interest. These talks are to inspire the students to progress more rapidly along the lines of medical history, Collins said.

Dr. A. E. Brown, associate professor of clinical surgery at the University of Nebraska opened the series at the Fontenelle last week. Dr. Brown is recognized as an authority in his field and has also written a book and has contributed numerous articles to medical publications.

Thomas E. Kane, M 3, submitted a paper entitled "Oliver Wendell Holmes, Physician and Poet."

John Collins, M 4, presided as chairman.

Dr. Levine Receives Major Appointment

On the day Dr. Victor E. Levine left for the Arctic, the War Department at Washington, D. C., sent a radiogram to Fort Omaha, announcing his promotion to the rank of a major.

Major Levine is attached to the Surgeon General's office at Washington as expert in the chemical warfare and the treatment of resulting casualties.

In view of his contemplated research in the Arctic, the War Department created a special vacancy for Dr. Levine and issued his promotion.

Four ROTC Officers in Personnel of CCC

Four graduate officers of the Creighton university unit have been appointed to the personnel of the Civilian Conservation Corps this year, according to Major Hardin C. Sweeney, commandant of the university corps.

Recently taking up their duties, they are: Second Lieutenant Perry E. Seeley, commissioned June 1932, who is now stationed at Itaska State park, Minn.; John Melcher, commissioned as second lieutenant last June; Gordon Henry, who received his commission last June, stationed in North Dakota, as is Hugh Schwab, who was given his commission in 1932.

Nudism became an issue at St. Mary's college this week with the publication of a letter sponsored by student body officials who condemned the habit of students appearing unclothed in and near the campus swimming pool. "The campus of St. Mary's is no place for a nudist," the letter warned.

Study Club Will Begin Year's Action Tomorrow

Rebuck Will Open Discussion with Clean Movies Argument

Creighton's outstanding discussion club, The Catholic Action Study club, will hold its first meeting of the year in the college library tomorrow at 7:45 p. m. Subject for discussion will be, "Does the Legion of Decency Promote Unwholesome Pictures?" John Rebuck, A 4, vice-president of the organization, will lead the discussion.

The organization, six years old, aims to enlighten the students on present day topics as connected with Catholic action. Michael Brown, L 1, president, urges every Creighton student to attend and join the club in its discussions.

Other officers besides Brown and Rebuck are: Mary Agnes Green, U 3, vice-president, and Martha Goodrich, DU 4, secretary.

Valley Eleveens Are Still Playing Inferior Football

Oklahoma Aggies Continue to Set Pace; Three Teams Have Yet to Win

Oklahoma Aggies	Haskell	6-6
Army	Drake	48-0
Texas Christian	Tulsa	14-12
Creighton	Grinnell	7-0
Washburn	Southwestern	6-0

Valley teams continued to play poor football and as a result continued to take spankings from non-conference eleveens.

Last week's play in the Missouri Valley was still below par, only three members turned in wins over non-conference foes.

Aggies Continue to Win. Washington, Washburn and Oklahoma Aggies were the Valley winners. Washburn and Oklahoma Aggies were in tough games, but the Washington Bears piled up a big score in turning their second win of the year.

Drake went east with the hopes of doing better against the Army than Washburn, but the Bulldogs picked the wrong day to battle the Cadets and as a result they suffered a 48 to 0 trouncing.

Washington walked all over Wabash in a 41 to 0 win and it now looks like Jimmy Conzelman has a good crew. Washburn edged out Southwestern, 6 to 0, and the Aggies won their third game of the year by winning over Haskell, 9 to 6.

Tulsa Loses. Tulsa received a 14 to 12 setback from Texas Christian. This was the first loss for the Tulsans since 1932. And Grinnell continued to be on the short end of the count as the Pioneers dropped a 7 to 0 tilt to Carleton.

Creighton traveled to St. Louis and received a 13 to 0 defeat from a powerful and fast team. Without five veterans the Bluejays never had a chance against the big Billikens. It was just another case of playing a team when they were hot and the Missouri team was just that. They functioned

Duchesne Students Hear Dissertation On Roman Travels

R. Howard Describes Points of Interest During Holy Year

SEEK INDULGENCES

Speaking at Duchesne college last Thursday, Miss Ruth Howard, Columbia graduate and sister of Dr. M. C. Howard, associate professor of medicine at Creighton, described the points of interest which pilgrims to Rome visit during the Holy Year.

"Rome is especially interesting this year," said Miss Howard, "not only because it is the seat of the Church and the repository for the relics of the Passion, but because it is the mecca for so many Catholics seeking to gain the extraordinary Holy Year indulgences."

Pilgrims visit the Holy Stairs, the Holy Cross, and four basilicas of St. Peter, St. Paul, St. Mary, and St. John Lateran.

Miss Howard herself visited in Rome during the Holy Year. She is interested in social service work, and was formerly Girls' Clubs Director in New York. She is a member of Phi Delta Gamma, an honorary scholastic organization for graduate women students of Columbia university. She was also on the staff of the New York Times and the Morning World.

U. S. Senior Surgeon

Marion S. Lombard, MD '10, medical officer in charge of the U. S. Marine hospital and holding the rank of major, was promoted and commissioned as Senior Surgeon of the U. S. Public Health Service, effective September 21, 1934.

Dr. Lombard, leader in the government's successful drive to rid New Orleans of the bubonic plague in 1919, transferred to Memphis a year ago to take charge of the hospital, succeeding Dr. W. H. Slaughter.

perfectly and had possession of the ball most of the game.

Jays Lack Blocking. Coach Hickey's lads outweighed and with many green members playing, made the strong Billikens go at top speed throughout the game. The score may indicate a uninteresting game but the tilt was just opposite of that.

Blocking was the Jay's biggest problem Friday night as they missed blocks because of poor timing. Plenty of reserve material saw action in the game and this is one advantage that goes Coach Hickey's way.

Library Notes

New books catalogued in the library this week, according to the librarian, are: "Small Community Newspaper," by J. H. Casey; "Newspaper and Crime," by V. L. Cole; "Letters," by S. T. Cole; "Hoover and His Times Looking Back Through Years," by Edwin Emerson; "Essay Annual"; "Nebraska Place-names," by L. L. Mrs. F. E. Marsh Will Direct Coed Swimming Classes

The first swimming class of the season for coeds was held Monday night in the university pool under the direction of Mrs. F. E. Marsh.

Mrs. Marsh is arranging a program for the coeds including individual work on achievement tests preparatory for the junior life saving examinations, and various water games. She is organizing beginning, intermediate and advanced classes. Regular life-saving classes will be started next semester. Gymnasium classes will begin later in the semester.

Last week two students at the University of Utah drove their car up to the campus with a portable house in tow and asked of-icial permission to park it at the rear of the grounds during winter months, while they attended school.

Relative scholastic standings of members of the 19 social fraternities at the University of Southern California, revealed that Tau Delta
