LARGEST CLASS GRADUATES

CREIGHTON GRADUATES LARGEST CLASS IN ITS HISTORY

Thirty-Third Annual Commencement

The thirty-third annual commencement of Creighton University, held in the Creighton gymnasium Saturday morning, June 2, surpassed by a large margin even the commencements of 1921 and 1922, each of which had established a record in number of diplomas conferred. Last Saturday's exercises saw the awarding of 193 degrees twelve teachers' certificates, eight military commissions, three certificates of eligibility for commissions and thirteen diplomas of graduate nurses. The degrees were, master of arts, 1; bachelor of arts, 13; bachelor of science in arts, 1; bachelor of philosophy, 12; bachelor of science in medicine, 34; doctor of medicine, 35; bachelor of laws, 26; doctor of dental surgery, 27; bachelor of science in pharmacy, 1; pharmaceutical chemist, 4, and graduate in pharmacy, 39. This is the first year that the degree of bachelor of science in pharmacy has been given.

The exercises began with the usual impressive baccalaureate procession from the college of arts, the university band playing Gounod's Marche Romaine as the long double line of more than two hundred graduates and members of the faculty in academic costume filed through the trees of the lawn, past the lion fountain, north to the observatory. The group picture shown was taken on the north lawn, and the procession continued its march to the gymnasium.

Here President McCormick made an introductory address, Chief Justice Andrew M. Morrissey administered the oath to the law graduates, who were thereby admitted to the Nebraska bar, and the Honorable James L. McIntosh made the formal address to the graduates. Dean William J. Grace, S. J., presented the graduates of the college of arts, Major Corbit S. Hoffman, Inf., U. S. A., those of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, Dean Hermann von W. Schulte, A. B., M. D., those of the college of medicine and of the St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Training School, Dean Louis M. Te Poel, A. M., LL. B., those of the college of law, Dean A. Hugh Hipple, D. D. S., M. D. S., those of the college of dentistry, and Dean Howard C. Newton, Ph. G., those of the college of pharmacy.

1923 BACCALAUREATE PROCESSION

The list of graduates is as follows.

THE CREIGHTON COURIER

Published on the 1st of each month by The Creighton University, 2410 California Street, Omaha, Neb., for gratuitous distribution.

Entered as second class matter, January 13, 1915, at the postoffice at Omaha, Nebraska, under the Act of August 24, 1912.

BUYERS' STRIKE KILLS BUILDING BOOM

An investigation by the New York Evening World reveals the fact that in Boston alone more than ten million dollars worth of building operations have been halted owing to the increase in the price of building material and labor.

In New York over fifty million dollars worth of new building operations have been postponed since May. It is estimated that in the entire United States over five billion dollars worth of new buildings have been stopped on account of the increasingly excessive costs.

If a buyers' strike in the building field is already on the way as many competent observers aver, the reason can be laid at the door of the different combinations which control the building material business throughout the United States. It looks as though they were simply killing the proverbial "goose", and in the opinion of the writer there should be some means of stopping profiteering in building material.

Why wouldn't it be possible for the Government to take a hand in this the same as they did when sugar prices started to soar? Are these interests too strong for even the Government to tackle? If the situation grows more chaotic, there will come a day when no builder will dare to sign a contract. He cannot tell whether the estimate of cost will remain accurate for a month. In fact, he cannot be sure that he will be able to get labor or materials at any price.

Something should be done, and at once, to bring under control the irresponsible builders whose excessive bonus offerings are inflating the market, and to bind union labor to a uniform scale.

The building material combination in Omaha has its grip on Omaha's building boom. Competition has been killed by the "inside circle" who meet secretly and agree on a certain scale of prices. In obtaining estimates on all classes of building material from Omaha dealers, it was evident that this combination did exist as estimates did not vary one per cent.

As a matter of fact, all classes of building material can be purchased outside of Omaha at a saving of from 25 to 40 per cent, after paying freight and delivery charges.

Is this condition a good one for Omaha, or any other City? Can't something be done to stop these unlawful trade restricting combinations.

The Government stepped in and stopped the packers combination a few years ago, because meat was an article of food, and therefore a necessity. With the present high cost of rents, exceeding as they do by over 100 per cent the cost in 1913, is not building material also a necessity?

The following special scholastic distinctions were won during the year:

In the college of arts, the oratorical medal donated by the local chapter of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, merited by Francis C. Charvat; the elocution medal donated by Mr. Thos. McShane, of Baltimore, Md., merited by Emmet Greene; the medal for the best essay on evidences of religion, donated by Bishop McGovern, of Cheyenne, merited by Frank Fogarty; the senior philosophy medal, donated by the Omaha Council 651 of the Knights of Columbus, won by Michael Gleason; purses of fifteen and ten dollars for third and fourth places in the intercollegiate English contest of the Jesuit Missouri province, won by Frank Fogarty and James Smith, respectively; ninth place in the same contest, won by Frank Byrne; ninth place in the intercollegiate Latin contest, won by Frank Fogarty.

In the college of medicine, the fifty dollar purse offered by Dean Schulte for the best senior essay, won by Lawrence Edward Grawney, Emmett Francis Hoctor taking second place; the fifty dollar purse offered by Mrs. Schulte for the best sophomore essay, won by Michael William Barry, A. B., Victor Ernest Berchtold taking second place.

In the college of law, the distinction "Magna cum Laude," awarded to Sam Beber and Ralph Edward Svoboda for an average of 95 per cent in each of their three years.

In the Junior Senior Division the first place for legal research was won by Frederick A. Wachtler of the Junior

A WISE BENEFACTION IN AN AGE OF MOST WEIRD AND BIZARRE NOTIONS ON SPELLING

Over at Jackson, Miss., there is a college for young women which is under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church—Belhaven College. A benefactor has made provision for $2,000 a year to be paid to the college on condition that the sum be expended in teaching the students how to write and spell. The Board of Trustees of the college has accepted the gift in the spirit in which it was meant—not in any sense a reflection upon the college, but to emphasize a very needed thing.

Ask any business man of the present day what he thinks of the grammar and spelling of the average stenographer or office man. "Rotten!" he will usually answer. In employing a new stenographer the tryouts are mainly to see if she can spell, and use the English language according to the rules. Generally she cannot.

They have some sort of a new fangled method of teaching children how to "visualize" words now—whatever that is. At any rate, they may be able to visualize, but they can't spell. The prevalence of poor spelling and poor grammar is very widespread. In the times when the old Webster's "Blue-Back Speller" was in use in the schools and children were taught how to spell, a person making any pretensions whatever toward an education was mortified not to spell a word correctly. Now the ordinary run of them not only cannot spell correctly, but commit assault battery and mayhem on the King's English. The country needs more benefactors like the gentleman who has given $2,000 a year to Belhaven College to help ground the young ladies in the fundamentals of spelling and writing. Is it possible the theoreticians have carried us so far that special benefactions must be necessary for the public schools also?

Class. Grade 100 per cent. The prize consists of 14 volumes of Corpus Juris Value $112.00.

In the Freshman Division first place was won by Herbert Finley of the Freshman Class. Grade 100 per cent. The prize consists of 10 volumes of Corpus Juris. Value $80.00.

These prizes were offered by the American Law Book Company of New York.

Oscar T. Doerr of the Freshman Class won the Callaghan prize for the best scholarship in the Freshman Class. The prize consists of a copy of the Cyclopedic Dictionary, donated by the Callaghan Company of Chicago.

In the college of dentistry, membership in the select non-secret honor fraternity, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, awarded to Emery La Porte, Wilbert Snyder and Howard Bond.

In the college of pharmacy, first place in the contest of preparation of pharmacy samples from raw materials, awarded to Carl F. Gestring, Darwin G. Leigh and George D. Schafer were second and third in this contest.

CREIGHTON HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

The high school commencement was held in the university auditorium Friday evening, June 8. James Hanley, LL. B., gave the address to the graduates. William P. McKenna pronounced the class poem, and Stanton F. Kennedy the valedictory. Classical diplomas were given to Robert J. Benford, Joseph N. Byrne, John J. Chapuran, Charles B. Crowley, James E. Dahir, Richard F. Delehanty, William J. Dempsey, Wilfred J. Fleming, Joseph P. Gardiner, Raymond J. Gibbons, John J. Gillin, Gerald J. Hanley, William E. Hinchey, Stanton F. Kennedy, Paul J. Klein, Edmond C. Loughran, Gilbert A. McCabe, William B. McCarthy, Francis J. McCarville, Raymond E. McGrath, Harry E. Mitchell, Edward W. Nash, Leo F. Otte, Clarence J. Ryan, Aloysius J. Schmitz, John J. Somines, Paul J. Sullivan, Francis J. Winters, and John R. Winters. Non-classical diplomas were given to Clarence M. Barry, William J. Bierman, Philip J. Boyle, Joseph P. Burke, James E. Callahan, Robert E. Carter, John J. Conron, Thomas W. Cowan, Maynard J. Daley, Joseph P. Donnelly, Clement J. Doyle, Lawrence E. Dunn, Russell A. Driebus, Robert P. Khoo, Peter M. Lim, Delbert Lyon, Chester R. McAulige, Gerald R. McGargill, William P. McKenna, Harold J. Marshall, Adam J. Neuberger, Francis J. Noonan, Francis C. Norris, Joseph G. Norris, Harry J. O'Connor, Hugh J. O'Grady, Marcel R. Pitet, Maurice L. Plumer, Alfred A. Raneri, Frederick H. Schonlau, J. Phelan Shirley, Anthony R. Sofio, John J. Sontua, Ivo X. Suing, Raymond H. Swassing, and Rudolph B. Toller. The total number of graduates was sixty-five, of whom twenty-nine received the classical and thirty-six the non-classical diploma.

Stanton Kennedy was winner of the Steve Mulvihill prize of twenty-five dollars for the highest average in scholarship in the class. The Steve Mulvihill debating prize of twenty-five dollars was distributed among the three members of the winning team of the high school public debate. Francis Winters, Gilbert McCabe and Raymond Gibbons, the last named receiving the special prize of ten dollars as best individual debater. Raymond McGrath was winner of the elocution gold medal for fourth year.

The annual assembly for the announcement of grades and honors of the three lower classes of the high school was held in the auditorium on Saturday morning, June 9. Winners of the class gold medals were, Third Year A, John Leermakers; Third Year B, Bernard Meile; Second Year A, Thos. Donahue; Second Year B, Landon Gant; Second Year C, Frank Feldman; Second Year D, Thos. Kennedy; First Year A, Victor Radowski; First Year B, Richard Tagg; First Year C, Reynold Gerke; First Year D, Samuel Bonnaccorso. The winners of the elocution medals in third, second and first years respectively were Gordon Diesing, Frank Feldman, and Delmar Kempf.

K. OF C. WILL FINANCE CREIGHTON STADIUM

Knights of Columbus of Nebraska, in convention at Sidney, Neb., unanimously went on record to finance and build the new athletic stadium for Creighton university.

The matter was presented to the convention by Rev. W. J. Corboy, S. J., Faculty Director of Creighton Athletics.

It is the first unit of the proposed $400,000 stadium which the Knights of Columbus have pledged to build. The first unit will cost $250,000, and when completed, the stadium will seat approximately 30,000.

It will mean that by 1925 Creighton will be playing the biggest teams in the country on the Knights of Columbus Field, Creighton University.

STANTON KENNEDY

Winner of the Steve Mulvihill prize for the highest average in scholarship in the High School graduating class. He finished his four year course with average grades of 97. He also had the honor of being the class valedictorian, President of his class for two successive years, perfect in the Sodality, President of the Literary Society and Editor-in-Chief of the Annual. He is better known as "Spike" on the Hill-Top, a nick-name inherited from his illustrious "dad" one of Creighton's greatest athletes in the old days.

CREIGHTON STUDENT HONORED

Henry R. Dozier, one of Creighton's honor students has been appointed to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. His appointment came through former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock. Dozier has also taken an active part in all Creighton Athletic activities during the past five years.

In Paris women are wearing slits under the arms. They say it is a regular side show.

A rich man's funeral service isn't complete until each of the survivors has hired a lawyer.

June 19 to 21, are registration days for the summer session. Mass of the Holy Ghost will be on Friday, June 22, and classes will begin on that day.

McALEER JOINS RANKS OF BENEDEICTS

Varsity Football Captain in New Line-Up

Elmer C. McAleer, who will captain the 1923-24 Varsity squad, just couldn't wait till next year's football season was over before joining the ranks of the benedicts. McAleer was married on Wednesday morning, June 20th, to Miss Margaret Ederer, daughter of Chas. Ederer, at the Sacred Heart Church, Father Judge officiating.

Miss Cecilia Ederer, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Raymond McAleer, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The announcement came as a surprise to the Athletic Department, as we thought that Mac's time was too much occupied with school and Athletics to be interested in any of the fair ones.

Mr. and Mrs. McAleer will be at home after July 1st at 3323 North 20th St.

JESUIT MISSIONARIES ENTERTAINED AT CREIGHTON

A large company of Jesuit Missionaries, bound for the Phillipine Islands from New York, were guests of Creighton University June 26th. They arrived in the morning and left for the west in the afternoon.

The Jesuit Mission in the Phillipine Islands dates back some 300 years. It has been transferred in recent years from one of the Spanish Provinces of the Order of New York, the Maryland Province, and is being gradually taken over by the latter.

Last year, a contingent of nine members of that province stopped at Creighton on their way to Manila. The members who are on their way at present number 17—4 Priests, 11 Scholastics and 2 lay brothers.

Two things that aid in living a pure life are a pure heart and a bald head.

"Ain't nature grand," remarked Professor Perk, "Some of the greatest family trees start from a hum-bug."

IF WE COULD ONLY GET "HENRY" INTERESTED IN CREIGHTON

Now that Henry Ford has confessed to being the richest man, and his net assets are estimated at more than a half billion, no one can dispute that this is a land of opportunity. In ten years Ford has built a fortune estimated from $600,000,000 to $750,000,000, which is twice the amount of the Rockefeller fortune today. While Henry Ford has been making and giving, John D. has been giving away a billion, and his fortune is only $300,000,000. Many estimates will be made of the power of a half billion dollars in one man's hands. Also some wise ones will be insisting that Mr. Ford is not a financier or a business man, that he just reaped without any notion of business methods. But the Detroit magnate with $159,605,687 cash on hand doesn't need to make any reply to such critics.

FATHER DESMET—"THE BLACK ROBE"

Eighty-five years ago, Thursday, May 31, 1838, Father Peter DeSmet, "The Apostle of the Rockies", arrived in Council Bluffs and established the first church in all western Iowa and the Catholic churches and schools of Council Bluffs and Omaha held special exercises in memory of the old Jesuit mission. With Council Bluffs as his headquarters Father DeSmet traversed western Iowa, eastern Nebraska, and up into the Dakotas and started upon the eventful missionary life which carried him from the Mississippi to the Pacific, sent him to half the Indian Tribes of the great west, caused him to make twenty-four long sea voyages, gave him a mileage of 260,929 miles during his travels and earned for him the name of "The Great Missionary" in a church which produced Marquette and his contemporaries.

The old mission occupied by Father DeSmet in Council Bluffs has long since been destroyed, the hill upon which it stood has been partially graded down and even the new buildings which were constructed upon the site have grown old.

BRYAN'S SECRET OF POLITICAL POWER

One of the sources of Bryan's power is that he knows the Bible and Shakespeare, both limitless reservoirs on which to draw veritable fountains, ceaselessly giving forth healing springs.

He doesn't play with words. He doesn't lose himself in vague rhetorical flights of fancy. He handles the question of the support of the League of Nations in a fashion so that the cultured and the simple, the scholar and the moron alike may understand.

"The United States must lead the way. The United States is the only nation which can ever have leadership toward lasting peace, because no other nation has the confidence of the world. We need a nation strong enough to take hold of our Government and regardless of party and power voice the desire of the nation's millions for permanent universal peace.

I would like to see President Harding call another Disarmament Conference, and inform the representatives gathered at it, that the United States will further reduce, not only its Navy, but its Army, and then some, as much as any other nation of the world."

Why was William Jennings Bryan twice nominated as the Democratic Candidate for the Presidency? Because he has the power, the simple true power to touch the heart of the world.

Henry Ford apparently has many years to live and use that money. His opportunity is tremendous, his responsibility fearsome to contemplate. There is no question about Ford's success as a money maker. But to be the biggest money maker in the world will not satisfy him. The use he makes of his stupendous fortune and power will have much to do with his place in the record of America's big men.

BUILDING AND ENDOWMENT FUND GROWING STEADILY

PETERS TRUST CO., OMAHA, MAKES LARGE DONATION

Outside Alumni Organizations Doing Good Work

"The Building and Endowment fund," announced President McCormick, from the Association headquarters in the First National Bank "is mounting slowly toward the quota we have set for this year.

"With the closing of the school year I had hoped to be able to announce the subscription of the entire 1923 quota" said the President, "but many of the larger subscriptions which have been promised are not in."

"The Peters Trust Co., one of Omaha's largest banking institutions have made a very generous donation of $5,000.00 to the Building fund while the receipt of a similar amount is acknowledged from an anonymous source.

"These large subscriptions together with many others for $1,000, $500 and lesser amounts have brought the total up to a trifle over $300,000 and the prospects of being able to get in the entire 1923 quota for Omaha is very encouraging."

Omaha K. of C. Start Stadium Campaign

The Knights of Columbus of Omaha have already started a campaign to raise their proportion of the $250,000.00 which the Knights of Nebraska have pledged for the new stadium. This amount has not been credited to Omaha's quota as most of the money will be raised outside. There are approximately eleven thousand Knights of Columbus in the state of Nebraska and about one tenth of that number live in Omaha. Rev. William J. Corboy, S. J., faculty athletic representative will have charge of this part of the campaign and expects little difficulty in securing one year pledges for the entire amount. The honor of having a Knights of Columbus Stadium on the campus of one of the largest Universities of its kind in the Country will be an incentive for every Knight to help.

Outside Alumni Working Hard

The Greely Chapter of the Alumni Association announce through Mr. A. J. O'Malley that its quota is nearly all in and that an official report will be ready at an early date. Fremont, Grand Island, Wahoo, Beatrice, Wymore, Liberty, Dawson, Falls City, Auburn, Tecumseh, Burr, Syracuse, Nebraska City and Falls City have all reported very satisfactory progress. Dr. H. F. McGrane of the Sioux City, Iowa, Chapter advises that he has been delayed on account of sickness, but will have their quota without fail. These and other encouraging reports from workers in every part of the country show a brand of loyalty among our alumni that every school needs; for more and more do the colleges of the Country have to depend upon their body of alumni for support, not only in their expansion plans but for sufficient money to help defray the actual running expense.

Education has not dodged increased expenses any more than the individual or the corporation. It is to meet this increase in cost and increase in demand for education that Universities and colleges must now appeal to the men and women who have already secured their training.

If Creighton University is to continue its great work and take care of the ever increasing demands for education, it must have help.

Last year more than three hundred boys were turned away on account of lack of room. This year there will be more for each year brings an increasing number of the youth of the country to the realization that their chances for success in life depend upon education.

Education is not Charity

Business men should look upon the money they contribute to education as one of the best paying investments—not charity. In 1910 Massachusetts spent a total of $13,889,838.00 or $38.55 per pupil, on education. The same year Tennessee only spent $1,628,313.00 or $4.68 per pupil. That year Massachusetts citizens produced on the average 144 each, more than did the citizens of Tennessee or a total of $403,969,824.00 more than Tennessee. If Massachusetts gives $12,000,000.00 more to schools and her better educated citizens produce $403,000,000.00 more per year, how much profit do the state and the business men in that state make on education? Isn't education worth while?

It is laughable or would be if it were not so serious to hear some of our so-called intelligent business men sit back and say: "I don't believe in higher education. Look at me. I started in to work, etc., etc." How some of them do love to harp on the fact that they never had an education. The majority of them don't have to tell about it—it is so plainly evident. If these men have made a success without an education just think of the possibilities for greater success if they had had one. An uneducated man has about one chance in 150,000 to become successful in any line of business, while the educated man has more than 800 times as many chances. These are government statistics and cannot be contradicted. Just call your uneducated friends' attention to these facts the next time he starts to brag about not having an education.

1923 SUMMER SCHOOL HAS LARGEST ENROLLMENT

Students From Many States

Over 600 students registered at the Creighton University Summer School, which opened Friday, June 22nd. This is the largest number of students of college grade enrolled in the 10 years in which Creighton has offered summer courses.

Of this number, nearly 500 are teachers working for degrees or teachers certificates of higher grade. They come from Washington, Oregon, Montana. In fact, nearly every state in the union is represented.

The seven different courses in education are the most popular, due to the ever increasing and changing requirements for teachers in the various states. Most of the summer students dwell at St. John's Dormitory, or near the University Campus, and entertainment will be furnished them in the Creighton Auditorium three evenings a week.

Dean of the Summer School, Rev. Thomas A. Egan, S. J., announces a special course of lectures. On June 25th, Rev. William J. Grace, S. J., Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, led a round table discussion on "Accredited Schools and Accrediting Associations". June 27th, Rev. Charles Schuetz, S. J., Dean of Men at Creighton University, lectured on "Problems of Discipline." The subsequent lectures will be announced each week.

All residents of Omaha who are interested in these lectures are privileged to attend without charge. The friends of the University are invited to call with their automobiles, and show the visiting students the beauties of Omaha and its environments.

CREIGHTON HAS BANNER YEAR

Total Registration for 1922-23— 2106. Sets New Record

The Creighton University attained new enrollment records during the scholastic year now drawing to a close with a total of 2106 students registering during the 12 months from June 1st, 1922 to June 1st, 1923. The new 1923-24 catalogue will be off the press in a short time, and ready for distribution to prospective students and interested educators.

The registration of 2106 sets a figure never before equalled in the history of the Creighton University.

The total enrollment is divided among the different Departments as follows: Summer School, 512; College of Dentistry, 213; College of Law, 183; College of Arts and Sciences, 453; College of Medicine, 157; College of Pharmacy, 107; College of Commerce and Finance, 70; High School, 411.

Of the 2106 Students, over 1250 were registered from outside of Omaha, or approximately 63% of the entire student body.

We could get along very nicely with the bare necessities of life if our friends would only covet them.

COLORADO UNIVERSITY HONORS CREIGHTON GRADUATE

Former Athlete Makes Another Perfect Score

Charles Kearney, star center on Creighton's 1918-1919 Varsity Basketball Team, made another perfect score at the University of Colorado Law School. Kearney was one of 61 competitors in a contest covering 20 legal questions, and was the only student who answered them all correctly.

He was awarded the $500.00 prize consisting of a complete law library. The announcement was made by Professor William A. Arthur, Dean of the Law School, who has charge of the annual contest.

Kearney graduated from Creighton Law School in 1920. He made the Varsity basketball team during his first year at school and developed into one of the greatest centers that Creighton has ever turned out.

After graduating, he went to Columbia for his masters degree, after which he opened an office in Boulder, Colo., entering the law school of the University there to familiarize himself with the various points of Colorado law. Kearney states that he intends to return to Nebraska soon and is planning on opening an office in Omaha.

WELL KNOWN JESUIT EDU- CATORS ON FACULTY OF SUMMER SCHOOL

The Rev. Francis Beeten, S. J., of Cleveland University, Rev. Edward Hart, S. J., of Marquette University, Rev. Geo. Pickel, S. J., of Campion College, Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin, and the Rev. Jos. ### PRESIDENT McCORMICK ADDRESSES ST. BER- NARD STUDENTS

Rev. Father McCormick, president of Creighton University, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of St. Bernard's Academy on Thursday evening, June 7, at St. Mary's Catholic church. The address was delivered in the usual forceful style and was centered around the theme of education, its advantages and its value to the individual.

The whole program was of a religious trend throughout, this being the occasion of the coronation of the graduates and the awarding of diplomas and medals. Father Sausser presented the diplomas and Rev. Father Broerman crowned the graduates.
